U.S. Orbits Navigation Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The forerunner of a U.S. satellite navigation system planned to give sailors and airmen a good position fix any time in any weather was hurled successfully into orbit around the earth today.

The experimental space navigator, named Transit 1B, was rocketed aloft from this missile test center just after dawn in a test with important bearing on long-range missile operations.

It was a Navy project with Air Force rocketry help. The sponsorship underscored its special application to the Polaris missile-firing submarine whose officers will have to know their own position precisely to aim at a target hundreds of miles away.

The information from Transit 1B and its successors, however, is to be given to all nations.

Some four hours after the satellite went up, Navy and civlian scientists said in Washington that it was in a path a little less than 400 miles up, with an orbit time of about 94 minutes, at an inclination of 51 degrees with respect to the Equator. They had been shooting at a height of 400-500 miles and an angle of 50 degrees.

On the basis of preliminary tracking, scientists said Transit 1B was in an orbit reasonably circular. The nearer they come to a perfect circle with such a device, the closer the navigational fix that can be made.

At a Washington news conference, Dr. R. B. Kershner of the Applied Physics Laboratory of John Hopkins University, which developed the device, said the trial satellite itself could provide a ship with a position report with no more than a half-mile error. Later, the fully operational program, using four satellites, can give a ship anywhere in the world

County Hospital Bonds Placed On June Ballot

$2¼-Million Issue Asked For Planned Lucas Valley Plant

A special $2,250,000 bond issue to provide new county hospital facilities in Lucas Valley will go on the June 7 ballot by decision yesterday of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The choice of June was unanimous by 4-0 vote, Supervisor William Gnoss being absent, although in earlier discussion Supervisor William D. Fusselman had suggested November might be better.

STILL TIME

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan told the board it was legally still possible to get the issue on the June ballot and that if it were defeated it could be placed again on the November ballot.

In an earlier action to muster support for the proposal, the board called a meeting in its chambers for 10 a.m. next Monday, to which will be invited representatives of 33 organizations as well as 90 women interested in citizens' support of the proposed issue.

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen put forward a letter with two lists of organizations and individuals, suggesting that if a meeting were held, "the architect, county auditor and others could assist the board in explaining the background and the need for the new hospital and farm."

MUST MEET

"There is so little time to organize that a preliminary meeting should be held soon," suggested Supervisor Vera Schultz.

"You're taking an awful chance if you put this on the June ballot," said Fusselman. "There will be lots of competition. Certainly if we had until November we'd have time to set the thing up properly."

This was dropped, however, when the resolution came up for vote during the afternoon.

The resolution provides the bonds would finance "construction of a new nursery home and custodial home." Both have to do with care of the aged. The matter of juvenile hall was touched on in another Jensen communication reporting on prospects for use of veterans' memorial funds, which will total $392,700 at the end of this fiscal year, June 30.

MEETING WITH VETS

Jensen said meetings have been held with representatives of all Marin County veterans organizations on the question of delaying construction of the scheduled veterans' memorial auditorium in 1963 so the money could be used for juvenile hall.

Two alternative resolutions are being put before veterans' posts throughout the county, Jensen said. One recommends temporary use of veterans funds for the hall, while the

San Rafael's City Planner To Quit Post

San Rafael City Planner Mitchell Baird will resign from his $625 per month job next Monday to return to a San Francisco consulting engineer firm where he formerly worked.

In a letter of resignation submitted to City Manager Dan E. Andersen, Baird gave higher pay and opportunities for advancement as his reasons for quitting the city job.

Baird was working for Wilbur Smith and Associates of San Francisco when he was hired by San Rafael in January, 1959. He is returning to the firm as planning consultant, specializing in the planning of highways.

Joan Castrillon, planning technician working under Baird, will handle office duties of the city planner until Baird's successor is chosen by the city council.

Since last year, Baird has been asking for more office space, and has been declaring that he wanted a chance to do some city planning instead of barely keeping up with the daily office routine. His office is located in one end of the city hall annex.

Baird's resignation was disclosed last night at the San Rafael Planning Commission meeting. Baird did not attend.

Incumbents Fare Well Except In Larkspur

In five of Marin's nine municipalities which held city council elections yesterday, some results must remain in doubt until counting of absentee ballots next Tuesday night.

The unprecedented situation developed with one or more spots remaining in doubt after last night's tabulations in Belvedere, Larkspur, Mill Valley, San Anselmo and Sausalito.

So close was the race in Larkspur that two of the three council posts at stake must be decided by the count of absentee votes.

Incumbents fared well, except in Larkspur, in an election that saw voter turnouts ranging from 58 per cent in Belvedere down to a mere 25 per cent in Ross.

Three incumbents in Larkspur all sought re-election. But only one of them, Mayor Daniel Allen, was left with a chance as the counting ended last night. Allen was in fourth place, trailing Mrs. Jane Epidendio by seven votes.

There are 39 absentee ballots to be counted in Larkspur. Lesly Daveler, in third place, leads Mrs. Epidendio by only nine votes. So the winners among Allen, Daveler and Mrs. Epidendio will be determined by the absentee ballots.

Only James J. Lienkaemper, who ran with Daveler as a "middle of the road" ticket between the pro-city manager incumbents and four anti-city manager candidates, was assured of election.

U. S. EXTENDS DEADLINE FOR FILING OF TAX

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service today extended the federal income tax filing deadline for taxpayers in all states until midnight next Monday, April 18.

The service added three days grace to the usual April 15 filing deadline because this year it falls on Good Friday, a legal holiday in 13 states and three U.S. possessions.

Under the law, taxpayers in these 16 areas automatically had until April 18 to file their returns and any tax payments due.

The Internal Revenue Service said, "It was felt that similar treatment should be accorded all taxpayers."

The decision means that returns need not be postmarked until midnight, April 18, to be considered filed on time.

Kidnapers Seize Tot Heir To French Auto Millions

PARIS (UPI)—Eric Peugeot, 4-year-old heir to one of France's greatest automobile fortunes, has been kidnaped and held for $100,000 ransom on pain of death by a dark-haired man who fled with an accomplice in a Peugeot car, police announced today.

Eric's parents, Harvard-educated Roland Peugeot, 34, and his wife, Colette, were sick with fear that the kidnapers would kill their son. A note typed in red ink warned them not to tell police, but already France was mounting a massive police search.

It was France*'s first major kidnaping in 25 years and was carried out in broad daylight with skill and daring. Eric was seized from the children's playground at the rich and exclusive Saint Cloud Golf Club while his nurse stood a hundred yards away chatting with the family chauffeur.

The kidnaper, described as a tall man in his 20s wearing a green sweater and grey flannel slacks, broke the padlocks on two gates, strode to the area where Eric was playing with five children, picked him up and raced back to a waiting car.

At the bottom of a slide where Eric had been playing with his brother, Jean Philippe, 7, three other little boys and a girl, the kidnaper left a ransom note sealed in an envelop marked "very urgent."

The note typed in red ink demanded 500,000 francs ($100,000) within 48 hours if the Peugeots wanted to see Eric alive

Chessman Plea Denied; He Fires Lawyer

The California Supreme Court today denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Caryl Chessman, convicted kidnaper-sex pervert, who has spent almost 12 years on Death Row.

At the same time the court, sitting in San Francisco, released a copy of a letter in which Chessman asked his attorney, George T. Davis, to "withdraw entirely from the case."

The court's denial was without comment other than that the order was "final forthwith." This preclude's Chessman from presenting the same point to the court again.

In the petition Davis contended that Chessman's two capital punishment convictions in Los Angeles in 1948 should

French Study Corsica A-Test

PARIS (UPI) — France is considering setting off an underground atomic blast in the Mediterranean island of Corsica, it was announced today.

The French Atomic Energy Commission said that the top atomic energy officials in the French government went to the island today to study the possibilities on the spot.

Sheriff's Deputies Halt Big Novato Drag Race

Sheriff's deputies broke up a group of about 150 youths taking part in a drag race in Novato last night but were able to nab only one car after an 80-mile-per-hour chase.

Booked in county jail on suspicion of speding, reckless driving, and resisting arrest was Robert P. Sovulewski, 19, of 90 Bayview drive, San Rafael. A passenger in the car, James C. Blankenship, 19, of 35 Bayview drive, was released after questioning.

About 10:40 p.m., Sheriff's Deputies Gerald Fries and Arthur Wiggins spotted about 50 or 60 cars parked at the end of Novato boulevard where it intersects with Pt. Reyes-Petaluma road. A drag race was in progress on Petaluma-Pt. Reyes road, the officers reported.

As soon as the youths spotted the patrol car, they scampered for their cars and drove off in all directions.

Wiggins turned on his red light and took off after a dozen cars toward Petaluma. One car passed the other at 75 to 80 miles per hour, with Wiggins in hot pursuit. The speding car turned off on the road to Marshall and passed two more cars at 80 miles per hour. Wiggins forced him off the road about a mile and a half later and caught Sovulewski.

Senators, County Officials Make Air-Land Tour Of Pt. Reyes Area

The proposed Pt. Reyes National Seashore Area was to be inspected from the air and the ground this afternoon by a subcommittee of the U. S. Senate, other federal officials and four members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The party, headed by Sen. Frank Moss (D-Utah), chairman of the Senate subcommittee investigating the proposed park, took off from San Francisco International Airport in two military helicopters. They planned to view the entire peninsula.

Five military cars were to meet the party there and tour the peninsula on the ground for the rest of the afternoon. The committee planned to have dinner at Inverness and return to Corte Madera tonight.

A day-long hearing will be held tomorrow at College of Marin, starting at 9:30 a.m., on the whole proposal for the Pt. Reyes Park.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), who was scheduled to make the trip, contacted supervisor chairman Walter D. Castro yesterday and sent his regrets at being unable to come to the coast.

California Sen. Clair M. Engle was not sure he would be in California in time to take the helicopter trip, but assured Castro he would be here for the hearing tomorrow.

Rep. Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera was aboard the big whirlybird, as was Conrad J. Wirth, director of the National Park Service.

Four of Marin's five supervisors were making the trip. Besides Castro, they are James Marshall, William Gnoss and Mrs. Vera Schultz.

Having Mrs. Schultz aboard was a real problem for the military. They have a rule against women in helicopters. However, yesterday special permission was granted by the Pentagon in Washington, providing she wear no scarfs or flowing clothing and that she wear trousers instead of a skirt. She reluctantly agreed.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Missile Too Fast

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Snark ICBM may be accurate up to 5,000 miles, but one missed its Chattanooga target by a month.

Due to a mixup in plans the 69-foot Air Force giant arrived yesterday on the right date, but in the wrong month for an Armed Forces Week display in May.

Missing Man Returns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Albert Ichelson, 63-year-old investor who disappeared March 29 after suffering heavy race track losses, returned home last night in what his attorney called a highly distraught condition.

Tevis Jacobs, the attorney, said Ichelson gave no explanation for his mysterious disappearance and no comment on his reported betting losses at Bay Meadows race track.

Hound Dog Launched

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., (AP)—A B52G jet bomber flew 10,800 miles nonstop to the North Pole and back as a prelude to launching a Hound Dog missile yesterday.

The missile was fired from under a wing of the eight-jet bomber over the Atlantic test range from Cape Canaveral, Fla. It streaked several hundred miles downrange and landed in the Atlantic.

The 22-hour plane trip was described as the longest flight made by a bomber carrying the air-to-ground missile.

Chou Starts Asia Tour

High point of the tour will be talks next week in New Delhi between Chou and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on their dispute over 51,000 square miles of Himalayan territory between India and Tibet.

Transit Need Cited

BERKELEY (UPI) — Chancellor Glenn T. Seaborg of the University of California today declared that its Berkeley campus needs a Bay Area rapid transit system.

He said the university, whose 30,000 students are expected to increase to 40,000 by the end of the decade, finds commuting to be an increasingly "critical" problem.

Seaborg's views were expressed in an article he wrote for a periodical of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

British Junk Missile

LONDON (UPI) — Britain announced today it is junking its long-range missile program mainly because fixed launching sites ashore would be too vulnerable to Soviet rockets.

Defense Minister Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons work is being halted on the "Blue Streak" rocket designed to carry nuclear warheads 2,500 miles. The government already has spent more than $280 million on the project.

Soviet Plan 'Deceiving'

GENEVA (UPI)—U. S. disarmament negotiator Fredrick M. Eaton said today that acceptance of the Soviet "ban the bomb" proposal would serve only to "deceive the world."

Eaton spoke to newsmen after a half-hour session of the 10-nation disarmement committee, which was devoted mainly to Communist pleas that East and West sign a pledge never to be the first to use an atomic weapon.

"All that such a pious statement would accomplish would be to deceive the world and to expose weaker countries to the onslaught of aggressive powers," Eaton said.

4 Hurt In Korea Riot

MASAN, South Korea (AP)—At least four persons were burned by a police tear gas shell today during this port city's third straight day of violent demonstrations against the March 15 elections that gave Syngman Rhee a fourth term as president. A crowd of 2,000 students and adults surged through the streets for several hours shouting anti-government slogans. Police finally dispersed them.

Dogs Win Awards

Dogs Shaggy and Asta won first places respectively in the movie and television divisions of the annual competition sponsored by the American Humane Assn. in honor of animal performers.

Shaggy was named "picture animal top star of the year" for his role in the motion picture "The Shaggy Dog" and Asta was chosen "performing television star of the year" for his work in "The Thin Man" TV series.

Train Crash Sets Fire

PEROTE, Mexico (AP)—Fifteen tank cars loaded with gasoline overturned yesterday in a collision with a locomotive at Totalco village near here. Three train crewmen were injured, and several houses burned in the resulting fire.

Kin Of Bev's Boy Friend Urge Inquest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teenage Beverly Aadland's admission she lied when she said a boy friend killed himself in her bedroom brought angry demands today for an inquest by relatives of the handsome aspiring actor.

However, police say they are satisfied the Saturday shooting of William Stanciu was accidental.

The 17-year-old ex-mistress of the late Errol Flynn revised her story of Stanciu's death yesterday and said she was holding his revolver when it accidentally discharged during a nude struggle.

FIRST STORY

She had told police immediately after the shooting that Stanciu shot himself in the head after forcing her into a game of Russian roulette.

Beverly, a singer in a Hollywood nightclub, broke down under a lie detector test. However, she stuck to her story that Stanciu forced his way into her apartment, forced her to disrobe and raped her at gunpoint.

An attorney representing Stanciu's mother and brother said he still doubts Beverley's version of the slaying.

IN JUVENILE HALL

Beverly remained in custody at juvenile hall. Police said they will file a petition suggesting that Beverly lacks parental supervision and is in danger of becoming a juvenile delinquent.

Her mother, ex-showgirl Florence Aadland, said she doubts Beverly's new version of Stanciu's death.

"I still believe Beverly's first story," she said. "They (the police) must have worked on her.

SECRECY LABEL FOR THE BIRDS PUZZLES SOLON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) isn't trying to pry out any military secrets. But he does want to know "what type of material" the Corregidor Bataan Memorial Commission handles which warrants a top secret label.

And if the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission knows anything that might benefit Russia, it needn't tell Moss what it is.

The two groups are among 76 federal departments, boards, commissions, committees and agencies which Moss says are currently empowered to stamp their documents secret, top secret or confidential, all in the name of defense.

These include, of course, the Army, Navy and Air Force and others with an obvious need for the secrecy stamps. They also include 34 which look to Moss like logical candidates for a "silly secrecy" label.

Moss, chairman of the House Committee on Government Information, has written these 34 groups asking what kind of secrets they handle, how often they handle them, and whether proper steps are taken to declassify secrets when this can be done.

Marinite To Head Gift Campaign For Alumni

Ernest C. Olson of 322 Highland avenue, San Rafael, will head the spring gifts campaign of the University of Chicago Alumni Foundation in the San Francisco Bay Area this year, it was announced by Bud Gore, national chairman.

Olson, economist with the Bank of America in San Francisco, was graduated from the university in 1941.

Organization Candidates Win In Illinois Contests

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton clinched nomination for a third term today, and Otto Kerner won the right to try to oust him in the November election.

Stratton is the state's No. 1 Republican leader while Kerner has the backing of the top Democratic chieftain, Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, only entrant in the presidential preference feature, drew a complimentary vote that exceeded his 341,463 total in the April 5 Wisconsin primary. But it fell far short of the 781,710 rolled up by President Eisenhower in the Illinois primary in 1956.

Samuel Witwer, Chicago lawyer who was supported by Stratton and most GOP organizations, led the six-man race for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator in a close contest.

Democratic Sen Paul Douglas was nominated for a third term without opposition. In incomplete returns he collected more votes than Nixon.

Stratton earned the chance to become the first Illinois governor to be elected to three terms in a row by defeating state Sen. Hayes Robertson.

Kerner, former Cook County judge, swamped state Treasurer Joseph D. Lohman and Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, in their party's gubernatorial test.

Witwer, in the scramble for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate, was pitted against Warren Wright, former state treasurer; William H. Rentschler, Chicago candy manufacturer; state Sen. John Lewis of Marshall; John Harrell and John Ricker.

The state's 22 incumbent representatives in Congress all won renomination, 15 reaching the November finals without a contest.

Ike's Regime Target For Demo Barbs

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Frozen in the ice of its own indifference" was the description Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts tagged on the administration yesterday.

"This period of leaderless lassitude" was the label applied last night by Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson has denied he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, but acted very much like one as he addressed a crowd at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

Kennedy made his attack on the administration in a speech to the International Union of Operating Engineers in Miami.

The economy of the Soviet Union is expanding seven times as fast as that of the United States, he said, and the Eisenhower administration is doing nothing about it.

While the senator spoke in Florida, talk of a "stop Kennedy" drive in West Virginia continued. He opposes Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in Minnesota in the Democratic primary there May 10.

Agency To Regulate Drug Sales Urged By Physicians

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Princeton, N. J., physician called today for tough new federal laws to curb what he denounced as "vicious sales practices" by drug manufacturers.

Dr. A. Dale Console said the pharmaceutical industry is foisting many "relatively worthless" but costly drugs and medicines on doctors and their patients with high pressure sales programs. He said some of the medicines are dangerous to the patients.

His testimony was prepared for public hearings before the Senate Anti-trust and Monopoly Subcommittee into practices of drug firms.

Console said he knows what he is talking about, because he used to be in the drug business himself as medical director of a large pharmaceutical house.

"Restrictive legislation is necessary," Console said.

"I suggest with hesitation," he concluded, "the consideration of a central agency empowered to approve or disapprove the sale of drugs on the basis of objective evidence of efficacy and to ban misleading and ambiguous advertising and promotions" of drug preparations.

He said he could see dangers in this, too, but added: "I know of nothing more likely to generate the pressure necessary to persuade the industry to clean its own house."

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), is investigating allegations of profiteering, monopolistic practices and other abuses by the drug industry.

Dr. Hans Popper, pathologist at Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City, testified yesterday that some new drugs have had unexpected side effects which have cost the lives of patients.

NEW SHOPPING CENTER PLANNED FOR IGNACIO

Shown here is the architect's version of a new 107,000-square-foot Food Fair market and shopping center scheduled for construction in Ignacio this summer. William Jonas, owner of the Food Fair in Novato and owner of this property on Entrada drive across from Burge's Drive-in, announced the center will include accommodations for a flower shop, dress shop, stork shop, shoe store, variety store, barber shop, men's shop, hardware store, and bank. Plans by architect Charles J. Woodhury, include parking space for 150 cars. No leases are signed yet on the shops and professional building.

Woman Vegetarian Starts Long Hike

A woman vegetarian took off today in pursuit of two Royal Air Force sergeants who started yesterday to walk across the United States.

But before she reached the bridge, California Highway Patrolmen reprimanded her for crossing a street against a red light and for striding up the on-ramp to the bridge in the same direction as motor traffic.

California traffic laws require pedestrians to walk against the traffic.

Dr. Moore's next difficulty came when she reached Waldo Tunnel on the steep ascent to Waldo Pass on the Marin County side of the Golden Gate. Patrolmen forbid her to enter the tunnel which is designed for automobile traffic only and insisted she detour via the bayside town of Sausalito.

The two other British sergeants passed through the tunnel yesterday because the highway patrol was between shifts and it was not being watched, officers said.

Dr. Moore, 56-year-old backer of clean living, said she "probably" would pass the sergeants, who have been known to take a nip of brew. Dr. Moore's walking diet includes fruit, carrot and tomato juices—and she brought a supply with her when she arrived in San Francisco yesterday by plane.

The sergeants, Mervyn Evans and Patrick Maloney, stepped through Marin yesterday at 75 paces a minute and spent the night in Cordelia, about 45 miles from their starting point at the Marin side of the Golden Gate Bridge.

By 11 a.m. today, Maloney and Evans had marched briskly past the Winters cutoff road on Highway 40. With flat green farmland on either side of them, they headed straight for Sacramento, about 25 miles away.

Dr. Moore maintained a near-trotting pace as she came on to the Golden Gate Bridge. A turnstile requiring a 10-cent fee for pedestrians blocked her way but she ducked under it.

The dedicated doctor is hiking "to prove what we eat can kill us or keep us young." She eschews alcohol, cigarettes, meat, believes in controlled sex, and says she exists on 400 or 500 calories a day of nuts, grasses, honey and herb juices. She eats no fish or dairy products, nor anything cooked.

She was scheduled to begin her pursuit of the sergeants at 9 a.m. today from San Francisco's Civic Center, but was delayed for some time by newsmen and crowds as she stood on the steps of the city hall.

Dr. Moore, who is from Russia by way of England, contends the two RAF men are no match for her. She is aiming at hoofing it to New York in less than 60 days, averaging 60 to 65 miles a day.

The sergeants are aiming at 45 to 50 miles a day on the 3,032-mile hike to New York.

The record for the "stroll," set 34 years ago is 79 days, 10 hours and 10 minutes.

NEW YORK BOUND — Dr. Barbara Moore, 56, vegetarian from England, is shown as she walked down the San Francisco City Hall steps today to begin her transcontinental hike to New York. She was striding through Marin after crossing the Golden Gate Bridge and encountering some difficulties with the California Highway Patrol. (AP Wirephoto)

BANK ROBBER TAKES 'NO' FOR AN ANSWER

A pale, timid little man about 40 handed a money-demanding note to a girl teller at a Fifth avenue branch of the Chemical Bank New York Trust Co.

"I have no money," she replied.

She did, and he fled.

Pupil Traffic Patrols Set In Larkspur

Larkspur School District children will be doing traffic duty next fall at Neil Cummins and Larkspur-Corte Madera Schools.

The district board last night approved setting up junior traffic patrols at the two schools. It instructed Supt. Vaughn D. Seidel to get the assistance of the police departments in training the youngsters.

The patrols are necessary to relieve custodians from traffic duty, Seidel said.

The board discussed arrangements for the dedication of Henry C. Hall School April 30 at 2 p.m. Open house will be held in all schools April 27 during public schools week.

The board also:

1. Postponed discussion of salary schedules because only three members of the board were present.

2. Heard Seidel report that the Marin County sheriff's office will fingerprint non-teaching personnel, as required by law, at a charge of $4 each. The district has about 15 such employees.

3. Adopted a 181-day calendar for 1960-61.

4. Heard a report from Seidel on the White House Conference on Youth which he attended recently.

KIDNAP

again. The note also warned them not to tell police.

The kidnaper made two follow-up telephone calls to the Peugeot penthouse in Paris.

Police heard of the kidnaping when the furore at the golf club reached the local headquarters. Commissioner Andre Pierangeli of the Paris flying squad went into action despite the warning and spread a dragnet throughout France.

The kidnaped boy is the grandson of Jean-Pierre Peugeot III, reigning czar of the vast family combine whose 20 companies make an estimated 300-million-dollars a year. His father, Roland, is a vice president of the combine and heir-apparent to the auto empire.

Easily Doused

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Plenty of firemen were on hand when an unscheduled blaze broke out.

Safety and rescue drills were being staged for the Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois Firemen's Assn. when a 7,200-volt power line touched off a fire on a truck being used in a mock rescue.

The blaze was put out quickly.

SATELLITE

Either distance is comparable to the results of present celestial and radio navigation —and the information will be available regardless of weather.

The first test using a ship will be made "very soon," Kershner said.

The complete system could be put into operation by 1962, he predicted.

The 265-pound spherical payload was hoisted on the nose of a giant Thor-Able-Star rocket combination at 7:03 a.m.

After explaining technical details of how the system works, Kershner summed it up by saying that "a satellite goes by and a machine puts out the information on the latitude and longitude" of the ship or aircraft, using special receiving and computing equipment.

Explaining the advantages of the satellite system, Navy officials said ships and planes are not always in reach of radio navigation systems to locate themselves by means of direction finders—and clouds can hide the stars for days to block celestial navigation.

With four satellites in orbit, a ship or plane could obtain a precise position report about every one and a half hours, Kershner said.

Official Says Pool 'Very Dangerous'

A pool in a San Rafael residential area, estimated at 10 feet deep, today was called "extremely dangerous," by a Marin deputy district attorney after investigation yesterday.

While deputy district attorney Harold Wolters was investigating neighborhood complaints of the pool's danger to youngsters, he said he saw three children playing near it.

They were inside the strands of barbed wire which completely surround the pool on the property of Charles Owens, Wolters said. Owens uses water from the pool to irrigate property surrounding his Colonial Motel on a lower level.

After viewing the pool, Wolters said:

"I think it is quite dangerous as far as children are concerned, but what we can do about it is another thing."

He said he had conferred with San Rafael City Manager Dan E. Andersen this morning, but had reached no solution.

He said he would continue "researching" laws which could be used to get rid of the dammed pool, fed by water from higher ground above.

Committee On NMWD Bond Issue Formed

A citizens' committee to inform Novato voters of the importance of passage of a proposed $3,790,000 water bond issue in June was formed last night under the chairmanship of Sidney Hammil.

The committee grew out of an informal meeting called by North Marin Water District directors and includes Robert F. Merritt, E. Donald King, T. C. Holmes, Ray Muir, Reuben Kaehler and Joseph Downing.

A meeting was set by the committee for next Wednesday night, said district manager and chief engineer Jerome B. Gilbert. At that time they will work out plans for distribution of information on the need for the bond issue to the public.

The bonds would finance a viaduct from the Russian River to supply water to the North Marin area.

IF YOU GET BIT BY A SHARK, FILL OUT FORM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institute is compiling a list of attacks by sharks on human beings all over the world.

The 1959 list is nearly ready for publication, it was announced today. Thereafter a list will be prepared in January of all shark attacks during the previous year.

The ultimate object of the shark attack census is to "do something about it,' said Dr. Leonard P. Schultz, Smithsonian curator of fishes.

Novato's School Board Slates Secret Meeting

A closed session of Novato Unified School District trustees will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the district offices, 1015 Seventh street, it was decided by the board last night.

The executive session will be to discuss tenure of staff members and review interviews with applicants for teaching positions in the district next year, said Supt. William J. J. Smith.

Robert Melton, vice-principal at Novato High School, was named principal of the high school summer school program, Rex Rolle, fifth grade teacher at West Novato School, was appointed principal of the summer elementary program.

Four hundred elementary school pupils have signed for the elementary session for the summer and 150 have indicated they will attend the high school session, the trustees were told. The enrollment is about the same as last year's, Smith said.

A report was given the trustees by the superintendent on pupil housing for 1960-61, in which a triple session of kindergarten classes will be necessary. Smith said he had discussed the change in sessions with the teachers involved and details had been worked out.

The University of California survey on district housing needs is nearing completion, Smith told the board.

The board took under advisement recommendations of the educational standards committee of the Novato Advisory Council for Education which were offered at a recent public meeting sponsored by the council. The recommendations deal with the teaching of English in Novato schools and urge a return to more basic teaching methods with an increased emphasis on English composition and literature.

No action was taken toward purchase of approximately four acres of land adjacent to the high school for eventual use as an elementary school site. Further discussions on the purchase, from Pomoway Corp., will be held following further investigation of improvement costs on the property, Smith said.

CONTEST TO CLOSE NEXT WEDNESDAY

Deadline for the $375 Independent-Journal's county-wide census contest was set today as next Wednesday. No entries will be considered which are not delivered to an I-J office or which are postmarked later than midnight April 20.

A $100 merchandise order will be given to the Marin resident who guesses closest to population of the whole county, as determined by the U.S. census now under way; $25 orders will be given to the 10 persons who guess closest to populations of the cities in which they reside; a $25 order will be given to the person who guessts closest to the circulation of the Independent-Journal on April 30, 1960.

Send your entries to Census Contest, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, or take them to any of the four I-J offices by next Wednesday.

CHESSMAN

have carried life terms, at the most. He said the court erred in sentencing Chessman to death.

This was the same contention Davis made earlier before the Marin County Superior Court and the state District Court of Appeal. Both turned him down.

Chessman sent copies of his "Davis letter" to Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson of the state Suprere Court, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Miss Rosalie Asher, Sacramento attorney. She has been in the case throughout Chessman's thus far successful fight to escape execution in the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison.

He now is under sentence to be executed May 2.

Chessman's letter dwelt at length on Davis' handling of Chessman's many appeals. Some of these he had authorized and others he had not. It accused Davis at length of seeking headlines and said that, although Davis was more qualified to judge the legal aspects of the case, he should withdraw.

BOND VOTE

other provides that no recommendation be made.

Results of the poll, Jensen promised, will be reported to the board on April 26. He indicated the veterans felt there might well be a "resolution of intent" to show that the board really means to build a memorial auditorium eventually, but several supervisors said that presence of the budget item was in itself such an indication.

OBITUARIES

Final Rites Held For G. D. Phillips

Private funeral services for Grattan D. Phillips, wealthy San Francisco socialite and resident of Belvedere, were held at N. Gray and Co. Mortuary in San Francisco yesterday.

He died at his home Sunday after a long illness.

Phillips was 65 and was born in San Francisco. His father established the Phillips and Van Orden Co., printers and lithographers in San Francisco.

Phillips, who had been retired for about 10 years and had lived in Belvedere for more than a year at 20 Peninsula road, is survived by his wife, Gloria, at the family home; a son, Paul D. Phillips of San Salvador, Central America, where he manages a sugar plantation; and a sister, Marchesa Virginia Dalla-Rosa of Ottawa, Canada.

The family requests that memorial tributes be contributions to the American Cancer Society or a favorite charity.

ELECTIONS

Larkspur was Albert E. Heston, who has served on the Larkspur council since 1945. This 15 years of service is the second longest of any incumbent city council member in Marin County.

Marin's oldest incumbent councilman in point of service, Mayor Arthur W. Smith of San Anselmo, who has served since 1942, led the field to win election again. But second winner in San Anselmo will be either of two candidates who campaigned hard against Smith for a "do-nothing" record. They are Robert E. Rouse and John M. Reichmuth, candidates of the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government. Only four votes separated them, with 30 absentees to be counted.

In Belvedere, the undecided contest was between Vice Adm. Frank E. Beatty and Dr. John H. Flint. Two incumbents, Mayor Robert P. Watkins and E. G. (Ned) Weed, won re-election there. Sixteen votes separated Beatty and Flint, with 36 absentees to be counted.

In Mill Valley, re-election of George W. Blackwell remains in doubt until the absentees are counted. Blackwell led William M. Secor by 15 votes, with 72 absentee ballots to be counted. There was a mathematical possibility, but a bare one, that the absentees might upset George D. Monardo, who led Blackwell by 59 votes for second place on the ballot. Assured election was architect Michael Wornum.

Awaiting the absentee count in Sausalito is the outcome between Michael A. Harris and Carl G. Wooley for a city council seat. Harris had a 32-vote bulge over Wooley with completion of last night's count, but there are 69 absentee votes to be tallied. Two incumbents, Mayor Howard H. Sievers and Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., won re-election in Sausalito. A third incumbent did not run.

The issues were decided in Corte Madera, with incumbent Mayor Roger F. Morse and Raymond L. DeYoung elected; in Fairfax, with Lawrence F. Walsh and Waldemar E. Radtke the winners; in Novato, with incumbents M. E. (Babe) Silva, Harvey J. Vicchio and Everett Pozzi easy victors; in Ross, with incumbents Arthur Kanzee Jr., Henry C. Scott Jr. and T. Bruce Selfridge in again.

Rites Slated For Mrs. Ann Quinn

A Requiem Mass will be sung for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Ann Theresa Quinn, a resident of Mill Valley since 1905, Monday at 9 a.m. at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church. Mrs. Quinn died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Quinn, 60, was a native of San Francisco. She had lived at 9 Dell street and worked part time for the last four years for the Morning Glory sandwich shop in San Francisco.

She is survived by three brothers, Robert A. Byrne and Philip J. Byrne, both of Mill Valley, and Raymond J. Byrne of San Antonio, Tex.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Friday at the chapel of Russell and Gooch in Mill Valley. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Visitor To Marin Dies Unexpectedly

Cora M. Sullins, 82, who had been staying temporarily at the home of her son in Sleepy Hollow, collapsed and died, apparently of a heart attack, about 7:30 p.m. yesterday.

A resident of Richmond, she had come to the home of her son, Cecil W. Sullins, at 1150 Butterfield road, about two weeks ago because of ailing health. Last night, after supper, she suddenly collapsed.

Funeral services are set for 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Interment will be private.

LEE BROTHERS OPENING — The Lee Brothers opened a new market at Marinwood Plaza last night. They passed out hundreds of flowers and hundreds of dishes of ice cream. The children ate their way through a string of hot dogs, an innovation on ribbon cutting. MARIN MAN LOSES FINGERTIP IN BOAT MISHAP ON WAY TO GAME

Hilary A. Belloc, 57, of De Silva Island, Mill Valley, sailed from Sausalito yesterday to the Giants' opener at Candlestick Park, and lost part of a finger in making a landing.

But after some hustle and bustle he managed to get the severed end sewed back on, and saw three innings of the game.

He was feeding out the anchor "the lazy way and I got my finger caught in the winch." The end of the ring finger was clipped off.

Belloc, son of a famed British poet-historian, was hustled off to the stadium aid station. He learned his son, Martin, 16, had retrieved the missing joint. A doctor patched him up.

Belloc, yachtman, lecturer, investor and crab fisherman, went back to the stadium and saw the rest of the game.

Logging Firm To Curb Work In Park Area

A lumber company that has been cutting Douglas fir in the heart of a projected camping area in the proposed Pt. Reyes National Seashore Area has agreed to curtail its activities.

In making the announcement, Dr. Joel Gustafson, president of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore Foundation, said today the attitude of lumbermen Don and Bill Sweet "is most commendable. This is much more than we dared hope for."

THE AGREEMENT

The Sweet Lumber Co. has been cutting timber in an area between Bolinas and Olema. "They have promised to hold back on cutting in the proposed park area," Dr. Gustafson said.

"It was agreed that the lumber company would attempt to operate its mill with logs from adjacent areas pending a decision on the park proposal. The company is now engaged in sawing its downed timber, and in clearing of rubble and establishing larger fire trails and other activities to correct practices at variance with state requirements.

MID-MAY START

"Although they were to begin further logging again in mid-May, they agreed the virgin forest should not be logged. The lumber men will work the areas outside of the scheduled park area first and attempt to secure logs elsewhere in Marin to continue the operation of their sawmill until their investment is recovered.

"They said it will take two to three years to harvest the available timber in Marin that lies outside the proposed park area."

A U. S. Senate subcommittee hearing on the Pt. Reyes park proposal will be held tomorrow at the College of Marin in Kentfield.

Academy's Chapel Plan Set Aside

San Rafael Military Academy last night made a strategic withdrawal, at least for the time being, in its quest to build a chapel at El Cerrito ovenue and Bryn Mawr drive.

In the face of protests by a group of residents and some 40 post card petitions, Cmdr. Roy A. Ibach declared he would withdraw the request for the time being and bring it up again at a later date.

"We want to be good neighbors," said Ibach. "This comes as a sort of shock . . . We had no idea we would meet such objection." He said the academy is not yet ready to build the chapel anyway, until after financing has been worked out. Therefore he would drop the matter.

Residents along Bryn Mawr complained that there is no reason why the academy should buy one empty lot in a purely residential area to build the chapel. They charged that the chapel in the residential area would aggravate traffic congestion and the parking problem. A half dozen opponents of the project pointed out that already, on Sundays and during parades, some of the streets around the academy are barely passable.

Gordon Phillips, architect for the academy, presented sketches showing a chapel with a seating capacity of 120. He pointed out that access to the chapel would be from the campus, and not from Bryn Mawr or El Cerrito. Nine parking spaces are provided next to the chapel.

Both Phillips and Ibach pointed out that students are not allowed to bring cars to the campus, and said the only parking necessary would be for faculty members and employees of the academy.

San Rafael Agency Vetoes Apartments

Colonial Wax Products Corp. must abandon its plan to build a candle factory in the East San Rafael Assessment District because banks will not extend loans for the factory.

This disclosure was made last night to the San Rafael Planning Commission by Carroll R. Stoerker, president of the corporation. Stoerker said financing agencies feel the land is too valuable for industrial use. Therefore, said Stoerker, he is forced to change his plans and put in an apartment building instead.

The planning commissioners, who have been battling the city council for rezoning of the area from industrial and commercial to apartment zoning, said they are sympathetic with Stoerker's plight.

"The city council will entertain no proposals for other than industrial and commercial," said acting chairman Carl Brown. "Therefore we cannot approve an apartment here."

Brown said the only thing the planning commission could do would be to deny Stoerker's request for an apartment at Fairfax street and Bellam boulevard, and have him appeal to the city council.

Nick Dollwett said he would like to see an apartment go in there, but he moved to deny the application so that an appeal can be made to the councilmen. "I'd like to see it (the apartment) too," Orlando Conti added. "If you gentlemen promise to take it to the council to fight it, I'll second the motion."

The area has become a center of controversy between the city planners and the city council. It is located between Belvedere and Canal streets and Bellam boulevard.

Colonial Wax Products Corporation's plan for a candle factory was a big hope for the proponents of industry in the area.

San Rafael Apartments Approved By Planners

A 20-unit apartment building at Canal and Napa streets south of San Rafael Canal won architectural approval from the San Rafael Planning Commission last night.

D. M. Christensen Construction Co. plans to put in a two-story structure, with closed garages on the first floor for parking cars.

The planners also set a public hearing for April 26 on a request for apartment zoning in a portion of Rafael Racquet Club Estates off Fifth avenue near Sun Valley. The area is now zoned one-family residential. Last month developers Farrar and Kaehler received a use permit for a tennis and swim club in the same area.

In other actions last night the planning commission:

1. Approved a duplex for Margaret Hedden on Ridge avenue near Belle avenue.
2. Gave architectural approval for a 4,000 square foot frame and stucco warehouse building for McPhail's off Dubois street. The building, to be built between Dubois and the railroad tracks, will house the company's sheet metal shop.
3. Set a public hearing on a request for a mortuary at the northwest corner of Lincoln and Prospect avenues for April 26. George B. Miller of San Francisco seeks to renew a permit which was granted in 1957, but has expired.
4. Set April 26 and May 10 as dates for public hearings on a request for rezoning of Gold Hill Grade to acre lots. Ellen Dunbar is the owner.

Mrs. Dunbar last night sought a four-lot subdivision on Gold Hill Grade, but was turned down because the approach road is inadequate and no sewer lines are planned. Gold Hill Grade is on steep land at the extension of Locust avenue. Mrs. Dunbar proposed a road 18 feet wide, and septic tanks for two-acre lots.

5. Granted Edward J. Grady of 34 Wildwood way permission for his swimming pool to encroach 11 feet into his front yard setback.
6. Granted D. R. Cullen permission to locate a doughnut shop in a new building across the highway from Terra Linda. He is now located in the Terra Linda Shopping Center.

Allied Foreign Ministers Agree On German Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany reached "complete agreement" today on a plan challenging Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to permit completely free elections in Communist East Germany.

Leaving a two hours-and-20 minute meeting on the critical German and Berlin problems, West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano said:

"Everything is settled. We reached a complete agreement."

Brentano said that the session had been very good. Asked whether there had been disagreement on any matter, he replied: "Not at all."

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said a second meeting scheduled for tomorrow morning had been canceled. He was asked whether this meant that such good progress had been made that a further meeting was no longer necessary.

"Exactly," he replied.

The foreign minister mapped the Allied policy on Germany and Berlin in preparation for the May 16 summit conference in Paris with Khrushchev.

They had been reported earlier in general agreement on a formula which calls on Russia to grant self-determination to the 17 million Germans behind the Iron Curtain.

In a statement, the foreign ministers stressed the "unified western position" that will be presented at the summit.

Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve Demurville said in a joint statement last night that the Allies would stand fast against any efforts to force them out of Berlin against their will.

Key stocks moved from fractions to about a point either way. More speculative issues went four or five points up or down.

Eats, Flowers Mark Opening Of Lee Market

There were orchids and ice cream and coffee and hot dogs. That was last night.

Today there are shelves of groceries, fresh produce and meats—and customers.

The Lee Brothers opened their market at Marinwood Plaza last night from 6 to 9 o'clock, and today William S. Lee of 60 Par lane, Marin Golf and Country Club Estates, said appproximately 5,000, to 6,000 were on hand. Lee is a vice president of the chain.

Instead of the usual ribbon cutting, there was a string of hot dogs to eat through. The children helped with this snipping ceremony.

"We were really pleased with the turnout," said Lee. "And we liked the way everyone was so orderly."

With this store, the Lee Brothers now have 27 markets in their Bay Area chain. In about six weeks another store will be opened in Novato.

The store at Marinwood is the first supermarket in Marin to feature insta-tag, a new and efficient way of marking prices.

The store will be open from 9 a.m. through 9 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and from 10 a.m. through 7 p.m. Sundays.

Screen Of Trees Recommended For Lynwood Privacy

A screen of trees between the Leafwood Terrace apartments and homes on Sunset parkway was proposed last night at a meeting of the Lynwood Park Improvement Assn. as a solution to the problem of privacy for Lynwood residents.

The apartments, under construction on Leafwood drive, are so situated that occupants can look into the windows of the Sunset parkway homes, said Arthur W. Owen, association president.

Burke Edwards was named chairman of an engineering committee to investigate possibilities of planting the trees along a 25-foot drainage easement between the apartments and the homes.

The committee will attempt to persuade Kaehler Construction Co., builder of the apartments, to share in the expense of the trees, Owen said.

Lagunitas Trustees Start Budget Talks

Lagunitas School District board members last night began discussion of the budget for the next school year.

No decisions were reached. Discussion of teacher salaries is to come up at a later meeting, Mrs. Winifred S. Frederick, board clerk, said.

The next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. April 21.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sidney S. Lenz, 86, authority on auction bridge and top player for many years, died yesterday.

Planners Approve San Rafael Subdivision Despite Protests

A six-lot subdivision on Palm avenue between Olive and Magnolia avenues in San Rafael won the approval of the San Rafael Planning Commission last night despite a vigorous protest by a delegation headed by Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy.

The planners decided that contractor Edward Burgar and his son-in-law George Wark may put in the six units on these conditions: A road serving the rear three lots must have a 36-foot right of way with 26 feet of paving, and a sidewalk, fire hydrant and gutters must be installed to city specifications. The front three lots will have direct access to Palm avenue.

Dr. Dufficy came armed with a petition signed by protestors. He said 75 per cent of residents on Palm avenue between Olive and Magnolia oppose the subdivision. Dufficy pointed out that the area was formerly divided into four lots. "Then two weeks later, they asked to have the fourth lot divided into three pieces of property. This is a subterfuge." He said the other homes in the area have about 10,000 square feet, and he opposes "cutting up lots to make cracker boxes out of it."

Other residents on Palm complained that the development would increase drainage and flood their basements.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Nick Dollwett and Orlando Conti, the commission ordered a wider right-of-way and approved the subdivision.

Novato Fire Board Vote Canvass Set

Votes from the recent Novato Fire District commission election will be canvassed tonight at 8 o'clock by the commissioners during their regular meeting in the main firehouse.

Peter J. Ferrarese, incumbent commissioner who was returned to office over his single challenger, Keith C. Craig, will be sworn in following the canvass, Chief George J. Cavallero said.

Under discussion by the commissioners will be the proposed fire alarm system for the city. Louis Saffores recently spent a weekend in Southern California studying systems similar to the one Novato proposes to adopt.

Meeting Called Off

The Belvedere Recreation Commission did not meet last night because of lack of a quorum, according to Edgar E. Allan Steinau Jr.

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Practically flat floor . . . real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space. Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride. Rear-engine traction . . . that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.

You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

Tornado Sweeps Texas Village; 3 Die, 32 Hurt

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A tornado swept down on the West Texas village of Sunnyside last night and killed three persons and injured 32.

Sunrise today showed the twister virtually swept the community off the land.

But for a woman's warning cry seconds before the twister struck, the toll probably would have been much greater in the crossroads community of Sunnyside, about halfway between Amarillo and Lubbock.

Mrs. C. M. Rogers, wife of Sunnyside's Baptist pastor, spotted the dark and threatening cloud and sounded an alarm.

Nearly 40 men at a meeting in her husband's church scrambled for two storm cellars close by. Most of them made it. Several were too late.

"The men had to put up their arms and hold up the rafters," said Murl Rogers, 10, son of the minister, describing how they kept the roof of one shelter from collapsing on 30-odd persons.

Sunnyside residents emerged to find the farming community shattered. The writhing storm [illegible] church, store, grain elevator, cotton gin and four or five homes. A half-dozen other houses lost their roofs.

Dead and injured were strewn amid rubble piled up to five feet high in an area 100 feet square.

Consumer Counsel Corrects Mistake In Credit Report

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's consumer counsel says she made a mistake in a report yesterday on consumer credit in the Fresno area.

Mrs. Helen Nelson of Mill Valley issued a statement saying wage earners in the Fresno area owe installment debts totaling almost 10 times their annual income. It should have been their weekly income.

Robert A. Carr, a business administration professor at Fresno State College, made the report to Mrs. Nelson.

He is to be one of six speakers to a consumer conference in Fresno tomorrow, one of six which Mrs. Nelson has scheduled on credit.

SANDRA JENNINGS
Youth blamed her

Teen Gunman Seized; Girl Hostage Safe

PULASKI, Va. (UPI)—A belligerent teen-ager who barricaded himself in his father-in-law's home for 31 hours with a 10-year-old girl hostage was captured screaming last night during a tear gas barrage. The girl was unharmed.

Jack Jennings, 18, an unemployed mill hand, driven from the house by the tear gas, was beaten into submission by police when he rushed out screaming and fighting.

FLED OFFICERS

The long siege began about 4 p.m. Monday when Jennings broke away from officers taking him to jail after a preliminary hearing on auto theft charges. He grabbed his young sister-in-law, Barbara Butts, and barricaded himself in the home of his father-in-law, C. W. Butts.

When police surrounded the modest brick home in this southwest Virfginia town of 12,000, Jennings, armed with a shotgun and a rifle, threatened to "die young and go out with a big blast.

Jennings vowed to "kill me a couple of cops" and later fired an arrow through a window of the house with a note attached threatening to rape the young girl.

FEARED FOR GIRL

Police delayed use of force to get the trigger-happy youth to come out because they feared he would harm the girl.

But jittery officers, tired of waiting and listening to the threats and curses of the young tough with a duck-tailed haircut, fired eight or nine tear gas shells through the windows of the house and the tense drama came to an abrupt end.

Jennings blamed his troubles on his father-in-law and his wife, Sandra, a 16-year-old high school student who he said bitterly was "always away at night."

How Marin Cities Voted In Municipal Elections

ISSUE IN DOUBT — Mill Valleyans elected Michael Wornum (upper left) and George D. Monardo (upper right) to the city council. Third man elected may also be a new face, that of William M. Secor (lower left), or George Blackwell may be re-elected. Tally of absentee ballots will decide. Elected treasurer in Mill Valley was William G. Rutherford (lower right)

3rd Mill Valley Council Seat Still Undecided

Seventy-two absent ballots, to be counted at the city council meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the city hall, will decide who is the third man elected to the Mill Valley Council in yesterday's voting.

George W. Blackwell, incumbent, received 15 more votes than William M. Secor, with Blackwell getting 1,319 and Secor 1,304.

The nip and tuck race between the two men was watched by a tense crowd of coffee and doughnut eaters at the city hall. Blackwell was in the lead early in the tabulation, even nosing out for a time second place George D. Monardo. He faltered and dropped behind Secor, then rallied and ended up ahead at 2:55 a.m.

WORNUM LEADS

Michael Wornum was assured of election with 1,319 votes; Monardo was second with 1,379. Following Blackwell and Secor were J. Ralph Martindale with 852 and T. J. DeLasaux Jr. with 521.

William G. Rutherford won the post of city treasurer with 1,275 votes, with Mrs. Marie Mize getting 1,092.

There were two write-ins for Mill Valley Council, one for baseball player Willie Mays and one for George Scott.

The election saw a turnout of exactly 50 per cent of eligible voters, with 2,529 votes cast and 5,058 persons registered. Two years ago, 2,632 voted in the Mill Valley city election.

AN ARCHITECT

Wornum, who conducted a house-to-house campaign that paid off, is an architect. He has headed the architectural advisory committee of the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Monardo is administrator of Franklin Hospital in San Francisco. Secor is owner of a typewriter company in San Francisco. Blackwell is a reinsurance broker.

NEW LOOK IN LARKSPUR — Only one Larkspur City Council post was decided last night, that won by James J. Lienkaemper (upper left). Second and third spots depend on the absentee ballot count. At least one more new council member is sure to be chosen, however, either Lesly Daveler (upper right) or Mrs. Jane Epidendio (lower)

Hot Larkspur Contest Lead By New Faces

Larkspur voters elected 37-year-old accountant James J. Lienkaemper to the city council yesterday, but their other two choices for councilmen will remain in doubt until 35 absentee ballots are opened next Tuesday.

In a climax to one of the hottest muncipal election races in the city's 52-year history, Lienkamper topped a nine-man slate with 550 votes. A total of 1,316 votes was cast, or 53 per cent of the 2,500 registered.

Trailing closely were Lesly A. Daveler, a 46-year-old administrative assistant, 519 votes, and Mrs. Jane Epidendio, 44, co-owner of a market, 510 votes. In fourth place was Mayor Daniel Allen, 503 votes.

The 35 absentee ballots will determine which two of these three have been elected.

In a contest for city clerk, incumbent Helen S. Wilson recevied 1,000 votes to Mrs. Anne E. Smart's 228. Mrs. Smart had aligned her campaign with the anti-city manager forces.

Voters turned down the two other council incumbents running for re-election. Councilman Orrin W. Gray received 436 votes and Councilman Albert E. Heston 346.

Paul J. Keever, a personnel counselor, received 394 votes; general contractor David B. McDougall, 252 votes, and Charles F. Schneider, a retired railroad man, 214 votes.

Lienkaemper and Daveler ran as a team, both declaring they were for continuance of city manager government "with more supervision by the council."

The city's loud and bitter campaign developed as a result of the ouster of Fire Chief John A. Raggio and the ensuing controversy over whether to continue city manager government.

The three council incumbents seeking re-election were solidly behind City Manager Ronald E. Piper.

Mrs. Epidendio was pro-Raggio and anti-city manager, along with Keever, McDougall and Schneider.

Corte Madera Backs Mayor, Insurance Man

Corte Madera voters returned Mayor Roger F. Morse to office for a second four-year term yesterday and named insurance special agent Raymond L. DeYoung to the city council in a quiet municipal election.

Morse received 515 votes; DeYoung, 443, and Jack I. Miller, a construction superintendent, 308. Kenneth G. Hoag, an insurance agent, whose name appeared on the ballot although he had withdrawn because he had not fulfilled the residence requirements, received 62 votes.

Only 29 per cent—or 690—of the 2,362 registered voters turned out to cast their ballots.

Town Clerk Naydeen Penny, who filled an unexpired term beginning in 1958, was unopposed for reelection. She received 634 votes. There was one write-in vote for Portia Fitzgerald, secretary of the planning commission but not a resident of the town.

Incumbent Treasurer John R. Vance, who also filled an unexpected term in 1958, also was unopposed, received 628 votes.

Only one absentee ballot was issued and it has not yet been returned, the town clerk reported.

Morse, 39, is a mechanical engineer. DeYoung, 32, is a member of the town park and recreation commission.

2 Incumbents Re-Elected At Sausalito

Two incumbents were re-elected to the Sausalito City Council yesterday, but only the counting of the absent ballots will determine who gets the third spot.

Incumbent Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. tallied the heaviest vote with a total of 934. Mayor Howard Sievers followed with 781.

The third spot, being vacated by John E. Koenig Jr. who did not seek re-election, will go to either Michael A. Harris with 744 votes or Carl G. Wooley with 712. There are 69 absentee ballots which will decide the issue when they are counted next Tuesday.

NINE CANDIDATES

Nine candidates sought election to the three posts.

Ehrlich, an attorney, will serve a four-year term. His previous term was by appointment. The mayor, an electrical engineer with Bechtel Corp in San Francisco, is completing a four-year term.

William H. Ryan, who withdrew from the race, received 28 votes.

TWO UNOPPOSED

Running unopposed, City Clerk Amelie Smith received 1,314 votes and City Treasurer Edwin S. Long, 1,135.

Harris is a San Francisco Chronicle reporter, and Wooley is a builder.

There was a write-in vote for "Joe Bloke" for treasurer.

A total of 1,529 votes were cast from a list of 2,745 of registered voters. In the election two years ago 1,228 votes were cast.

SAUSALITO CONTESTANTS — Joining two re-elected city councilmen on Sausalito's governing board will be either Michael A. Harris (left) and Carl G. Wooley. Harris led in tabulations yesterday, but there are enough absentee ballots that Wooley might emerge the winner.

Incumbents Win Easily In Ross Town Election

The three incumbent town councilmen were re-elected handily. Their lone "new-face" opponent on the ballot was defeated, and the one announced write-in candidate received what could be described as hardly more than a family vote. There was a sprinkling of other write-in votes.

Arthur Kanzee Jr., 55, the mayor, a real estate developer and investment counselor who was first elected two years ago, received 260 votes.

The same number of votes went to Harry C. Scott, 44, partner in the San Francisco law firm of Pillsbury, Madison and Sutro.

T. Bruce Selfridge, 42, manager of manufacturing for the Enterprise Division, General Metals Corp., San Francisco, reecived 256 votes.

James T. McLaughlin, 33, a resident of Ross only three years and the only candidate who operates a business in Marin—the Redwood Empire Hardwood Co. at Greenbrae—received 97 votes.

McLaughlin conducted a quiet house-to-house campaign, and there were strong hints that he was dissatisfied with the police department. But what at first promised to be a slightly stormy political issue blew out as a gentle breeze.

Vincent Hallinan, who was unsuccessful in his bid for president of the United States in the Independent Progressive Party ticket in 1952, received six votes.

He said he really didn't want the job. His idea was that of protest. He had been unsuccessful, too, in getting the town council to vote an anti-dog ordinance. He said dogs roam Ross, dirty lawns and kill deer.

Elected without opposition were Town Clerk William W. Cole and Town Treasurer Phyllis O. B. Martin. Cole received 292 votes and Mrs. Martin 295.

There are 14 absentee ballots to be counted, but they will not change the outcome of the election. A total of 312 ballots were cast from a list of 1,200 registered voters, a 25 per cent plus turnout. In the town election two years ago there were no contests and only 154 votes were cast.

Stanford Paganucci of Fernhill road, an advocate of tennis courts on Ross Common and former president of the Parent-Teacher Assn., received one write-in vote for the council. Hal Moore of Camino Bueno received one write-in vote for clerk, and Mrs. Katherine Keaton, wife of County Coroner Frank J. Keaton, received one write-in vote for treasurer.

Willie Mays Gets Mill Valley Vote

Willie Mays, you're wanted in Mill Valley.

The San Francisco Giant centerfielder, who moved his home from San Francisco back to New York last winter, received a write-in vote for Mill Valley City Council in yesterday's municipal election, non-resident status nothwithstanding.

Of course, it was almost sure to happen with election coinciding with the opening of the National League season.

Councilmen In Novato Returned By Landslide

In Novato's second election in three months, 1,521 of the city's registered voters returned their three novice incumbent councilmen to office by a landslide.

Facing incumbents Everett Pozzi, M. E. (Babe) Silva and Harvey J. Vicchio for three vacant council seats were Eugene R. Trombley and William Loewen, both of whom were defeated candidates in the city's first election on Jan. 12.

The final unofficial vote totals from all five precincts were:

Silva, 1,316; Vicchio, 1,252; Pozzi, 1,232; Trombley, 392; Loewen, 144. Twelve absentee ballots remain to be counted.

The vote was about 34 per cent of the 4,835 registered. In contrast to the election in January which created the city and elected the first council, and in which tabulating lasted until 3 a.m., last night's vote count was completed by 8:30 p.m.. Twenty-seven candidates ran in the first election.

Gathered in the Independent-Journal offices for a traditional election night coffee and doughnut party, all three incumbents expressed relief as soon as the early returns began coming in.

Absentees To Decide Race In Belvedere

Thirty-six absentee ballots will tell whether Dr. John H. Flint or Vice Adm. Frank E. Beatty is the new member of the Belvedere City Council.

Two incumbnts, Mayor Robert P. Watkins and E. G. (Ned) Weed, were re-elected in yesterday's balloting. But for a third council seat, the race between Flint and Beatty was so close it can be decided only by the absentee ballot tally, which will be made at a council meeting next Tuesday night.

Six hundred and eleven Belvedereans cast ballots in the election—58 per cent of the 1,080 registered to vote.

Watkins received 351 votes without the absentee count; Weed, 268; Flint, 242; Beatty, 226; Robert A. Davies, 187; Merritt K. Ruddock, 147; Herbert H. Scheier, 126; Robert M. Jones, 104; Horace A. Hill III, 21, and Charles J. Lennihan (who withdrew in the final week before election), 18.

Britton Rey was re-elected city clerk, unopposed, with 363 votes, and Mrs. Audrey Rey was re-elected city treasurer with an identical number of votes.

Actor Sterling Hayden received 14 write-in votes for city clerk and two for city treasurer. Mrs. Hayden received nine for city treasurer.

Dr. Flint is a dentist; Beatty, a retired Navy officer. Incumbent Mayor Watkins is a physician, and Weed is district manager for a heating coil manufacturer.

Fairfax Selects Two New Council Members

Lawrence F. (Larry) Walsh, who missed getting elected to the Fairfax City Council two years ago by five votes, and Waldemar E. (Ed) Radtke, member of the city planning commission, were elected yesterday to take two vacant seats on the council.

Walsh, 35, a Marin resident since he was 4 and a resident of Fairfax for nine years, racked up 638 votes. An insurance adjuster, Walsh says he will push for a road connecting Fairfax to Highway 101. Walsh has been a member of the city recreation commission.

Radtke, 41, who wants improved fire protection and expanded recreation facilities, received 549 votes.

Radtke, an accounts executive with a San Francisco insurance broker, has been on the planning commission six years.

Defeated was Robert E. Nolan, 32, in the general contracting business with his father. He received 528 votes. Nine absentee ballots cannot change the outcome of the election.

Walsh and Radtke will take the places of Mayor Edward A. Smith and Vice Mayor Albert Fox, whose terms are expiring. They did not seek re-election.

Re-elected were City Clerk Alice Leonesio, with 908 votes and City Treasurer Dorothy McGlothlin, with 878. They had no opposition.

Of the total of 2,554 registered voters, 1,026 cast votes, or just over 40 per cent. Two years ago 954 ballots were cast when seven persons sought three places on the council.

Fairfax write-in votes were: Jean Secchitano, unsuccessful council candidate in 1958, 2; Tony Boitano, 4; Adolph Traber, 1; Paul Arata, 1, and Gaylor Robb, 2, all for council. Robb also received a write-in vote for clerk.

San Anselmo Council Meeting Postponed

Last night's regular meeting of the San Anselmo City Council was adjourned to next Tuesday at 8 p.m. because of the municipal election yesterday.

City Clerk Anita Gannon said the meeting next Tuesday, required by law for canvass of yesterday's ballots, will be combined with the regular meeting.

Snake Bites Boy

Seven-year-old Stephen Moody of 7 Harbor drive, Corte Madera, was bitten by a gopher snake yesterday near his home, Police Chief Frank L. Nelson reported, The boy was taken to Marin General Hospital by a police officer and checked by a doctor, then returned home.

Actor Faces Surgery

The two-time winner of the Academy Award was expected to undergo surgery when tests are completed. The hospital said he was in satisfactory condition.

ONE WILL BE ELECTED — New face on the Belvedere City Council will be either that of Vice Adm. Frank E. Beatty (left) or that of Dr. John H. Flint (right). Tabulation of absentee votes will tell which of the two is elected.

Mayor Tops Hub Vote; Other Spot Undecided

Mayor Arthur W. Smith and one of his two opponents backed by the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government won election to the Hub City's council yesterday.

Whether John M. Reichmuth or his running mate, Robert W. Rouse, will replace Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. on the council will not be known until 31 absentee ballots are counted next Tuesday.

Whether Reichmuth or Rouse proves the winner, San Anselmo's next mayor likely will be William Franchini. Councilman Franchini joined Councilman Carleton G. Little in backing the Good Government candidates. A year ago, Franchini was proposed for mayor by Little but lost out to Smith.

City Treasurer George W. Prydz, now serving by appointment, won election to the treasurer's post easily over Mrs. Eleanor W. Henry. City Clerk Anita Gannon was re-elected without opposition.

The unofficial vote totals, with the 31 absentee ballots still uncounted, were:

For council: Smith, 1,157; Reichmuth, 1,000; Rouse, 996; Henry J. (Beck) Regalia, whose campaign was bracketed with Smith's in a two-ticket race, 917.

For treasurer: Prydz, 1,265; Henry, 710.

For clerk: Gannon, 1,800.

Ex-Councilman Kenneth R. Ball and Herbert Shirley each got a write-in vote for council, and W. D. Nicol received one write-in vote for clerk.

In all, 2,086 ballots were cast, or about 36 per cent of the 5,464 registered voters. Two years ago, with seven candidates for three city council posts, 1,844 voted in San Anselmo.

Smith, proprietor of Art Smith's Variety Store, has served on the city council since 1942. Reichmuth, 43, is a sales engineer for Baker-Hamilton Co. in San Francisco. Rouse, 32, is a market analyst for Hexcel Products Co. of Berkeley.

Vote Registration Closes Tomorrow

County Clerk George S. Jones will keep his office open for registrants until 9 o'clock tonight and tomorrow. Various city halls and firehouses are also open for registration.

East Bay Vote Tough On Incumbents

OAKLAND (AP) — Voters defeated 14 of 37 city councilmen seeking re-election in 19 cities of Contra Costa and Alameda Counties yesterday.

All three councilmen were beaten in both San Pablo and El Cerrito. Concord, Pittsburg and Martinez each threw out one councilman.

Two councilmen were defeated in both Hayward and Albany, and one in Livermore.

Tiburon Apartment Project Approved

Plans for a proposed apartment in Mariner Oaks were presented to the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce yesterday by William S. Johnstone and were given a unanimous vote of approval.

The apartment will be constructed by Johnstone and William A. Slater on Red Hill.

Robert L. Sterling, president of the chamber, said the chamber feels the structure will add a great deal of beauty to the area, and will write the planning commission to that effect.

HALF OF TICKET WINS—Which half of the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government was elected to the city council yesterday won't be known until absentee ballots are counted. It will be either John M. Reichmuth (left) or Robert E. Rouse.

Civic Center Architect Fee Monies Voted

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday voted to spend $26,500 in state money for final payment of architectural fees on the county fairgrounds site at the civic center.

That amount and $48,750 has been approved for transfer to the county by an executive order at Sacramento. Word of this allocation was made by County Auditor Leon A. DeLisle, who told the board that the state Department of Finances Division of Fairs and Expositions also has reinstated $20,000 in 1960 pari-mutual funds.

AMOUNT INCREASED

The county previously was scheduled to receive only $15,000. DeLisle said the amount was increased and now is a total of $35,000.

"It is now apparent," said DeLisle, "that the meeting held some time ago in Sacramento with various state officials and Sen. Jack McCarthy, (County Administrator) Donald Jensen and myself, was quite successful.

'NOT SUFFICIENT'

"At this meeting we pointed out to the state that we would not have sufficient monies to finance the 1960 fair out of the state fair fund, wherein, they recommended that a temporary transfer be made from our available local county fair fund."

Michael Mitchell, assistant county auditor, said the $48,750 should be spent on site preparation and utilities. He said the $26,250 represented final architect's fees for the preparation of a master plan for fair site development and preliminary plans for fair pavilion and amphitheater. In all the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation has received more than $100,000, with the county paying about one-fourth of that amount.

Traffic Toll Dips In First Quarter

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Traffic deaths in California for the first quarter of 1960 are down almost 5 per cent from the same period last year, Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden reported.

The death toll stood at 799 on March 31, compared with 840 for the first three months of 1959.

Despite a truck-train collision near Bakersfield in which 14 died on March 1, the total deaths for March dropped 33 from the same month last year, Crittenden said.

Visiting Judge Sits On Marin Bench

Judge Lilburn Gibson of Mendocino County is sitting in Marin Superior Court Department 2 this week in place of Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Judge Keating is serving in Ukiah this week under an exchange of judges. Deputy County Clerk Agnes Nathanson explained that judges sometimes swap benches when one decides to rule himself out of a case in his own county.

Directors of the company were listed as Samuel M. Lino and Catherina G. Lino, 506 Spring street, Sausalito, and George P. Lino, 151 California street, Mill Valley.

Warning Given Law Might Halt Building

Marin County Fire Chief Charles Reilley warned yesterday that an ordinance designed to prohibit building in areas where there may not be enough water to fight fires might halt construction altogether in some areas.

Reilley was replying to a request from the Marin County Board of Supervisors for comment on a request from the Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn., asking for such an ordinance.

RESIDENTS ALARMED

Residents of Muir Woods Park last year became increasingly alarmed as low water pressure as springs that feed their water system became more and more feeble.

Also they were concerned with water pipes in the area and asserted they would be adequate to supply water in case of a big fire.

The association applied pressure to the directors of the Marin Municipal Water District for relief. Yesterday, director George W. Thierbach told the board that the district would place a new tank in the district.

TO HANDLE PROBLEM

The board, after discussing the possibility of changing the building code to prevent use by several pieces of property of one water lateral, decided to let the water district handle the Muir Woods Park problem.

The water system serving this area does not use district lake water, but gets water from a spring on Mt. Tamalpais.

The association asked for an ordinance to apply to the county as a whole and not just that area within the water district. It was the outside areas that Reilley referred to when he said such action might halt building. He said similar situations exist in other areas, particularly Stinson Beach.

Redevelop Agency Passes Resolution

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency has adopted a resolution for further negotiations and reappraisal of two parcels of land which it has been unable to secure to go ahead with the development.

Bert Klahn, executive director of the agency, said that if negotiations fail, the resolution authorizes immediate filing of condemnation proceedings.

The property is one and one-half acres belonging to Mrs. Mary Rosa and 7,500 square feet belonging to Paul Smith.

Novato Firemen To Help Bunny

Novato's small-fry will be turned loose in the field at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, it was announced at the association meeting last night.

Marin Flood Control Group Lacks Quorum

Members of the Marin County Flood Control Commission met Monday night to discuss what progress is being made in Marin under the state flood control act. Because of lack of a quorum, no action was taken.

The matter is to be discussed again May 2 at 8 p.m. at a commission meeting in the county supervisors' chambers in the courthouse in San Rafael.

Where The Water Goes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Probably less than 5 per cent of the 300 billion gallons of water used daily in the United States is consumed in household operations, the Nalco Chemical Corp. reported.

More water is used for industrial and power generation than any other, some 46 per cent while agricultural irrigation accounts for the largest share of the remaining 54 per cent.

NEW CHURCH ACCESS

Rail Flatcars Bridge Tiburon Area Ditch

The dilemma of how to get to church was resolved yesterday by the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Richardson Bay.

Focal point of the problem has been a wide, tide-filled ditch between the Tiburon Highway and the parking area for the nearly completed church. A permanent crossing was deemed unnecessary for when the highway is expended to four lanes, the ditch will become solid ground.

Through the resourcefulness of architect Rolland B. Hammond, church elder, two wood and steel railway flatcars were placed across the ditch yesterday. On Easter Sunday, when the parishioners meet in their new building for the first time, they will be able to drive across a solid bridge.

Each railway car is capable of carrying 40 tons. They have been used to bridge farm ditches in Lucas Valley where Hammond first spotted them.

This is not the first time that railway cars have come to the aid of this church. When space was at a premium for the rapidly growing church school, two passenger cars were rented to house the primary departments. Located at the northwestern Pacific yard in Tiburon, the cars have been used for two years. They will be vacated the Sunday following Easter when the church school moves into the new building.

Utility Commissioners Rule On Tax Write-Off

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Public Utilities Commission yesterday disposed of its most controversial problem —what public utilities should do with savings from fast tax write-offs.

The commission, splitting 3-2, held that if they take fast write-offs on new plant and equipment, the utilities must pass the savings on to customers.

Thus ended a long political dispute over "tax normalization."

Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Southern California Edison and some other utilities wanted to use gains from fast write-offs of federal taxes for plant expansion.

The write-offs would come from "accelerated depreciation" of new facilities. The utilities argued that if they took deductions for rapid depreciation over a short period, then their taxes eventually would increase because they would have used up their deductions on the facilities.

Therefore, the utilities said, when the commission set their rates, it should pretend that they actually had not taken fast write-offs, but had paid the taxes involved. This is called "tax normalization."

The utilities claimed that it would all work out the same in the end.

But the commission majority said that with more and more new construction, the utilities would never run out of fast write-offs. The day would never come when they would pay the taxes, which, in effect, had been deferred, the majority said.

The commission ruled that utilities may take the fast write-offs by "accelerated depreciation," but that the savings must be passed on to the consumer.

This would be done by setting utility rates on the basis only of taxes actually paid and on other expenses.

The effect of the decision, utility specialists said, probably will be that no major utility in California will take the fast write-offs provided by federal law.

As a result there would be no tax savings to pass on to the consumer.

Supervisors Exchange Verbal Salvos On Pt. Reyes Hearing

A battle royal over the issue of testimony to be presented tomorrow before the U.S. Senate subcommittee investigating possible development of a Pt. Reyes national park flared suddenly in the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Its climax came with defeat by a 2-2 tie vote of a proposal to prohibit county employees or commission members from appearing before the hearing in other than as private citizens.

Bitter words flew between Bryan McCarthy, San Rafael attorney representing West Marin property owners who oppose the park project, and members of the board, and among board members. Absence of Supervisor William Gnoss resulted in the tie vote over what Supervisor Vera Schultz termed an effort to impose "gag rule" on employees.

It all started quietly with a procession of routine matters sent in by the Marin County Planning Commission, ending with a statement prepared by Commissioner Margaret Azevedo favoring the park and supported by the commission as factual.

Preliminary staff studies, said the statement, "indicate that potential economic benefits to the county from the proposed park would be greater than those realized from present use or from future possible residential use."

McCarthy jumped to his feet and declared that this was "a sad commentary" on a subordinate body seeking to influence its bosses—"the tail wagging of the dog," as he put it.

"You took a position of neutrality," said McCarthy. "To me it is ridiculous that you, the board, allow the planning commission to take a position that will be looked on as that of the county . . . It's 100 per cent wrong."

He added that "this so-called myth of vanishing property is really a matter of vanishing private property" and said that the Department of Interior now has 23 million acres in California, yet uses only four million for parks while seeking to add Pt. Reyes.

Mrs. Schultz explained that the planners are advisers to the board, set up by the legislature, so "we can't tell it not to give advice." McCarthy retorted, "They're going over your head!"

After increasingly heated discussion, Supervisor James Marshall proposed a resolution forbidding county employees or commission members from appearing or sending reports to the hearing tomorrow at College of Marin except as private citizens.

Mrs. Schultz promptly termed the resolution a "gag rule." Supervisor William D. Fusselman commented, "Well, you've tried that on me!" and seconded the motion. But the fight was just warming up.

"Does that mean that the citizens advisory committee, the parks and recreation commission, and the planning commission can't submit reports?" demanded Mrs. Schultz.

"It does," said Marshall.

"What about appearances of department heads?" asked Chairman Walter R. Castro.

"They can testify as to facts, but not as to conclusions," said Fusselman.

Gibbs H. Lawson of Dillon Beach rose as a member of the parks and recreation body to say that its chairman had been authorized to express the views of the five members as a unit as "we are unanimous in our thinking."

The issue was brought to a vote with only Fusselman supporting Marshall's resolution and Castro going along with Mrs. Schultz in opposition.

But the argument continued. Mrs. Schultz declared it "very reprehensible" that a "hired advocate of property owners" should seek to "dictate" board decisions.

This stirred up both McCarthy, who demanded an apology, and Fusselman, who declared, "You can't malign me. You said dictate!"

Fusselman announced he had decided to radio broadcast tape recordings of Mrs. Schultz's past utterances. Mrs. Schultz retorted, "I'm not a bit afraid." And Fusselman rejoined, "You'll be horribly embarrassed."

Mill Valley Schools Cut Field Trips

Purchase orders have been stopped and field trips outside the county have been eliminated, according to Leo B. Edson, assistant superintendent of the Mill Valley School District, in order that the district might stay within its budget.

Edson said that if the district is to maintain a $38,000 beginning balance to start the 1960-61 school year, these economies are necessary.

Commenting upon the shortage of funds, Edson pointed out to the board of trustees that the district's beginning balance contained an over-statement of $14,000 due to the fact that restricted fund balances had been included with the operating budget.

He also remarked that the state had imposed a $6,000 deficit factor on its apportionment and that miscalculation will cause a $9,000 deficit in state aid.

Animals may lose nearly all the fat and about half the protein of the body and survive. But a loss of about one-tenth of the water will cause death.

Terra Linda Recreation District Boundaries Set

Boundaries of a proposed Terra Linda recreation district were fixed by resolution of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Murray Peterson, member of the board of the Terra Linda Community Services District, told the supervisors that his group is prepared to divest itself of all recreation functions, hand over land now held for recreational purposes, and allow the recreation district to collect taxes for its own purposes.

Peterson later explained that this means the community services district would there after be concerned only with fire protection, policing and lighting, its taxation covering only those three categories.

Six Die In Crash

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (UPI) — Six persons, including an attorney's wife and three of her four children, suffered fatal injuries last night in a violent head-on automobile collision here.

Five of the victims either were killed instantly or died last night shortly after the accident on a three-lane highway about 20 miles northwest of Pittsburgh. The sixth, the six-month-old son of Beaver Falls, Pa., attorney John Cartwright, succumbed to head injuries today in Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh.

SUPERVISORS ROUNDUP

Contract Awarded On Launching Ramp Fees

John De Borba of Marshall is to be given a contract to collect fees at the Miller Park launching ramp on Tomales Bay, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday.

This action was taken in reversal of an earlier position when a contract with Ben Wilson was terminated. A letter from County Administrator Donald A. Jensen said that private launching ramp operators were in trouble if no charge was made at Miller Park and that Supervisor James Marshall felt another attendant should be hired.

Charles T. Johnson, one of the operators, said, "I can't compete with the government when they give it for free." Gibbs H. Lawson of the parks and recreation commission indicated that his group was ready to recommend renewed operation under an attendant.

It was decided that a committee under Marshall will investigate and act, giving De Borba a temporary contract along lines of that previously held by Wilson.

The supervisors also:

1. Agreed to extend the welfare building lease for 18 months at an increase from $994 to $1,154 a month, with possible six months extension at the same figure, on promise of Earl Grady, the landlord, to install drain tile and eliminate termites.
2. Accepted a bid by Shearson, Hammill and Co. of Los Angeles for $23,000 in bonds of the Reed Union School District at 3.7373 per cent.
3. Agreed to a compromise by which the estate of James Dwyer will pay $4,220.97 against a county claim of $5,349.30, if necessary taking this over a lengthy period to avoid forced sale of real estate.
4. Directed County Counsel Leland H. Jordan to take legal action to enforce the provisions of a bond in an agreement the county had with the Marin Land Co., Inc., for construction of improvements in the Harbor Point subdivision.
5. Promoted Lorin A. Hall from fire marshal to fire captain with a raise in salary from $481 to $505.
6. Directed Jordan to look into the legality of a claim by Maxime Taylor of 556 Shoreline highway, Mill Valley, that she paid taxes twice. The entangled affair, according to her, involves clerical errors in the assessor's and auditor's offices.
7. Referred to Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham a request from the county harbors commission for a definite pierhead line in Richardson Bay.
8. Referred to Brigham a request from Tamalpais Union High School District for improved safety features in the crosswalk in front of Tamalpais High School.
9. Asked County Clerk George S. Jones to set up an interview time with James B. Leach, 35, of 240 Laurel place, San Rafael, who has applied for appointment to the board of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.
10. Heard a letter from the Alcan Pacific Co., senior citizens' home developer, asking exclusion from the one-acre zoning soon to go into effect at Bolinas. The board was told Alcan Pacific does not own the land and has no option to buy it. The board said exclusions should have been considered during public hearings on the zone, and filed the letter.

Easter Egg Hunt Set In San Rafael

The San Rafael 20-30 Club will present its 11th Easter egg hunt Sunday in conjunction with the San Rafael Recreation Department.

The hunt, to be held starting at 1 p.m. at Albert Park, also will feature several other events.

At least 1,000 persons are expected to attend. Free candy and ice cream is passed out to children. Also there will be games and contests including a crazy hat contest.

The day will lead off with the hat contest to be followed by four egg hunts by age group. After that there will be races and games. Ages 3 and under will hunt in one group; 4 and 5 year olds in another, 6 and 7 year olds in another and 8 through 10 year olds in another. On hand to pass out baskets will be the Easter Bunny.

YOUR KEY TO ECONOMY

Whatever make or model car you drive—enjoy the savings of Boron Power!

In only three years since its introduction to western motorists, Richfield Boron gasoline has created a success story of unequaled public acceptance.

Richfield Boron has passed the test where it counts most: on the streets and highways under all types of driving conditions. Tested, not in a laboratory, but in more than 100 million car miles of actual driving by motorists like you. That's where Richfield Boron gasoline has set new records for smooth, knock-free performance.

Not so dramatic—but equally important to money-conscious motorists—is the extra mileage enjoyed by users of this motor fuel. This mileage bonus comes from Boron's ability to control engine combustion, to prevent pre-ignition which wastes gasoline...and thus to utilize to the fullest every drop of clean-burning Richfield Boron.

And many owners of the new compact cars are finding they get "big car" performance by switching to Richfield Boron—plus the built-in mileage benefits of this advanced motor fuel.

If you haven't tried Richfield Boron, give yourself—and your pocketbook—a treat with this new type of gasoline. It's over 100 octane.

"Boron" is not a gimmick or coined word invented by some pseudo-scientific publicity man. Boron is one of the natural elements of the universe. It appears on the atomic scale as do gold, silver, platinum, hydrogen, oxygen and other natural elements. Boron has over 200 industrial and scientific uses. Its most spectacular use has been in the improvement of high-energy fuels for rockets and missiles. Its most important use for you is in the gasoline tank of your car.

Service Stations Slate Grand Opening Fetes

Six service stations in Marin County will hold a grand opening this weekend under the name of Wilshire Holiday.

To celebrate the event airlines stewardesses will be on hand to give information on free trips to Europe, and otherwise help in making the days pleasant.

J. S. Rising, manager of the stations, says no purchases will be necessary in order to be eligible for the trip. The firm plans to give an all-expense paid trip to Europe to a Marin couple every 60 days.

Rising said Holiday Wilshire is a locally owned and managed group of stations until recently known as the Menlo Stations. He said the company soon plans to add about eight more stations to the six already in the chain.

The celebration will open Friday when tickets for drawing will be available. The drawing will be held June 15.

The six stations are located at 4484 Redwood Highway North at Lucas Valley Road; 101 Redhill avenue, San Anselmo; 600 Redwood Highway south at Richardson Bay Bridge; Fourth and Irwin, San Rafael; 451 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael, and 700 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, San Anselmo.

In addition R. P. Buis, regional sales manager for the Fisk tire division of the United States Rubber Co. has announced the appointment of Holiday Wilshire stations as distributor for Fisk tires. The chain is offering free a Fisk Premier tire with the purchase of one and the old tire you drive in on.

There also will be free soft drinks, balloons and lollipops Friday and Saturday.

Rising said the company plans to provide residents with "high quality gasoline, batteries and tires at substantial savings through volume marketing."

St. Louis was incorporated as a city in 1822.

Orchestra Will Play Special Work

A musical work written especially for young people will have its premier April 24 in a concert by the Marin Youth Orchestra.

The idea for the work came from Hugo Rinaldi, conductor of the orchestra. He discussed the possibility of a musical selection written for the Marin group with Dr. Leonard Ratner of Stanford University.

The idea took shape and Dr. Ratner produced "Overture to a Carnival" with the financial assistance of the Marin Music Co. and Miracle Music. The work displays the individual talents of the orchestra as well as the whole group. The program will be given at Marin Catholic High School at 7:30 p.m.

School To Open Sans Science Classrooms

Terra Linda High School will open as scheduled next September, but its students may have to get along without a science classroom wing for anywhere from one to three months.

That was the word given the San Rafael Board of Education last night.

Bad news from contractor Ray Johnson was carried to the board by Carl F. Gromme, of Gromme, Mulvin and Priestley, the district's architects. He said Johnson's latest estimate of a completion date on the final classroom building was Oct. 15 "but I think he's about two weeks behind that."

"We'll move into the school anyway," declared Supt. Frank L. Lucas. "We can get along without that classroom wing for a little while."

Gromme said Johnson could speed up the building by perhaps as much as a month if he had additional materials—principally plywood—to make forms for concrete slab walls. His present schedule calls for pouring one section of concrete at a time. If more forms were set up, he could pour more at once. The contractor estimated he needed $4,600 worth more materials, and asked that the high school district buy them, said Gromme.

Trustee Harold Fulkerson proposed it be done "if we can get a definite commitment date of Sept. 30 or earlier to move into the building."

But Gromme seemed dubious of such a date. He said Johnson had asked an extension of 150 days of the 400 calendar days he was allowed for completing the high school when he began the job last May. The 150 days represents the length of last year's steel strike.

That would put the completion off nearly until December, the three trustees present noted.

Superintendent Lucas was instructed to try to get a commitment from Johnson and report to the board when it meets again next Tuesday night.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at Zion Lutheran Church, Ninth and Anza Strees, San Francisco.

Brown Signs Bill Launching State Auto Smog Control

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown penned his name today to the bill he called the "most historic achievement" of the 1960 Legislature—the bill launching a statewide smog control program.

The measure's most far-reaching aspect will eventually touch the majority of car owners in California. It requires installation of air pollution control devices on all new motor vehicles and on used vehicles in smog-afflicted counties.

The new law sets up a 13-man Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board to enforce its requirements. The board will set criteria for approval of exhaust control devices and approve the devices used.

Within a year after suitable devices are approved by the board, no new motor vehicle can be sold in the state without a control device.

No used vehicle can be sold after that until a smog muffler is installed, unless local governmental bodies determine there is no smog problem in their area.

Provost Of Seminary Mum On 'Gag' Charge

The provost of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo had virtually no comment today about an accusation by a student that the Presbyterian institution is "selling its soul" to finance a building program.

John R. Little, former advertising executive who took over the new provost post in January, was queried as to what he thought of the charge made by Keith Williams, a Corte Maderan living at Oxtoby Hall.

Williams, in a letter to the Independent-Journal, said he was opposed to the "censorship" involved in requiring clearance of publicity releases through the office of seminary development. He said the seminary could hide from the public disagreements between student and faculty in order to present a "consistent image" to the public, and thereby "find it easier to get funds."

Little offered very little comment today.

But he did say, in a very pleasant voice, and after being asked if Williams would be expelled or otherwise disciplined, "No, after all one of our heritages is our right to protest."

Meeting Set For Talks On North Bay Aqueduct Plan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—The director of the state Department of Water Resources today called a meeting of supervisors and legislators of four North Bay counties to discuss the future of the North Bay Aqueduct.

In a letter, Harvey O. Banks invited supervisors, state senators and assemblymen of Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano Counties to meet in Sacramento April 28 to discuss the future of the aqueduct, which would bring water to Marin from the Sacramento River delta. The meeting is to be in the Public Works Building at 1:30 p.m.

In his letter, Banks pointed out two major charges which have prompted him to call the meeting:

1. The department has revised upward its estimates of the future population of the area which the aqueduct would serve.

2. Start of construction of the Nicasio dam project in Marin; negotiations and definite planning for obtaining water from the Russian River by the North Marin Water District; probable construction by the Sonoma Flood Control and Water District of water conduits into the Sonoma and Petaluma valleys.

The first factor would increase demand for aqueduct water while the second factors would tend to reduce the aqueduct's service area.

Bank said the purpose of the meeting would be to review these developments and discuss "policy matters" which his department should take with regard to the project.

The North Bay Aqueduct, one of the features of the state water plan, was authorized by the 1957 Legislature which appropriated $1,430,000 for preparation of plans and specifications, which now are substantially complete. The 1959 Legislature appropriated another million dollars for purchase of right of way for the aqueduct, but none of this money has been spent as yet by Banks' department.

Bolinas Housing For Aged To Be TV Talk Subject

A proposed 300-unit housing project for senior citizens at Bolinas will be the subject of television station KPIX's second program in the "By the People" series Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Marin County Planning Director Mary Summers, Supervisor Vera Schultz, Lester Burdet of the Alcan Pacific Corp. and Louis Duplan of the governor's citizens committee on the aging will be on the program.

Alcan Pacific, according to Mrs. Schultz, does not have an option to buy land for the projected development. While it has a use permit to construct apartments there, under a new zoning law soon to go into effect the corporation would have to apply again for a variance to permit construction. Another hurdle in the path of construction is approval of a federal loan.

California Reserve Officers Meeting Set In San Rafael

Members of the California Department of the Reserve Officers Assn. will meet April 29, 30 and May 1 at the Bermuda Palms, San Rafael.

Approximately 6,000 invitations were extended to reserve officers throughout the state, reports Lt. Col. Daniel G. Cook San Rafael, general co-chairman of the convention.

Lt. Col. Carl Webber, Kentfield, finance; Lt. Cmdr. Donald Carpenter, Mill Valley, housing; Lt. Col. Robert Paine, Novato, registration; Lt. Col. Leroy Wanless, Novato, entertainment

Teacher Pay Hike Delayed In San Rafael

The San Rafael Board of Education last night delayed for a week decision on whether to raise the salary schedule of elementary school teachers to equal that of high school teachers.

Two of the three trustees present expressed themselves as ready to adopt such a raise. But the third, Rex Silvernale, suggested that perhaps a smaller raise for the elementary teachers and a raise in the high school schedule should be considered. He noted that high school teachers themselves believe their pay schedule should be higher than that of teachers in the elementary schools.

TAX RAISE

The raise for elementary teachers was one of the items listed by trustees as requiring an increase in the tax rate, which was approved by voters in February.

Trustee Harold Fulkerson said he was willing to vote the increase for elementary teachers. Chairman C. Paul Bettini agreed, declaring, "That's what we said we were going to do."

But action was delayed because of absence of trustees Roderick P. Martinelli and Willard Vernon, and because Supt. Frank L. Lucas said he expected to have a survey of high school salaries completed for next Tuesday night's meeting.

NEW TEACHERS

Hiring of three teachers for next year was reported last night my Lucas. He said, however, that they had not been promised higher salaries than in present schedules.

Hired were Margaret J. Brooks, a beginning teacher for elementary schools, Mrs. Jeanne Bennett, to teach science, and Albert L. Gautraud, to head the social studies department at Terra Linda High School.

The superintendent also reported resignations of C. Irvin Wright, instrumental music teacher, who plans to return to his home state of Washington, and Mrs. Cecelia F. Wagner, remedial reading teacher, retiring and planning to write a book on remedial reading.

The board appointed: Manuel Cardoza, as custodian of San Pedro School, Laurence Pearson as janitor of Santa Venetia School and Ray Bunyea as custodian of Gallinas School. Resignation of Vero Tilkus, bus driver, because of illness was accepted.

Board Approves Interviews In Welfare Cases

Betty L. Presley, director of the Marin County Welfare Department, won approval of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday for an experiment in group interviewing of mothers receiving Aid to Needy Children.

The project will require initial outlay of $850 for preparation of a "research design," this money to be advanced by the county but reimbursed by the state.

Chairman Walter R. Castro cast the single dissenting vote on the ground that tax money would be needed even though not from the county, and he also inquired, "Why use Marin County as a guinea-pig?"

Miss Presley said in a letter to the board that the group interview method has potential for enabling some to "come to grips with their problems and take steps toward their solution more quickly" than by individual interviews.

Supervisor William Fusselman moved acceptance.

Tables Turned In Cuba

HAVANA (UPI)—Anti-government guerrillas in Cuba's eastern mountains were reported today to be using the same sabotage tactics that swept Premier Fidel Castro to power 16 months ago.

Castro, officially on an "inspection tour of land reforms" in Oriente Province, was believed to have taken direct command of troops, peasants and people's militiamen seeking to stamp out the anti-government forces.

The guerrillas, said to be led by ex-Capt. Manuel Beaton, were hiding out in the Maestra Mountains—Castro's own base for guerrilla operations against ouster ex-President Fulgencio Batista.

Reed Board Approves Test Program Results

Reed Union School District trustees took a look at results of the district's testing program last night and expressed approval of what they saw.

"I am pleased to see that the results of the testing program indicate a comprehensive program is being offered and the product is doing all right," said Trustee Erwin Farley.

The board gave Supt. Paul R. Stouffer the green light to proceed with several recommendations he had presented to the trustees. These were: elimination of the position of administrative assistant to the superintendent and hiring of more maintenance and clerical personnel; establishment of a material center at which teachers can have access to material and equipment needed for projects, and hiring of a second music teacher to specialize in choral music. The trustees also accepted Stouffer's recommendation that plans for a cafeteria be abandoned.

Resignations, effective at the close of the school year, were accepted from five teachers: Mrs. Barbara Raadik, Mrs. Patricia Lee, Mrs. Mary Kennedy, Margery Milbrook and Chris Bogios.

Mrs. Jane Cope was granted a maternity leave.

Employed for next year were Mrs. Dorothy Hanson, who previously taught in the Reed District, and Elizabeth Schafer. Both will teach at Bel Aire School.

Thirty-one states now have boat numbering laws in line with the Federal Boating Act of 1958.

Whoosh! Winds Force Giants To Change Style Of Play

The San Francisco Giants, who used to knock the cover off the ball to win games, will have to change their style of play entirely to win this year, says Stan Musial.

Musial made the observation after the first game in the new Candlestick Park—a windblown affair in which the Giants defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, before 42,269 fans.

"Runs are going to be hard to get in this park," said Musial after the opener. "The Giants are going to have to do a lot of bunting, a lot of base stealing to win games here. They are going to have to change their style completely."

The spacious outfield and a strong wind are what Musial was talking about. The outfield fences are only 335 feet to the corner, but fan out quickly so that the right and left fielders stand beside 397-foot signs; centerfield is 420 feet.

On top of that, the wind blows a gale in from the left field side so that hard-smashed balls that way are lucky to travel 300 feet.

"The wind is going to be a factor in every ball game here," Solly Hemus, St. Louis manager, pointed out.

Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants apparently had "cased" the place earlier. He had his boys attempting bunts, and they stole three bases.

"Yes, I think I went for right center when I hit that double," he said, "but it's a thing I don't like to do. I like to feel free to hit to all fields. And, of course, my power is to left field. This is an excellent park. But I think they should plant some trees back of center field to improve the batter's background."

The fans loved the park too. They found the view from all seats wonderful. Those sitting in the shadows wrapped in blankets and topcoats were chilly and the management didn't turn on the widely-publicized radiant heat for the 20,000 fans in the reserved seat section.

The anticipated traffic jam failed to materialize on the highways after the game. Less than an hour after the final out the parking lot was completely cleared.

However, there was a traffic jam on the water in Candlestick Cove. Here, more than a hundred yachts milled around waiting to pick up passengers from the game. There was only a small temporary dock to accommodate seafaring visitors.

Rigney thinks this park is tailor-made for Orlando Cepeda, who drove in all the Giant runs with a double and a triple.

"This park is just the place for Cepeda," said Rigney. "We'll see a lot of doubles and triples here that we didn't see in the old Seals Stadium."

"You can't come in, say, on a weak hitter," said Willie. "You have to stay deep because the wind blows anything a lot farther than usual."

And the players were just about unanimous in agreeing with him.

Mays, who loves to tee off against Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, got his chance to do it today in the "reverse" jetstream when the Giants met the Cardinals.

CANDLESTICK WORTHY OF WORLD SERIES

By JOHN J. CONNOLLY

First and foremost, an eclipse in the sports picture in northern California is on record today. It followed closely the grand and glorious opening yesterday of the San Francisco's Giants' new home at Candlestick Park. With 42,269 baseball fans looking on, our Giants rose to great heights turning back the St. Louis Cardinals 3 to 1.

Mountains of didoes that had been going on for many months, discord, red tape between builder and architect, petty political bickering and every flim-flam objection in the path of progress was swept aside yesterday in great style and pomp while the Giants christened their new home.

Vice president Richard Nixon, Governor Edmund Brown, Ford Frick, high commissioner of baseball; Joe Cronin, president of the American League and Warren Giles, president of the National League spoke briefly as part of the dedicatory ceremonies.

LARGEST CROWD

The banner crowd, largest in the history of baseball in northern California, saw more than a nine-inning ball game. They saw a picture no artist could paint as the last vestige of minor league shackles was wiped away and a big league baseball park became a reality.

Candlestick Park is a big league ball orchard in every detail. It has beauty, size, style, character and charm. Nothing quite like it was ever before unveiled in the "City that knows how."

Down through the years these old eyes have watched the 1915 World's Fair; the opening of the Bay Bridge, the colossal dedication of Golden Gate Bridge, the monumental adaption of the freeway system of transportation and now, even greater in scope comes the greatest sports arena since the days of the Roman Coliseum.

"Go see the Giants NOW," rang from every roof top as the jammed freeways poured their human cargo into the new home of our proud Giants.

WORLD SERIES

Candlestick Park, built at a cost of almost 16 million dollars, is worth it to proud northern Californians, who cheered to the echo when Vice President Richard Nixon declared, "The park is big enough for the next World Series."

The composite picture of the old New York Giants and the new San Francisco ball park may very likely present this area with a National League championship this year!

Candlestick Park is a swell place for professional football; professional fights and any big sports event that might come this far west.

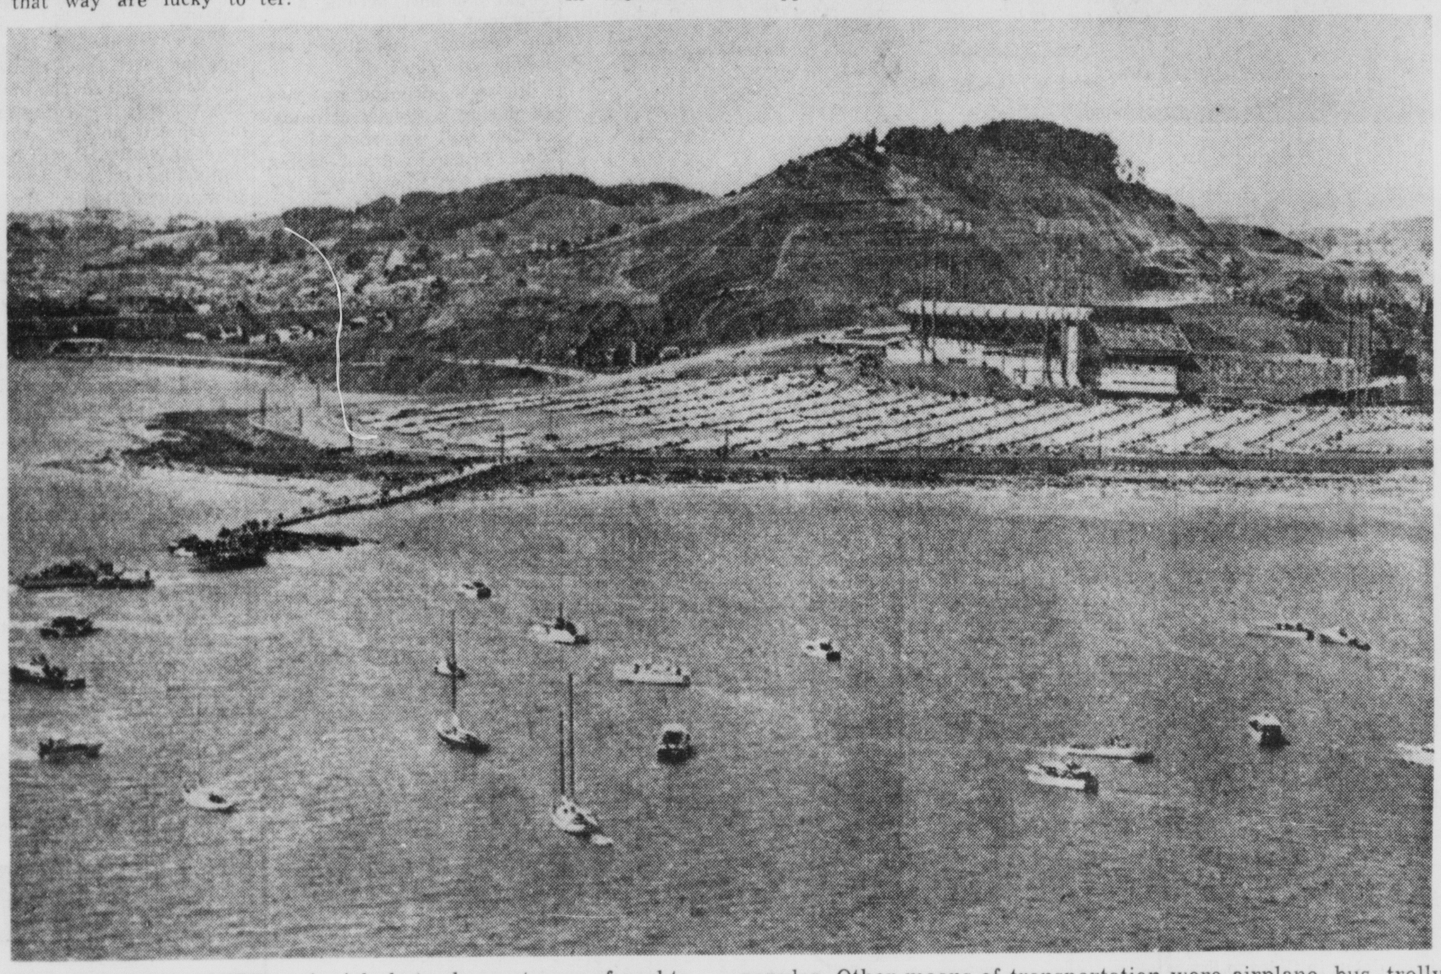
The sun shone brightly and the winds roared lightly as the band played the Star Spangled Banner to hoist the flag and hear the umpire yell out "Play Ball."

COMFORTABLE SEATS

No more creaky fences exist in S. F. baseball. The seats are large and comfortable and enough of them to handle the Bay Area crowd as of NOW. But I can see the complete bowl at Candlestick taking shape and when it does and encloses the park, less wind be left and the cash customers will be able to sit back and see a ball game as really big league baseball should be exhibited.

All the gossip about traffic jams, parking difficulties, and unpreparedness went adrift yesterday as the crowd of 42,000-plus was orderly handled, and everything went off like clockwork.

The game itself was typical of major league variety and our Giants looked, acted and decorated themselves with laurels as they packed off the first victory in a long 154-game struggle to bring the 1960 championship to California again, and San Francisco for the first time.



DOWN TO SEE IN SHIPS — Aerial photo shows stream of yachts parading to opening game at Candlestick Park yesterday. The nautical approach to baseball's newest arena proved tremendously popular. Other means of transportation were airplane, bus, trolly car and even plain old automobiles. (AP Wirephoto)

Dodgers Still Have Victory Magic; Braves, Reds Also Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Manager Walt Alston still has that World Series magic and the Los Angeles Dodgers still have that uncanny knack for doing things the hard way.

That was the big story last night when the Dodgers climaxed one of the greatest opening days in National League history with an uphill 3-2, 11-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs.

A record night game crowd for the league of 67,550 turned out in the massive Los Angeles Coliseum and was treated to a sensational game in which:

Don Drysdale, 1959 strikeout king, fanned 14 Cubs and allowed only seven hits over the full 11 innings.

The "cliff-hanger" Dodgers rallied from an early 2-0 deficit, brought about with the help of ex-teammate Don Zimmer's homer, to tie the score in the fifth inning and carry the game into extra innings.

PINCH HOMER

Alston, who twice got pinch-hit homers from Chuck Essegian in the 1959 World Series, called on the rugged utility outfielder with two out in the last of the 11th—and got the game-winning homer from him.

Essegian's teammates gathered at home plate to meet him as he ran out the game-winning homer and the huge crowd accorded the ex-Stanford football player a thunderous ovation. It was the third straight homer for Essegian as a pinch-hitter, dating back to the '59 Series.

Pitcher Bob Anderson's single and a double by Tony Taylor gave the Cubs their second run off Drysdale in the third inning, but the Dodgers tied the score on two walks and a double by Wally Moon, another of the Dodgers' 1959 heroes.

ATTENDANCE RECORD

The attendance broke the old National League single-game night crowd of 67,037 set by the Dodgers against Milwaukee at the Coliseum last Aug. 8 and rounded out a day during which the four National League openers drew a total of 179,782 fans.

The San Francisco Giants dedicated their new $15-million Candlestick Park and beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, before 42,269; The Milwaukee Braves shaded the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, before 39,888 and the Cincinnati Reds romped over the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-4, before 30,075 in the daylight openers. American League openers are scheduled for April 18 and April 19.

Vice President Richard Nixon was among the capacity throng at San Francisco as Sam Jones hurled a three-hitter and Orlando Cepeda drove in all three Giant runs. Jones fanned three and walked only one, yielding the St. Louis run on a homer by ex-Giant Leon Wagner. Cepeda tripled home two runs in the first inning and singled home Willie Mays in the third.

DRESSEN DEBUTS

Charlie Dressen made a victorious debut as manager of the Braves when Joe Adcock blasted a two-run eighth-inning homer off Pittsburgh relief ace Leroy Face, who didn't lose his first game of the 1959 season until Sept. 11. Warren Spahn had homered and pitched shutout ball until the Pirates tied the score at 2-2 in the eighth. Don McMahon picked up the win with ninth-inning relief aid from Lew Burdette.

Red Schoendienst made his first start for the Braves since the 1958 World Series but went hitless in three trips to the plate.

Roy McMillan and rookie Tony Gonzales hit homers as the Reds spoiled Robin Roberts' 11th consecutive opening-day appearance with a nine-hit attack. Roberts was rocked for seven hits and eight earned runs in 4⅓ innings. Jim O'Toole, who shut out the Phillies from the third through the eighth inning, was the winner.

The Cleveland Indians beat the New York Yankees, 7-4; the Boston Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 3-0; the Kansas City A's beat the Baltimore Orioles, 3-0, and the Chicago White Sox topped the Washington Senators, 5-0, in American League exhibition games.

GATE RECORDS TOPPLE IN N. L. OPENERS

The National League set an opening day attendance record yesterday, attracting 179,782 fans as the 1960 season got under way.

A crowd of 67,550 at the Los Angeles Coliseum, a league record for a night game, supplied better than third of the total as the National opened a week ahead of the American League.

The San Francisco Giants, inaugurating their 15-million-dollar Candlestick Park, drew the second largest crowd of the day with a sell-out of 42,269 for their game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Fan Loses A Finger; Sees Game Anyway

Hilary Belloc, 57, had sailed to the game in his ketch Signe from his De Silva Island home and was mooring at the ballpark when the accident occurred.

Belloc, son of the late British writer, Hilaire Belloc, was bandaged at the Candlestick dispensary, then hurried into San Francisco for further treatment.

Meanwhile the injured man's son, Martin, 16, conducted a successful search for the missing finger tip and delivered it to the dispensary. Motorcycle Patrolman Don Wilson raced after Belloc with the digit portion in a paper cup.

It was stitched back on at Polyclinic Hospital and Belloc dashed back to the stadium for the last three innings. He left with a big grin after seeing the San Francisco Giants beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1.

"I suppose it'll hurt later," he said.

Go-Kart Meeting Tomorrow Night

Organizational meeting of a Marin County "Go-Kart Klub" will be held Thursday night in San Rafael, and not tonight, as was erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The meeting will be held at San Rafael High School "Little Theater" starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Fresno Beats Marines

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Fresno State and the Southern California Trojans led the way into today's third round of the San Diego Marine Invitational Baseball Tournament.

The Trojans beat the Marines yesterday 11-7, and Fresno State stopped the University of New Mexico, 9-2.

Park To Be Dedicated

A new park will be dedicated in Scott Highlands and Rancho Los Lomas, Mill Valley, at 10 a.m. Saturday. The two and one-half acre park is on Linda drive and touches both subdivisions.

Mayor Robert D. Huber and City Manager A. E. Almcrants will take part in the ribbon cutting ceremonies. Robert R. Laughead, president of the Scott Highlands Assn. will present $500 to the mayor which is to be matched by $500 by the city to develop the park.

The park has no name as yet but there is to be a competition held later to select a name.

Following the dedication ceremony, there will be an Easter egg hunt for children

Pocketful of Candlestick drips . . .

There's no truth to the rumor the Giants will switch Willie Mays to rightfield, although it certainly appears that will be the busiest defensive role at windswept Candlestick.

Of the 11 base hits in yesterday's game, 10 were to the rightside of the diamond; the lone shot into leftfield was by none other than Sam Jones, who must be the funniest looking batter this side of Aunt Jemima.

Rod Ryan, the Western Union press representative, has been at Candlestick every day for the past two weeks and claims the wind direction has been the same daily.

YESTERDAY'S opener gave fans a taste of about everything . . . including defensive sparklers at all positions. Infielding gems of the bare-handed variety were turned in by the Giants' Jimmy Davenport and Eddie Bressoud while the Cards' right side duo of Alex Grammas and Stan Musial made sensational snags of screaming liners. In the outfield St. Louis' Bill White and S. F.'s Willie Kirkland made circus catches.

And to make the day complete, Willie Mays ran out from under his hat in snaring a short pop fly.

LEON WAGNER of the opposition won the distinction of hitting Candlestick's first homer, while watching the historic feat from the press box was Jerry Donovan, who is 1931 was the first person to clout a ball out of the then brand new Seals Stadium. Donovan is now the Giants' business manager.

SEVERAL BUSLOADS of Marin fans happily discovered the traffic problem was not as acute as had been anticipated. We rode with Dutch Koenig's "751 Club Special" and made it from Fourth and C streets in San Rafael to the Candlestick parking lot in precisely 61 minutes. The return trip, at the height of the commute hour, took only one hour and 17 minutes.

KENNY VENTURI was a press box visitor, still wearing a dazed look after his heartbreaking loss to Arnold Palmer in the Masters. Ken said Palmer won the prize on the 16th when his strong putt hit the flag and gave him an easy par putt. He explained the putt would have rolled another 10 or 12 feet if it hadn't hit the flag. His subsequent birdie putts on the 17th and 18th added the coup de grace.

THE GLASS-enclosed press box is the nicest present for the Fourth Estate who had to suffer in the open-air, rickety box at Seals Stadium.

The press room, where the scribes gather for a nip or two after each game, is a beauty. Photographers proved to be the hungriest and thirstiest opening day visitors. While the scribes were still hard at work, the lensmen swooped down on the press room feed and booze supply like a flock of vultures.

FIRST GIANT to hit a homer in the new park will receive a $100 savings bond and a complete shoe wardrobe.

BILL LEISER was among the group flown to the opener by Commodore Seaplane Service from Sausalito.

SEVERAL NEW YORK scribes were in attendance, still clinging to the memories of "their" Giants. One even tried to find fault with Candlestick, without success.

BAY AREA bosses were sorry to learn that 42,269 grandmothers died Monday night. Man dig that era-a-a-zy funeral.

ONE SCHOOLBOY we know came down with what he told his teacher was "Giant fever." And, he explained, "the doctor prescribed Candlestick as the only cure."

ONE MAN didn't get home until 3 a.m., but he had an explanation, for his gullible wife: "Gee, honey, what an opener! Can you imagine, 56 innings—longest game in history!"

Yes, baseball season is here . . . at last!

L.A. May Get Hockey Franchise Next Season

VANCOUVER (AP) — Jim Piggott, owner of Victoria Cougars, said last night he definitely will seek permission to move his franchise to Los Angeles next season.

Just returned from Los Angeles where the Cougars and Vancouver Canucks played two games of their best-of-nine Western Hockey League final, Piggott said:

"Everybody knows that I'm interested in Los Angeles. They knew that I tried to move last year and I'm still interested. If I can make the move to Los Angeles, I intend to do so."

Lopes, Morales set For April 26 Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lightweight boxers Joey Lopes of West Sacramento and Hilario Morales of Mexico will fight a rematch of their October bout here April 26.

The young Mexican won a 10-round decision from Lopes in the match six months ago.

Sacrifice, Hit-Run, Stolen Bases! Rig Has Revamped Style Of Play

CONNOLLY

Nothing succeeds like success. After yesterday's victorious opener against the St. Louis Cardinals, the Giants are leading the league and they look like they could stay there or thereabouts all year.

One victory doesn't make a season, but if this was a sample of Manager Bill Rigney's strategy for 1960, we'll buy it in great quantities.

The very first inning was the tip-off on "the new Rigney." In this stanza alone, the Giants came up with a sacrifice bunt, an attempted hit and run play, a stolen base and a three base hit sandwiched in between three walks and an opening error by St. Louis shortstop, Alex Grammas.

LATER IN the game, our new second baseman, "Blazer" Blasingame, tried to beat out a bunt for a base hit and almost succeeded, even though Ken Boyer was practically sitting in the Blazer's lap on the third base side. Don is going to get a lot of hits this year by catching the opposing infield with their feet crossed.

The more stolen bases in the late innings showed the Giants are going to take chances. One was of the gift variety and the other was successful because of a poor throw and a good slide. The point is, the Rigney men are trying to get around the bases by hook or by crook.

It occurs to us that, for the first time, Manager Bill feels that he has the horses to be able to pull out all the stops and shoot for the moon.

THESE 1960 Giants have, in Blasingame, a man who can get on base. Jimmy Davenport can bunt or hit behind the runner. And then follows the most impressive "Murderer's Row" in present day major league baseball: in order, Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Orlando Cepeda, and Willie Kirkland. Following this wrecking crew, Eddie Bressoud is still a threat.

If the Giants had a catcher of the stature of Del Crandall of the Braves they would be a shoo-in by 10 games. As it is, Bob Schmidt and Hobie Landrith are adequate but not great.

One benefit of Landrith's hand injury may be that our new entry in the catching department, Neil Wilson, may get his sea legs and turn out to be a pleasant surprise. When a pinchhitter replaces Schmidt, Wilson will finish up. We have been watching this kid for three years. His once high batting average (in the high .300s) has tailed off, but he has great potential.

IF THE rest of the pitching staff can live up to the example set by Sad Sam Jones (both pitching and hitting) the job will be easy for Rigney this year. Two of the three hits allowed were by Bill White and the third by Leon Wagner, both former Giants. These two, along with Big D Spencer and Ernie Broglio, also former Giant chattels, make up most of the backbone of the "revamped" Cardinals.

Could be the locals will have the Indian sign on the Cards again this year. Last year the Giants took 16 out of 22, and would like to do as well or better. It's a nice way to start and finish the season. And it could not happen to a nicer bunch of guys.

Only one hundred fifty three to go!

Giant southpaw won 12 and lost 16 in 1959.

Sam Jones had a two-hitter going and two men out in the ninth inning of the opener. Then Bill White, who had singled in the first frame, smashed another sharp one-bagger off Sam. The toothpick munching hurler's bid for a shutout was ruined in the fifth inning when Leon Wagner, a teammate last year, belted a home-run over the right field fence.

Orlando Cepeda was the strong man in the Giant attack against right hander Larry Jackson. San Francisco's "Baby Bull" powered a two-run triple to right center in the first inning and lined a single to center in the third that scored Mays.

The first two Giant runs were unearned. Leadoff man Don Blasingame hit a grounder which second baseman Alex Grammas booted. Jackson walked Mays with one out, then Cepeda banged his three-bagger after Willie McCovey had fouled out.

Canadiens Near Fifth Straight NHL Championship

TORONTO (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens are on the verge of winning the Stanley Cup for the fifth straight year, an unprecedented feat in the National Hockey League.

They took a 3-0 stranglehold on this year's cup by outclassing the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 last night. They aim to sweep the best-of-7 final playoff series by winning the fourth game here tomorrow night.

The scoring explosion by the Canadiens' almost-forgotten third line of Phil Goyette, Andre Pronovost and Marcel Provost and the solid work of goalie Jacques Plante stymied the Leafs' desperate effort to get into series contention.

Goyette, with two goals, was a standout on offense. Don Marshall and the dynamic Richard brothers—Maurice and Henri—got the other Montreal goals.

Head Knocks Out Chatmon In Three

RICHMOND (AP)—Jim Head of Oakland, making his sixth pro fight, knocked out Ocie Chatmon, also of Oakland, at 1:50 of the third round last night.

Managers Needed In S.R. Pony League

San Rafael Pony Baseball League is in dire need of three more managers, and interested adults are invited to attend a meeting tonight at 201 Third street in San Rafael.

Kalingo In TV Debut Vs. Hart Tonight

"I want fight fans of this country to like me and I want to beat Hart tonight very much to make a good impression and get a ranking," says the 24-year-old Philippine welterweight champion.

Kalingo five months ago stopped the then undefeated Cuban, Florentino Fernandez, in the first round and gained international attention. Kalingo will be making his national television debut in Chicago Stadium.

His foe for the 10-rounder—ABC 7 p.m. PST—is seasoned Sugar Hart of Philadelphia, loser of his last two bouts. Hart, slumping to the ranking of No. 7 contender, can hit with either hand and has scored 21 knockouts in 28 victories. He has fought two draws and lost five, the last two to high-ranking Charley Scott and Luis Rodriquez.

Kalingo, a busy-fisted battler with a steaming right, also claims 21 kayoes. His record shows 40 victories 6 losses and 5 draws.

"I became very proud when I won the Philippine title from Steve Tony in Manila in 1957," says Kalingo in fractured English. "I was proud, too, when I knocked out Fernandez in Caracas and was made fighter of the month by the NBA (National Boxing Assn.).

"But I am unhappy about the rematch in Havana. I'll make up for it by beating Hart."

Kalingo had Fernandez on the floor twice in the rematch, but the Cuban was awarded a technical knockout in the second round.

College Fighter Remains Critical

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Charlie Mohr Jr., a young University of Wisconsin boxer who suffered a brain hemorrhage shortly after his final bout in the NCAA tournament last Saturday, continued today to hover between life and death. He has been unscious since shortly after the fight.

The 22-year-old senior from Merrick, N. Y., remained in critical condition at University Hospital where he was taken and underwent a brain operation shortly after he lost his 165-pound NCAA crown to Stu Bartell, of San Jose State in the finals of the tournament.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

LOS ANGELES—Jim McCarter, 215, Los Angeles, knocked out Eddie Jackson, 187, Los Angeles, 5.

RICHMOND—James Head, 200, Oakland, Calif., knocked out Ocie Chatmon, 184, Oakland, 3.

Vault Mark May Not Be Accepted

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — J. D. Martin of Oklahoma pole vaulted 15 feet, 9¾ inches yesterday—the highest in history. But it probably will not be accepted as a world record because the crossbar was set behind one upright and in front of the other.

N.Y. Unveils Stadium Model For New Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — Branch Rickey has reiterated that the Continental League, despite lack of support from organized baseball, will begin operations in 1961 on schedule.

The 79-year-old head of the would-be major circuit said he was more certain than ever that the Continental League would not only become a reality next year but will surpass the currently constituted majors in four years.

Rickey's optimism was voiced during a special ceremony in City Hall yesterday when a model of the proposed stadium for the New York entry was unveiled to newsmen.

Among those who gave the stadium his blessings was Mayor Robert F. Wagner who said the Board of Estimate will vote in favor of its construction at a meeting April 27.

"I assure you," he said, "the City of New York is behind this and we are going to see it through to a successful conclusion. There is nothing in the way now for New York to have a second major league team."

Present plans call for a 55,000-seat stadium with movable sections for conversion to accommodate 60,000 for football. A proposed parking lot will accommodate 5,500 automobiles. The stadium also will feature two sections of rotating seats, the absence of pillars and columns or any other obstruction, escalators and continuous lighting.

The city will build the stadium and lease the structure to the baseball franchise owners. The venture, according to the mayor, will not cost the taxpayers a penny. It will be self-liquidating, on the basis of a 30-year-bond issue. Rental would be $900,000 a year.

"I have said all along that the Continental League will operate in 1961," said Rickey, "and I feel more strongly about it now than ever before. That despite the fact that baseball has not seen fit to support us. I have not given up that hope—even now.

"I'm not saying all of our cities will have their own parks by 1961, but we will open even if it means we will play somewhere else. Eventually, we all will have our own playing sites. That is no problem, as I see it."

If Giants Can Play Like Rigney Can Talk, They've Got It Made

HANLEY

SAN FRANCISCO—If the Giants play baseball this season as snappy and smart as their manager Bill Rigney delivered a pungent and brisk speech the other night, they must win the National League pennant.

Rigney was the next to last speaker in an eight-man talking lineup and he wowed the audience. Maybe he sounded exceptionally good because the seven who preceded him, including the toastmaster, did not hit any oratorical homers.

There were several singles, such as Horace Stoneham's agreement with a previous speaker's suggestion that it might not be a bad idea to put the umpires in the stands because the fans often feel they see the plays better than the umps.

Joe Cronin, the American League president, batted a nostalgic .400 as he clicked off the names of past baseball stars from the Bay Area but spun into a slump when he forgot to include Lefty O'Doul who was among those present at the Candlestick Park dedication dinner.

Governor Pat Brown hit a foul liner that was turned into a triple play by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and National League president Warren Giles. Brown predicted a 1960 World Series between "the Dodgers and Giants." Frick, in his turn at bat, replied: "I hope I'm there to see it." Giles, in effect, said: "Me, too."

Mayor George Christopher was the leadoff man and, like Cronin, was batting .400 until he began apologizing in advance for Candlestick's traffic problem and unfinished minor items in the new park which he promised would be set right "in another 30 days."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon was the No. 1 guest and as such rated the clean-up position. In speaking lineups that is last, not fourth. He spoke after Rigney whose homer was tough to follow. He stroked a smooth triple with a sharp analysis of the Giants' chances, pointing out several analytical "ifs."

SOME DEMOCRATS, keenly tuned to Nixon's remarks, thought the Republican presidential candidate made an error when he alluded to the "World Series next October and early November" but the "early November" reference was to politics, not baseball.

In his best presentation of the evening, toastmaster Jeff Chandler introduced Rigney by recalling how Rigney in 1951 reacted to Bobby Thomson's pennant winner homer.

"IT'S ALL OURS, it's all ours, it's all ours," Chandler quoted Rigney as shouting. "And come early next October I want to hear him shout again 'It's all ours, it's all ours'."

With that, the Giant skipper stepped quickly to the rostrum and captured the audience when he got right to the heart of the problem at hand.

"WE'RE READY," he said with conviction. "We're tired of knocking on the door. See you at Candlestick."

It seemed like the pennant was won. But maybe it was only because Rigney's opposition at the dedication dinner was not as tough as those Los Angeles Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves will be for the Giants.

AS ONE OF the $10 per plate guests observed:

"Has everyone suddenly forgotten that the Braves and Dodgers are still in the league?"

Fish-Game Commissioner Urges 1-Deer, Either Sex, Hunt Season

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—California's 400,000 or so deer hunters likely will have two seasons this year—coastal from mid-August to late September, and inland-Sierra from late September to the end of October—with bucks only. This may be the last year for such seasons.

Thomas Richards, Jr., fish and game commissioner from Sacramento and president of the commission last year, has proposed the commission consider a single season, with a one-deer, either-sex limit, throughout the state.

Richards admits the idea is not original with him, nor especially new at all. Another member of the commission, Henry Clineschmidt of Redding, made a similar proposal during a 1959 meeting.

But Richards' espousal of the proposal is an indication the change in hunting habits may be in the offing.

At present, the limit in most of the coastal season area is two bucks. The generosity of this limit has been dictated somewhat by the fact that much of the hunting grounds in the area are closed. Under the two-buck limit, about 20,000 deer are taken a year in the coastal areas—not considered excessive—and it is feared if the limit were held to one buck, the deer would become overpopulated.

Most the inland-Sierra season, with the exception of part of Tehama, Shasta and Siskiyou counties, has a one-buck limit. No one is quite sure why two bucks are allowed in some portions, except that it's been done for a number of years.

The proposal for one season, one deer (either-sex) is a two-pronged approach to solving some of California's deer hunting problems. The problems now are too many hunters and too little kill.

One by one, the "remote" hunting areas have been invaded by the jeep caravans. The easily accessible hunting grounds become villages of house trailers, pickups and camps and risks of catching a stray, or intentional, 30.06 slug, are growing by the year.

Even in good years, such as 1959, hunters take about 75,000 deer. Hunter-wise, this means about one buck for each five or six hunters (on some years it's about one in eight). If the statistics of the Department of Fish and Game can be believed, there are one million to 1.2 million deer in the state and the kill during the best years amounts to only about 6 or 7 per cent.

Game management experts believe 20 to 30 per cent of the total herd can be killed each year without harmful effects.

The one season, one deer plan would space out the hunters as those hunting in the coastal season, if successful, would not be back for another try during the late season. This often is the case nowadays.

Many hunters also would take a doe early in the season, thus putting themselves out of contention for the rest of the year. These factors would tend to prevent any huge bunch-up such as took place in the 1956 either-sex hunt or which takes place in some areas during the regular buck-only seasons.

Richards is most anxious to learn what the sportsmen think about the proposal and would appreciate hearing from interested hunters. It's a chance for the unorganized hunter (and that amounts to about 95 per cent of them) to have his voice heard.

Richards would like to have answers to these three questions:

1. Do you favor a single season, including the present coastal and Sierra seasons?
2. Do you favor a limit of one deer, either-sex (except there would be a prohibition against shooting spotted fawns)?
3. Do you prefer retaining the present buck-only deer hunting rules?

Interested hunters should reply to Richards, or other members of the commission. The address is California Fish and Game Commission, 722 Capitol avenue, Sacramento.

If they'd prefer they can drop their answers and any other comments to this column, Fish 'N Gamer, Room 216, State Capitol, Sacramento.

College Board To Eye English Course Changes

A recommendation to drop three English courses at the College of Marin and substitute a new "English B" course will be considered by the Marin Junior College District board at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The recommendation, made by the English department and scholarship committee, calls for dropping "introductory communication," "Communication: Composition and Literature," and "Reading in the Humanities."

"Subject A," the remedial course deficient in English, also will probably be one injected into the discussion.

Students who fail to make satisfactory scores on the Subject A examination are required to take one or more remedial courses in communication before they may elect any course in English carrying university transfer credit.

The board also will consider a recommendation for establishment of a vocational nursing program at the college for a class of 16 students, beginning with the fall semester.

A report will be made on student government recommendations to solve "the cafeteria problem." The problem reportedly has included dirt on the floors and trays and cups left on the tables, unnecessary loud noises at noon hour, some profanity and instances of gambling.

Also on the agenda are a progress report on repairs to the bridge at College Park, proposal for a change in the counseling organization for next fall and an executive session to consider employment of staff for the school year 1960-61.

Scouts Tell Plans For Camp, Flight

Marin Scouting leaders today announced a number of events for coming weeks.

The Miwok District Survival Camporee will be held April 22 through 24 at Potrero Camp on Mt. Tamalpais. The camp will stress learning skills needed to survive in the wilderness — how to trap and snare animals and find edible plants. The event will include a campfire night and church services.

Explorer posts and ships announced these plans: bivouac at the Presidio, San Francisco, May 27 through 29; survival training encampment at Stead Air Force Base, Nev., June 26 to July 2; water skiing at an unannounced date in July; explorer orientation flights from Hamilton Air Force Base on an unannounced date.

San Rafael Post Office Receipts Total Given

The San Rafael Post Office was one of 165 in California, Nevada, Hawaii and Guam that had postal receipts in excess of $200,000 during 1959, the regional operations office of the Post Office Department announced today.

San Rafael Building Permits Hit Peak

San Rafael building permits for March reached the highest total for any month in the city's history, according to a tabulation today by the Marin Industrial Development Foundation.

The county seat city issued permits totaling $2,147,213 during the month. Biggest contribution to the whopping total was a block of 61 single family dwelling unit permits, totaling $1,220,090, issued to Eichler homes for development in the newly annexed area bordering Terra Linda.

All told, San Rafael issued permits for 75 residences during the month, plus one $50,000 permit for a commercial building and 49 miscellaneous permits totaling $295,089.

March was a banner building month countywide, the foundation reported. For the first time since last September, building permits for the county as a whole exceeded the total for the corresponding month a year earlier.

Building inspectors in the county and its 10 cities reported a total of $5,478,827 in new construction authorization for the month, which was 27.2 per cent above that for March, 1959, and 134.3 per cent above the February total.

Two sizable commercial permits were issued in the unincorporated territory: A bowling alley at Ignacio at $350,000 and United Markets' warehouse in the unincorporated portion of San Rafael at $159,000.

Permits in the unincorporated areas totaled $1,420,835, with the greatest activity in the unincorporated portion of Novato, where the Ignacio bowling alley helped swell the total to $364,600.

The cities, besides San Rafael, reported the following totals:

Information Bureaus To Explain Reappraisals

County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel today announced completion of reappraisal of real property in Reed Union, Mill Valley and Larkspur School Districts.

To answer questions about the reappraisals, the assessor announced, a series of local information bureaus will be set up in the areas.

Broemmel pointed out that the reappraisal program is a continuing operation, with some areas of the county reappraised each year. Property owners are being notified by letter of the undated appraised and assessed values of their properties, he said.

To answer questions arising, the information bureaus will be set up as follows:

Tiburon Peninsula — Southern Marin Recreation Center, April 18, 19 and 20, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Homestead-Tamalpais Valley —American Legion Hall, 467 Miller avenue, Mill Valley, May 3, 4 and 5, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Mill Valley — American Legion Hall, May 10, 11 and 12, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Larkspur - Corte Madera — Corte Madera Town Hall, May 18, 19 and 20, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Staff appraisers, equipped with appraisal records, will be on hand, he said, and an assessment roll will be available for inspection at each of the bureaus.

Anyone who is unable to attend the information bureau in his area and desires to discuss his assessment is invited to call at the assessor's office, said Broemmel. He should do so before June 10 if possible, the assessor added.

After the first Monday in July, the assessor is precluded by law from making any changes in the roll.

LDS Church To Organize New Stake

A new stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, embracing Marin and Sonoma Counties, will be created Sunday.

The three Marin wards of the church—San Rafael, Greenbrae and Novato—will be separated from the San Francisco stake and join with the Petaluma, Santa Rosa and Sebastopol wards.

The new stake will be created in sessions at the Santa Rosa Veterans Hall, under direction of Spencer W. Kimball and George Q. Morris, members of the Council of 12 Apostles, from Salt Lake City.

Because of the special organizational meeting, there will be only one service Sunday for members of the Marin wards. It will be a joint Easter service at 8:30 a. m. in the Greenbrae Ward chapel.

Winners Listed In Bridge Tourney Held In San Rafael

Donald Oakie of San Jose, one of the top bridge players in the nation, paired with Mrs. George Carson of San Francisco to cop the coveted Barton trophy in the masters pairs championship held at Bermuda Palms in San Rafael over the weekend.

Hazel Strittmatter and Ludovica Bigelow of Belvedere placed eighth in a field of 78 couples. Total attendance was the second highest in the history of the annual Marin County sectionals. Some contestants came from as far away as Hawaii.

Other Marin winners were:

In the Greenbrae Pairs Saturday night, Julie Cahill and Bette Bell of Novato came in fourth in a field of 86 couples. This was won by Lorna Barber and Irene Hensley of Walnut Creek.

In the team-of-four match Sunday night, Jim Carbaugh of San Anselmo and his three colleagues came in fourth in a field of 27 teams. Top team was August Hunt and Paul Lynch of Oakland and Sid Lorvan, San Francisco, and John A. Lyon of San Mateo.

Friday afternoon in the women's pairs, Paula Semary of San Rafael and Vera Batug of Mill Valley came in fifth out of 52 couples. Winners were Mrs. Perry Rose of Santa Clara and Mrs. Ray Rhodes of Los Gatos.

In the Friday evening Marinwood Open Pairs, Pauline C. Angleman of Corte Madera teamed up with Marilla Jolly of Santa Rosa to place second among 64 couples. Vera Batug of Mill Valley and Hazel Strittmatter of Belvedere came in a close third. Winners were Mrs. Ron R. Smith and Audrey Donahue of Vallejo.

In the San Anselmo Pairs Saturday night, Lois and Ben Mathews of Mill Valley came in sixth among 108 couples. H. E. McMurtry of San Pablo and Al LeVegue of Berkeley won this event.

Among the junior players, Sue and Wat Takeshita of San Anselmo, Frank and Genevieve Fischer of San Anselmo, and Frank and Vera Batug of Mill Valley placed first, third and fifth, respectively.

Mill Valley Man Wins Fellowship

Richard H. Dillon of 3 Altamont avenue, Mill Valley, is the only Northern Californian and the only librarian among 18 recipients of fellowships or grants for research at the Henry E. Huntington Library in San Marino.

Dillon, head of the California State Library's San Francisco branch, received a similar grant from the library in 1955.

The new award was announced this week by the Huntington Library.

Rotary Club Talk

Edwin L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent of schools, will speak on school district organization in Marin County at the noon luncheon meeting tomorrow of the Sausalito Rotary Club at the Alta Mira Hotel.

20 YEARS IN ASSEMBLY

Preparation For Retirement Recalls Memories To Solon

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — In a third floor office of the new annex to the State Capitol, 20 years of memories are being sorted, classified and permanently filed away.

Some of these memories are in tangible form — files of legislation introduced, letters from constituents, reports, investigations, and reference materials, drawer upon drawer, folder upon folder, indexed for immediate reference.

Others exist inside the man who is voluntarily ending his legislative career, Richard H. McCollister, representative of Marin and Sonoma Counties in the State Assembly for the past 20 years.

RICHARD McCOLLISTER
Leaving Legislature

Things were not the same in Sacramento when he first was sworn in in 1941. The Capitol Annex, which houses his comfortable offices today, was not even in existence. Instead assemblymen were "stacked" four and five deep in tiny, airless rooms in the old portion of the Capitol. There were 52 different Assembly committees and only four committee rooms.

There were only 13 secretaries to serve all 80 assemblymen. Today each assemblyman has his own secretary, each committee has one too, and in addition there is a secretarial pool for extra work, making about 150 secretaries available.

"Of course we didn't have the work to do then," McCollister recalls. "There were days when we didn't even get one letter which required our attention. Today sometimes the mail is brought into an individual assemblyman in a mail sack."

There were other differences too. That first year, the legislature passed a budget for state operations during the two fiscal years 1941-42 and 1942-43 which totaled $272,660,222.

The just completed session approved a budget for just one year, fiscal 1960-61, of $2,481,101,813. That's two billion 200 million dollars more in one year than state government cost us in two years 20 years ago, nearly 20 times as much.

But some things are much the same. When McCollister was sworn in there was a Democratic governor, Gov. Culbert L. Olson, midway through his first term; the Assembly was strongly Democratic.

Today Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown is midway through his first term and the Democrats hold both houses of the legislature.

"Olson's people used to take our daily file and actually type out instructions to the Democratic assemblymen on how they were supposed to vote on the various bills before us," McCollister recalls. "In addition, Olson had a direct line telephone from his office to the speaker's podium for last minute instructions."

"Almost the same thing is going on today," he went on, "except they don't type it out for them, they just send somebody around to see them."

There has been a major change in lobbying in 20 years.

"I'm not ashamed to say that I knew Artie Samish," McCollister declared, "you had to know him, he was such a character around here."

Lobbyists were allowed to be present in the rear of the Assembly chambers in those days and sometimes even went onto the floor to speak to a legislator.

"Our rest room was also at the back of the chambers and you had to go through the lobbyists to get there. Sometimes you just wouldn't go until after a key vote was taken."

Later the lobbyists were barred entirely from the floor and allowed only in the balcony. As on reporter put it, "The people were saved by 20 feet," the vertical distance from the floor to the gallery.

But Samish was not among these lobbyists. He never set foot in the Capitol. He never appeared before committees. Instead he operated from a hotel room, to which flowed a flood of information about who was doing what, and from which flowed instructions and largess.

"You never knew who was in his employ, or just who he represented. Sometimes we thought even some of the newspapermen must be getting a check from him because he knew what everyone said or did on the floor or in committee."

Samish was successful because of his wide interests and because "at that time the legislature was pitifully underpaid and so he was able to exert great influence," recalled McCollister.

All this has changed, he continued. "Things are as different as black and white. Nowadays lobbyists are known as 'legislative advocates.' All of them are high calibre men, either lawyers retained to represent a client or laymen who have grown up in the industry which they represent. All of them are much in evidence around the Capitol and all of them practice before the committees as experts in their fields."

There were colorful men and unusual happenings on the Assembly floor. Melvyn I. Cronin, now superior court judge in San Francisco, got in a fist fight with Assemblyman Jack Welch during one heated debate. "I forget what about now," McCollister remembers. Then there was colorful Albert Decker, "a Grade B movie actor who soon discovered he was in the wrong place," and only served one term.

Norris Poulson, now mayor of Los Angeles, was one of the neatest dressers ever to appear on the Assembly floor. One day, bored by the debate, he dozed in his chair. He leaned back too far and the chair slid out from under him. His head hit a spitoon, standard equipment at that time, and old cigar butts and spitoon liquid spilled all over his spotless attire.

Only two assemblymen have now been in the Assembly longer than McCollister, and two others were sworn in at the same time. McCollister became closely acquainted with Augustus F. Hawkins, senior Assemblyman, in his first year.

"Governor Olson was running the state like a little New Deal," McCollister declared. "The state was more than 80 million dollars in the red and we were paying our bills and our employees by registered warrants, script, instead of money.

"There were 17 Republicans, including me, and 10 Democrats, including Hawkins, who banded together into an economy bloc. Every one of us was needed. Olson had to have two thirds vote to pass his spending bills, like the 30 million dollar state emergency relief administration. Twenty seven votes were enough to block his plans; 26 wouldn't have been."

There's an old saying that "they tried to steal the Capitol Dome." Under Olson, "the Democrats got the screws loose at one time but couldn't quite figure how to lift it off," says the retiring assemblyman. "In fact we in the economy bloc went so far as to remove the gold leaf from the dome to save the expense of its upkeep, and that's why the dome looks so dirty now."

There have been women members of the assembly in every session McCollister has served; at one time there were four of them.

"I believe in women's suffrage," he says, "but being a legislator is a tough job for a lady; she has to work both by the Book of Etiquette and the rules of the Assembly. Their presence makes it tougher on the men, too, because they don't know quite how to handle them."

In his last session were two women, one of whom, Dorothy M. Donohoe of Bakersfield, died just before the session adjourned.

Hardly a session has gone by without one of the legislators dying, McCollister noted. "Most of the deaths have been from heart attack, mute evidence of the work load now put upon the legislators."

One year five members died. McCollister recalls one who died on the floor of the Assembly, "his head hitting the floor with a thud like a dropped melon."

These unhappy recollections are perhaps one of the reasons he is retiring. Another was a change in the law several years ago which permits a legislator with 20 years experience to retire on three quarters pay even though he is not yet 65. McCollister is 52. He is the first legislator to take advantage of the new law.

His retirement pay will be $375 per month, if legislators' salaries remain at $500 per month. However, if the voters approve a salary raise to $750 next November, McCollister's will go up to $562.50, more than he is making now.

There's no accurate count easily available, but McCollister's name appears as the author of hundreds of laws now on the books of the state.

He introduced perhaps 500 measures of which he was principal author and more than that number on which his name appears as co-author. In the 1957 regular session, for example, he was either author or co-author of 178 bills and 38 other measures.

Yet in some sessions like the budget and special sessions just completed, he did not author a single bill himself and his name appears as co-author on only three bills and eight resolutions.

He had varying luck with his measures. One session, he recalls, every bill which he authored was passed. On the other hand, another session he introduced more than a hundred bills and had only 10 signed into law.

"I was a sucker in some ways," he declares. "I was willing to introduce almost any bill a constituent requested. Sometimes I didn't like the bill myself, but I put it in so that it would get a democratic hearing."

McCollister looked upon himself, however, as being particularly interested in three major fields — public recreation and conservation, veterans matters and dairying and agriculture.

"I think the very first bill I had signed into law was the one creating Samuel Taylor State Park in Marin," he declared. "We had a lot of trouble with that one because the county had to forgive 30 or 40 thousand dollars in back taxes in order for the state to get clear title; that was a lot of money in those days."

"For 10 years as chairman of the Veterans Committee, I had a lot to do with veterans matters," he continued. "That's not a hot subject right now, but during World War II and the Korean thing veterans matters were of prime importance. I'm proud of my record there."

Because Sonoma and North Marin are "almost wholly agricultural," McCollister was during every session a member of the livestock and dairy and the agricultural committees.

He had "a heavy hand" in the present law which fixes prices of milk to producers and to the public. "Milk is a basic food. Our idea was to keep it in adequate supply. If the state hadn't occupied the field, I believe the federal government would have come in. In New York state, milk is considered a public utility."

"We had a bill before us to prohibit secondary boycotts. Remember, this was during the war. When it came up for debate, the longshoremen took over the Capitol. They filled the lobbies and the hallways. The state police called in the sheriff and the Sacramento police to help keep order. If you'd walk down the Capitol hall, they'd yell at you, grab for you and try to tear your clothes. Finally each legislator was given his own police bodyguard.

"We needed 54 votes to pass the bill. We had 52. Two members were out of town. We held the Assembly in session until 3 a.m. until they were able to fly to Sacramento and vote in favor of the bill."

McCollister started his public service career on the Mill Valley Board of Freeholders, which proposed that city's present form of government. Then Hubert Scudder retired from the Assembly and McCollister decided to run.

He beat a Santa Rosa attorney on both the Republican and the Democratic tickets that first year. Until 1950, managed to win in the primaries every time.

But in 1950 Mrs. Vera Schultz of Mill Valley, now the supervisor from that district, gave him his worst battle. She took the Democratic nomination. He managed to win out in the general election by only 9,000 votes.

From then until last year he never won both nominations, but always won handily in the finals. Last year the Democrats, sensing he was going to retire, didn't waste any manpower in trying to beat him; they didn't even put a man in for a token fight.

His career has also affected his personal life. He both lost and won a wife in Sacramento.

His first wife, whom he married while still in college, came to Sacramento with him for just one month during his first term. "She didn't like it at all and turned around and went right back to Marin," he declared. "She never came back."

McCollister, then foot-loose and fancy free, gained himself quite a reputation as a playboy. "You have to work hard, so you have to play hard," he explained. Eventually, he and his wife were divorced.

Then one day a red-haired secretary from the secretarial pool walked into his office "and it was all over," McCollister and Iris Richins of Sacramento were married, but she kept on working as his secretary.

"I don't recall whether she stopped working when our daughter, Colleen, (now 6½) was born, or whether it was when they were turning the heat on nepotism around here, but it was about the same time anyway," he said.

One day at their home in Mill Valley, McCollister was trimming some wall boards with an electric saw. He was standing on a do-it-yourself scaffold of a board spanning a box and a chair. The whole thing tipped over.

The saw was in his left hand and he put his right hand out to thrust the saw away from his head as he fell. The whirling blade severed all four fingers on his right hand just below the knuckles.

He passed out. When he woke up, he was in the maternity ward of San Rafael General Hospital, his handshaking hand forever fingerless. This bothered him at first, but today he shoves it out for a shake without a second thought.

McCollister looks back on 20 years which changed from script financing under Olson to a 500 million dollar surplus under Earl Warren, "the greatest executive, there isn't any doubt about that," back to an unbalanced budget under Goodwin Knight and to higher taxes under Governor Brown.

He recalls when, with no microphones in the Assembly, the district with the loudest-voiced assemblyman got the best paved roads, and now when California has the best highway system in the nation, and without toll roads.

He's had four years as floor leader of the Republican majority in the Assembly and the chairmanship of half a dozen committees.

Looking ahead, he's not afraid that his seat "will be taken by a boob." He's "very happy with the calibre of persons seeking my seat. The district will be well served no matter which one of the five candidates wins."

And he wants to pass on two rules to whoever does succeed him. The first, given to him by his predecessor, Hubert Scudder, is: Don't ever take the Assembly floor unless you have something to say. That way when you do speak, they will listen.

Fairchild Set To Start Construction

Construction of the Fairchild Semiconductor Corp. plant in San Rafael is expected to begin late this month.

The plant will be located on a 10-acre site east of Highway 101, just north of the Terra Linda turnoff. It will manufacture diodes, a type of transistor.

Bids on electrical, mechanical and plumbing work, from a selected list of bidders, will be opened Tuesday. Bids on all other subcontracts will be opened the following day.

The plant, to have 60,000 square feet of space, is scheduled to be completed some time in October, an official of Associated Construction and Engineering Co., San Francisco, reported. Associated and Barrett Construction, San Francisco, are the builders.

Fairchild has been producing silicon diodes since the first of the year in temporary leased quarters at Jordan street, San Rafael.

When the new building is completed, it will be the county's largest light industrial plant and eventually employ 1,000 persons.

Senator To Speak On Radio Program

State Sen. John F. McCarthy will report on the special session of the California Legislature as guest of Kitty Oppenheimer on the "Marin Sounding Board" program of radio station KTIM from 9 at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Questions by listeners will be directed to the Marin senator during the broadcast. The program will be repeated from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Applicants Sought For State Office Position

The state Department of Employment office in San Rafael is seeking applications for work in the office at 1840 Fourth street as employment and claims assistant.

Edwin W. Ayer, office manager, said persons will be selected after an examination is given May 7, and will be called to work only as needed. He said the employment will be seasonal. Persons wishing to apply may call at the office by April 27.

ence Lea, long-time congressman from this district: Always answer every piece of mail; not only answer it, but answer it thoughtfully and with answers to all questions asked, even though it takes you a week to find the answers.

In general, however, the main job facing the legislature of California is preserving a favorable business climate for California. McCollister told the Assembly, after they had honored him with a retirement resolution as the session ending, that they must be careful. "If our state gets too liberal, too welfare minded, too many government regulations and too many taxes, it will discourage business generally. Some of this is on the horizon now.

"People are coming here at a tremendous rate and we'll have to provide them with jobs. You can't do it by bolstering the labor unions. You have to make it a good climate for the employers before there'll be jobs for employees," explained McCollister.

The assemblyman hopes to stay around Sacramento, to which he moved permanently two years ago, and become a lobbyist in that general field.

He says he is retiring, "but use that word carefully. I'm not a wealthy man. The chief reward you get from legislative service is friendship, certainly not money, and the feeling that you have done some good."

And wife, Iris, has her own explanation for his retirement. "An assemblyman has to work hard and play hard. Dick is getting too old to play hard."

James McGowan, Eileen J. Sloan Exchange Vows In Mill Valley

A spring wedding of much interest in Mill Valley was that of Eileen Jane Sloan and James McGowan, which took place Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in the Church of Our Saviour.

White flowers decorated the altar as the young couple exchanged vows in a single ring ceremony performed by the Rev. D. Murray Hammond in the presence of 125 guests.

When the bride walked down the aisle on the arm of her father, Richard V. Sloan of Mill Valley, she was wearing a floor length gown of white silk brocade designed on princess lines with short sleeves, Sabrina neckline with deep V in back, and flared skirt.

Matron of honor for her cousin was Mrs. James Rees of Fresno, and she and the bridesmaid, Mrs. Frederick W. Kett of Mill Valley, were identically gowned in dresses of yellow nylon organza fashioned with scoop neckline, short sleeves and full gathered skirt and cummerbund. On their hair they wore matching bandeaux with face veils and they carried old fashioned bouquets of yellow roses and forget-me-nots.

Best man for the bridegroom who is the son of Mill Valley Police Chief James McGowan and Mrs. McGowan, was James Sylvia of San Rafael; escorting guests to their seats were Frederick W. Kett of Mill Valley, Joseph Joyce of San Francisco, and James Glessner of Pinole, Calif.

Mrs. Sloan, who is well known as a member of the Mill Valley public library staff, attended her daughter's wedding in a green and beige floral patterned silk dress. It was made with V neckline, three-quarter sleeves and full skirt. She completed her costume with a beige flowered hat.

Arrangements of white tulips, lilacs and iris were used to decorate the Outdoor Art Clubhouse for the reception which followed the ceremony.

The three-tiered cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and encircled at the base with gardenias stood on the bride's table, which was adorned with lilies of the valley. In charge of the guest book was Mrs. James Sylvia of San Rafael.

On their return they will live at 305 Miller avenue, Mill Valley.

The new Mrs. McGowan attended Tamalpais High School and was graduated from the University of California, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. She plans to continue teaching first grade in the Bel Aire School.

James was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin and is majoring in physical education at San Francisco State College.

His sister is Mrs. Louis Banks of San Carlos, and his brother is Wilbur J. McGowan, who is better known as "Mickey," especially in connection with his leadership in folk dance groups.

P.E.O. Chapter Has Annual Guest Day

Annual guest day for the members of Chapter NE, P.E.O. was a delightful experience when luncheon was served at the Kent Woodlands restaurant. During the afternoon the attendants learned many new trends of interior decorating.

Registered in the NE Guest Book were Betty Miller, CU, Whittier, now a resident of 502 N. Greenleaf avenue; Mrs. Phillip A. (Jean B.) Kennedy, 2 West Seaview, San Rafael; Mrs. G. W. (Jean) Kahler Jr., 491 Moline, Mill Valley; Kay Dolter, 4 Tamalpais, Belvedere; and Polly Oberholtzer, at home from an Oregon university. (Polly is the daughter of Mrs. W. D. Oberholtzer of Fair Hills, San Rafael, new president of Chapter NE.)

Mrs. Thelma Lee White, who recently moved to Corte Madera from San Francisco where she is a member of Chapter EM, was greeted by old friends.

Mary E. Yonan of EN, San Francisco Marybeth J. (Mrs. D. L.) Franzi, 602 Tamalpais avenue, Corte Madera; Gladys Mary Young (Mrs. Selden R.) of Inverness, with Patricia T. Scheyer, 2130 Elderberry lane, and Mildred Jewell, 809 Elderberry, both of Terra Linda, completed the guest list.

Mrs. G. William Magladry was general chairman of arrangements.

FOUNDERS' DAY

Mrs. W. W. Howe and Mrs. Helene Hjort were co-hostesses at the April 8th luncheon meeting when Founders' Day was celebrated.

Of note for this meeting was Mrs. E. C. Sargent's dimit to NE, received from CU, Austin, Minnesota. Mrs. Sargent is a former chapter president and with her husband, Dr. Sargent and family, resides at 675 Barberry, Terra Linda.

RECTOR'S WIFE

Welcomed as a guest was Mrs. John D. Riley, wife of the new rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Mrs. Riley became a P.E.O. in Payette, Idaho, and with her husband has resided in Boise, Idaho, and Paso Robles, Calif., before coming to Marin County. The Rileys are the parents of young twin daughters and are living in the new St. Paul's rectory at 508 Balboa avenue.

Another guest was Mrs. Allen Olinger of San Francisco, who helped organize NE just 10 years ago.

A letter was read from Mrs. Philip (Tempe) Manners, telling of the transfer of Dr. Manners from Limestone, Maine, to the Warren Air Force Base near Cheyenne, Wyoming.

STATE CONVENTION

Mrs. Oberholtzer named her appointive officers and committees for the coming year. She is now making plans to attend the state P.E.O. convention in Pasadena early in May when state president, Hazel R. Bullock of Redondo Beach, will preside.

Mrs. Kate Salmon Jones, who served NE as president for two years, is now proudly wearing a past-president's pin, and with her husband, Dr. Ilion Jones, is looking forward to Dr. Jones' retirement from the Seminary, and their imminent residence in Novato where they will be neighbors of Dr. and Mrs. John Jefferson Canoles.

TRAVEL NOTES

A letter from Mrs. Samuel D. Archibald, who with her husband, is on a world tour, told of her chance meeting with a P.E.O. sister.

Mrs. Roy A. Brown, just home from travels, had unexpected happiness in a reunion with a P.E.O. sister from Nebraska at chance meetings in New Orleans and again in Mexico City. Mrs Brown, with her husband, had been on a business trip which took them to New Orleans, Miami, Montega Beach, Jamaica, B.W.I., and on to Mexico City with a stopover in Havana, Cuba. All traveling was hastened by the airways.

Mrs. Joseph Joseph, another member of NE, is making plans to return to Europe and looking forward to an early departure. Mrs. Joseph has been with a friend at 1870 Jackson for many months.

Mrs. J. H. Hemingway, new recording secretary of EN, left soon after the April meeting for a vacation in Sun Valley.

MEETING APRIL 22

Mrs. A. L. Main and Mrs. W. S. Price, two past presidents of NE, will be co-hostesses on April 22 at the Main home in Mill Valley, when Mrs. Hjort, an active worker at the San Rafael school, Guide Dogs for the Blind, will be the speaker.

APPOINTIVE OFFICERS

Mrs. Oberholtzer named as her program committee Mesdames Sargent, A. C. Kuehl, Magladry, F. D. Dale and Hjort.

Courtesy committee includes Mrs. G. L. Rice and Mrs. Lehmann Ross.

Mesdames Earl Barnt, Hjort and Frederick Crisp were named on projects and welfare.

Finance will be directed by Mrs. Richard E. Mittelstaedt and Mrs. A. C. Saul. (The latter has been dividing her time between Los Angeles and Greenbrae, while Mr. Saul is drawing near retirement status.)

By-Laws are under the direction of Mrs. Ilion Jones and Mrs. Canoles.

Auditing will be done by Mrs. Dale and Mrs. Brinckerhoff.

Reciprocity meetings will be held in Marin in the near future with unaffiliates to be notified of meetings by the reciprocity committee headed by Mrs. A. G Stoll. Her assistants are Mesdames Howe, Price and Joseph Sheeks. The Marin reciprocity meetings will supplement those held monthly in San Francisco.

The retiring president automatically becomes parliamentarian.

Other appointive officers remain the same as in years past —Mrs. H. C. Jones, historian; Mrs. Clinite and Mrs. John M. Bagshaw, pianists, and Mrs. Roy A. Brown, publicity.

Karen Frerichs Bride Of Walter Elkington

White tulips and tangerine carnations decorated the Mill Valley Community Church Saturday afternoon when Karen Frerichs became the bride of Walter Elkington.

When the bride was given in marriage by her father, Herman Frerichs of Mill Valley, she was wearing a waltz length gown of white slipper satin. The fitted bodice had a round neckline with lace and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists, and the skirt was very full.

Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap of white silk organza trimmed with organdy flowers and seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of white tulips.

Karen's maid of honor was her sister Kristin, a senior at Tamalpais High School, and bridesmaid was Mary Lou Dominchelli. They were dressed alike in azure blue slipper satin gowns fashioned on lines similar to those of the bride's dress, and their headdresses were matching flat bows. Their flowers were ballerina bouquets of tangerine carnations.

Jarrett Johnson of Oakley, Calif. and a Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity brother, was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Elkington of Long Beach, Calif. Another fraternity brother, Howard Borelin of San Marino, Calif., showed guests to their seats.

Mrs. Frerichs attended her daughter's wedding in a champagne lace jacket dress and small hat of brown veiling trimmed with a beige rose, and her accessories were beige. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a beige dress and jacket lined with green and brown floral patterned silk, and wore a hat in the same shade of green. Each had a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Among out of town guests in addition to the bridegroom's parents were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Homer Scott of Sheridan, Wyo.; Miss Alma Frerichs of Grants Pass, Ore.; and Miss Jerrol Sandall of San Francisco.

The new Mrs. Elkington was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the University of California and is now teaching fifth grade in Hayward, Calif.

Her husband is also a graduate of the University of California and is now employed as a metallurgical engineer in Oakland. He has one sister, Mrs. Robert Lee of Long Beach.

The young couple will live in Oakland on their return from a honeymoon in Carmel.

Lunch Celebrates Success Of Drive On Pt. Reyes Project

A luncheon and swimming party celebrating the conclusion of a successful three weeks information campaign and the collection of 3,700 signatures on petitions favoring the proposed Pt. Reyes National Seashore Area was held recently at the home of Mrs. Russell Merret of Kent Woodlands.

A skit of the presentation of the petitions to the Marin Board of Supervisors on Tuesday was enacted for the 25 guests, all members of the Pt. Reyes Foundation, a citizens group supporting the national park. They also viewed maps and discussed the details of the National Park Service's development plan for the 53,000-acre Pt. Reyes area.

During the drive, Mrs. Merret and her committee held 11 morning and evening meetings to inform people of the significance of the proposed park for Marin, and operated information booths at Kent Woodlands and Novato, passing out literature and answering questions. They plan to attend the U.S. Senate Interior committee hearing at Olney Hall, College of Marin tomorrow.

Attending Mrs. Merret's party were: Mesdames T. C. Wellman, Bernard Stone, Samuel Hanzel, Connie Bricca, Martin Griffith, Edward Lederman, Frederic Coolidge, Paul Wilson, Hugh Downey, and Maurice Solomon of Kentfield; Mrs. Wayne Tharpe and Mrs. Robin Cannon of Novato; Miss Anne Ellinwood, Mrs. William Newman, Mrs. Stanley Dick, of Tiburon; Mrs. Gordon Phillips of Marinwood; Mrs. L. J. Halloman, Mrs. Daniel Tarentine, Mrs. Joseph Gutstade of San Rafael; Mesdames Carl Book, Kenneth Anderson, of Mill Valley; Miss Doris Schmeidell of Ross; and Mrs. Robert Vilas and Mrs. Milton Johnson of Woodacre.

Ross Valley Council Elects New Officers

A welcoming message was brought by the Rev. Jerald Traeger to the Ross Valley Council of Parents and Teachers meeting recently in the First Baptist Church of San Anselmo.

The inspirational reading was given by Mrs. Robin Galloway, first vice president of 14th District, CCPT. The Ross Valley Mothersingers, under the direction of Mrs. Dale Danley, sang three numbers. They will also participate with many of the other Mothersinger groups in California at the State Convention in San Francisco, May 5.

Installation was conducted by Mrs. Malcolm Finley of San Rafael, president of 14th District, CCPT. Those serving for the second term are: Mesdames, Sam Goldbaum, president; H. B. Hennessy, vice president; Kenneth Dunn; parliamentarian. Being installed for the first time in their respective offices were: Mesdames Harold Sharrow, secretary; S. E. DeMasi, treasurer; E. A. Cambouris, financial secretary and Carl Nilson, auditor.

After discussion, a motion was passed to support the Point Reyes National Seashore Area. Mrs. Robin Galloway was instructed to represent the group at the Congressional Hearing at the College of Marin.

A gift of $125 was voted to the Marin County P-TA Scholarship Committee to help them give as many scholarships as possible to worthy high school students.

Reports of the year's work were given by the following chairmen: Mrs. Harold Sharrow, historian; Mrs. Albert Hahn, dental health; Mrs. Melvin Dorinson, health; Mrs. Wesley Honeyman, hospitality; Mrs. Charles Hudson, magazines; Mrs. John Rechtfertig, membership; Mrs. Robin Galloway, publicity; and Mrs. Kenneth Dunn, parliamentarian, Honorary Life Membership and scholarship.

Mrs. Malcolm Finley gave a short report on Legislation and just returned from the White House Youth Conference, Dr. Vaughn Seidel shared some of his experiences and impressions with the group.

Guests who were introduced included Dr. Virgil Hollis, Marin County Superintendent of Schools; Chester Carlisle, Superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District; Dr. Vaughn Seidel, Superintendent of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Schools; and Harold DePue, Superintendent of the Confederated District.

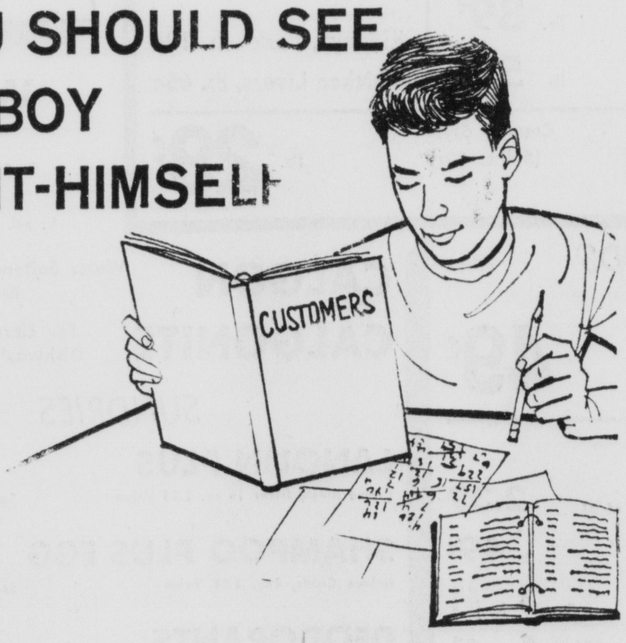
YOU SHOULD SEE MY BOY DO-IT-HIMSELF



"When you talk about the 'do-it-yourself' fellow, don't forget my son, Eddie. A year ago, he was shy, unsure of himself, with nothing worthwhile to occupy his spare time. Now you should see him. He has a newspaper route—a really thriving business of his own. He has developed confidence in himself and is accepting so many responsibilities that I nominate him as the most active do-it-yourselfer in the neighborhood. Here's what that young man does: Studies his papers, and develops a sales talk. Gets new customers. Serves old customers. Keeps books. Collects accounts. Budgets his time and profits. Banks his savings. Talks about what he's going to do when he grows up . . . Come out some time and follow my boy around. See him do-it-himself. Then you'll know why I'm so proud of him. And you'll be as happy as I that we live in an economy in which boys have opportunities like this!"

Hospital Service, Fashions Form Girl Scout Activities

Child care, hospital service and fashions have been uppermost in the minds of many Girl Scouts during the past few weeks.

Two Fairfax Intermediate Scout troops have completed an interesting child care course sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Marin County Medical Society. The new GEMS (Good Emergency Mother Substitutes) are the eighth grade members of Central School's Troop 145 and seventh grade Troop 192 from Deer Park School where the course was given. Conducted by Mrs. A. J. Brinkerhoff, the course included a discussion on "The Care and Feeding of Infants" by Mrs. W. O. Hall, "Artificial Respiration" by Dr. Marjorie E. Belknapp, "Entertaining the Pre-school Child" by Mrs. Arthur Ablin, and a film showing the new method of mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration, shown by Mr. W. R. Cortelyou of the Fairfax Fire Department. During the five meetings, the girls were also able to complete the requirements of the Child Care Badge. Their leaders are Mesdames Robert Stout, Herman Scheppleman, James Tovatt and Martin Siem.

Easter bunnies holding a flower "planted" in an egg shell will find their way to the patients' tray on Easter Sunday at Ross General Hospital. Made by the second, third, and fourth grade Brownie Scouts of Corte Madera's Troop 5, the favors are part of a service project undertaken three years ago by the Corte Madera-Larkspur Neighborhood, with a different troop making favors for the hospital each month during the year.

Entitled "Fashions for Fifth Graders," a fashion show was presented recently in the Parish Hall of St. John's Church, Ross, by the fifth grade members of Intermediate Scout Troop 121.

Mrs. C. O. Amonette Jr., who was in charge of the fashion show, instructed the girls in good posture, how to walk more gracefully and how to be a good model. The show opened with six girls showing what NOT to do in a fashion show, followed by a a "real" show modeled by the rest of the fifth graders. The show's commentators were Ravelle Prola and Judy Hooper.

SHRINE CLUB HAS BRUNCH STYLE SHOW

The Marin County Shrine Club under the direction of its president, Roy D. Bailey staged its annual brunch and fashion show recently at Rickey's Rancho Rafael. For years this has been a spectacular and fashionable event in Marin County. This year it proved itself again.

The theme was Hawaiian to salute Islam's illustrious potentate, Harold W. Stelling and Mrs. Stelling, along with the Potentate's Divan officers and their ladies, who will leave soon to attend the Western Shrine Conference in Hawaii. In order to accommodate the tremendous demand for reservations to this event, which were over 500, the entire show was staged in the garden at Rickey's. Newspaper columnist Paul Speegle introduced the models.

A CELEBRATION to welcome the inaugural flight of South Pacific Air Lines between Hawaii and Tahiti was held recently at the Tahitian Lanai in Honolulu. In attendance at the event were Mrs. Victor Bergeron, left, wife of Trader Vic of San Francisco, and Marjorie Trumbull, formerly San Francisco columnist of Kentfield. The party was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. A. Stanley Dollar Jr. of Walnut Creek and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dollar of Kent Woodlands.

'Salute To Music' To Be Theme Of Symphony Ball

"Rondo Con Spirito," the fourth and final movement of San Francisco's gayest party, the Fifth Annual Black and White Symphony Ball, has inspired the decor theme, "A Salute to Music," to be featured at the Mark Hopkins' Peacock Court on Friday, April 22, from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The dynamic spirit of Beethoven, Chopin and other world-famed composers will be made manifest to party-goers in the form of four foot busts of simulated marble atop pedestals eight feet high.

Gigantic music scores of parchment will form the backdrop of the bandstand where, on either side, an enormous metronome will tower 16 feet above the dance floor, marking time with its rhythmic pendulum for ballroom dancing with Ernie Heckscher and his orchestra.

Encircling the ballroom will be three dimensional, styized trophy panels, in sharp green and gold, displaying musical instruments from the days of antiquity—such as the lyre—to those commonly played by musicians of today.

The sponsors' tables will be adorned with cloths of emerald green and centered by magnificently jeweled metronomes set with diamonds and emeralds, based on crystal balls.

Enticing guests into the adjoining Rooms of the Dons, will be two sculptured figures, fourteen feet tall, performing the minuet in appropriately designed costumes of the Middle French period.

The ball is presented annually in Four Movements at San Francisco's four leading hotels by the San Francisco Symphony Association as a fund-raising gala. All proceeds will benefit the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's current operating expenses.

2 New Auxiliaries In Home Society

Two new auxiliaries will be welcomed to membership when the Coast Counties Council of the Children's Home Society of California convenes for a regular bi-monthly meeting tomorrow at Lakeside Country Club in San Francisco. The new groups represent memberships in Petaluma and San Francisco.

Fresh Apples

Novato High Students Give Club Program

Adventures in business, science and geometry were dramatically and graphically shown by Novato high school students for the monthly meeting of the Parents Club held recently at the high school.

"Do's and Don'ts of a Business Office" were demonstrated in an original skit by the business department under the direction of faculty head Mrs. Lawrence Binggeli.

Playing the role of first an untrained secretary, then the trained secretary in the unusual production was Jody Keeshan as Miss Stevens. Sany Lanthier in the role of the "boss" was first the rough, tough executive, then the kindly, appreciative business head. Others in the cast were Chris Ellis as the customer; Pam Miller, girl on the phone; Carol Means, fashion designer, and Jacqui Carpenter, narrator.

Emphasis in this area was to show the value of chemistry in teaching students show to choose and evaluate marketed consumer products.

Always Test It

You need to test a baked product for doneness even though a recipe specifies a definite baking time. Ovens vary! To test a cake, insert a wire tester into the center; if no bits of uncooked batter stick to it—if it comes out clean — your cake is done.

Teen-Agers Touchy Problem When Going Through Rebellious Stage

"Our daughter says she hates us," a father writes, "although we've tried to be good to her.

"She is 15 and used to be sweet and obedient. Now she is a rebel. She started smoking the day we told her not to. We feel we're failures as parents. What mistakes have we made?"

All parents have trouble with their teen-agers. The 14th and 15th years are usually the worst.

You may have made no mistakes. However, you may have decided too many things for her. Possibly you've done too much for her, and kept her a child too long. Such things intensify the rebellion of teen-agers. They come in homes where parents try too hard to protect their offspring.

The safe rule with youngsters of any age is to give them as much freedom as they can handle. As soon as they're able to go to the store alone safely, we should let them. When they can go to parties without us, we should let them. When they can behave themselves on dates with responsible youngsters, we should let them start dating. If we are more strict than other parents in the neighborhood they really rebel.

Your girl's reaction to being told not to smoke is typical. It was a challenge to her. She accepted it.

Is there a counselor at school you could talk to who knows your daughter? Find out how much freedom the other girls of her age have. Get his opinion about your daughter's capacity for independence. If he suggests it, try to relax your rules a bit. Try giving her as much freedom as she can handle safely.

It won't be easy. But the alternative may be disaster.

If she can be responsible for her own conduct, she might grow up quickly.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "I'm a boy of 19. Do you think it is immoral for me to smoke?"

Mumps, Measles Waning Slightly In Marin County

Incidence of mumps and measles slackened off slightly in Marin County last week—but only slightly, according to the weekly report of Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

For some years, the two common childhood diseases have not been subject to quarantine.

Fifty-eight cases of mumps were reported to the county health department during the week, Dr. Albrecht said. West Marin had the greatest number—17 in Olema, Inverness Park and Pt. Reyes. There were 13 new cases in San Rafael, 11 in Mill Valley, six in Larkspur, five in Novato, three each in San Anselmo and Fairfax.

New measles cases reported during the week totaled 45. Of these, Novato had the greatest number—13. There were nine in San Rafael, seven in Corte Madera, five each in Larkspur and San Anselmo, three in Mill Valley, two in Fairfax, and one in West Marin.

Six cases of streptococcic infection were reported, four cases of syphilis, three cases of gonorrhea and one case of salmonella.

Hub Man To Be In Song Competition

Arthur Muskovitz of San Anselmo will be heard over radio station KCBS between 3 and 5 p.m. tomorrow as San Francisco City College's entrant in the McElhatton Songtest.

Muskovitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Muskovitz of 64 Forest avenue, San Anselmo, is one of two dozen vocalists representing Bay Area colleges in the contest, the winner of which will receive a portable stereophonic phonograph. Winners will be selected on the basis of listeners' votes.

Young Muskovitz will be heard from a tape recording of his voice made last week. His song is "Fools Rush In."

In Navy Exercise

Raymond J. Andrade, Navy engineman second class, son of Mrs. Rugh Andrade of 15 Maridosa road, San Rafael, took part in a huge amphibious landing exercise, recently on Formosa's southern coast, while serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Tulare.

Charity Gift Offer Gets Big Response

San Rafael residents are not the "selfish monsters" Americans are supposed to be according to some foreign propaganda, and a tuna company has "proof positive" of their generosity.

A San Diego tuna company recently offered a plan whereby its customers, instead of sending in for free premiums, could fill out $1 checks payable to their favorite religious or charitable organization. "Cost" of the check was six labels from tins of tuna.

With $1,250,000 worth of checks distributed around the country, the company expected that it would take all of March and April for people to take advantage of the chance to contribute to their pet charities or to church or synagogue funds. After all, they reasoned, a gift to a worthy cause is not in the same category as, say, a salt and pepper shaker for one's own home.

But according to George Dew, president of Breast O'-Chicken Tuna, "San Rafael set some sort of national record for its response to this opportunity. If we had offered a premium for the housewife's own home, we would have had coupons left over after two months. As it is, all our 'Charity Checks' were gobbled up in two weeks."

Dew said this experience not only proves that the average person in San Rafael is more interested in helping worthy organizations than in gadgets for himself; it also shows a great need for more ways to encourage grass roots giving in a "painless" way.

Recipients of checks included such organizations as the New March of Dimes, American Red Cross and Damon Runyon Cancer Fund as well as Catholic, Protestant and Jewish groups.

Lectures On Legal Procedures Slated

The first of a series of four weekly lectures on trial procedure in civil cases will be held tomorrow through the facilities of the University of California Extension in cooperation with the Marin County Bar Assn.

Meetings will be held Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in Department 3, Superior Court, at the county courthouse. Lectures will cover the problems of selecting and convincing a jury, motions during trial, motions after jury verdict and trial without jury.

Public Defender Peter Allen Smith is chairman of the bar group's department of continuing education, and is in charge of local arrangements.

Discussion Slated On Air Pollution

The effects of air pollution on the respiratory system will be discussed April 21 at a meeting of the Marin County Tuberculosis Assn.

Speaker at the meeting will be Dr. John R. Goldsmith, Berkeley, in charge of studies of health effects of air pollution for the state Department of Public Health.

New officers and directors of the association will be installed at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito.

Be Sure of Your Audience ...then Go Ahead!

BACK TO SCHOOL for our children! And there are lessons advertisers must learn, too, in order to invest the advertising budget wisely and profitably. To know your audience is one of the most important to successful selling through the printed word.

It's really as simple as A. B. C. When you place advertising in the Independent-Journal, you know exactly who and where your audience is, how many families it comprises, and to a considerable extent what you can expect from it. I-J circulation is counted, classified and guaranteed in number and quality by regular ABC audits. The ABC net paid circulation figure for the I-J includes only paid-for, wanted circulation . . . newspapers delivered daily on the doorsteps of 5 out of 7 Marin homes. No throwaways. No free copies. No unasked-for deliveries to postoffice box holders (50% go immediately in the wastebaskets, postmasters say). No wasted circulation of any kind.

Whether you run a 3-line want ad or a full page in color, the I-J is your best advertising buy.

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION ABC

TO PROVIDE FACTS to guide business in the investment of its advertising dollars, and to eliminate circulation guesswork, the Audit Bureau of Circulations was founded in 1914. It is a voluntary, cooperative, non-profit association of advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Through ABC reports the Independent-Journal provides its advertisers with accurate audited information on where and to how many people their messages in the I-J are circulated. TV Programs By Marinites Win Awards

Programs devised by three Marin County residents have won for television station KPIX in San Francisco the 1959 Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. Lamp of Knowledge award for outstanding achievement in public service and educational programing.

As part of the award Hubbard and his wife will be given a trip to Europe. Special gifts go to Novak, Olsen and two other members of the station staff.

The award was established in 1956 to encourage WBC stations to make public service and educational shows as exciting as the commercial variety.

MAKE YOUR Easter dinner as delicious and attractive as you can with these colorful Peach Baskets and the Fruit Cocktail Cheese Cake. The fruit garnishes are easy to fix and bring a festive note to the Easter ham dinner.

Peach Baskets And Cheese Cake Will Highlight Easter Dinner

Highlight your baked ham with "Peach Baskets"—canned clings zipped up with a dash of vinegar and filled with creamy pastel candy "eggs." Cream cheese seasoned with horseradish fashions the candy eggs, and how good they are, both with peaches and ham! The fruit garnish makes the rich ham taste twice as good.

The peaches are easy to fix—unbelieveably so! You just open a can of cling peach halves and add a couple of tablespoons of vinegar, and let the fruit chill in its tart syrup until serving time. For the eggs, add prepared horse-radish to taste, divide the mixture and tint delicately with food coloring. Chill the cheese and roll into balls, then elongate the balls, and you have your colored candy eggs!

For dessert, prepare a "Fruit Cocktail Cheese Cake." It's pretty as a Sunday bonnet, with the five colorful fruits of canned fruit cocktail scattered through the creamy cheese cake. Save out a half cup of the fruit to bedeck the top.

FRUIT COCKTAIL CHEESE CAKE

- 1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
- ⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 (No. 2½) can fruit cocktail
- 2 envelopes plain gelatin
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 pint cottage cheese
- 1 cup whipping cream

Set aside two tablespoons graham cracker crumbs for top. Combine remaining crumbs with butter, mixing well. Press firmly in bottom and sides of 8-inch spring form. Chill. Drain fruit cocktail, reserving syrup. Soften gelatin in ½ cup of the syrup. Combine ¼ cup of the sugar with orange juice concentrate, salt and egg yolks, and beat until well blended. Cook over very low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Stir in softened gelatin and heat, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Meanwhile, force cottage cheese through a sieve. When gelatin is cooled to room temperature, beat egg whites to fine foam stage, and gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. With same beater, whip cream stiff. Stir cottage cheese into cooled gelatin mixture, then fold in egg whites and cream. Set aside ½ cup fruit cocktail for garnish, and fold remainder into cheese mixture. Turn into crumblined pan and chill until firm. Makes about 9 servings.

PEACH BASKETS

- 1 (No. 2½) can cling peach halves
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 2 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
- 1 to 2 tablespoons prepared horse-radish
- Food coloring

Combine peaches with wine vinegar and chill for at least 4 hours before serving. Soften cream cheese and blend in horse-radish to taste. Divide into three portions and tint pink, light green and yellow. Shape into small balls, then roll between the palms to elongate into egg shape. Drain peaches thoroughly, and place three eggs in each. Arrange around baked ham. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Now Is Good Time For This Rhubarb Spring Pie

You don't have to wait for Rhubarb Pie to be appropriate. Any time is a good time to serve this traditional spring favorite. Rhubarb prepared as sauce, as cobbler, as shortcake, pie or sherbet, captures attention. When it's cobbler, shortcake, or pie, lard is the shortening to use for the tender flaky pastry or biscuits baked to serve under or over the rhubarb. The pastry topping for this pie is cut into 6 equal triangular-shaped pieces and placed on the filling just before baking thus dividing the pie before it's baked!

RHUBARB PIE

Pastry:

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ⅔ cup lard
- 4 to 6 tablespoons water

Rhubarb Filling:

- 1 pound rhubarb, cut in ½-inch pieces (3 cups)
- 1½ cups sugar
- ¼ cup flour
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in lard until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Divide pastry in half. Roll ½ the dough to about ⅛ inch thickness and line a 9-inch pie pan allowing ½ inch crust to extend over edge. Mix together sugar, flour and salt. Combine rhubarb with one-half the sugar-flour mixture. Pour filling in unbaked pie shell. Sprinkle remaining sugar-flour mixture over filling. Dot with butter or margarine. Roll out remaining pastry and cut into 6 equal triangular shaped pieces. Place over filling with points toward center. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 40 to 50 minutes.

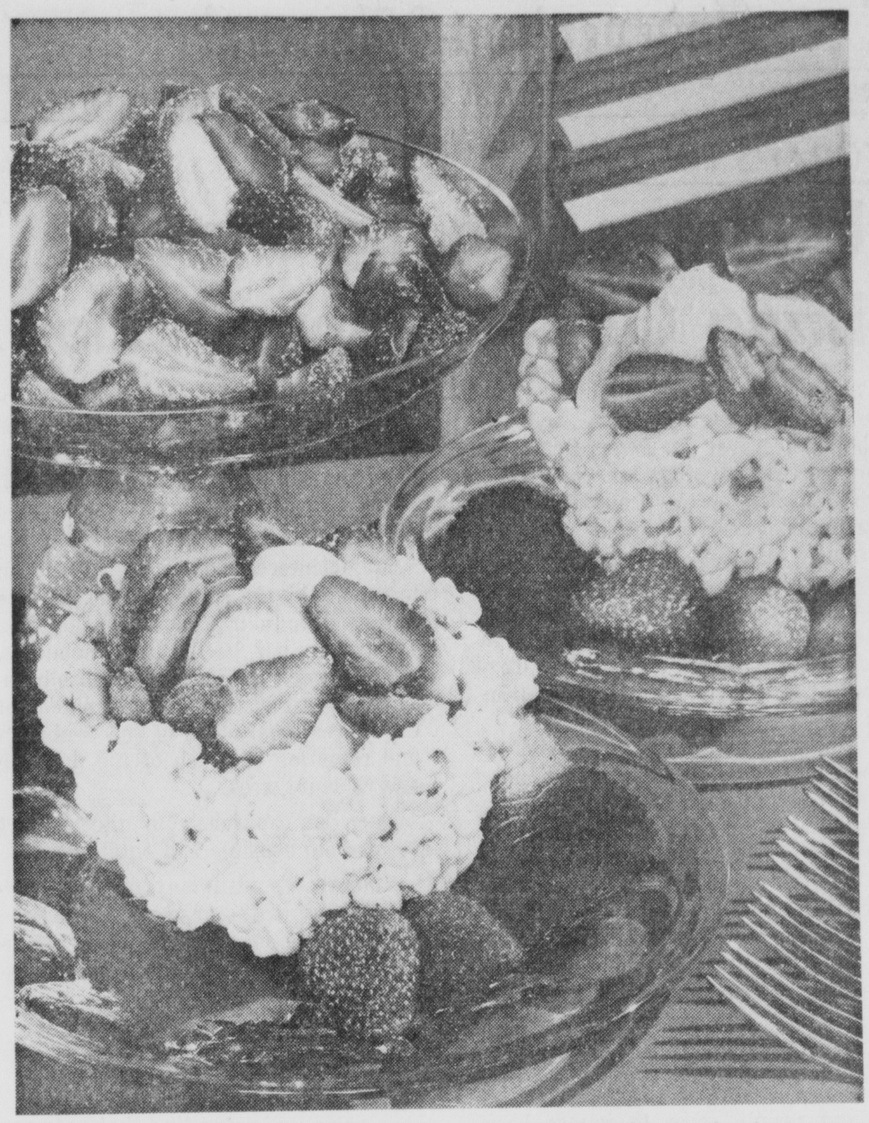
The unusual combination of ice cream and strawberries in a snowy-white popcorn dessert shell is sure to amaze and delight guests at spring luncheons and showers. And if you serve it to your family—stand back or you'll be trampled in the rush!

The crisp, sugar-coated popcorn makes a perfect shell for ice cream sundaes of all sorts and enhances any flavor of ice cream or topping. Best of all, this easy-to-make popcorn shell can be made days ahead, wrapped in saran or foil and popped on a plate, still fresh and crisp on the big day.

STRAWBERRY POPCORN DESSERTS

- 2 quarts unsalted popped popcorn
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup light corn syrup
- ⅓ cup water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- 2 cups sliced strawberries or 1 1-pound package frozen strawberries

Place popcorn in buttered bowl. Combine sugar, corn syrup, water, salt, cream of tartar and butter or margarine in heavy saucepan. Cook to hard crack stage (290°F.) stirring frequently. Pour syrup in a fine stream over popcorn and stir carefully until syrup evenly coats popcorn. Shape into shells using 8 large (9½ ounce) glass apple dumpling dishes or cereal bowls. Cool thoroughly. Just before serving scoop ice cream into shells; top with strawberries. Yield: 8 servings.



WHETHER IT'S a formal dinner or a plain family supper, this popcorn shell with ice cream and your favorite topping will be the star of the show. Snowy-white and crisp, sugar-coated popcorn makes a sundae a special taste treat.

Ham-Cheese Sandwich

There are never enough sandwich ideas for the mother of teen-agers, but this combination will win acclaim in the home where it's served. The sandwich could be described as a close relative to French toast. Canned or leftover cooked ham or canned luncheon meat makes an equally good filling.

BAKED HAM-CHEESE-TOMATO SANDWICH

- 12 slices white bread
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 6 slices (1 ounce each) cheddar cheese
- 6 slices (2 ounces each) cooked ham
- 18 tomato slices, cut ¼ inch thick

Toast 6 slices of bread on one side only. Combine egg, salt, milk and Worcestershire sauce. Dip the untoasted side of bread in egg mixture and place untoasted side down on a heavily greased cooky sheet. Place a slice of cheese, then a slice of ham and 3 slices of tomato on each toasted bread slice. Top each with a piece of bread that has been dipped in the egg mixture, placing dipped side up. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) for 20 to 25 minutes or until lightly browned on the top. 6 sandwiches.

For Getting Results Tinting Easter Eggs

Coloring eggs at Easter is family fun. Children love it, particularly adding fancy or funny designs, and they should be a part of the activity. Doing Easter Eggs together makes for a fine family tradition to carry on over the years.

All packaged egg dyes on the market are made according to the U. S. Food and Drug Administration's standards. The dyes are certified to be pure and are safe and harmless to use on eggs or in food. Neither will the dyes stain washable surfaces or fabrics, so Mother need have no fear if some are spilled.

Just a few hints for getting best results:

Always use fresh, white eggs. Eggs that have been in storage or chemically treated to preserve them will not dye well.

The eggs should be hard-boiled, of course, and the colors will be brighter if they are dyed while hot.

To prevent the shell from cracking in the water, pierce the rounded bottom end (not the pointed end) with a needle or pin. This releases pressure from a small air pocket located at the bottom of the eggs which otherwise would crack the shell.

Do not let the eggs be unrefrigerated for too long a time, especially if they are to be used in sandwiches, salads or other dishes after the holiday.

For an attractive Easter centerpiece, arrange the colored eggs in a low bowl or basket. Encircle these with cute animal figures made of colored hard-boiled eggs as the bodies and cut-out pieces for the heads and stands. Or these can be used as place favors with names written across the eggs.

Antique Cupboard To Have Authentic Southern Recipes

Authentic old recipes were tried recently at the home of Mrs. William Newman of Tiburon Blvd. who has an old wood stove in her kitchen. Members of the Rector's Guild of The Church of Our Saviour of Mill Valley gathered together to start preparing goodies for a new "Grandmother's Cupboard," which will be a feature of the Eighth Annual Antiques Show and Sale to be held in Sausalito April 21 through 24. Two interesting old recipes are directly from the South. The "Plantation Sally Lunn" featured below is taken from a cookbook belonging to Mrs. Dashwood Darling's great, great grandmother.

PLANTATION SALLY LUNN

- ½ cake compressed yeast
- ¼ cup "new milk" scalded and cooled to lukewarm
- 2 eggs
- 1¾ cup "new" milk
- 4 cups bread flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 tbsp. butter softened, not too hot

Soften yeast in lukewarm milk. Beat eggs. Add sugar, milk and yeast mixture. Sift in flour and salt and beat until perfectly smooth. Add butter and beat again. Let rise until almost double in bulk. Beat down with a spoon and this time pour into a well-buttered pan (one with a center funnel is prettiest). Let rise until almost double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven for one hour, covering after the first half hour. Turn from pan and serve hot. Entire process takes four hours. Serves 8 to 10.

The second recipe, "Hush Puppies," dates back to the Civil War days. The name originated around the camp fire when the cakes were tossed to the hounds to keep them quiet. This also is a Southern recipe of Mrs. Dashwood Darling's.

HUSH PUPPIES

- 2 cups corn meal
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1 tsp. salt
- 6 tbsp. chopped onion
- 2 tbsp. flour
- 1 tbsp. baking powder
- 1 egg
- 2 cups buttermilk

Mix dry ingredients. Add onion; then milk and egg beaten together. Drop by small spoonfuls into boiling deep fat. They will float when done. Drain on brown paper.

Another recipe taken from the Blue Ridge Mountains is a grit bread. It is a tasty mouthful and a real backwoods delicacy traceable to the early Pilgrims who learned the recipe from the Indians. This is how it is made.

GRIT BREAD

Select 6 ears of corn just beyond the "milk stage." Grit through a "gritter" to yield 2½ cups of scraped corn kernels.

To the kernels add the following:

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 1¼ tsp. salt
- 2½ tsp. baking powder
- 1 whole fresh egg, well beaten
- ¼ cup melted shortening

To the flour add sugar, salt and baking powder and sift together over the "gritted" corn, mixing thoroughly. Stir in egg alternately with melted shortening—no liquid is necessary as moisture is given by the "gritted" corn. Turn into a greased shallow pan and bake at 425° for 30-35 minutes. Serve hot with generous slabs of country butter (serves six).

Pt. Reyes Hearing Should Bring Out Vital Information

This afternoon a subcommittee from the United States Senate was flying in a helicopter over Pt. Reyes Peninsula. They were preparing for tomorrow's public hearing on the proposal to make it a national seashore park.

As was proposed in this space several weeks ago, the Senate committee, headed by Sen. Frank E. Moss of Utah, arrived a day earlier than originally planned in order to take a personal look at the proposed park area before the hearing.

Tomorrow in College of Marin, the subcommittee, of which Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia and Clair Engle of California are other members, will hold a day-long hearing on the project.

California's second senator, Thomas Kuchel, was not able to leave Washington, but sent a statement urging preservation of the point "as a new type of national recreational and historic area."

Marin's other representative in Washington, Rep. Clement W. Miller, was also aboard the helicopter this afternoon and will be at tomorrow's hearing. Miller and Engle each introduced bills in Congress to establish the park.

Major interest tomorrow will be on testimony by the National Park Service in regards to their proposal for the park. Their plan has been rather nebulous, but last week they released a preliminary proposal based on development of the recreational areas of the peninsula and retention of much of the dairying and ranching areas.

Such an approach to the project seems both sensible and equitable.

Tomorrow's testimony may well develop many of the answers which have been lacking in order to make a considered decision as to the park's advisability.

Don't Give Pets Unless . . .

Many people seem to ignore basic humane considerations in the giving of pets for Easter gifts.

Certainly there is something symbolic about giving a living gift on this particular holiday. But this is no excuse for giving a puppy or a kitten to a child whose parents do not want it and do not know how to care for it.

It is also a cruelty to give a child a pet before the child is old enough to have some understanding that pets are fragile and cannot be dropped, sat upon or picked up by their tails.

Chicks, ducklings and young rabbits are favorite gifts of the foolish. Nobody will deny they are charming, but few people are equipped to care for them. Not many survive handling and exposure.

Don't buy a pet for a friend or a child on impulse. Think it over first.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

LITTLE SLIP MAKES BIG DIFFERENCE

A 9-year-old boy was plucked from the icy waters of Lake Erie last February after an unexpected two and a half mile watery ride through a large drainage pipe that emptied into the lake.

It all started when the youngster fell into a creek, while playing near his home. Before he could get out he was washed into the underground tube, and swept rapidly towards the lake.

A half hour later he was spotted clinging to a branch near the shore. A bystander saw him lose his grip and dove into the ice cold lake, recuing him in the nick of time.

Coast Guard officers were surprised that the youth had survived the ordeal. They said that a half hour in the 34-degree water of the lake normally proves fatal.

A slight mistake in these fast-moving times can cause serious harm in many ways for young and old alike. Avoid needless risks by rooting yourself in sound doctrine and morals. You will be blessed by God and will better serve your neighbor if you do.

"In all thy ways think on Him, and He will direct thy steps." (Proverbs 3:6)

Harvest Season Draws Near For Greatest Crop—College Graduates

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—It's about harvest time in the meadows of learning.

America's greatest spring crop—its college graduating classes—is matured and ready to seek its own place in the golden granary of time. The 1960 crop looks like a record one in terms of both quantity and quality.

Critics of our younger generation might feel better about our nation's future if they would take the trouble right now to go and see how these "hopes of tomorrow" really measure up.

I did just that the other day during a visit here to the University of North Carolina, which has won over the years an enlarging recognition as one of the great pastures of the mind and spirit.

Chapel Hill has always had a tradition of relaxed freedom and wide culture, and the late Thomas Wolfe was only one of many creative minds that have found inspiration here.

For any middle-aged man his return to a college campus is always a kind of journey into Australia. But it can teach him a few things, too.

The campus at Chapel Hill is beautiful. The walks are shaded by trees so old they are like shrines in leaf. The buildings, a mixture of many architectures, blend in a friendly weathered warmth.

But on this walk upon this day it was the students, not the mellow atmosphere of the campus, that kindled in me a reverie of comparison.

One does not like to be unfair to his own youth, but on the other hand it is not wise ever to get the idea that all that was best in the world died with it.

Looking around at the students I passed, pausing now and then to listen to them, I had the feeling they were superior to the college students of my own generation.

In my depression-haunted generation the fear of being unable to find a job after graduation often made the last two years in college miserable. We hated to leave alma mater because we feared the world had no place for us.

THESE STUDENTS are not fearful. They are hopeful, and they believe in themselves.

Returning from my stroll I had no desire to relive my own college days. One time of youth is enough for one life.

I FELT NO TINGE of envy for these young men and women. But I did feel that the world they so soon will set forth to better will fare no worse at their hands than it has at ours.

What Happens To Camp David After Ike

By MERRIMAN SMITH

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — A group of fellows were sitting around up at Camp David one afternoon last week, killing time while President Eisenhower played host to the President of Colombia in Aspen Cottage.

A bull session developed in Hickory Cottage, the big recreation hall not far from the President's lodge, and the conversation turned to the future of the White House retreat in the Catoctin mountains of Maryland.

The camp was founded by the late President Roosevelt and was known originally as Shangri-La. The same name continued in use during the Truman administration, but when Eisenhower came in office, he changed the name to Camp David in honor of his grandson. Thus, it is logical to assume that the new President next year will select a new name for the camp.

IT IS NOT LIKELY that a new President will get rid of the place. The Navy has quite an investment in the camp. Just a new name and possibly some redecoration of the main lodge to suit the taste of 1961's first lady.

Naturally the talk at Camp David last week turned to possible new names and changes in the 134-acre camp. Here is the result of the speculation, based on what the leading candidates might do about the camp:

NIXON — Probably change the name to Camp Julie in honor of his younger daughter or Camp Pat for his wife. Install large kennel for pet dogs.

KENNEDY — New name, Camp Dad or Camp Joe; both same idea. Abolish present tiny golf course, change it to a ski run. Build world's largest playpen for all the smaller children in the family.

HUMPHREY — Camp Hubert? Change golf course (probably world's only layout with one hole and three tees) to meadowy amphitheater where he could invite friends to listen to speeches. Vast new loudspeaker system. Camp open to the public on Sundays. Lunch on the grounds.

JOHNSON — Camp Ladybird, of course, with a giant, golden L.B.J. hung at the front gate. Golf course would be changed into world's largest barbecue pit and 10,000 acres added to camp property to graze steers and make Lyndon feel at home. All Marines stationed there would have to come from Texas.

SYMINGTON — Camp Eve, for his wife. Or Camp Harry, depending on how former President Truman handles things at the Democratic convention. Cottages, now named for trees, would be named for towns in Missiouri. Aspen would become St. Louis, natch. Big Hunting Creek would become Little Missouri.

STEVENSON — Known simply as "the camp." Golf layout bulldozered absolutely flat for eight tennis courts, four lawn and four clay. Marines out of uniform into chino shorts, button-down collars.

Nelson Rockefeller, of course, could upset all of this speculation if he decides to get serious again about the GOP Presidential nomination. The Rockefeller family has quite a record for establishing big parks and conceivably, they might buy the State of Maryland if Nelson made the White House and turn it into the only American resort offering mountain trout fishing, as well as ocean bathing. And Chesapeake Bay could become Lake Rock.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

No Real Argument Against Pt. Reyes

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

O.K., now we have the plan for the proposed Pt. Reyes Park.

Except for a few individuals whose property and rights most certainly must be considered, the park proposal is an enlightened and fortunate thing. Our future generations will benefit from this immeasurably.

It is a marvel that Central Park in New York ever existed; the same for Golden Gate Park, Yosemite, Yellowstone, and all of the others. There is nothing but gain for humanity in the existence of these parks.

The present property owners in the proposed park area must be compensated, but in the public interest, to the public as a whole, the park proposal is a blessing. We are lucky that an area such as this exists in a day when our scenic areas near metropolitan centers are being taken over by the Doelger's and drive-in restaurants and ugly commercial developments.

There are a lot of us sitting back here waiting to try to do something to help this park idea along. I have not yet read or heard a single civilized argument against the establishment of this park. It is the old story of the few protecting their own interests against the public welfare.

It would seem that with intelligent handling of all aspects of this project, a just consideration of the rights of individuals involved, the park can be established.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A disturbed citizen in San Diego, notes Neil Morgan, called up the police to report the greatest traffic jam in the city's history. "Cars are jammed up for blocks in every direction," he concluded. "Have you any idea what's causing the trouble?," asked a police inspector. "Yes," said the citizen, "automobiles."

All of which brings to mind a reporter's statement on auto traffic: "I have seen the future, and it doesn't work."

A gentleman boarded one of those new coast-to-coast jet planes in New York the other day and settled down to his newspaper. A stewardess interrupted him to ask, "Would you like to take off that heavy raincoat?"

"Thank you, no," replied the man. "I'm not going all the way to Los Angeles, you see. I'm getting off at Denver."

This is how they do things in the exclusive residential section of La Jolla, Calif. On Easter morning, one indulgent father threw a couple of dozen decorated eggs in to his swimming pool. His three kids then donned diving masks and dove into the pool to find them.

And when another junior La Jollian lost a toy airplane he had been guiding by remote control, his father chartered a real plane, made a search of the surrounding hills, and retrieved the toy!

Wonderful Outlook On Exercise: Avoid It Whenever Possible

I am surrounded by health fiends.

At every turn I am offered long hikes, yami yogurt, all-vegetable diets, non-alcoholic drinks, books on how to stop smoking and garlic sandwiches. All in the name of robust vigor and longevity.

I appreciate my friends' concern, but their efforts are wasted. It is too late.

Forty-four years ago I began to deteriorate and am definitely over the hill.

DURING MY EARLY formative years, when the experts say a child should be plied with orange juice, vitamins and bone marrow, I was fed a diet of turnip greens cooked to a soggy pulp, fat pork and corn bread sopped in blackstrap molasses.

Only the other day a friend of mine, a devotee of the Garlic for Gallop school of thought, proposed I try an almost steady diet of the bulbous herb. A daily garlic sandwich has worked wonders for her seven-year-old, she said, keeping him free of colds, aches, pains and unhappiness.

It has also kept him home from school, she admitted. The principal, teachers and pupils took a vote and sent the kid home for fumigation.

HEALTH or no health, my own circle of friends is too small to stand any shrinkage.

I always assumed those who walk across the Golden Gate Bridge only do so because their cars ran out of gas and all the cab drivers were looking the other way.

As for those stalwart souls who, with glassy looks in their eyes and large knapsacks strapped to their backs, trudge through the hills of Marin County — I was always under the impression they were on their way to huge, hidden uranium claims, the profits from which would make the supreme sacrafice worth while.

I was amazed to find they walk up and down mountains lush with poison oak for the sheer joy of walking.

"EVEN THE Air Force has gone hog-wild on the health kick.

I learn from my spies at Hamilton Field that a program of harrassment known as "physical fitness" is under way. It requires grown men to perform 29 set-ups, 7 pull-ups and sprint 300 yards in 54 seconds.

This, mind you, for men in their 34-year-old dotage. For the younger ones, the ordeal is even tougher.

I am convinced it is all part of a clever, subversive plot to drive men out of our armed forces and leave us unprepared in our hour of need.

When I was 15 years old I held down my first job as general roustabout on a Tennessee road gang. In the grand tradition of the South, the hours were from dawn to dark at a wage scale, as I recall, of 20 cents an hour.

IN MY SPARE moments, when the water barrels were full, I was given a brush hook and an axe and told to clear the right-of-way of saplings, stumps and copperheads.

Money-wise, I didn't get rich. But the job gave me a wonderful outlook on exercise I learned to avoid it whenever possible.

As I one told a high school journalism class to whom I was lecturing: The life of a newspaperman is one of long hours, low pay and little recognition.

But it beats working for a living.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Readers Sent In 1,537 Letters With Suggestions For World Peace

WASHINGTON — This is a report to readers on the remarkable response which came from the recent invitation in this column to offer ideas of new steps the United States could take to advance the cause of peace.

You can dismiss the belief that either apathy or hopelessness grips the American public on the great issues of war and peace.

There is the liveliest and most widespread public desire to participate in discussing and in doing something to obtain peace.

The political candidates will do well to bear this in mind in the coming campaign.

Here is what happened:

IN RESPONSE to a single column, without any additional appeals or follow-up, without any incentive of a prize to win or money to earn — the only incentive being a sense of direct personal participation in helping the cause of a better peace — I received in the ensuing four weeks:

1,537 letters containing varied and wide-ranging peace suggestions.

They came from every one of the 50 states plus Puerto Rico, Mexico, the Philippines, and Western Europe.

They dealt with just about everything from what governments could do collectively to what people could do individually.

THE PURPOSE behind the invitation was to help create a pool of fresh and constructive ideas for U. S. action. The initiative to tap non-government thinking came in the first place from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace which requested 400 experts to propose measures by which the United States "could make progress toward a world peace, founded on freedom and justice." Later, when I suggested that readers be invited to join the experts in this enterprise, Joseph E. Johnson, president, said that the Foundation would like to examine every contribution.

To this end every reader contribution has been carefully studied, a brief summary of each prepared by a qualified research worker, and all letters forwarded to the Carnegie Foundation.

From the range of ideas which were advanced, these points will, I think, be of interest:

Several teachers had their whole classes in public affairs submit papers.

Many wished to strengthen the United Nations by taking away the veto and giving the U. N. the power to enforce the peace. Larger national groupings such as the Western European Federation were approved, and many hoped the NATO countries would develop some degree of common government. There was support for varying degrees of world federation and a world police force.

CONTRIBUTIONS favored increasing economic aid to underdeveloped countries, wider cultural exchanges between all nations, and the development of international universities which the best students of many countries could attend.

There was quite a bit of support for fuller contact with Communist China.

Many of the concrete suggestions were arresting.

THAT WEST BERLIN be made the capital of the United Nations and its freedom as an international city absolutely guaranteed.

That hostile government propaganda be banned by treaty.

That a world youth newspaper be established.

That there be a "World Cultural Olympics."

And, finally, that the Carnegie Foundation "peace proposal" project be undertaken on a worldwide basis.

From my experience, I am sure there would be a stupendous response.

New Radar Tower Rising On Mt. Tam

Seven stories are being added to Mt. Tamalpais.

High above Mill Valley, a bright orange, steel-girdered tower is being built by the Army Corps of Engineers to house a new radar installation for the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron.

Designed to give greater vigilance in intercepting enemy objects approaching the Bay Area region, it is to have the latest in electronics equipment and, with the antenna and inflated Balloon-type dome yet to be added, will be about seven stories high.

The installation, expected to be completed by November, is being built on the same location as the previous one which was dismantled last September, and was 25 feet shorter, according to Capt. Richard K. Hurliman, information services officer at the squadron.

Since the old white-domed radar was taken down, there have been three radars in use, which are to remain. Two of these are "rocking chair" types which rock back and forth slowly and measure the height of aircraft. The third is a surveillance radar and revolves slowly, continuously, to measure distance from the base to the object.

The present radars operate night and day as part of the network covering approaches to the North American continent. The information gained by radar consists of all airborne objects penetrating toward the land area.

Should the objects be determined to be enemy, a flight of jets is immediately alerted at Hamilton Air Force Base. Correlation and identification of the traffic is manually at present, Hurliman said. With the new installation, the new radar as well as the old radars will be operated automatically.

The chief advantage of the new installation, Hurliman added, is speed. Electronics equipment for the new radar will be housed in the top two floors of the steel structure. The radar will have "considerably greater range and reliability," Lt. R. E. Douglass, squadron radar maintenance officer, said.

Engineers from Burroughs Corp. are installing in a separate building near the tower a huge data processing computer —something of a brain since it is all automatically operated.

The computor will process all information picked up by the grup of radars. Its tabulations will be transmitted electronically to Beale Air Force Base at Marysville, which is the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) center for the San Francisco sector.

Out of this information, Hurliman said, the SAGE director will determine the identification of the objects. If the objects are determined to be unfriendly, jet squadrons are to be notified within the sector and sent out to meet the approaching objects.

The new radar will be covered with a plastic bubble dome and look — as did the other, something like a baby Mt. Palomar.

Life at the radar "town" on the rocky and brushy west peak of Mt. Tamalpais is somewhat like life in any other tiny Marin community. Yet, it is like a never-never land, sometimes in the clouds, sometimes in 100-knot storms, sometimes in the sun, and only reachable by driving upwards around dozens of curves.

The population of about 250 has its own theater, library, dining facilities, heated swimming pool and children's playground. Housing for the men is in barracks, but each man has his own room. The majority of married men live in Mill Valley and the surrounding areas, with some living as far away as Novato. There are separate houses for nine families on the base.

School children go down the mountain to Mill Valley to classes. It takes 25 minutes to go down by car and, with the numerous curves, the average life of a tire is 8,000 miles.

The altitude is around 2,600 feet. When it is clear, "the view is out of this world," according to Capt. L. A. Jacobsen. Jacobsen, a gardening type, said the altitude is fine for strawberries, which he grows, but it is tough on lawns.

"Some nights," he said, "I wake up and find 25 to 30 deer on the lawn. They ruin a lawn." Deer are worst in June and July, he said, because things dry up down below and the deer come up high for the greener grass.

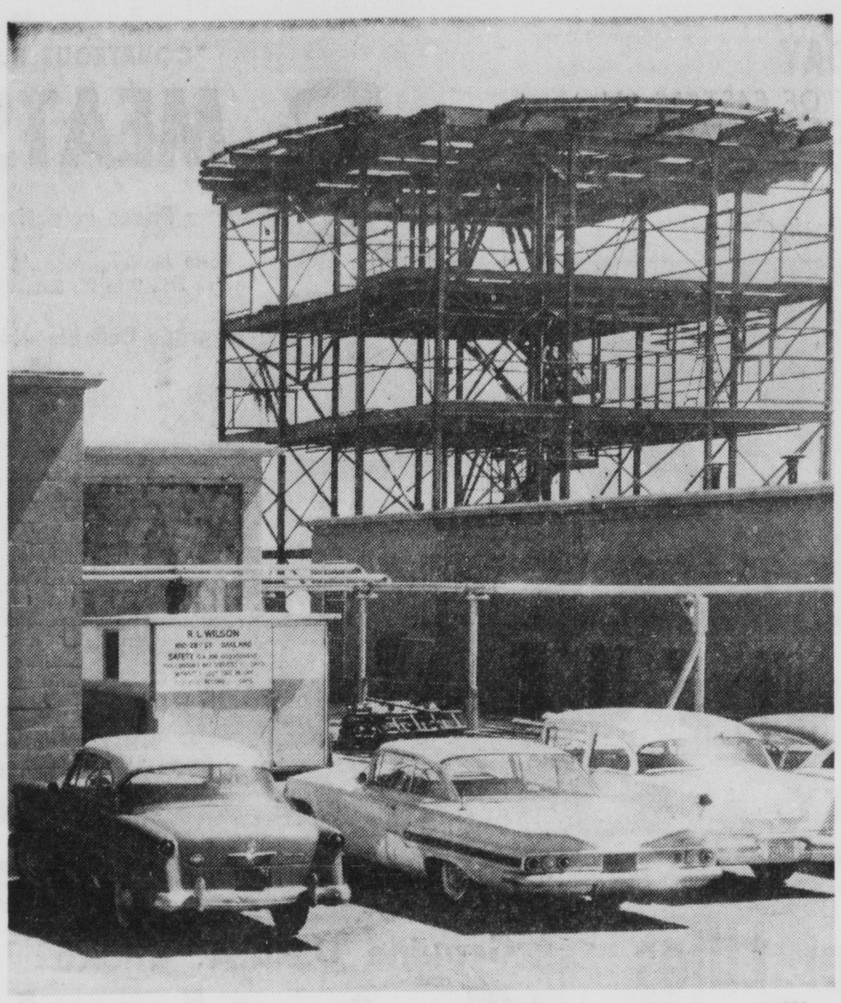
The weather, Jacobsen added, is probably a little bit more dramatic than "down below." For example, "in a storm" he said, "wind can go up to 100 knots per hour. It is erratic in cloud turbulence and like being in an airplane."

The "town" is not growing as other Marin communities but dwindling. With the emphasis on defense spending and realignment of defense, Hurliman said, there are approximately 100 fewer persons at the base than one year ago. "When the transition phase is completed," he said, "and the base is completely on the SAGE program, fewer personnel will be required."

Lt. Col. Gus Weiser is commander of the 666th, or Triple Six as it is called.

By day and night the rocking chair radars rock; the surveillance radar revolves slowly, almost eerily in its slow, quiet watch. The orange-red tower, built to take the wind load and an earthquake shock, stands by, looking startlingly bright against its green backdrop.

Toward the end of the year the new radar installation will be completed — a new guard housed in seven stories on the mountain.



NEW SENTINEL—This frame, painted bright orange, is the beginning of what will be a new radar "eye" atop Mt. Tamalpais. At the same time, new electronic equipment is being installed for the 666th Aircraft Warning and Control Squadron, atop the mountain, to increase the efficiency of radar guard of Marin's shores. Ike Can't Attend Marin Golf Meet

The Paris Summit Conference will keep President Dwight D. Eisenhower from attending the golf tournament sponsored by the American Field Service for the foreign exchange program May 15 at Marin Golf and Country Club, Mrs. J. W. Zimmerman learned from the White House this week.

Television stars Robert Sterling, one of the ghosts in the defunct "Topper" series, and James Garner, star of "Maverick," will face San Francisco amateur golfers Harvey Ward and Bob Silvestri on the Marin County green at 1:30 p.m.

Family Service Agency Elects New Officers

Mrs. J. V. Hawley of Mill Valley is new president of the Family Service Agency of Marin County.

The group brings family counseling to all Marin residents who wish it, regardless of ability to pay.

Other officers elected at a Sunday annual meeting at Forest Farm Camp in Forest Knolls included Lee Q. Charette of Mill Valley, vice president; Jel Y. Nemschoff of Kentfield, treasurer, and Mrs. John H. Manwaring of Ross, secretary.

Elected to three-year terms on the board were Mrs. Roger Barbey of Larkspur, Dr. E. Muriel Bennett of Kentfield, Dr. Victor Kagan of San Rafael, Mrs. Robert Matson of Mill Valley and Mrs. Josephine F. Pervere of Kentfield.

Mrs. David Williamson, Junior League representative from Kentfield, was elected to a one-year term.

Announcement was made that the United Bay Area Crusade has granted $27,550 for this fiscal year, an increase of $2,550 but still regarded as insufficient to meet the agency's budget requirements.

The board voted commendation of the Family Service League for its first year of operation. This is a group formed last spring by the trustees to provide additional community support for the agency.

Nicholas M. Suntzeff, executive director of the agency, said 697 received family counseling help last year and that an average of 45 new cases are taken on each month. He said two additional family counselors are needed for the staff now comprising three case-workers, a secretary-bookkeeper and a psychiatric consultant.

Some Answers To Questions On Polio Shots

Noting that April marks the start of the season when polio is usually on the increase, Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, Marin county health officer, contributes the following answers to some questions frequently asked:

1. Should all adults get polio shots?

Answer: Yes, particularly parents of young children. While only 3 per cent of all paralytic cases occur in persons 40 and over, these cases are usually the most severe. All adults should be vaccinated.

2. Then why was the vaccine limited at first to persons under 40 years?

Answer: When the vaccine was scarce, first priority was given to the younger age groups because more cases occur there. But with the present plentiful supply the protection of the vaccine is available and needed for all ages.

3. How effective is the Salk vaccine?

Answer: When three properly spaced injections are given, it is at least 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio.

4. How should the shots be spaced?

Answer: For all except young infants the full immunizing series consists of three shots given as follows: A first injection, a second injection four to six weeks later; a third injection seven to 12 months after the second.

5. What is the schedule for infants?

Answer: The basic schedule recommended for infants consists of four injections, beginning from two to six months of age. The first three shots are given one month apart, with the fourth injection seven to 12 months after the third.

6. Is the vaccine safe?

Answer: Yes. Since May, 19

Answer: Yes. Since May, 1955, when safety testing was perfected, it has been given to more than 80 million persons with a perfect safety record.

7. Where can the Salk vaccinations be obtained?

Answer: Your family physician can give them. Polio shots are also available from the county health department, without charge. The shots are given daily from 1 to 4 p.m. at the San Rafael office, 920 Grand avenue, and on Monday afternoons from 1 to 4 at the Marin City Health Center.

"The peak season for polio is the summer and early fall," warns Dr. Albrecht. "Be sure you don't wait until too late."

BONNET IN THE BREEZE

Head too small, bonnet too big or breeze too strong—it all added up to a difficult situation for 3-year-old Virginia Connor as she took a stroll on Manhattan's Rockefeller Plaza. Virginia, from Longmeadow, Mass., was with her parents on the family's New York sightseeing tour. (AP Wirephoto)

Millionaire For Day

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Ronal L. Chewakin, 20, a sailor on the USS Waccamaw, asked his mother, Mrs. Art Chewakin of Minot, S.D., for $100 for travel expenses when he got his leave. When he opened his letter his eyes popped — the check was for $1,000,100. He sent it back for another check.

Buggy Maker Believes Horse Is Here To Stay

You know, those things that used to go behind horses. And still do, more than you might think.

The business got its start in Fresno in 1937. Formaneck had a show horse but no show buggy. It would cost $700 to buy one. So he borrowed a buggy, took it apart as a model, and built his own.

A Los Angeles reinsman saw the buggy and asked to buy one. Then came a request from a Fresno horse owner, followed by inquiries from other parts of the state.

With World War II he moved to Long Beach to work at the Douglas aircraft plant. He like the city, decided to stay and in 1945 opened his factory in a 20 by 20-foot section of the building.

Surveys show that 9 of every 10 show-horse and racing rigs in California are made by Wilform. Ninety per cent of the plant's output goes outside of California, mostly to the East and Midwest with a few vehicles to Hawaii.

Wilform racing sulkies and training carts come in many models, some weighing as little as 29 pounds. The plant combines tubular steel and wood in sulkies to increase safety and reduce weight.

Henry Ford's father was a Michigan farmer.

INCOME TAX FACTS

If You Haven't Filed Return, Do It NOW

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

We hope you have already filed your 1959 federal income tax return.

If not, then you should put this paper down and get that return in the mail right now.

Peter J. Wikel

If you find for some reason beyond your control it is impossible for you to complete your federal income tax return for filing by midnight Friday, April 15, 1960, then you should request an extension of time in which to file your return. Extensions are usually granted, for good reason, for a 90 day period, although the director may grant an extension for as long as six months if the circumstances warrant.

Requests for extensions of time are filed in triplicate on forms furnished by the treasury and the request must be signed by you or your duly authorized agent.

Th forms are available at your local office of the Internal Revenue Service. All requests for extensions should be on these forms and three copies are necessary. However, if you are unable to secure the forms, a letter will do.

Your application should clearly set forth the full cause of the delay and the probable time that you will be able to complete your return.

It should give your full name and address as it will appear on your tax return when you do file.

If, by reason of illness, absence or other good reason, you are unable to sign this request, then any person in close business or personal relationship with you may do so, provided the reason and relationship are clearly stated in the request. In such case, the signer of the request will be considered your duly authorized agent for this purpose.

Extensions are usually granted for a good reason, such as illness, accidents, inability to secure all the facts necessary to complete your return, etc. Extensions are never granted because you are unable to pay the tax. If you cannot pay the tax due, file your return anyway. Uncle Sam will send you a bill and you will have to pay it sooner or later. He will charge you 6 per cent interest, but there will be no penalty.

If you do not file your return on time, Uncle Sam will charge you 5 per cent for each month that your return is late, up to a maximum of 25 per cent. So, you see, it is a lot better to file the return even if you can't pay the tax.

We hope these articles have helped you with your federal income taxes in some way. It has been a pleasure for us to write them and have you read them.

Expert Sees Good Business But No Boom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Business will continue good through 1960, but the predicted boom will not come this year, Nathaniel Rogg, chief economist for the National Assn. of Home Builders, said today.

Rogg told the convention of the Western Forest Industries Assn. that home building, a bellwether in business, would be down from 1959, due principally to high interest rates.

He predicted a market for 16 million we dwelling units, at a cost of 230 billion dollars over the next 10 years. He said this is an absolute minimum to meet requirements of population growth and replacement of inadequate houses.

Dear Public:

Section 651 of the Business and Professional Code forbids us from comparing our prices with our competitors.

We can, however, tell you our prices as long as they are regular established prices and not short time specials or discounts. OUR PRICES ARE REGULAR PRICES. These prices have been charged in the past and barring unforseen price increases from the drug manufacturer—will be charged indefinitely.

Most of the prescription drugs that form a background for this letter have been advertised by us for the past six months.

On the other hand, should the cost of drugs from the manufacturer to us, be lowered, we will adjust our prices accordingly. We are making a profit on each and every prescription drug price listed. We feel it is a fair profit. It is our opinion that THIS IS THE ETHICAL WAY TO CONDUCT A BUSINESS.

There has been some publicity concerning our pioneering effort. We didn't ask for this publicity. However, it may be best that certain differences of opinion have been laid open to the public. For as in any other controversy—you—the public will make your own comparisons and the final decision.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, April 13, the 104th day of the year, with 262 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1742, Thomas Jefferson, third President of the United States, was born in Albermarle County, Va.

In 1846, the Pennsylvania Railroad was chartered.

In 1852, Frank W. Woolworth, American merchant and founder of the five and ten cent store, was born.

In 1934, Harry Hopkins, chief of the Civil Works Administration, announced that 4,700,000 families in the U. S. were on relief.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt dedicated the Thomas Jefferson Memorial in Washington as a shrine to freedom.

U.S. Orbits Navigation Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The forerunner of a U.S. satellite navigation system planned to give sailors and airmen a good position fix any time in any weather was hurled successfully into orbit around the earth today.

The experimental space navigator, named Transit 1B, was rocketed aloft from this missile test center just after dawn in a test with important bearing on long-range missile operations.

It was a Navy project with Air Force rocketry help. The sponsorship underscored its special application to the Polaris missile-firing submarine whose officers will have to know their own position precisely to aim at a target hundreds of miles away.

The information from Transit 1B and its successors, however, is to be given to all nations.

Some four hours after the satellite went up, Navy and civlian scientists said in Washington that it was in a path a little less than 400 miles up, with an orbit time of about 94 minutes, at an inclination of 51 degrees with respect to the Equator. They had been shooting at a height of 400-500 miles and an angle of 50 degrees.

On the basis of preliminary tracking, scientists said Transit 1B was in an orbit reasonably circular. The nearer they come to a perfect circle with such a device, the closer the navigational fix that can be made.

At a Washington news conference, Dr. R. B. Kershner of the Applied Physics Laboratory of John Hopkins University, which developed the device, said the trial satellite itself could provide a ship with a position report with no more than a half-mile error. Later, the fully operational program, using four satellites, can give a ship anywhere in the world

County Hospital Bonds Placed On June Ballot

$2¼-Million Issue Asked For Planned Lucas Valley Plant

A special $2,250,000 bond issue to provide new county hospital facilities in Lucas Valley will go on the June 7 ballot by decision yesterday of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The choice of June was unanimous by 4-0 vote, Supervisor William Gnoss being absent, although in earlier discussion Supervisor William D. Fusselman had suggested November might be better.

STILL TIME

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan told the board it was legally still possible to get the issue on the June ballot and that if it were defeated it could be placed again on the November ballot.

In an earlier action to muster support for the proposal, the board called a meeting in its chambers for 10 a.m. next Monday, to which will be invited representatives of 33 organizations as well as 90 women interested in citizens' support of the proposed issue.

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen put forward a letter with two lists of organizations and individuals, suggesting that if a meeting were held, "the architect, county auditor and others could assist the board in explaining the background and the need for the new hospital and farm."

MUST MEET

"There is so little time to organize that a preliminary meeting should be held soon," suggested Supervisor Vera Schultz.

"You're taking an awful chance if you put this on the June ballot," said Fusselman. "There will be lots of competition. Certainly if we had until November we'd have time to set the thing up properly."

This was dropped, however, when the resolution came up for vote during the afternoon.

The resolution provides the bonds would finance "construction of a new nursery home and custodial home." Both have to do with care of the aged. The matter of juvenile hall was touched on in another Jensen communication reporting on prospects for use of veterans' memorial funds, which will total $392,700 at the end of this fiscal year, June 30.

MEETING WITH VETS

Jensen said meetings have been held with representatives of all Marin County veterans organizations on the question of delaying construction of the scheduled veterans' memorial auditorium in 1963 so the money could be used for juvenile hall.

Two alternative resolutions are being put before veterans' posts throughout the county, Jensen said. One recommends temporary use of veterans funds for the hall, while the

San Rafael's City Planner To Quit Post

San Rafael City Planner Mitchell Baird will resign from his $625 per month job next Monday to return to a San Francisco consulting engineer firm where he formerly worked.

In a letter of resignation submitted to City Manager Dan E. Andersen, Baird gave higher pay and opportunities for advancement as his reasons for quitting the city job.

Baird was working for Wilbur Smith and Associates of San Francisco when he was hired by San Rafael in January, 1959. He is returning to the firm as planning consultant, specializing in the planning of highways.

Joan Castrillon, planning technician working under Baird, will handle office duties of the city planner until Baird's successor is chosen by the city council.

Since last year, Baird has been asking for more office space, and has been declaring that he wanted a chance to do some city planning instead of barely keeping up with the daily office routine. His office is located in one end of the city hall annex.

Baird's resignation was disclosed last night at the San Rafael Planning Commission meeting. Baird did not attend.

Incumbents Fare Well Except In Larkspur

In five of Marin's nine municipalities which held city council elections yesterday, some results must remain in doubt until counting of absentee ballots next Tuesday night.

The unprecedented situation developed with one or more spots remaining in doubt after last night's tabulations in Belvedere, Larkspur, Mill Valley, San Anselmo and Sausalito.

So close was the race in Larkspur that two of the three council posts at stake must be decided by the count of absentee votes.

Incumbents fared well, except in Larkspur, in an election that saw voter turnouts ranging from 58 per cent in Belvedere down to a mere 25 per cent in Ross.

Three incumbents in Larkspur all sought re-election. But only one of them, Mayor Daniel Allen, was left with a chance as the counting ended last night. Allen was in fourth place, trailing Mrs. Jane Epidendio by seven votes.

There are 39 absentee ballots to be counted in Larkspur. Lesly Daveler, in third place, leads Mrs. Epidendio by only nine votes. So the winners among Allen, Daveler and Mrs. Epidendio will be determined by the absentee ballots.

Only James J. Lienkaemper, who ran with Daveler as a "middle of the road" ticket between the pro-city manager incumbents and four anti-city manager candidates, was assured of election.

U.S. EXTENDS DEADLINE FOR FILING OF TAX

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service today extended the federal income tax filing deadline for taxpayers in all states until midnight next Monday, April 18.

The service added three days grace to the usual April 15 filing deadline because this year it falls on Good Friday, a legal holiday in 13 states and three U.S. possessions.

Under the law, taxpayers in these 16 areas automatically had until April 18 to file their returns and any tax payments due.

The Internal Revenue Service said, "It was felt that similar treatment should be accorded all taxpayers."

The decision means that returns need not be postmarked until midnight, April 18, to be considered filed on time.

Kidnapers Seize Tot Heir To French Auto Millions

PARIS (UPI)—Eric Peugeot, 4-year-old heir to one of France's greatest automobile fortunes, has been kidnaped and held for $100,000 ransom on pain of death by a dark-haired man who fled with an accomplice in a Peugeot car, police announced today.

Eric's parents, Harvard-educated Roland Peugeot, 34, and his wife, Colette, were sick with fear that the kidnapers would kill their son. A note typed in red ink warned them not to tell police, but already France was mounting a massive police search.

It was France*'s first major kidnaping in 25 years and was carried out in broad daylight with skill and daring. Eric was seized from the children's playground at the rich and exclusive Saint Cloud Golf Club while his nurse stood a hundred yards away chatting with the family chauffeur.

The kidnaper, described as a tall man in his 20s wearing a green sweater and grey flannel slacks, broke the padlocks on two gates, strode to the area where Eric was playing with five children, picked him up and raced back to a waiting car.

At the bottom of a slide where Eric had been playing with his brother, Jean Philippe, 7, three other little boys and a girl, the kidnaper left a ransom note sealed in an envelop marked "very urgent."

The note typed in red ink demanded 500,000 francs ($100,000) within 48 hours if the Peugeots wanted to see Eric alive

Chessman Plea Denied; He Fires Lawyer

The California Supreme Court today denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Caryl Chessman, convicted kidnaper-sex pervert, who has spent almost 12 years on Death Row.

At the same time the court, sitting in San Francisco, released a copy of a letter in which Chessman asked his attorney, George T. Davis, to "withdraw entirely from the case."

The court's denial was without comment other than that the order was "final forthwith." This preclude's Chessman from presenting the same point to the court again.

In the petition Davis contended that Chessman's two capital punishment convictions in Los Angeles in 1948 should

French Study Corsica A-Test

PARIS (UPI) — France is considering setting off an underground atomic blast in the Mediterranean island of Corsica, it was announced today.

The French Atomic Energy Commission said that the top atomic energy officials in the French government went to the island today to study the possibilities on the spot.

Senators, County Officials Make Air-Land Tour Of Pt. Reyes Area

The proposed Pt. Reyes National Seashore Area was to be inspected from the air and the ground this afternoon by a subcommittee of the U. S. Senate, other federal officials and four members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The party, headed by Sen. Frank Moss (D-Utah), chairman of the Senate subcommittee investigating the proposed park, took off from San Francisco International Airport in two military helicopters. They planned to view the entire peninsula.

Five military cars were to meet the party there and tour the peninsula on the ground for the rest of the afternoon. The committee planned to have dinner at Inverness and return to Corte Madera tonight.

A day-long hearing will be held tomorrow at College of Marin, starting at 9:30 a.m., on the whole proposal for the Pt. Reyes Park.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), who was scheduled to make the trip, contacted supervisor chairman Walter D. Castro yesterday and sent his regrets at being unable to come to the coast.

California Sen. Clair M. Engle was not sure he would be in California in time to take the helicopter trip, but assured Castro he would be here for the hearing tomorrow.

Rep. Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera was aboard the big whirlybird, as was Conrad J. Wirth, director of the National Park Service.

Four of Marin's five supervisors were making the trip. Besides Castro, they are James Marshall, William Gnoss and Mrs. Vera Schultz.

Having Mrs. Schultz aboard was a real problem for the military. They have a rule against women in helicopters. However, yesterday special permission was granted by the Pentagon in Washington, providing she wear no scarfs or flowing clothing and that she wear trousers instead of a skirt. She reluctantly agreed.

Sheriff's Deputies Halt Big Novato Drag Race

Sheriff's deputies broke up a group of about 150 youths taking part in a drag race in Novato last night but were able to nab only one car after an 80-mile-per-hour chase.

Booked in county jail on suspicion of speding, reckless driving, and resisting arrest was Robert P. Sovulewski, 19, of 90 Bayview drive, San Rafael. A passenger in the car, James C. Blankenship, 19, of 35 Bayview drive, was released after questioning.

About 10:40 p.m., Sheriff's Deputies Gerald Fries and Arthur Wiggins spotted about 50 or 60 cars parked at the end of Novato boulevard where it intersects with Pt. Reyes-Petaluma road. A drag race was in progress on Petaluma-Pt. Reyes road, the officers reported.

As soon as the youths spotted the patrol car, they scampered for their cars and drove off in all directions.

Wiggins turned on his red light and took off after a dozen cars toward Petaluma. One car passed the other at 75 to 80 miles per hour, with Wiggins in hot pursuit. The speding car turned off on the road to Marshall and passed two more cars at 80 miles per hour. Wiggins forced him off the road about a mile and a half later and caught Sovulewski.

Agency To Regulate Drug Sales Urged By Physicians

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Princeton, N. J., physician called today for tough new federal laws to curb what he denounced as "vicious sales practices" by drug manufacturers.

Dr. A. Dale Console said the pharmaceutical industry is foisting many "relatively worthless" but costly drugs and medicines on doctors and their patients with high pressure sales programs. He said some of the medicines are dangerous to the patients.

His testimony was prepared for public hearings before the Senate Anti-trust and Monopoly Subcommittee into practices of drug firms.

Console said he knows what he is talking about, because he used to be in the drug business himself as medical director of a large pharmaceutical house.

"Restrictive legislation is necessary," Console said.

"I suggest with hesitation," he concluded, "the consideration of a central agency empowered to approve or disapprove the sale of drugs on the basis of objective evidence of efficacy and to ban misleading and ambiguous advertising and promotions" of drug preparations.

He said he could see dangers in this, too, but added: "I know of nothing more likely to generate the pressure necessary to persuade the industry to clean its own house."

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), is investigating allegations of profiteering, monopolistic practices and other abuses by the drug industry.

Dr. Hans Popper, pathologist at Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City, testified yesterday that some new drugs have had unexpected side effects which have cost the lives of patients.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Missile Too Fast

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Snark ICBM may be accurate up to 5,000 miles, but one missed its Chattanooga target by a month.

Due to a mixup in plans the 69-foot Air Force giant arrived yesterday on the right date, but in the wrong month for an Armed Forces Week display in May.

Missing Man Returns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Albert Ichelson, 63-year-old investor who disappeared March 29 after suffering heavy race track losses, returned home last night in what his attorney called a highly distraught condition.

Tevis Jacobs, the attorney, said Ichelson gave no explanation for his mysterious disappearance and no comment on his reported betting losses at Bay Meadows race track.

Hound Dog Launched

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., (AP)—A B52G jet bomber flew 10,800 miles nonstop to the North Pole and back as a prelude to launching a Hound Dog missile yesterday.

The missile was fired from under a wing of the eight-jet bomber over the Atlantic test range from Cape Canaveral, Fla. It streaked several hundred miles downrange and landed in the Atlantic.

The 22-hour plane trip was described as the longest flight made by a bomber carrying the air-to-ground missile.

Chou Starts Asia Tour

High point of the tour will be talks next week in New Delhi between Chou and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on their dispute over 51,000 square miles of Himalayan territory between India and Tibet.

Transit Need Cited

BERKELEY (UPI) — Chancellor Glenn T. Seaborg of the University of California today declared that its Berkeley campus needs a Bay Area rapid transit system.

He said the university, whose 30,000 students are expected to increase to 40,000 by the end of the decade, finds commuting to be an increasingly "critical" problem.

Seaborg's views were expressed in an article he wrote for a periodical of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

British Junk Missile

LONDON (UPI) — Britain announced today it is junking its long-range missile program mainly because fixed launching sites ashore would be too vulnerable to Soviet rockets.

Defense Minister Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons work is being halted on the "Blue Streak" rocket designed to carry nuclear warheads 2,500 miles. The government already has spent more than $280 million on the project.

Soviet Plan 'Deceiving'

GENEVA (UPI)—U. S. disarmament negotiator Fredrick M. Eaton said today that acceptance of the Soviet "ban the bomb" proposal would serve only to "deceive the world."

Eaton spoke to newsmen after a half-hour session of the 10-nation disarmement committee, which was devoted mainly to Communist pleas that East and West sign a pledge never to be the first to use an atomic weapon.

"All that such a pious statement would accomplish would be to deceive the world and to expose weaker countries to the onslaught of aggressive powers," Eaton said.

4 Hurt In Korea Riot

MASAN, South Korea (AP)—At least four persons were burned by a police tear gas shell today during this port city's third straight day of violent demonstrations against the March 15 elections that gave Syngman Rhee a fourth term as president. A crowd of 2,000 students and adults surged through the streets for several hours shouting anti-government slogans. Police finally dispersed them.

Dogs Win Awards

Dogs Shaggy and Asta won first places respectively in the movie and television divisions of the annual competition sponsored by the American Humane Assn. in honor of animal performers.

Shaggy was named "picture animal top star of the year" for his role in the motion picture "The Shaggy Dog" and Asta was chosen "performing television star of the year" for his work in "The Thin Man" TV series.

Train Crash Sets Fire

PEROTE, Mexico (AP)—Fifteen tank cars loaded with gasoline overturned yesterday in a collision with a locomotive at Totalco village near here. Three train crewmen were injured, and several houses burned in the resulting fire.

Kin Of Bev's Boy Friend Urge Inquest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teenage Beverly Aadland's admission she lied when she said a boy friend killed himself in her bedroom brought angry demands today for an inquest by relatives of the handsome aspiring actor.

However, police say they are satisfied the Saturday shooting of William Stanciu was accidental.

The 17-year-old ex-mistress of the late Errol Flynn revised her story of Stanciu's death yesterday and said she was holding his revolver when it accidentally discharged during a nude struggle.

FIRST STORY

She had told police immediately after the shooting that Stanciu shot himself in the head after forcing her into a game of Russian roulette.

Stanciu died in a hospital Sunday—his 21st birthday.

Beverly, a singer in a Hollywood nightclub, broke down under a lie detector test. However, she stuck to her story that Stanciu forced his way into her apartment, forced her to disrobe and raped her at gunpoint.

An attorney representing Stanciu's mother and brother said he still doubts Beverley's version of the slaying.

IN JUVENILE HALL

Beverly remained in custody at juvenile hall. Police said they will file a petition suggesting that Beverly lacks parental supervision and is in danger of becoming a juvenile delinquent.

Her mother, ex-showgirl Florence Aadland, said she doubts Beverly's new version of Stanciu's death.

"I still believe Beverly's first story," she said. "They (the police) must have worked on her.

SECRECY LABEL FOR THE BIRDS PUZZLES SOLON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) isn't trying to pry out any military secrets. But he does want to know "what type of material" the Corregidor Bataan Memorial Commission handles which warrants a top secret label.

And if the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission knows anything that might benefit Russia, it needn't tell Moss what it is.

The two groups are among 76 federal departments, boards, commissions, committees and agencies which Moss says are currently empowered to stamp their documents secret, top secret or confidential, all in the name of defense.

These include, of course, the Army, Navy and Air Force and others with an obvious need for the secrecy stamps. They also include 34 which look to Moss like logical candidates for a "silly secrecy" label.

Moss, chairman of the House Committee on Government Information, has written these 34 groups asking what kind of secrets they handle, how often they handle them, and whether proper steps are taken to declassify secrets when this can be done.

Marinite To Head Gift Campaign For Alumni

Ernest C. Olson of 322 Highland avenue, San Rafael, will head the spring gifts campaign of the University of Chicago Alumni Foundation in the San Francisco Bay Area this year, it was announced by Bud Gore, national chairman.

Olson, economist with the Bank of America in San Francisco, was graduated from the university in 1941.

Organization Candidates Win In Illinois Contests

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton clinched nomination for a third term today, and Otto Kerner won the right to try to oust him in the November election.

Stratton is the state's No. 1 Republican leader while Kerner has the backing of the top Democratic chieftain, Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, only entrant in the presidential preference feature, drew a complimentary vote that exceeded his 341,463 total in the April 5 Wisconsin primary. But it fell far short of the 781,710 rolled up by President Eisenhower in the Illinois primary in 1956.

Samuel Witwer, Chicago lawyer who was supported by Stratton and most GOP organizations, led the six-man race for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator in a close contest.

Democratic Sen Paul Douglas was nominated for a third term without opposition. In incomplete returns he collected more votes than Nixon.

Stratton earned the chance to become the first Illinois governor to be elected to three terms in a row by defeating state Sen. Hayes Robertson.

Kerner, former Cook County judge, swamped state Treasurer Joseph D. Lohman and Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, in their party's gubernatorial test.

Witwer, in the scramble for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate, was pitted against Warren Wright, former state treasurer; William H. Rentschler, Chicago candy manufacturer; state Sen. John Lewis of Marshall; John Harrell and John Ricker.

The state's 22 incumbent representatives in Congress all won renomination, 15 reaching the November finals without a contest.

Ike's Regime Target For Demo Barbs

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Frozen in the ice of its own indifference" was the description Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts tagged on the administration yesterday.

"This period of leaderless lassitude" was the label applied last night by Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson has denied he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, but acted very much like one as he addressed a crowd at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

Kennedy made his attack on the administration in a speech to the International Union of Operating Engineers in Miami.

The economy of the Soviet Union is expanding seven times as fast as that of the United States, he said, and the Eisenhower administration is doing nothing about it.

While the senator spoke in Florida, talk of a "stop Kennedy" drive in West Virginia continued. He opposes Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in Minnesota in the Democratic primary there May 10.

NEW SHOPPING CENTER PLANNED FOR IGNACIO

Shown here is the architect's version of a new 107,000-square-foot Food Fair market and shopping center scheduled for construction in Ignacio this summer. Plans by architect Charles J. Woodhury, include parking space for 150 cars. No leases are signed yet on the shops and professional building.

Woman Vegetarian Starts Long Hike

A woman vegetarian took off today in pursuit of two Royal Air Force sergeants who started yesterday to walk across the United States.

Dr. Barbara Moore left San Francisco's Civic Center this morning and loped across the Golden Gate Bridge about 10:30 a.m.

But before she reached the bridge, California Highway Patrolmen reprimanded her for crossing a street against a red light and for striding up the on-ramp to the bridge in the same direction as motor traffic.

California traffic laws require pedestrians to walk against the traffic.

Dr. Moore's next difficulty came when she reached Waldo Tunnel on the steep ascent to Waldo Pass on the Marin County side of the Golden Gate. Patrolmen forbid her to enter the tunnel which is designed for automobile traffic only and insisted she detour via the bayside town of Sausalito.

The two other British sergeants passed through the tunnel yesterday because the highway patrol was between shifts and it was not being watched, officers said.

Dr. Moore, 56-year-old backer of clean living, said she "probably" would pass the sergeants, who have been known to take a nip of brew. Dr. Moore's walking diet includes fruit, carrot and tomato juices—and she brought a supply with her when she arrived in San Francisco yesterday by plane.

The sergeants, Mervyn Evans and Patrick Maloney, stepped through Marin yesterday at 75 paces a minute and spent the night in Cordelia, about 45 miles from their starting point at the Marin side of the Golden Gate Bridge.

By 11 a.m. today, Maloney and Evans had marched briskly past the Winters cutoff road on Highway 40. With flat green farmland on either side of them, they headed straight for Sacramento, about 25 miles away.

Dr. Moore maintained a near-trotting pace as she came on to the Golden Gate Bridge. A turnstile requiring a 10-cent fee for pedestrians blocked her way but she ducked under it.

The dedicated doctor is hiking "to prove what we eat can kill us or keep us young." She eschews alcohol, cigarettes, meat, believes in controlled sex, and says she exists on 400 or 500 calories a day of nuts, grasses, honey and herb juices. She eats no fish or dairy products, nor anything cooked.

She was scheduled to begin her pursuit of the sergeants at 9 a.m. today from San Francisco's Civic Center, but was delayed for some time by newsmen and crowds as she stood on the steps of the city hall.

Dr. Moore, who is from Russia by way of England, contends the two RAF men are no match for her. She is aiming at hoofing it to New York in less than 60 days, averaging 60 to 65 miles a day.

The sergeants are aiming at 45 to 50 miles a day on the 3,032-mile hike to New York.

The record for the "stroll," set 34 years ago is 79 days, 10 hours and 10 minutes.

NEW YORK BOUND — Dr. Barbara Moore, 56, vegetarian from England, is shown as she walked down the San Francisco City Hall steps today to begin her transcontinental hike to New York. She was striding through Marin after crossing the Golden Gate Bridge and encountering some difficulties with the California Highway Patrol. (AP Wirephoto)

BANK ROBBER TAKES 'NO' FOR AN ANSWER

A pale, timid little man about 40 handed a money-demanding note to a girl teller at a Fifth avenue branch of the Chemical Bank New York Trust Co.

"I have no money," she replied.

She did, and he fled.

Pupil Traffic Patrols Set In Larkspur

Larkspur School District children will be doing traffic duty next fall at Neil Cummins and Larkspur-Corte Madera Schools.

The district board last night approved setting up junior traffic patrols at the two schools. It instructed Supt. Vaughn D. Seidel to get the assistance of the police departments in training the youngsters.

The patrols are necessary to relieve custodians from traffic duty, Seidel said.

The board discussed arrangements for the dedication of Henry C. Hall School April 30 at 2 p.m. Open house will be held in all schools April 27 during public schools week.

The board also:

1. Postponed discussion of salary schedules because only three members of the board were present.

2. Heard Seidel report that the Marin County sheriff's office will fingerprint non-teaching personnel, as required by law, at a charge of $4 each. The district has about 15 such employees.

3. Adopted a 181-day calendar for 1960-61.

4. Heard a report from Seidel on the White House Conference on Youth which he attended recently.

KIDNAP

again. The note also warned them not to tell police.

The kidnaper made two follow-up telephone calls to the Peugeot penthouse in Paris.

Police heard of the kidnaping when the furore at the golf club reached the local headquarters. Commissioner Andre Pierangeli of the Paris flying squad went into action despite the warning and spread a dragnet throughout France.

The kidnaped boy is the grandson of Jean-Pierre Peugeot III, reigning czar of the vast family combine whose 20 companies make an estimated 300-million-dollars a year. His father, Roland, is a vice president of the combine and heir-apparent to the auto empire.

Easily Doused

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Plenty of firemen were on hand when an unscheduled blaze broke out.

Safety and rescue drills were being staged for the Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois Firemen's Assn. when a 7,200-volt power line touched off a fire on a truck being used in a mock rescue.

The blaze was put out quickly.

SATELLITE

Either distance is comparable to the results of present celestial and radio navigation—and the information will be available regardless of weather.

The first test using a ship will be made "very soon," Kershner said.

The complete system could be put into operation by 1962, he predicted.

The 265-pound spherical payload was hoisted on the nose of a giant Thor-Able-Star rocket combination at 7:03 a.m.

After explaining technical details of how the system works, Kershner summed it up by saying that "a satellite goes by and a machine puts out the information on the latitude and longitude" of the ship or aircraft, using special receiving and computing equipment.

Explaining the advantages of the satellite system, Navy officials said ships and planes are not always in reach of radio navigation systems to locate themselves by means of direction finders—and clouds can hide the stars for days to block celestial navigation.

With four satellites in orbit, a ship or plane could obtain a precise position report about every one and a half hours, Kershner said.

Official Says Pool 'Very Dangerous'

A pool in a San Rafael residential area, estimated at 10 feet deep, today was called "extremely dangerous," by a Marin deputy district attorney after investigation yesterday.

While deputy district attorney Harold Wolters was investigating neighborhood complaints of the pool's danger to youngsters, he said he saw three children playing near it.

They were inside the strands of barbed wire which completely surround the pool on the property of Charles Owens, Wolters said. Owens uses water from the pool to irrigate property surrounding his Colonial Motel on a lower level.

After viewing the pool, Wolters said:

"I think it is quite dangerous as far as children are concerned, but what we can do about it is another thing."

He said he had conferred with San Rafael City Manager Dan E. Andersen this morning, but had reached no solution.

He said he would continue "researching" laws which could be used to get rid of the dammed pool, fed by water from higher ground above.

Committee On NMWD Bond Issue Formed

A citizens' committee to inform Novato voters of the importance of passage of a proposed $3,790,000 water bond issue in June was formed last night under the chairmanship of Sidney Hammil.

The committee grew out of an informal meeting called by North Marin Water District directors and includes Robert F. Merritt, E. Donald King, T. C. Holmes, Ray Muir, Reuben Kaehler and Joseph Downing.

A meeting was set by the committee for next Wednesday night, said district manager and chief engineer Jerome B. Gilbert. At that time they will work out plans for distribution of information on the need for the bond issue to the public.

The bonds would finance a viaduct from the Russian River to supply water to the North Marin area.

IF YOU GET BIT BY A SHARK, FILL OUT FORM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institute is compiling a list of attacks by sharks on human beings all over the world.

The 1959 list is nearly ready for publication, it was announced today. Thereafter a list will be prepared in January of all shark attacks during the previous year.

The ultimate object of the shark attack census is to "do something about it," said Dr. Leonard P. Schultz, Smithsonian curator of fishes.

Novato's School Board Slates Secret Meeting

A closed session of Novato Unified School District trustees will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the district offices, 1015 Seventh street, it was decided by the board last night.

The executive session will be to discuss tenure of staff members and review interviews with applicants for teaching positions in the district next year, said Supt. William J. J. Smith.

Robert Melton, vice-principal at Novato High School, was named principal of the high school summer school program, Rex Rolle, fifth grade teacher at West Novato School, was appointed principal of the summer elementary program.

Four hundred elementary school pupils have signed for the elementary session for the summer and 150 have indicated they will attend the high school session, the trustees were told. The enrollment is about the same as last year's, Smith said.

A report was given the trustees by the superintendent on pupil housing for 1960-61, in which a triple session of kindergarten classes will be necessary. Smith said he had discussed the change in sessions with the teachers involved and details had been worked out.

The University of California survey on district housing needs is nearing completion, Smith told the board.

The board took under advisement recommendations of the educational standards committee of the Novato Advisory Council for Education which were offered at a recent public meeting sponsored by the council. The recommendations deal with the teaching of English in Novato schools and urge a return to more basic teaching methods with an increased emphasis on English composition and literature.

No action was taken toward purchase of approximately four acres of land adjacent to the high school for eventual use as an elementary school site. Further discussions on the purchase, from Pomoway Corp., will be held following further investigation of improvement costs on the property, Smith said.

CONTEST TO CLOSE NEXT WEDNESDAY

Deadline for the $375 Independent-Journal's county-wide census contest was set today as next Wednesday. No entries will be considered which are not delivered to an I-J office or which are postmarked later than midnight April 20.

A $100 merchandise order will be given to the Marin resident who guesses closest to population of the whole county, as determined by the U.S. census now under way; $25 orders will be given to the 10 persons who guess closest to populations of the cities in which they reside; a $25 order will be given to the person who guessts closest to the circulation of the Independent-Journal on April 30, 1960.

Send your entries to Census Contest, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, or take them to any of the four I-J offices by next Wednesday.

CHESSMAN

have carried life terms, at the most. He said the court erred in sentencing Chessman to death.

This was the same contention Davis made earlier before the Marin County Superior Court and the state District Court of Appeal. Both turned him down.

Chessman sent copies of his "Davis letter" to Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson of the state Suprere Court, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Miss Rosalie Asher, Sacramento attorney. She has been in the case throughout Chessman's thus far successful fight to escape execution in the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison.

He now is under sentence to be executed May 2.

Chessman's letter dwelt at length on Davis' handling of Chessman's many appeals. Some of these he had authorized and others he had not. It accused Davis at length of seeking headlines and said that, although Davis was more qualified to judge the legal aspects of the case, he should withdraw.

BOND VOTE

other provides that no recommendation be made.

Results of the poll, Jensen promised, will be reported to the board on April 26. He indicated the veterans felt there might well be a "resolution of intent" to show that the board really means to build a memorial auditorium eventually, but several supervisors said that presence of the budget item was in itself such an indication.

OBITUARIES

Final Rites Held For G. D. Phillips

Private funeral services for Grattan D. Phillips, wealthy San Francisco socialite and resident of Belvedere, were held at N. Gray and Co. Mortuary in San Francisco yesterday.

He died at his home Sunday after a long illness.

Phillips was 65 and was born in San Francisco. His father established the Phillips and Van Orden Co., printers and lithographers in San Francisco.

Phillips, who had been retired for about 10 years and had lived in Belvedere for more than a year at 20 Peninsula road, is survived by his wife, Gloria, at the family home; a son, Paul D. Phillips of San Salvador, Central America, where he manages a sugar plantation; and a sister, Marchesa Virginia Dalla-Rosa of Ottawa, Canada.

The family requests that memorial tributes be contributions to the American Cancer Society or a favorite charity.

Larkspur was Albert E. Heston, who has served on the Larkspur council since 1945. This 15 years of service is the second longest of any incumbent city council member in Marin County.

Marin's oldest incumbent councilman in point of service, Mayor Arthur W. Smith of San Anselmo, who has served since 1942, led the field to win election again. But second winner in San Anselmo will be either of two candidates who campaigned hard against Smith for a "do-nothing" record. They are Robert E. Rouse and John M. Reichmuth, candidates of the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government. Only four votes separated them, with 30 absentees to be counted.

In Belvedere, the undecided contest was between Vice Adm. Frank E. Beatty and Dr. John H. Flint. Two incumbents, Mayor Robert P. Watkins and E. G. (Ned) Weed, won re-election there. Sixteen votes separated Beatty and Flint, with 36 absentees to be counted.

In Mill Valley, re-election of George W. Blackwell remains in doubt until the absentees are counted. Blackwell led William M. Secor by 15 votes, with 72 absentee ballots to be counted. There was a mathematical possibility, but a bare one, that the absentees might upset George D. Monardo, who led Blackwell by 59 votes for second place on the ballot. Assured election was architect Michael Wornum.

Awaiting the absentee count in Sausalito is the outcome between Michael A. Harris and Carl G. Wooley for a city council seat. Harris had a 32-vote bulge over Wooley with completion of last night's count, but there are 69 absentee votes to be tallied. Two incumbents, Mayor Howard H. Sievers and Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., won re-election in Sausalito. A third incumbent did not run.

The issues were decided in Corte Madera, with incumbent Mayor Roger F. Morse and Raymond L. DeYoung elected; in Fairfax, with Lawrence F. Walsh and Waldemar E. Radtke the winners; in Novato, with incumbents M. E. (Babe) Silva, Harvey J. Vicchio and Everett Pozzi easy victors; in Ross, with incumbents Arthur Kanzee Jr., Henry C. Scott Jr. and T. Bruce Selfridge in again.

LEE BROTHERS OPENING — The Lee Brothers opened a new market at Marinwood Plaza last night. They passed out hundreds of flowers and hundreds of dishes of ice cream. MARIN MAN LOSES FINGERTIP IN BOAT MISHAP ON WAY TO GAME

Hilary A. Belloc, 57, of De Silva Island, Mill Valley, sailed from Sausalito yesterday to the Giants' opener at Candlestick Park, and lost part of a finger in making a landing.

But after some hustle and bustle he managed to get the severed end sewed back on, and saw three innings of the game.

He was feeding out the anchor "the lazy way and I got my finger caught in the winch." The end of the ring finger was clipped off.

Belloc, son of a famed British poet-historian, was hustled off to the stadium aid station. He learned his son, Martin, 16, had retrieved the missing joint. A doctor patched him up.

Belloc, yachtman, lecturer, investor and crab fisherman, went back to the stadium and saw the rest of the game.

Logging Firm To Curb Work In Park Area

A lumber company that has been cutting Douglas fir in the heart of a projected camping area in the proposed Pt. Reyes National Seashore Area has agreed to curtail its activities.

In making the announcement, Dr. Joel Gustafson, president of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore Foundation, said today the attitude of lumbermen Don and Bill Sweet "is most commendable. This is much more than we dared hope for."

THE AGREEMENT

The Sweet Lumber Co. has been cutting timber in an area between Bolinas and Olema. "They have promised to hold back on cutting in the proposed park area," Dr. Gustafson said.

"It was agreed that the lumber company would attempt to operate its mill with logs from adjacent areas pending a decision on the park proposal. The company is now engaged in sawing its downed timber, and in clearing of rubble and establishing larger fire trails and other activities to correct practices at variance with state requirements.

MID-MAY START

"Although they were to begin further logging again in mid-May, they agreed the virgin forest should not be logged. The lumber men will work the areas outside of the scheduled park area first and attempt to secure logs elsewhere in Marin to continue the operation of their sawmill until their investment is recovered.

"They said it will take two to three years to harvest the available timber in Marin that lies outside the proposed park area."

A U. S. Senate subcommittee hearing on the Pt. Reyes park proposal will be held tomorrow at the College of Marin in Kentfield.

Academy's Chapel Plan Set Aside

San Rafael Military Academy last night made a strategic withdrawal, at least for the time being, in its quest to build a chapel at El Cerrito ovenue and Bryn Mawr drive.

In the face of protests by a group of residents and some 40 post card petitions, Cmdr. Roy A. Ibach declared he would withdraw the request for the time being and bring it up again at a later date.

"We want to be good neighbors," said Ibach. "This comes as a sort of shock . . . We had no idea we would meet such objection." He said the academy is not yet ready to build the chapel anyway, until after financing has been worked out. Therefore he would drop the matter.

Residents along Bryn Mawr complained that there is no reason why the academy should buy one empty lot in a purely residential area to build the chapel. They charged that the chapel in the residential area would aggravate traffic congestion and the parking problem. A half dozen opponents of the project pointed out that already, on Sundays and during parades, some of the streets around the academy are barely passable.

Gordon Phillips, architect for the academy, presented sketches showing a chapel with a seating capacity of 120. He pointed out that access to the chapel would be from the campus, and not from Bryn Mawr or El Cerrito. Nine parking spaces are provided next to the chapel.

Both Phillips and Ibach pointed out that students are not allowed to bring cars to the campus, and said the only parking necessary would be for faculty members and employees of the academy.

San Rafael Agency Vetoes Apartments

Colonial Wax Products Corp. must abandon its plan to build a candle factory in the East San Rafael Assessment District because banks will not extend loans for the factory.

This disclosure was made last night to the San Rafael Planning Commission by Carroll R. Stoerker, president of the corporation. Stoerker said financing agencies feel the land is too valuable for industrial use. Therefore, said Stoerker, he is forced to change his plans and put in an apartment building instead.

The planning commissioners, who have been battling the city council for rezoning of the area from industrial and commercial to apartment zoning, said they are sympathetic with Stoerker's plight.

"The city council will entertain no proposals for other than industrial and commercial," said acting chairman Carl Brown. "Therefore we cannot approve an apartment here."

Brown said the only thing the planning commission could do would be to deny Stoerker's request for an apartment at Fairfax street and Bellam boulevard, and have him appeal to the city council.

Nick Dollwett said he would like to see an apartment go in there, but he moved to deny the application so that an appeal can be made to the councilmen. "I'd like to see it (the apartment) too," Orlando Conti added. "If you gentlemen promise to take it to the council to fight it, I'll second the motion."

The area has become a center of controversy between the city planners and the city council. It is located between Belvedere and Canal streets and Bellam boulevard.

Colonial Wax Products Corporation's plan for a candle factory was a big hope for the proponents of industry in the area.

San Rafael Apartments Approved By Planners

A 20-unit apartment building at Canal and Napa streets south of San Rafael Canal won architectural approval from the San Rafael Planning Commission last night.

D. M. Christensen Construction Co. plans to put in a two-story structure, with closed garages on the first floor for parking cars.

The planners also set a public hearing for April 26 on a request for apartment zoning in a portion of Rafael Racquet Club Estates off Fifth avenue near Sun Valley. The area is now zoned one-family residential. Last month developers Farrar and Kaehler received a use permit for a tennis and swim club in the same area.

In other actions last night the planning commission:

1. Approved a duplex for Margaret Hedden on Ridge avenue near Belle avenue.
2. Gave architectural approval for a 4,000 square foot frame and stucco warehouse building for McPhail's off Dubois street. The building, to be built between Dubois and the railroad tracks, will house the company's sheet metal shop.
3. Set a public hearing on a request for a mortuary at the northwest corner of Lincoln and Prospect avenues for April 26. George B. Miller of San Francisco seeks to renew a permit which was granted in 1957, but has expired.
4. Set April 26 and May 10 as dates for public hearings on a request for rezoning of Gold Hill Grade to acre lots. Ellen Dunbar is the owner.

Mrs. Dunbar last night sought a four-lot subdivision on Gold Hill Grade, but was turned down because the approach road is inadequate and no sewer lines are planned. Gold Hill Grade is on steep land at the extension of Locust avenue. Mrs. Dunbar proposed a road 18 feet wide, and septic tanks for two-acre lots.

5. Granted Edward J. Grady of 34 Wildwood way permission for his swimming pool to encroach 11 feet into his front yard setback.
6. Granted D. R. Cullen permission to locate a doughnut shop in a new building across the highway from Terra Linda. He is now located in the Terra Linda Shopping Center.

Allied Foreign Ministers Agree On German Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany reached "complete agreement" today on a plan challenging Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to permit completely free elections in Communist East Germany.

Leaving a two hours-and-20 minute meeting on the critical German and Berlin problems, West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano said:

"Everything is settled. We reached a complete agreement."

Brentano said that the session had been very good. Asked whether there had been disagreement on any matter, he replied: "Not at all."

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said a second meeting scheduled for tomorrow morning had been canceled. He was asked whether this meant that such good progress had been made that a further meeting was no longer necessary.

"Exactly," he replied.

The foreign minister mapped the Allied policy on Germany and Berlin in preparation for the May 16 summit conference in Paris with Khrushchev.

They had been reported earlier in general agreement on a formula which calls on Russia to grant self-determination to the 17 million Germans behind the Iron Curtain.

In a statement, the foreign ministers stressed the "unified western position" that will be presented at the summit.

Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve Demurville said in a joint statement last night that the Allies would stand fast against any efforts to force them out of Berlin against their will.

Eats, Flowers Mark Opening Of Lee Market

There were orchids and ice cream and coffee and hot dogs. That was last night.

Today there are shelves of groceries, fresh produce and meats—and customers.

The Lee Brothers opened their market at Marinwood Plaza last night from 6 to 9 o'clock, and today William S. Lee of 60 Par lane, Marin Golf and Country Club Estates, said approximately 5,000, to 6,000 were on hand. Lee is a vice president of the chain.

Instead of the usual ribbon cutting, there was a string of hot dogs to eat through. The children helped with this snipping ceremony.

"We were really pleased with the turnout," said Lee. "And we liked the way everyone was so orderly."

With this store, the Lee Brothers now have 27 markets in their Bay Area chain. In about six weeks another store will be opened in Novato.

The store at Marinwood is the first supermarket in Marin to feature insta-tag, a new and efficient way of marking prices.

The store will be open from 9 a.m. through 9 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and from 10 a.m. through 7 p.m. Sundays.

Planners Approve San Rafael Subdivision Despite Protests

A six-lot subdivision on Palm avenue between Olive and Magnolia avenues in San Rafael won the approval of the San Rafael Planning Commission last night despite a vigorous protest by a delegation headed by Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy.

The planners decided that contractor Edward Burgar and his son-in-law George Wark may put in the six units on these conditions: A road serving the rear three lots must have a 36-foot right of way with 26 feet of paving, and a sidewalk, fire hydrant and gutters must be installed to city specifications. The front three lots will have direct access to Palm avenue.

Dr. Dufficy came armed with a petition signed by protestors. He said 75 per cent of residents on Palm avenue between Olive and Magnolia oppose the subdivision. Dufficy pointed out that the area was formerly divided into four lots. "Then two weeks later, they asked to have the fourth lot divided into three pieces of property. This is a subterfuge." He said the other homes in the area have about 10,000 square feet, and he opposes "cutting up lots to make cracker boxes out of it."

Other residents on Palm complained that the development would increase drainage and flood their basements.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Nick Dollwett and Orlando Conti, the commission ordered a wider right-of-way and approved the subdivision.

Novato Fire Board Vote Canvass Set

Votes from the recent Novato Fire District commission election will be canvassed tonight at 8 o'clock by the commissioners during their regular meeting in the main firehouse.

Peter J. Ferrarese, incumbent commissioner who was returned to office over his single challenger, Keith C. Craig, will be sworn in following the canvass, Chief George J. Cavallero said.

Under discussion by the commissioners will be the proposed fire alarm system for the city. Louis Saffores recently spent a weekend in Southern California studying systems similar to the one Novato proposes to adopt.

Screen Of Trees Recommended For Lynwood Privacy

A screen of trees between the Leafwood Terrace apartments and homes on Sunset parkway was proposed last night at a meeting of the Lynwood Park Improvement Assn. as a solution to the problem of privacy for Lynwood residents.

The apartments, under construction on Leafwood drive, are so situated that occupants can look into the windows of the Sunset parkway homes, said Arthur W. Owen, association president.

Burke Edwards was named chairman of an engineering committee to investigate possibilities of planting the trees along a 25-foot drainage easement between the apartments and the homes.

The committee will attempt to persuade Kaehler Construction Co., builder of the apartments, to share in the expense of the trees, Owen said.

Lagunitas Trustees Start Budget Talks

Lagunitas School District board members last night began discussion of the budget for the next school year.

No decisions were reached. Discussion of teacher salaries is to come up at a later meeting, Mrs. Winifred S. Frederick, board clerk, said.

The next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. April 21.

CORVAIR BY CHEVROLET
DRIVE IT! GET OUR DEAL!!!!

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Practically flat floor . . . real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space. Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride. Rear-engine traction . . . that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.

You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

SAFE AT LAST — Her anxious parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Butts, happily embraced 10-year-old Barbara Butts after she emerged unharmed from barricaded house in which her 18-year-old brother-in-law had held her hostage for 30 hours in Pulaski, Va. (AP Wirephoto)

YOUTH SUBDUED — Police beat Jack Jennings into submission after tear gas routed him from house in Pulaski, Va. His capture ended a 30-hour siege during which he held his 10-year-old sister-in-law hostage and fired shots at officers. (AP Wirephoto)

Teen Gunman Seized; Girl Hostage Safe

PULASKI, Va. (UPI)—A belligerent teen-ager who barricaded himself in his father-in-law's home for 31 hours with a 10-year-old girl hostage was captured screaming last night during a tear gas barrage. The girl was unharmed.

Jack Jennings, 18, an unemployed mill hand, driven from the house by the tear gas, was beaten into submission by police when he rushed out screaming and fighting.

FLED OFFICERS

The long siege began about 4 p.m. Monday when Jennings broke away from officers taking him to jail after a preliminary hearing on auto theft charges. He grabbed his young sister-in-law, Barbara Butts, and barricaded himself in the home of his father-in-law, C. W. Butts.

When police surrounded the modest brick home in this southwest Virfginia town of 12,000, Jennings, armed with a shotgun and a rifle, threatened to "die young and go out with a big blast.

Jennings vowed to "kill me a couple of cops" and later fired an arrow through a window of the house with a note attached threatening to rape the young girl.

FEARED FOR GIRL

Police delayed use of force to get the trigger-happy youth to come out because they feared he would harm the girl.

But jittery officers, tired of waiting and listening to the threats and curses of the young tough with a duck-tailed haircut, fired eight or nine tear gas shells through the windows of the house and the tense drama came to an abrupt end.

Jennings blamed his troubles on his father-in-law and his wife, Sandra, a 16-year-old high school student who he said bitterly was "always away at night."

Tornado Sweeps Texas Village; 3 Die, 32 Hurt

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A tornado swept down on the West Texas village of Sunnyside last night and killed three persons and injured 32.

Sunrise today showed the twister virtually swept the community off the land.

But for a woman's warning cry seconds before the twister struck, the toll probably would have been much greater in the crossroads community of Sunnyside, about halfway between Amarillo and Lubbock.

Mrs. C. M. Rogers, wife of Sunnyside's Baptist pastor, spotted the dark and threatening cloud and sounded an alarm.

Nearly 40 men at a meeting in her husband's church scrambled for two storm cellars close by. Most of them made it. Several were too late.

"The men had to put up their arms and hold up the rafters," said Murl Rogers, 10, son of the minister, describing how they kept the roof of one shelter from collapsing on 30-odd persons.

Sunnyside residents emerged to find the farming community shattered. The writhing storm [illegible] church, store, grain elevator, cotton gin and four or five homes. A half-dozen other houses lost their roofs.

Dead and injured were strewn amid rubble piled up to five feet high in an area 100 feet square.

Consumer Counsel Corrects Mistake In Credit Report

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's consumer counsel says she made a mistake in a report yesterday on consumer credit in the Fresno area.

Mrs. Helen Nelson of Mill Valley issued a statement saying wage earners in the Fresno area owe installment debts totaling almost 10 times their annual income. It should have been their weekly income.

Robert A. Carr, a business administration professor at Fresno State College, made the report to Mrs. Nelson.

He is to be one of six speakers to a consumer conference in Fresno tomorrow, one of six which Mrs. Nelson has scheduled on credit.

How Marin Cities Voted In Municipal Elections

ISSUE IN DOUBT — Mill Valleyans elected Michael Wornum (upper left) and George D. Monardo (upper right) to the city council. Third man elected may also be a new face, that of William M. Secor (lower left), or George Blackwell may be re-elected. Tally of absentee ballots will decide. Elected treasurer in Mill Valley was William G. Rutherford (lower right)

3rd Mill Valley Council Seat Still Undecided

Seventy-two absent ballots, to be counted at the city council meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the city hall, will decide who is the third man elected to the Mill Valley Council in yesterday's voting.

George W. Blackwell, incumbent, received 15 more votes than William M. Secor, with Blackwell getting 1,319 and Secor 1,304.

The nip and tuck race between the two men was watched by a tense crowd of coffee and doughnut eaters at the city hall. Blackwell was in the lead early in the tabulation, even nosing out for a time second place George D. Monardo. He faltered and dropped behind Secor, then rallied and ended up ahead at 2:55 a.m.

WORNUM LEADS

Michael Wornum was assured of election with 1,319 votes; Monardo was second with 1,379. Following Blackwell and Secor were J. Ralph Martindale with 852 and T. J. DeLasaux Jr. with 521.

William G. Rutherford won the post of city treasurer with 1,275 votes, with Mrs. Marie Mize getting 1,092.

There were two write-ins for Mill Valley Council, one for baseball player Willie Mays and one for George Scott.

The election saw a turnout of exactly 50 per cent of eligible voters, with 2,529 votes cast and 5,058 persons registered. Two years ago, 2,632 voted in the Mill Valley city election.

Blackwell was the only incumbent seeking re-election to the council.

AN ARCHITECT

Wornum, who conducted a house-to-house campaign that paid off, is an architect. He has headed the architectural advisory committee of the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Monardo is administrator of Franklin Hospital in San Francisco. Secor is owner of a typewriter company in San Francisco. Blackwell is a reinsurance broker.

NEW LOOK IN LARKSPUR — Only one Larkspur City Council post was decided last night, that won by James J. Lienkaemper (upper left). Second and third spots depend on the absentee ballot count. At least one more new council member is sure to be chosen, however, either Lesly Daveler (upper right) or Mrs. Jane Epidendio (lower)

Hot Larkspur Contest Lead By New Faces

Larkspur voters elected 37-year-old accountant James J. Lienkaemper to the city council yesterday, but their other two choices for councilmen will remain in doubt until 35 absentee ballots are opened next Tuesday.

In a climax to one of the hottest muncipal election races in the city's 52-year history, Lienkamper topped a nine-man slate with 550 votes. A total of 1,316 votes was cast, or 53 per cent of the 2,500 registered.

Trailing closely were Lesly A. Daveler, a 46-year-old administrative assistant, 519 votes, and Mrs. Jane Epidendio, 44, co-owner of a market, 510 votes. In fourth place was Mayor Daniel Allen, 503 votes.

The 35 absentee ballots will determine which two of these three have been elected.

In a contest for city clerk, incumbent Helen S. Wilson recevied 1,000 votes to Mrs. Anne E. Smart's 228. Mrs. Smart had aligned her campaign with the anti-city manager forces.

Voters turned down the two other council incumbents running for re-election. Councilman Orrin W. Gray received 436 votes and Councilman Albert E. Heston 346.

Paul J. Keever, a personnel counselor, received 394 votes; general contractor David B. McDougall, 252 votes, and Charles F. Schneider, a retired railroad man, 214 votes.

Lienkaemper and Daveler ran as a team, both declaring they were for continuance of city manager government "with more supervision by the council."

The city's loud and bitter campaign developed as a result of the ouster of Fire Chief John A. Raggio and the ensuing controversy over whether to continue city manager government.

The three council incumbents seeking re-election were solidly behind City Manager Ronald E. Piper.

Mrs. Epidendio was pro-Raggio and anti-city manager, along with Keever, McDougall and Schneider.

2 Incumbents Re-Elected At Sausalito

Two incumbents were re-elected to the Sausalito City Council yesterday, but only the counting of the absent ballots will determine who gets the third spot.

Incumbent Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. tallied the heaviest vote with a total of 934. Mayor Howard Sievers followed with 781.

The third spot, being vacated by John E. Koenig Jr. who did not seek re-election, will go to either Michael A. Harris with 744 votes or Carl G. Wooley with 712. There are 69 absentee ballots which will decide the issue when they are counted next Tuesday.

NINE CANDIDATES

Nine candidates sought election to the three posts.

Ehrlich, an attorney, will serve a four-year term. His previous term was by appointment. The mayor, an electrical engineer with Bechtel Corp in San Francisco, is completing a four-year term.

William H. Ryan, who withdrew from the race, received 28 votes.

TWO UNOPPOSED

Running unopposed, City Clerk Amelie Smith received 1,314 votes and City Treasurer Edwin S. Long, 1,135.

There was a write-in vote for "Joe Bloke" for treasurer.

A total of 1,529 votes were cast from a list of 2,745 of registered voters. In the election two years ago 1,228 votes were cast.

SAUSALITO CONTESTANTS — Joining two re-elected city councilmen on Sausalito's governing board will be either Michael A. Harris (left) and Carl G. Wooley. Harris led in tabulations yesterday, but there are enough absentee ballots that Wooley might emerge the winner.

Incumbents Win Easily In Ross Town Election

The three incumbent town councilmen were re-elected handily. Their lone "new-face" opponent on the ballot was defeated, and the one announced write-in candidate received what could be described as hardly more than a family vote. There was a sprinkling of other write-in votes.

Arthur Kanzee Jr., 55, the mayor, a real estate developer and investment counselor who was first elected two years ago, received 260 votes.

The same number of votes went to Harry C. Scott, 44, partner in the San Francisco law firm of Pillsbury, Madison and Sutro.

T. Bruce Selfridge, 42, manager of manufacturing for the Enterprise Division, General Metals Corp., San Francisco, reecived 256 votes.

James T. McLaughlin, 33, a resident of Ross only three years and the only candidate who operates a business in Marin—the Redwood Empire Hardwood Co. at Greenbrae—received 97 votes.

McLaughlin conducted a quiet house-to-house campaign, and there were strong hints that he was dissatisfied with the police department. But what at first promised to be a slightly stormy political issue blew out as a gentle breeze.

Vincent Hallinan, who was unsuccessful in his bid for president of the United States in the Independent Progressive Party ticket in 1952, received six votes.

He said he really didn't want the job. His idea was that of protest. He had been unsuccessful, too, in getting the town council to vote an anti-dog ordinance. He said dogs roam Ross, dirty lawns and kill deer.

Elected without opposition were Town Clerk William W. Cole and Town Treasurer Phyllis O. B. Martin. Cole received 292 votes and Mrs. Martin 295.

There are 14 absentee ballots to be counted, but they will not change the outcome of the election. A total of 312 ballots were cast from a list of 1,200 registered voters, a 25 per cent plus turnout. In the town election two years ago there were no contests and only 154 votes were cast.

Stanford Paganucci of Fernhill road, an advocate of tennis courts on Ross Common and former president of the Parent-Teacher Assn., received one write-in vote for the council. Hal Moore of Camino Bueno received one write-in vote for clerk, and Mrs. Katherine Keaton, wife of County Coroner Frank J. Keaton, received one write-in vote for treasurer.

Councilmen In Novato Returned By Landslide

In Novato's second election in three months, 1,521 of the city's registered voters returned their three novice incumbent councilmen to office by a landslide.

Facing incumbents Everett Pozzi, M. E. (Babe) Silva and Harvey J. Vicchio for three vacant council seats were Eugene R. Trombley and William Loewen, both of whom were defeated candidates in the city's first election on Jan. 12.

The final unofficial vote totals from all five precincts were:

Silva, 1,316; Vicchio, 1,252; Pozzi, 1,232; Trombley, 392; Loewen, 144. Twelve absentee ballots remain to be counted.

The vote was about 34 per cent of the 4,835 registered. In contrast to the election in January which created the city and elected the first council, and in which tabulating lasted until 3 a.m., last night's vote count was completed by 8:30 p.m.. Twenty-seven candidates ran in the first election.

Gathered in the Independent-Journal offices for a traditional election night coffee and doughnut party, all three incumbents expressed relief as soon as the early returns began coming in.

Fairfax Selects Two New Council Members

Lawrence F. (Larry) Walsh, who missed getting elected to the Fairfax City Council two years ago by five votes, and Waldemar E. (Ed) Radtke, member of the city planning commission, were elected yesterday to take two vacant seats on the council.

Walsh, 35, a Marin resident since he was 4 and a resident of Fairfax for nine years, racked up 638 votes. An insurance adjuster, Walsh says he will push for a road connecting Fairfax to Highway 101. Walsh has been a member of the city recreation commission.

Radtke, 41, who wants improved fire protection and expanded recreation facilities, received 549 votes.

Radtke, an accounts executive with a San Francisco insurance broker, has been on the planning commission six years.

Defeated was Robert E. Nolan, 32, in the general contracting business with his father. He received 528 votes. Nine absentee ballots cannot change the outcome of the election.

Walsh and Radtke will take the places of Mayor Edward A. Smith and Vice Mayor Albert Fox, whose terms are expiring. They did not seek re-election.

Re-elected were City Clerk Alice Leonesio, with 908 votes and City Treasurer Dorothy McGlothlin, with 878. They had no opposition.

Of the total of 2,554 registered voters, 1,026 cast votes, or just over 40 per cent. Two years ago 954 ballots were cast when seven persons sought three places on the council.

Fairfax write-in votes were: Jean Secchitano, unsuccessful council candidate in 1958, 2; Tony Boitano, 4; Adolph Traber, 1; Paul Arata, 1, and Gaylor Robb, 2, all for council. Robb also received a write-in vote for clerk.

Absentees To Decide Race In Belvedere

Thirty-six absentee ballots will tell whether Dr. John H. Flint or Vice Adm. Frank E. Beatty is the new member of the Belvedere City Council.

Two incumbnts, Mayor Robert P. Watkins and E. G. (Ned) Weed, were re-elected in yesterday's balloting. But for a third council seat, the race between Flint and Beatty was so close it can be decided only by the absentee ballot tally, which will be made at a council meeting next Tuesday night.

Six hundred and eleven Belvedereans cast ballots in the election—58 per cent of the 1,080 registered to vote.

Watkins received 351 votes without the absentee count; Weed, 268; Flint, 242; Beatty, 226; Robert A. Davies, 187; Merritt K. Ruddock, 147; Herbert H. Scheier, 126; Robert M. Jones, 104; Horace A. Hill III, 21, and Charles J. Lennihan (who withdrew in the final week before election), 18.

Britton Rey was re-elected city clerk, unopposed, with 363 votes, and Mrs. Audrey Rey was re-elected city treasurer with an identical number of votes.

Actor Sterling Hayden received 14 write-in votes for city clerk and two for city treasurer. Mrs. Hayden received nine for city treasurer.

Actor Faces Surgery

The two-time winner of the Academy Award was expected to undergo surgery when tests are completed. The hospital said he was in satisfactory condition.

Corte Madera Backs Mayor, Insurance Man

Corte Madera voters returned Mayor Roger F. Morse to office for a second four-year term yesterday and named insurance special agent Raymond L. DeYoung to the city council in a quiet municipal election.

Morse received 515 votes; DeYoung, 443, and Jack I. Miller, a construction superintendent, 308. Kenneth G. Hoag, an insurance agent, whose name appeared on the ballot although he had withdrawn because he had not fulfilled the residence requirements, received 62 votes.

Only 29 per cent—or 690—of the 2,362 registered voters turned out to cast their ballots.

Town Clerk Naydeen Penny, who filled an unexpired term beginning in 1958, was unopposed for reelection. She received 634 votes. There was one write-in vote for Portia Fitzgerald, secretary of the planning commission but not a resident of the town.

Incumbent Treasurer John R. Vance, who also filled an unexpected term in 1958, also was unopposed, received 628 votes.

Only one absentee ballot was issued and it has not yet been returned, the town clerk reported.

Morse, 39, is a mechanical engineer. DeYoung, 32, is a member of the town park and recreation commission.

San Anselmo Council Meeting Postponed

Last night's regular meeting of the San Anselmo City Council was adjourned to next Tuesday at 8 p.m. because of the municipal election yesterday.

City Clerk Anita Gannon said the meeting next Tuesday, required by law for canvass of yesterday's ballots, will be combined with the regular meeting.

Willie Mays Gets Mill Valley Vote

Willie Mays, you're wanted in Mill Valley.

The San Francisco Giant centerfielder, who moved his home from San Francisco back to New York last winter, received a write-in vote for Mill Valley City Council in yesterday's municipal election, non-resident status nothwithstanding.

Of course, it was almost sure to happen with election coinciding with the opening of the National League season.

Snake Bites Boy

Seven-year-old Stephen Moody of 7 Harbor drive, Corte Madera, was bitten by a gopher snake yesterday near his home. Police Chief Frank L. Nelson reported, The boy was taken to Marin General Hospital by a police officer and checked by a doctor, then returned home.

Mayor Tops Hub Vote; Other Spot Undecided

Mayor Arthur W. Smith and one of his two opponents backed by the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government won election to the Hub City's council yesterday.

Whether John M. Reichmuth or his running mate, Robert W. Rouse, will replace Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. on the council will not be known until 31 absentee ballots are counted next Tuesday.

Whether Reichmuth or Rouse proves the winner, San Anselmo's next mayor likely will be William Franchini. Councilman Franchini joined Councilman Carleton G. Little in backing the Good Government candidates. A year ago, Franchini was proposed for mayor by Little but lost out to Smith.

City Treasurer George W. Prydz, now serving by appointment, won election to the treasurer's post easily over Mrs. Eleanor W. Henry. City Clerk Anita Gannon was re-elected without opposition.

The unofficial vote totals, with the 31 absentee ballots still uncounted, were:

For council: Smith, 1,157; Reichmuth, 1,000; Rouse, 996; Henry J. (Beck) Regalia, whose campaign was bracketed with Smith's in a two-ticket race, 917.

For treasurer: Prydz, 1,265; Henry, 710.

For clerk: Gannon, 1,800.

Ex-Councilman Kenneth R. Ball and Herbert Shirley each got a write-in vote for council, and W. D. Nicol received one write-in vote for clerk.

In all, 2,086 ballots were cast, or about 36 per cent of the 5,464 registered voters. Two years ago, with seven candidates for three city council posts, 1,844 voted in San Anselmo.

Smith, proprietor of Art Smith's Variety Store, has served on the city council since 1942. Reichmuth, 43, is a sales engineer for Baker-Hamilton Co. in San Francisco. Rouse, 32, is a market analyst for Hexcel Products Co. of Berkeley.

East Bay Vote Tough On Incumbents

OAKLAND (AP) — Voters defeated 14 of 37 city councilmen seeking re-election in 19 cities of Contra Costa and Alameda Counties yesterday.

All three councilmen were beaten in both San Pablo and El Cerrito. Concord, Pittsburg and Martinez each threw out one councilman.

Two councilmen were defeated in both Hayward and Albany, and one in Livermore.

Tiburon Apartment Project Approved

Plans for a proposed apartment in Mariner Oaks were presented to the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce yesterday by William S. Johnstone and were given a unanimous vote of approval.

The apartment will be constructed by Johnstone and William A. Slater on Red Hill.

Robert L. Sterling, president of the chamber, said the chamber feels the structure will add a great deal of beauty to the area, and will write the planning commission to that effect.

ONE WILL BE ELECTED — New face on the Belvedere City Council will be either that of Vice Adm. Frank E. Beatty (left) or that of Dr. John H. Flint (right). Tabulation of absentee votes will tell which of the two is elected.

Vote Registration Closes Tomorrow

County Clerk George S. Jones will keep his office open for registrants until 9 o'clock tonight and tomorrow. Various city halls and firehouses are also open for registration.

HALF OF TICKET WINS—Which half of the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government was elected to the city council yesterday won't be known until absentee ballots are counted. It will be either John M. Reichmuth (left) or Robert E. Rouse.

Civic Center Architect Fee Monies Voted

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday voted to spend $26,500 in state money for final payment of architectural fees on the county fairgrounds site at the civic center.

That amount and $48,750 has been approved for transfer to the county by an executive order at Sacramento. Word of this allocation was made by County Auditor Leon A. DeLisle, who told the board that the state Department of Finances Division of Fairs and Expositions also has reinstated $20,000 in 1960 pari-mutual funds.

AMOUNT INCREASED

The county previously was scheduled to receive only $15,000. DeLisle said the amount was increased and now is a total of $35,000.

"It is now apparent," said DeLisle, "that the meeting held some time ago in Sacramento with various state officials and Sen. Jack McCarthy, (County Administrator) Donald Jensen and myself, was quite successful.

'NOT SUFFICIENT'

"At this meeting we pointed out to the state that we would not have sufficient monies to finance the 1960 fair out of the state fair fund, wherein, they recommended that a temporary transfer be made from our available local county fair fund."

Michael Mitchell, assistant county auditor, said the $48,750 should be spent on site preparation and utilities. He said the $26,250 represented final architect's fees for the preparation of a master plan for fair site development and preliminary plans for fair pavilion and amphitheater. In all the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation has received more than $100,000, with the county paying about one-fourth of that amount.

Traffic Toll Dips In First Quarter

SACRAMENTO (UP)—Traffic deaths in California for the first quarter of 1960 are down almost 5 per cent from the same period last year, Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden reported.

The death toll stood at 799 on March 31, compared with 840 for the first three months of 1959.

Despite a truck-train collision near Bakersfield in which 14 died on March 1, the total deaths for March dropped 33 from the same month last year, Crittenden said.

Visiting Judge Sits On Marin Bench

Judge Lilburn Gibson of Mendocino County is sitting in Marin Superior Court Department 2 this week in place of Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Judge Keating is serving in Ukiah this week under an exchange of judges. Deputy County Clerk Agnes Nathanson explained that judges sometimes swap benches when one decides to rule himself out of a case in his own county.

Four Initiated Into Bolinas Legion Post

Four new members have been initiated into Bolinas Bay Post of the American Legion, according to A. C. Pfefferkorn, adjutant.

They are George Sutcliffe, Edward King, Edward Bagley and Fred Heintz.

Pfefferkorn said that that Thomas J. Barfield, post commander, has been awarded the Steve Foote medal as the result of his post exceeded its membership quota.

Building Firm Files Incorporation Papers

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan announced Lino Construction Co., a Marin County construction company, has filed articles of incorporation with his office, to be capitalized at $75,000 in $100 par shares.

Directors of the company were listed as Samuel M. Lino and Catherina G. Lino, 506 Spring street, Sausalito, and George P. Lino, 151 California street, Mill Valley.

Warning Given Law Might Halt Building

Marin County Fire Chief Charles Reilley warned yesterday that an ordinance designed to prohibit building in areas where there may not be enough water to fight fires might halt construction altogether in some areas.

Reilley was replying to a request from the Marin County Board of Supervisors for comment on a request from the Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn., asking for such an ordinance.

RESIDENTS ALARMED

Residents of Muir Woods Park last year became increasingly alarmed as low water pressure as springs that feed their water system became more and more feeble.

Also they were concerned with water pipes in the area and asserted they would be adequate to supply water in case of a big fire.

The association applied pressure to the directors of the Marin Municipal Water District for relief. Yesterday, director George W. Thierbach told the board that the district would place a new tank in the district.

TO HANDLE PROBLEM

The board, after discussing the possibility of changing the building code to prevent use by several pieces of property of one water lateral, decided to let the water district handle the Muir Woods Park problem.

The water system serving this area does not use district lake water, but gets water from a spring on Mt. Tamalpais.

The association asked for an ordinance to apply to the county as a whole and not just that area within the water district. It was the outside areas that Reilley referred to when he said such action might halt building. He said similar situations exist in other areas, particularly Stinson Beach.

Redevelop Agency Passes Resolution

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency has adopted a resolution for further negotiations and reappraisal of two parcels of land which it has been unable to secure to go ahead with the development.

Bert Klahn, executive director of the agency, said that if negotiations fail, the resolution authorizes immediate filing of condemnation proceedings.

The property is one and one-half acres belonging to Mrs. Mary Rosa and 7,500 square feet belonging to Paul Smith.

Novato Firemen To Help Bunny

Novato's small-fry will be turned loose in the field at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, it was announced at the association meeting last night.

Marin Flood Control Group Lacks Quorum

Members of the Marin County Flood Control Commission met Monday night to discuss what progress is being made in Marin under the state flood control act. Because of lack of a quorum, no action was taken.

The matter is to be discussed again May 2 at 8 p.m. at a commission meeting in the county supervisors' chambers in the courthouse in San Rafael.

Where The Water Goes

CHICAGO (UP) — Probably less than 5 per cent of the 300 billion gallons of water used daily in the United States is consumed in household operations, the Nalco Chemical Corp. reported.

More water is used for industrial and power generation than any other, some 46 per cent while agricultural irrigation accounts for the largest share of the remaining 54 per cent.

NEW CHURCH ACCESS

Rail Flatcars Bridge Tiburon Area Ditch

The dilemma of how to get to church was resolved yesterday by the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Richardson Bay.

Focal point of the problem has been a wide, tide-filled ditch between the Tiburon Highway and the parking area for the nearly completed church. A permanent crossing was deemed unnecessary for when the highway is expended to four lanes, the ditch will become solid ground.

Through the resourcefulness of architect Rolland B. Hammond, church elder, two wood and steel railway flatcars were placed across the ditch yesterday. On Easter Sunday, when the parishioners meet in their new building for the first time, they will be able to drive across a solid bridge.

Each railway car is capable of carrying 40 tons They have been used to bridge farm ditches in Lucas Valley where Hammond first spotted them.

This is not the first time that railway cars have come to the aid of this church. When space was at a premium for the rapidly growing church school, two passenger cars were rented to house the primary departments. Located at the northwestern Pacific yard in Tiburon, the cars have been used for two years. They will be vacated the Sunday following Easter when the church school moves into the new building.

Utility Commissioners Rule On Tax Write-Off

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Public Utilities Commission yesterday disposed of its most controversial problem —what public utilities should do with savings from fast tax write-offs.

The commission, splitting 3-2, held that if they take fast write-offs on new plant and equipment, the utilities must pass the savings on to customers.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Southern California Edison and some other utilities wanted to use gains from fast write-offs of federal taxes for plant expansion.

The write-offs would come from "accelerated depreciation" of new facilities. The utilities argued that if they took deductions for rapid depreciation over a short period, then their taxes eventually would increase because they would have used up their deductions on the facilities.

Therefore, the utilities said, when the commission set their rates, it should pretend that they actually had not taken fast write-offs, but had paid the taxes involved. This is called "tax normalization."

The utilities claimed that it would all work out the same in the end.

But the commission majority said that with more and more new construction, the utilities would never run out of fast write-offs. The day would never come when they would pay the taxes, which, in effect, had been deferred, the majority said.

The commission ruled that utilities may take the fast write-offs by "accelerated depreciation," but that the savings must be passed on to the consumer.

This would be done by setting utility rates on the basis only of taxes actually paid and on other expenses.

The effect of the decision, utility specialists said, probably will be that no major utility in California will take the fast write-offs provided by federal law.

As a result there would be no tax savings to pass on to the consumer.

Supervisors Exchange Verbal Salvos On Pt. Reyes Hearing

A battle royal over the issue of testimony to be presented tomorrow before the U.S. Senate subcommittee investigating possible development of a Pt. Reyes national park flared suddenly in the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Its climax came with defeat by a 2-2 tie vote of a proposal to prohibit county employees or commission members from appearing before the hearing in other than as private citizens.

Bitter words flew between Bryan McCarthy, San Rafael attorney representing West Marin property owners who oppose the park project, and members of the board, and among board members. Absence of Supervisor William Gnoss resulted in the tie vote over what Supervisor Vera Schultz termed an effort to impose "gag rule" on employees.

It all started quietly with a procession of routine matters sent in by the Marin County Planning Commission, ending with a statement prepared by Commissioner Margaret Azevedo favoring the park and supported by the commission as factual.

Preliminary staff studies, said the statement, "indicate that potential economic benefits to the county from the proposed park would be greater than those realized from present use or from future possible residential use."

McCarthy jumped to his feet and declared that this was "a sad commentary" on a subordinate body seeking to influence its bosses—"the tail wagging of the dog," as he put it.

"You took a position of neutrality," said McCarthy. "To me it is ridiculous that you, the board, allow the planning commission to take a position that will be looked on as that of the county . . . It's 100 per cent wrong."

He added that "this so-called myth of vanishing property is really a matter of vanishing private property" and said that the Department of Interior now has 23 million acres in California, yet uses only four million for parks while seeking to add Pt. Reyes.

Mrs. Schultz explained that the planners are advisers to the board, set up by the legislature, so "we can't tell it not to give advice." McCarthy retorted, "They're going over your head!"

After increasingly heated discussion, Supervisor James Marshall proposed a resolution forbidding county employees or commission members from appearing or sending reports to the hearing tomorrow at College of Marin except as private citizens.

Mrs. Schultz promptly termed the resolution a "gag rule." Supervisor William D. Fusselman commented, "Well, you've tried that on me!" and seconded the motion. But the fight was just warming up.

"Does that mean that the citizens advisory committee, the parks and recreation commission, and the planning commission can't submit reports?" demanded Mrs. Schultz.

"It does," said Marshall.

"What about appearances of department heads?" asked Chairman Walter R. Castro.

"They can testify as to facts, but not as to conclusions," said Fusselman.

Gibbs H. Lawson of Dillon Beach rose as a member of the parks and recreation body to say that its chairman had been authorized to express the views of the five members as a unit as "we are unanimous in our thinking."

The issue was brought to a vote with only Fusselman supporting Marshall's resolution and Castro going along with Mrs. Schultz in opposition.

But the argument continued. Mrs. Schultz declared it "very reprehensible" that a "hired advocate of property owners" should seek to "dictate" board decisions.

This stirred up both McCarthy, who demanded an apology, and Fusselman, who declared, "You can't malign me. You said dictate!"

Fusselman announced he had decided to radio broadcast tape recordings of Mrs. Schultz's past utterances. Mrs. Schultz retorted, "I'm not a bit afraid." And Fusselman rejoined, "You'll be horribly embarrassed."

Mill Valley Schools Cut Field Trips

Purchase orders have been stopped and field trips outside the county have been eliminated, according to Leo B. Edson, assistant superintendent of the Mill Valley School District, in order that the district might stay within its budget.

Edson said that if the district is to maintain a $38,000 beginning balance to start the 1960-61 school year, these economies are necessary.

Commenting upon the shortage of funds, Edson pointed out to the board of trustees that the district's beginning balance contained an over-statement of $14,000 due to the fact that restricted fund balances had been included with the operating budget.

He also remarked that the state had imposed a $6,000 deficit factor on its apportionment and that miscalculation will cause a $9,000 deficit in state aid.

Animals may lose nearly all the fat and about half the protein of the body and survive. But a loss of about one-tenth of the water will cause death.

Terra Linda Recreation District Boundaries Set

Boundaries of a proposed Terra Linda recreation district were fixed by resolution of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Murray Peterson, member of the board of the Terra Linda Community Services District, told the supervisors that his group is prepared to divest itself of all recreation functions, hand over land now held for recreational purposes, and allow the recreation district to collect taxes for its own purposes.

Peterson later explained that this means the community services district would there after be concerned only with fire protection, policing and lighting, its taxation covering only those three categories.

Six Die In Crash

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (UPI) — Six persons, including an attorney's wife and three of her four children, suffered fatal injuries last night in a violent head-on automobile collision here.

Five of the victims either were killed instantly or died last night shortly after the accident on a three-lane highway about 20 miles northwest of Pittsburgh. The sixth, the six-month-old son of Beaver Falls, Pa., attorney John Cartwright, succumbed to head injuries today in Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh.

SUPERVISORS ROUNDUP

Contract Awarded On Launching Ramp Fees

John De Borba of Marshall is to be given a contract to collect fees at the Miller Park launching ramp on Tomales Bay, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday.

This action was taken in reversal of an earlier position when a contract with Ben Wilson was terminated. A letter from County Administrator Donald A. Jensen said that private launching ramp operators were in trouble if no charge was made at Miller Park and that Supervisor James Marshall felt another attendant should be hired.

Charles T. Johnson, one of the operators, said, "I can't compete with the government when they give it for free." Gibbs H. Lawson of the parks and recreation commission indicated that his group was ready to recommend renewed operation under an attendant.

It was decided that a committee under Marshall will investigate and act, giving De Borba a temporary contract along lines of that previously held by Wilson.

The supervisors also:

1. Agreed to extend the welfare building lease for 18 months at an increase from $994 to $1,154 a month, with possible six months extension at the same figure, on promise of Earl Grady, the landlord, to install drain tile and eliminate termites.
2. Accepted a bid by Shearson, Hammill and Co. of Los Angeles for $23,000 in bonds of the Reed Union School District at 3.7373 per cent.
3. Agreed to a compromise by which the estate of James Dwyer will pay $4,220.97 against a county claim of $5,349.30, if necessary taking this over a lengthy period to avoid forced sale of real estate.
4. Directed County Counsel Leland H. Jordan to take legal action to enforce the provisions of a bond in an agreement the county had with the Marin Land Co., Inc., for construction of improvements in the Harbor Point subdivision.
5. Promoted Lorin A. Hall from fire marshal to fire captain with a raise in salary from $481 to $505.
6. Directed Jordan to look into the legality of a claim by Maxime Taylor of 556 Shoreline highway, Mill Valley, that she paid taxes twice. The entangled affair, according to her, involves clerical errors in the assessor's and auditor's offices.
7. Referred to Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham a request from the county harbors commission for a definite pierhead line in Richardson Bay.
8. Referred to Brigham a request from Tamalpais Union High School District for improved safety features in the crosswalk in front of Tamalpais High School.
9. Asked County Clerk George S. Jones to set up an interview time with James E. Leach, 35, of 240 Laurel place, San Rafael, who has applied for appointment to the board of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.
10. Heard a letter from the Alcan Pacific Co., senior citizens' home developer, asking exclusion from the one-acre zoning soon to go into effect at Bolinas. The board was told Alcan Pacific does not own the land and has no option to buy it. The board said exclusions should have been considered during public hearings on the zone, and filed the letter.

At least 1,000 persons are expected to attend. Free candy and ice cream is passed out to children. Also there will be games and contests including a crazy hat contest.

YOUR KEY TO ECONOMY

Whatever make or model car you drive—enjoy the savings of Boron Power!

In only three years since its introduction to western motorists, Richfield Boron gasoline has created a success story of unequaled public acceptance.

Richfield Boron has passed the test where it counts most: on the streets and highways under all types of driving conditions. Tested, not in a laboratory, but in more than 100 million car miles of actual driving by motorists like you. That's where Richfield Boron gasoline has set new records for smooth, knock-free performance.

Not so dramatic—but equally important to money-conscious motorists—is the extra mileage enjoyed by users of this motor fuel. This mileage bonus comes from Boron's ability to control engine combustion, to prevent pre-ignition which wastes gasoline...and thus to utilize to the fullest every drop of clean-burning Richfield Boron.

And many owners of the new compact cars are finding they get "big car" performance by switching to Richfield Boron—plus the built-in mileage benefits of this advanced motor fuel.

"Boron" is not a gimmick or coined word invented by some pseudo-scientific publicity man. Boron is one of the natural elements of the universe. It appears on the atomic scale as do gold, silver, platinum, hydrogen, oxygen and other natural elements. Boron has over 200 industrial and scientific uses. Its most spectacular use has been in the improvement of high-energy fuels for rockets and missiles. Its most important use for you is in the gasoline tank of your car.

Service Stations Slate Grand Opening Fetes

Six service stations in Marin County will hold a grand opening this weekend under the name of Wilshire Holiday.

To celebrate the event airlines stewardesses will be on hand to give information on free trips to Europe, and otherwise help in making the days pleasant.

J. S. Rising, manager of the stations, says no purchases will be necessary in order to be eligible for the trip. The firm plans to give an all-expense paid trip to Europe to a Marin couple every 60 days.

Rising said Holiday Wilshire is a locally owned and managed group of stations until recently known as the Menlo Stations. He said the company soon plans to add about eight more stations to the six already in the chain.

The celebration will open Friday when tickets for drawing will be available. The drawing will be held June 15.

The six stations are located at 4484 Redwood Highway North at Lucas Valley Road; 101 Redhill avenue, San Anselmo; 600 Redwood Highway south at Richardson Bay Bridge; Fourth and Irwin, San Rafael; 451 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael, and 700 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, San Anselmo.

In addition R. P. Buis, regional sales manager for the Fisk tire division of the United States Rubber Co. has announced the appointment of Holiday Wilshire stations as distributor for Fisk tires. The chain is offering free a Fisk Premier tire with the purchase of one and the old tire you drive in on.

There also will be free soft drinks, balloons and lollipops Friday and Saturday.

Rising said the company plans to provide residents with "high quality gasoline, batteries and tires at substantial savings through volume marketing."

St. Louis was incorporated as a city in 1822.

Orchestra Will Play Special Work

A musical work written especially for young people will have its premier April 24 in a concert by the Marin Youth Orchestra.

The idea for the work came from Hugo Rinaldi, conductor of the orchestra. He discussed the possibility of a musical selection written for the Marin group with Dr. Leonard Ratner of Stanford University.

The idea took shape and Dr. Ratner produced "Overture to a Carnival" with the financial assistance of the Marin Music Co. and Miracle Music. The work displays the individual talents of the orchestra as well as the whole group. The program will be given at Marin Catholic High School at 7:30 p.m.

Orchid Growers

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Two Syracuse University professors have an unusual hobby: growing exotic orchids.

'The Seven Last Words Of Christ' Scheduled By Choir

The 50-member oratorio choir of the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at Strawberry Point will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ," oratorio by Theodore Dubois, in Broadus Hall at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Dr. Carlyle Bennett, professor of music administration and director of the choir, will conduct the cantata for the pre-Easter season. Dr. David Appleby, assistant professor of piano, will be pianist and Mrs George Suffern, instructor in organ, organist.

Soloists will be Louise Teel, Beverly Eggett and Ramona Kitchens, sopranos; Truett Black and Milton Martin, tenors; and Paul Lilly and Richard Moore, baritones.

The choir will also present the program in the First Baptist Church at Fairfield at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

School To Open Sans Science Classrooms

Terra Linda High School will open as scheduled next September, but its students may have to get along without a science classroom wing for anywhere from one to three months.

That was the word given the San Rafael Board of Education last night.

Bad news from contractor Ray Johnson was carried to the board by Carl F. Gromme, of Gromme, Mulvin and Priestley, the district's architects. He said Johnson's latest estimate of a completion date on the final classroom building was Oct. 15 "but I think he's about two weeks behind that."

"We'll move into the school anyway," declared Supt. Frank L. Lucas. "We can get along without that classroom wing for a little while."

Gromme said Johnson could speed up the building by perhaps as much as a month if he had additional materials—principally plywood—to make forms for concrete slab walls. His present schedule calls for pouring one section of concrete at a time. If more forms were set up, he could pour more at once. The contractor estimated he needed $4,600 worth more materials, and asked that the high school district buy them, said Gromme.

Trustee Harold Fulkerson proposed it be done "if we can get a definite commitment date of Sept. 30 or earlier to move into the building."

But Gromme seemed dubious of such a date. He said Johnson had asked an extension of 150 days of the 400 calendar days he was allowed for completing the high school when he began the job last May. The 150 days represents the length of last year's steel strike.

That would put the completion off nearly until December, the three trustees present noted.

Superintendent Lucas was instructed to try to get a commitment from Johnson and report to the board when it meets again next Tuesday night.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at Zion Lutheran Church, Ninth and Anza Strees, San Francisco.

Brown Signs Bill Launching State Auto Smog Control

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown penned his name today to the bill he called the "most historic achievement" of the 1960 Legislature—the bill launching a statewide smog control program.

The measure's most far-reaching aspect will eventually touch the majority of car owners in California. It requires installation of air pollution control devices on all new motor vehicles and on used vehicles in smog-afflicted counties.

The new law sets up a 13-man Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board to enforce its requirements. The board will set criteria for approval of exhaust control devices and approve the devices used.

Within a year after suitable devices are approved by the board, no new motor vehicle can be sold in the state without a control device.

No used vehicle can be sold after that until a smog muffler is installed, unless local governmental bodies determine there is no smog problem in their area.

Provost Of Seminary Mum On 'Gag' Charge

The provost of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo had virtually no comment today about an accusation by a student that the Presbyterian institution is "selling its soul" to finance a building program.

John R. Little, former advertising executive who took over the new provost post in January, was queried as to what he thought of the charge made by Keith Williams, a Corte Maderan living at Oxtoby Hall.

Williams, in a letter to the Independent-Journal, said he was opposed to the "censorship" involved in requiring clearance of publicity releases through the office of seminary development. He said the seminary could hide from the public disagreements between student and faculty in order to present a "consistent image" to the public, and thereby "find it easier to get funds."

Little offered very little comment today.

But he did say, in a very pleasant voice, and after being asked if Williams would be expelled or otherwise disciplined, "No, after all one of our heritages is our right to protest."

Meeting Set For Talks On North Bay Aqueduct Plan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—The director of the state Department of Water Resources today called a meeting of supervisors and legislators of four North Bay counties to discuss the future of the North Bay Aqueduct.

In a letter, Harvey O. Banks invited supervisors, state senators and assemblymen of Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano Counties to meet in Sacramento April 28 to discuss the future of the aqueduct, which would bring water to Marin from the Sacramento River delta. The meeting is to be in the Public Works Building at 1:30 p.m.

In his letter, Banks pointed out two major charges which have prompted him to call the meeting:

1. The department has revised upward its estimates of the future population of the area which the aqueduct would serve.

2. Start of construction of the Nicasio dam project in Marin; negotiations and definite planning for obtaining water from the Russian River by the North Marin Water District; probable construction by the Sonoma Flood Control and Water District of water conduits into the Sonoma and Petaluma valleys.

The first factor would increase demand for aqueduct water while the second factors would tend to reduce the aqueduct's service area.

Bank said the purpose of the meeting would be to review these developments and discuss "policy matters" which his department should take with regard to the project.

The North Bay Aqueduct, one of the features of the state water plan, was authorized by the 1957 Legislature which appropriated $1,430,000 for preparation of plans and specifications, which now are substantially complete. The 1959 Legislature appropriated another million dollars for purchase of right of way for the aqueduct, but none of this money has been spent as yet by Banks' department.

Bolinas Housing For Aged To Be TV Talk Subject

A proposed 300-unit housing project for senior citizens at Bolinas will be the subject of television station KPIX's second program in the "By the People" series Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Marin County Planning Director Mary Summers, Supervisor Vera Schultz, Lester Burdet of the Alcan Pacific Corp. and Louis Duplan of the governor's citizens committee on the aging will be on the program.

Alcan Pacific, according to Mrs. Schultz, does not have an option to buy land for the projected development. While it has a use permit to construct apartments there, under a new zoning law soon to go into effect the corporation would have to apply again for a variance to permit construction. Another hurdle in the path of construction is approval of a federal loan.

California Reserve Officers Meeting Set In San Rafael

Members of the California Department of the Reserve Officers Assn. will meet April 29, 30 and May 1 at the Bermuda Palms, San Rafael.

Approximately 6,000 invitations were extended to reserve officers throughout the state, reports Lt. Col. Daniel G. Cook San Rafael, general co-chairman of the convention.

Lt. Col. Carl Webber, Kentfield, finance; Lt. Cmdr. Donald Carpenter, Mill Valley, housing; Lt. Col. Robert Paine, Novato, registration; Lt. Col. Leroy Wanless, Novato, entertainment

Teacher Pay Hike Delayed In San Rafael

The San Rafael Board of Education last night delayed for a week decision on whether to raise the salary schedule of elementary school teachers to equal that of high school teachers.

Two of the three trustees present expressed themselves as ready to adopt such a raise. But the third, Rex Silvernale, suggested that perhaps a smaller raise for the elementary teachers and a raise in the high school schedule should be considered. He noted that high school teachers themselves believe their pay schedule should be higher than that of teachers in the elementary schools.

TAX RAISE

The raise for elementary teachers was one of the items listed by trustees as requiring an increase in the tax rate, which was approved by voters in February.

Trustee Harold Fulkerson said he was willing to vote the increase for elementary teachers. Chairman C. Paul Bettini agreed, declaring, "That's what we said we were going to do."

But action was delayed because of absence of trustees Roderick P. Martinelli and Willard Vernon, and because Supt. Frank L. Lucas said he expected to have a survey of high school salaries completed for next Tuesday night's meeting.

NEW TEACHERS

Hiring of three teachers for next year was reported last night my Lucas. He said, however, that they had not been promised higher salaries than in present schedules.

Hired were Margaret J. Brooks, a beginning teacher for elementary schools, Mrs. Jeanne Bennett, to teach science, and Albert L. Gautraud, to head the social studies department at Terra Linda High School.

The superintendent also reported resignations of C. Irvin Wright, instrumental music teacher, who plans to return to his home state of Washington, and Mrs. Cecelia F. Wagner, remedial reading teacher, retiring and planning to write a book on remedial reading.

The board appointed: Manuel Cardoza, as custodian of San Pedro School, Laurence Pearson as janitor of Santa Venetia School and Ray Bunyea as custodian of Gallinas School. Resignation of Vero Tilkus, bus driver, because of illness was accepted.

Board Approves Interviews In Welfare Cases

Betty L. Presley, director of the Marin County Welfare Department, won approval of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday for an experiment in group interviewing of mothers receiving Aid to Needy Children.

The project will require initial outlay of $850 for preparation of a "research design," this money to be advanced by the county but reimbursed by the state.

Chairman Walter R. Castro cast the single dissenting vote on the ground that tax money would be needed even though not from the county, and he also inquired, "Why use Marin County as a guinea-pig?"

Miss Presley said in a letter to the board that the group interview method has potential for enabling some to "come to grips with their problems and take steps toward their solution more quickly" than by individual interviews.

Supervisor William Fusselman moved acceptance.

Tables Turned In Cuba

HAVANA (UPI)—Anti-government guerrillas in Cuba's eastern mountains were reported today to be using the same sabotage tactics that swept Premier Fidel Castro to power 16 months ago.

Castro, officially on an "inspection tour of land reforms" in Oriente Province, was believed to have taken direct command of troops, peasants and people's militiamen seeking to stamp out the anti-government forces.

The guerrillas, said to be led by ex-Capt. Manuel Beaton, were hiding out in the Maestra Mountains—Castro's own base for guerrilla operations against ouster ex-President Fulgencio Batista.

Reed Board Approves Test Program Results

Reed Union School District trustees took a look at results of the district's testing program last night and expressed approval of what they saw.

"I am pleased to see that the results of the testing program indicate a comprehensive program is being offered and the product is doing all right," said Trustee Erwin Farley.

The board gave Supt. Paul R. Stouffer the green light to proceed with several recommendations he had presented to the trustees. These were: elimination of the position of administrative assistant to the superintendent and hiring of more maintenance and clerical personnel; establishment of a material center at which teachers can have access to material and equipment needed for projects, and hiring of a second music teacher to specialize in choral music. The trustees also accepted Stouffer's recommendation that plans for a cafeteria be abandoned.

Resignations, effective at the close of the school year, were accepted from five teachers: Mrs. Barbara Raadik, Mrs. Patricia Lee, Mrs. Mary Kennedy, Margery Milbrook and Chris Bogios.

Mrs. Jane Cope was granted a maternity leave.

Employed for next year were Mrs. Dorothy Hanson, who previously taught in the Reed District, and Elizabeth Schafer. Both will teach at Bel Aire School.

Thirty-one states now have boat numbering laws in line with the Federal Boating Act of 1958.

Whoosh! Winds Force Giants To Change Style Of Play

The San Francisco Giants, who used to knock the cover off the ball to win games, will have to change their style of play entirely to win this year, says Stan Musial.

Musial made the observation after the first game in the new Candlestick Park—a windblown affair in which the Giants defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, before 42,269 fans.

"Runs are going to be hard to get in this park," said Musial after the opener. "The Giants are going to have to do a lot of bunting, a lot of base stealing to win games here. They are going to have to change their style completely."

The spacious outfield and a strong wind are what Musial was talking about. The outfield fences are only 335 feet to the corner, but fan out quickly so that the right and left fielders stand beside 397-foot signs; centerfield is 420 feet.

On top of that, the wind blows a gale in from the left field side so that hard-smashed balls that way are lucky to travel 300 feet.

"The wind is going to be a factor in every ball game here," Solly Hemus, St. Louis manager, pointed out.

Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants apparently had "cased" the place earlier. He had his boys attempting bunts, and they stole three bases.

"Yes, I think I went for right center when I hit that double," he said, "but it's a thing I don't like to do. I like to feel free to hit to all fields. And, of course, my power is to left field. This is an excellent park. But I think they should plant some trees back of center field to improve the batter's background."

The fans loved the park too. They found the view from all seats wonderful. Those sitting in the shadows wrapped in blankets and topcoats were chilly and the management didn't turn on the widely-publicized radiant heat for the 20,000 fans in the reserved seat section.

The anticipated traffic jam failed to materialize on the highways after the game. Less than an hour after the final out the parking lot was completely cleared.

However, there was a traffic jam on the water in Candlestick Cove. Here, more than a hundred yachts milled around waiting to pick up passengers from the game. There was only a small temporary dock to accommodate seafaring visitors.

Rigney thinks this park is tailor-made for Orlando Cepeda, who drove in all the Giant runs with a double and a triple.

"This park is just the place for Cepeda," said Rigney. "We'll see a lot of doubles and triples here that we didn't see in the old Seals Stadium."

"You can't come in, say, on a weak hitter," said Willie. "You have to stay deep because the wind blows anything a lot farther than usual."

And the players were just about unanimous in agreeing with him.

Mays, who loves to tee off against Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, got his chance to do it today in the "reverse" jetstream when the Giants met the Cardinals.

CANDLESTICK WORTHY OF WORLD SERIES

By JOHN J. CONNOLLY

First and foremost, an eclipse in the sports picture in northern California is on record today. It followed closely the grand and glorious opening yesterday of the San Francisco's Giants' new home at Candlestick Park. With 42,269 baseball fans looking on, our Giants rose to great heights turning back the St. Louis Cardinals 3 to 1.

Mountains of didoes that had been going on for many months, discord, red tape between builder and architect, petty political bickering and every flim-flam objection in the path of progress was swept aside yesterday in great style and pomp while the Giants christened their new home.

Vice president Richard Nixon, Governor Edmund Brown, Ford Frick, high commissioner of baseball; Joe Cronin, president of the American League and Warren Giles, president of the National League spoke briefly as part of the dedicatory ceremonies.

LARGEST CROWD

The banner crowd, largest in the history of baseball in northern California, saw more than a nine-inning ball game. They saw a picture no artist could paint as the last vestige of minor league shackles was wiped away and a big league baseball park became a reality.

Candlestick Park is a big league ball orchard in every detail. It has beauty, size, style, character and charm. Nothing quite like it was ever before unveiled in the "City that knows how."

Down through the years these old eyes have watched the 1915 World's Fair; the opening of the Bay Bridge, the colossal dedication of Golden Gate Bridge, the monumental adaption of the freeway system of transportation and now, even greater in scope comes the greatest sports arena since the days of the Roman Coliseum.

"Go see the Giants NOW," rang from every roof top as the jammed freeways poured their human cargo into the new home of our proud Giants.

WORLD SERIES

Candlestick Park, built at a cost of almost 16 million dollars, is worth it to proud northern Californians, who cheered to the echo when Vice President Richard Nixon declared, "The park is big enough for the next World Series."

The composite picture of the old New York Giants and the new San Francisco ball park may very likely present this area with a National League championship this year!

Candlestick Park is a swell place for professional football; professional fights and any big sports event that might come this far west.

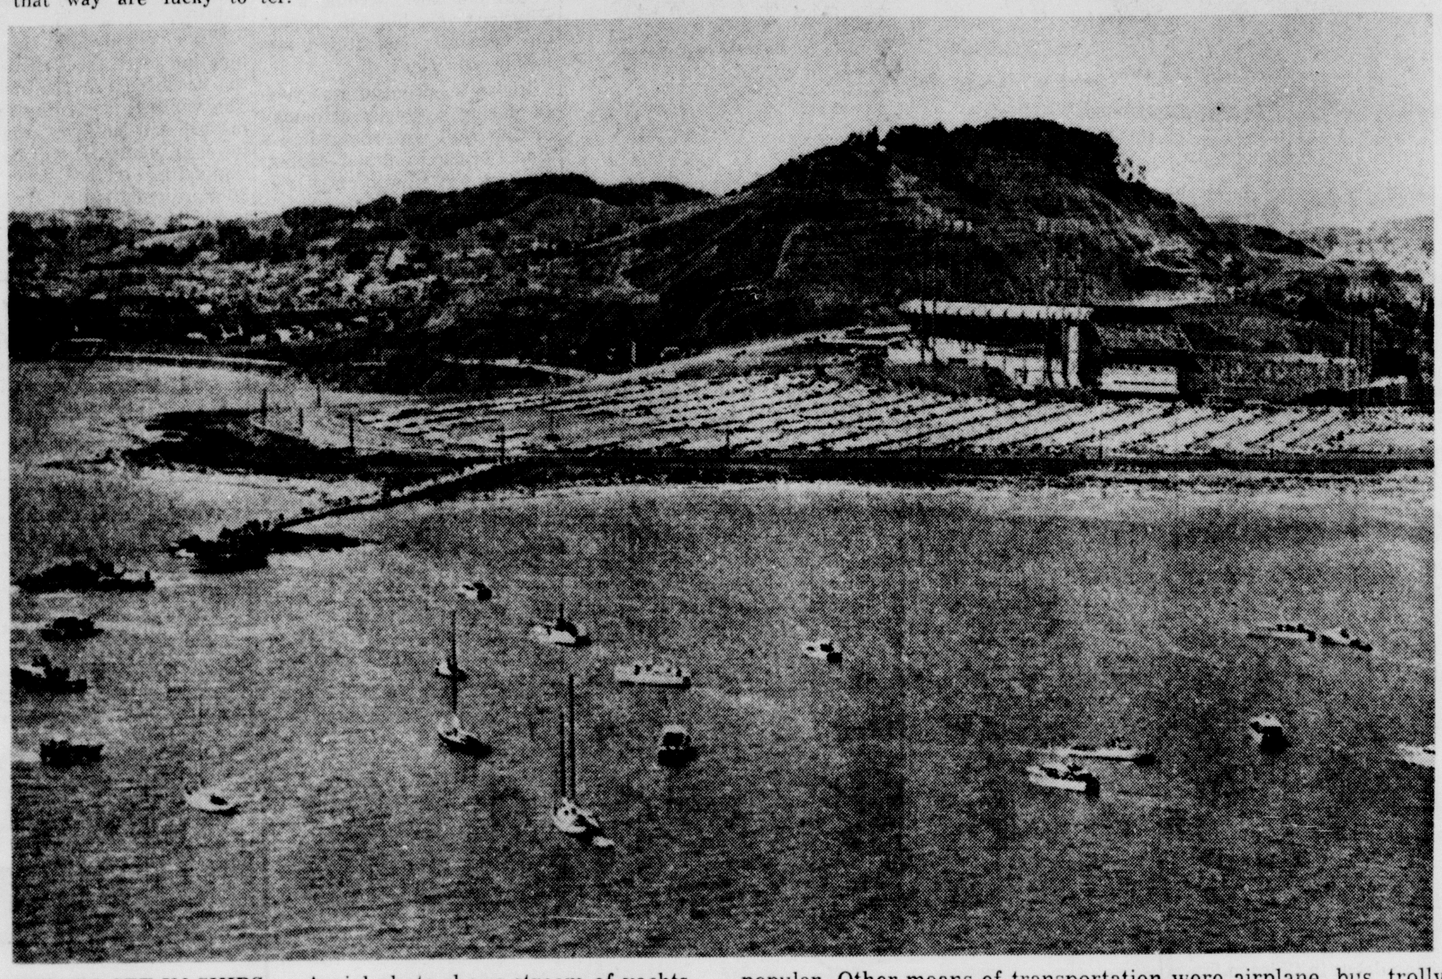
The sun shone brightly and the winds roared lightly as the band played the Star Spangled Banner to hoist the flag and hear the umpire yell out "Play Ball."

COMFORTABLE SEATS

No more creaky fences exist in S. F. baseball. The seats are large and comfortable and enough of them to handle the Bay Area crowd as of NOW. But I can see the complete bowl at Candlestick taking shape and when it does and encloses the park, less wind be left and the cash customers will be able to sit back and see a ball game as really big league baseball should be exhibited.

All the gossip about traffic jams, parking difficulties, and unpreparedness went adrift yesterday as the crowd of 42,000-plus was orderly handled, and everything went off like clockwork.

The game itself was typical of major league variety and our Giants looked, acted and decorated themselves with laurels as they packed off the first victory in a long 154-game struggle to bring the 1960 championship to California again, and San Francisco for the first time.



DOWN TO SEE IN SHIPS — Aerial photo shows stream of yachts parading to opening game at Candlestick Park yesterday. The nautical approach to baseball's newest arena proved tremendously popular. Other means of transportation were airplane, bus, trolly car and even plain old automobiles. (AP Wirephoto)

Dodgers Still Have Victory Magic; Braves, Reds Also Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Manager Walt Alston still has that World Series magic and the Los Angeles Dodgers still have that uncanny knack for doing things the hard way.

That was the big story last night when the Dodgers climaxed one of the greatest opening days in National League history with an uphill 3-2, 11-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs.

A record night game crowd for the league of 67,550 turned out in the massive Los Angeles Coliseum and was treated to a sensational game in which:

Don Drysdale, 1959 strikeout king, fanned 14 Cubs and allowed only seven hits over the full 11 innings.

The "cliff-hanger" Dodgers rallied from an early 2-0 deficit, brought about with the help of ex-teammate Don Zimmer's homer, to tie the score in the fifth inning and carry the game into extra innings.

PINCH HOMER

Alston, who twice got pinch-hit homers from Chuck Essegian in the 1959 World Series, called on the rugged utility outfielder with two out in the last of the 11th—and got the game-winning homer from him.

Essegian's teammates gathered at home plate to meet him as he ran out the game-winning homer and the huge crowd accorded the ex-Stanford football player a thunderous ovation. It was the third straight homer for Essegian as a pinch-hitter, dating back to the '59 Series.

Pitcher Bob Anderson's single and a double by Tony Taylor gave the Cubs their second run off Drysdale in the third inning, but the Dodgers tied the score on two walks and a double by Wally Moon, another of the Dodgers' 1959 heroes.

ATTENDANCE RECORD

The attendance broke the old National League single-game night crowd of 67,037 set by the Dodgers against Milwaukee at the Coliseum last Aug. 8 and rounded out a day during which the four National League openers drew a total of 179,782 fans.

The San Francisco Giants dedicated their new $15-million Candlestick Park and beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, before 42,269; The Milwaukee Braves shaded the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, before 39,888 and the Cincinnati Reds romped over the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-4, before 30,075 in the daylight openers. American League openers are scheduled for April 18 and April 19.

Vice President Richard Nixon was among the capacity throng at San Francisco as Sam Jones hurled a three-hitter and Orlando Cepeda drove in all three Giant runs. Jones fanned three and walked only one, yielding the St. Louis run on a homer by ex-Giant Leon Wagner. Cepeda tripled home two runs in the first inning and singled home Willie Mays in the third.

DRESSEN DEBUTS

Charlie Dressen made a victorious debut as manager of the Braves when Joe Adcock blasted a two-run eighth-inning homer off Pittsburgh relief ace Leroy Face, who didn't lose his first game of the 1959 season until Sept. 11. Warren Spahn had homered and pitched shutout ball until the Pirates tied the score at 2-2 in the eighth. Don McMahon picked up the win with ninth-inning relief aid from Lew Burdette.

Red Schoendienst made his first start for the Braves since the 1958 World Series but went hitless in three trips to the plate.

Roy McMillan and rookie Tony Gonzales hit homers as the Reds spoiled Robin Roberts' 11th consecutive opening-day appearance with a nine-hit attack. Roberts was rocked for seven hits and eight earned runs in 4⅓ innings. Jim O'Toole, who shut out the Phillies from the third through the eighth inning, was the winner.

The Cleveland Indians beat the New York Yankees, 7-4; the Boston Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 3-0; the Kansas City A's beat the Baltimore Orioles, 3-0, and the Chicago White Sox topped the Washington Senators, 5-0, in American League exhibition games.

GATE RECORDS TOPPLE IN N. L. OPENERS

The National League set an opening day attendance record yesterday, attracting 179,782 fans as the 1960 season got under way.

A crowd of 67,550 at the Los Angeles Coliseum, a league record for a night game, supplied better than third of the total as the National opened a week ahead of the American League.

The San Francisco Giants, inaugurating their 15-million-dollar Candlestick Park, drew the second largest crowd of the day with a sell-out of 42,269 for their game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Fan Loses A Finger; Sees Game Anyway

Hilary Belloc, 57, had sailed to the game in his ketch Signe from his De Silva Island home and was mooring at the ballpark when the accident occurred.

Belloc, son of the late British writer, Hilaire Belloc, was bandaged at the Candlestick dispensary, then hurried into San Francisco for further treatment.

Meanwhile the injured man's son, Martin, 16, conducted a successful search for the missing finger tip and delivered it to the dispensary. Motorcycle Patrolman Don Wilson raced after Belloc with the digit portion in a paper cup.

It was stitched back on at Polyclinic Hospital and Belloc dashed back to the stadium for the last three innings. He left with a big grin after seeing the San Francisco Giants beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1.

"I suppose it'll hurt later," he said.

Go-Kart Meeting Tomorrow Night

Organizational meeting of a Marin County "Go-Kart Klub" will be held Thursday night in San Rafael, and not tonight, as was erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The meeting will be held at San Rafael High School "Little Theater" starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Fresno Beats Marines

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Fresno State and the Southern California Trojans led the way into today's third round of the San Diego Marine Invitational Baseball Tournament.

The Trojans beat the Marines yesterday 11-7, and Fresno State stopped the University of New Mexico, 9-2.

Park To Be Dedicated

A new park will be dedicated in Scott Highlands and Rancho Los Lomas, Mill Valley, at 10 a.m. Saturday. The two and one-half acre park is on Linda drive and touches both subdivisions.

Mayor Robert D. Huber and City Manager A. E. Almcrants will take part in the ribbon cutting ceremonies. Robert R. Laughead, president of the Scott Highlands Assn. will present $500 to the mayor which is to be matched by $500 by the city to develop the park.

The park has no name as yet but there is to be a competition held later to select a name.

Following the dedication ceremony, there will be an Easter egg hunt for children

Pocketful Of Candlestick Drips; Everything Goes 'Right' For Opener

Pocketful of Candlestick drips . . .

There's no truth to the rumor the Giants will switch Willie Mays to rightfield, although it certainly appears that will be the busiest defensive role at windswept Candlestick.

Of the 11 base hits in yesterday's game, 10 were to the rightside of the diamond; the lone shot into leftfield was by none other than Sam Jones, who must be the funniest looking batter this side of Aunt Jemima.

Rod Ryan, the Western Union press representative, has been at Candlestick every day for the past two weeks and claims the wind direction has been the same daily.

YESTERDAY'S opener gave fans a taste of about everything . . . including defensive sparklers at all positions. Infielding gems of the bare-handed variety were turned in by the Giants' Jimmy Davenport and Eddie Bressoud while the Cards' right side duo of Alex Grammas and Stan Musial made sensational snags of screaming liners. In the outfield St. Louis' Bill White and S. F.'s Willie Kirkland made circus catches.

And to make the day complete, Willie Mays ran out from under his hat in snaring a short pop fly.

LEON WAGNER of the opposition won the distinction of hitting Candlestick's first homer, while watching the historic feat from the press box was Jerry Donovan, who is 1931 was the first person to clout a ball out of the then brand new Seals Stadium. Donovan is now the Giants' business manager.

SEVERAL BUSLOADS of Marin fans happily discovered the traffic problem was not as acute as had been anticipated. We rode with Dutch Koenig's "751 Club Special" and made it from Fourth and C streets in San Rafael to the Candlestick parking lot in precisely 61 minutes. The return trip, at the height of the commute hour, took only one hour and 17 minutes.

KENNY VENTURI was a press box visitor, still wearing a dazed look after his heartbreaking loss to Arnold Palmer in the Masters. Ken said Palmer won the prize on the 16th when his strong putt hit the flag and gave him an easy par putt. He explained the putt would have rolled another 10 or 12 feet if it hadn't hit the flag. His subsequent birdie putts on the 17th and 18th added the coup de grace.

THE GLASS-enclosed press box is the nicest present for the Fourth Estate who had to suffer in the open-air, rickety box at Seals Stadium.

The press room, where the scribes gather for a nip or two after each game, is a beauty. Photographers proved to be the hungriest and thirstiest opening day visitors. While the scribes were still hard at work, the lensmen swooped down on the press room feed and booze supply like a flock of vultures.

FIRST GIANT to hit a homer in the new park will receive a $100 savings bond and a complete shoe wardrobe.

BILL LEISER was among the group flown to the opener by Commodore Seaplane Service from Sausalito.

SEVERAL NEW YORK scribes were in attendance, still clinging to the memories of "their" Giants. One even tried to find fault with Candlestick, without success.

BAY AREA bosses were sorry to learn that 42,269 grandmothers died Monday night. Man dig that era-a-a-zy funeral.

ONE SCHOOLBOY we know came down with what he told his teacher was "Giant fever." And, he explained, "the doctor prescribed Candlestick as the only cure."

ONE MAN didn't get home until 3 a.m., but he had an explanation, for his gullible wife: "Gee, honey, what an opener! Can you imagine, 56 innings—longest game in history!"

Yes, baseball season is here . . . at last!

L.A. May Get Hockey Franchise Next Season

VANCOUVER (AP) — Jim Piggott, owner of Victoria Cougars, said last night he definitely will seek permission to move his franchise to Los Angeles next season.

Just returned from Los Angeles where the Cougars and Vancouver Canucks played two games of their best-of-nine Western Hockey League final, Piggott said:

"Everybody knows that I'm interested in Los Angeles. They knew that I tried to move last year and I'm still interested. If I can make the move to Los Angeles, I intend to do so."

Lopes, Morales set For April 26 Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lightweight boxers Joey Lopes of West Sacramento and Hilario Morales of Mexico will fight a rematch of their October bout here April 26.

The young Mexican won a 10-round decision from Lopes in the match six months ago.

Sacrifice, Hit-Run, Stolen Bases! Rig Has Revamped Style Of Play

CONNOLLY

Nothing succeeds like success. After yesterday's victorious opener against the St. Louis Cardinals, the Giants are leading the league and they look like they could stay there or thereabouts all year.

One victory doesn't make a season, but if this was a sample of Manager Bill Rigney's strategy for 1960, we'll buy it in great quantities.

The very first inning was the tip-off on "the new Rigney." In this stanza alone, the Giants came up with a sacrifice bunt, an attempted hit and run play, a stolen base and a three base hit sandwiched in between three walks and an opening error by St. Louis shortstop, Alex Grammas.

LATER IN the game, our new second baseman, "Blazer" Blasingame, tried to beat out a bunt for a base hit and almost succeeded, even though Ken Boyer was practically sitting in the Blazer's lap on the third base side. Don is going to get a lot of hits this year by catching the opposing infield with their feet crossed.

The more stolen bases in the late innings showed the Giants are going to take chances. One was of the gift variety and the other was successful because of a poor throw and a good slide. The point is, the Rigney men are trying to get around the bases by hook or by crook.

It occurs to us that, for the first time, Manager Bill feels that he has the horses to be able to pull out all the stops and shoot for the moon.

THESE 1960 Giants have, in Blasingame, a man who can get on base. Jimmy Davenport can bunt or hit behind the runner. And then follows the most impressive "Murderer's Row" in present day major league baseball: in order, Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Orlando Cepeda, and Willie Kirkland. Following this wrecking crew, Eddie Bressoud is still a threat.

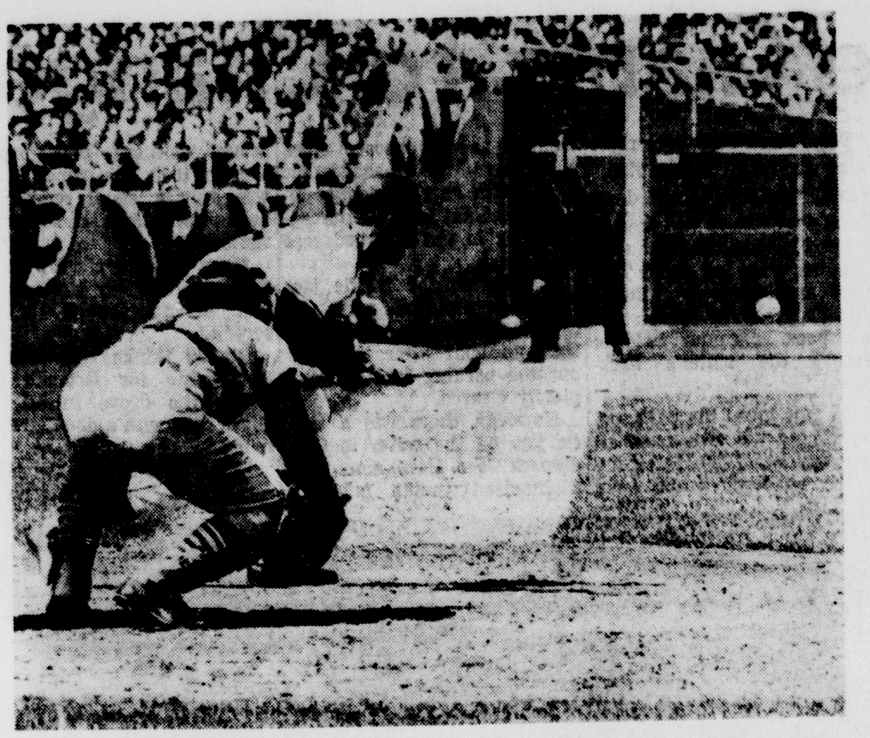
If the Giants had a catcher of the stature of Del Crandall of the Braves they would be a shoo-in by 10 games. As it is, Bob Schmidt and Hobie Landrith are adequate but not great.

One benefit of Landrith's hand injury may be that our new entry in the catching department, Neil Wilson, may get his sea legs and turn out to be a pleasant surprise. When a pinchhitter replaces Schmidt, Wilson will finish up. We have been watching this kid for three years. His once high batting average (in the high .300s) has tailed off, but he has great potential.

IF THE rest of the pitching staff can live up to the example set by Sad Sam Jones (both pitching and hitting) the job will be easy for Rigney this year. Two of the three hits allowed were by Bill White and the third by Leon Wagner, both former Giants. These two, along with Big D Spencer and Ernie Broglio, also former Giant chattels, make up most of the backbone of the "revamped" Cardinals.

Could be the locals will have the Indian sign on the Cards again this year. Last year the Giants took 16 out of 22, and would like to do as well or better. It's a nice way to start and finish the season. And it could not happen to a nicer bunch of guys.

Only one hundred fifty three to go!



SACRIFICE—Jimmy Davenport dumps a sacrifice bunt in moving Don Blasingame to second base in this first inning action as the Giants jumped off to a 2-0 lead. John Connolly discusses Manager Bill Rigney's "new" strategy in "The Bullpen" column. (AP Wirephoto)

N.Y. Unveils Stadium Model For New Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — Branch Rickey has reiterated that the Continental League, despite lack of support from organized baseball, will begin operations in 1961 on schedule.

The 79-year-old head of the would-be major circuit said he was more certain than ever that the Continental League would not only become a reality next year but will surpass the currently constituted majors in four years.

Rickey's optimism was voiced during a special ceremony in City Hall yesterday when a model of the proposed stadium for the New York entry was unveiled to newsmen.

Among those who gave the stadium his blessings was Mayor Robert F. Wagner who said the Board of Estimate will vote in favor of its construction at a meeting April 27.

"I assure you," he said, "the City of New York is behind this and we are going to see it through to a successful conclusion. There is nothing in the way now for New York to have a second major league team."

Present plans call for a 55,000-seat stadium with movable sections for conversion to accommodate 60,000 for football. A proposed parking lot will accommodate 5,500 automobiles. The stadium also will feature two sections of rotating seats, the absence of pillars and columns or any other obstruction, escalators and continuous lighting.

The city will build the stadium and lease the structure to the baseball franchise owners. The venture, according to the mayor, will not cost the taxpayers a penny. It will be self-liquidating, on the basis of a 30-year-bond issue. Rental would be $900,000 a year.

"I have said all along that the Continental League will operate in 1961," said Rickey, "and I feel more strongly about it now than ever before. That despite the fact that baseball has not seen fit to support us. I have not given up that hope—even now.

"I'm not saying all of our cities will have their own parks by 1961, but we will open even if it means we will play somewhere else. Eventually, we all will have our own playing sites. That is no problem, as I see it."

Kalingo In TV Debut Vs. Hart Tonight

"I want fight fans of this country to like me and I want to beat Hart tonight very much to make a good impression and get a ranking," says the 24-year-old Philippine welterweight champion.

Kalingo five months ago stopped the then undefeated Cuban, Florentino Fernandez, in the first round and gained international attention. Kalingo will be making his national television debut in Chicago Stadium.

His foe for the 10-rounder—ABC 7 p.m. PST—is seasoned Sugar Hart of Philadelphia, loser of his last two bouts. Hart, slumping to the ranking of No. 7 contender, can hit with either hand and has scored 21 knockouts in 28 victories. He has fought two draws and lost five, the last two to high-ranking Charley Scott and Luis Rodriquez.

"I became very proud when I won the Philippine title from Steve Tony in Manila in 1957," says Kalingo in fractured English. "I was proud, too, when I knocked out Fernandez in Caracas and was made fighter of the month by the NBA (National Boxing Assn.).

"But I am unhappy about the rematch in Havana. I'll make up for it by beating Hart."

Kalingo had Fernandez on the floor twice in the rematch, but the Cuban was awarded a technical knockout in the second round.

Giant southpaw won 12 and lost 16 in 1959.

Sam Jones had a two-hitter going and two men out in the ninth inning of the opener. Then Bill White, who had singled in the first frame, smashed another sharp one-bagger off Sam. The toothpick munching hurler's bid for a shutout was ruined in the fifth inning when Leon Wagner, a teammate last year, belted a home-run over the right field fence.

Orlando Cepeda was the strong man in the Giant attack against right hander Larry Jackson. San Francisco's "Baby Bull" powered a two-run triple to right center in the first inning and lined a single to center in the third that scored Mays.

The first two Giant runs were unearned. Leadoff man Don Blasingame hit a grounder which second baseman Alex Grammas booted. Jackson walked Mays with one out, then Cepeda banged his three-bagger after Willie McCovey had fouled out.

Canadiens Near Fifth Straight NHL Championship

TORONTO (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens are on the verge of winning the Stanley Cup for the fifth straight year, an unprecedented feat in the National Hockey League.

They took a 3-0 stranglehold on this year's cup by outclassing the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 last night. They aim to sweep the best-of-7 final playoff series by winning the fourth game here tomorrow night.

The scoring explosion by the Canadiens' almost-forgotten third line of Phil Goyette, Andre Pronovost and Marcel Provost and the solid work of goalie Jacques Plante stymied the Leafs' desperate effort to get into series contention.

Goyette, with two goals, was a standout on offense. Don Marshall and the dynamic Richard brothers—Maurice and Henri—got the other Montreal goals.

Head Knocks Out Chatmon In Three

RICHMOND (AP)—Jim Head of Oakland, making his sixth pro fight, knocked out Ocie Chatmon, also of Oakland, at 1:50 of the third round last night.

Managers Needed In S.R. Pony League

San Rafael Pony Baseball League is in dire need of three more managers, and interested adults are invited to attend a meeting tonight at 201 Third street in San Rafael.

The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock.

College Fighter Remains Critical

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Charlie Mohr Jr., a young University of Wisconsin boxer who suffered a brain hemorrhage shortly after his final bout in the NCAA tournament last Saturday, continued today to hover between life and death. He has been unscious since shortly after the fight.

The 22-year-old senior from Merrick, N. Y., remained in critical condition at University Hospital where he was taken and underwent a brain operation shortly after he lost his 165-pound NCAA crown to Stu Bartell, of San Jose State in the finals of the tournament.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

LOS ANGELES—Jim McCarter, 215, Los Angeles, knocked out Eddie Jackson, 187, Los Angeles, 5.

RICHMOND—James Head, 200, Oakland, Calif., knocked out Ocie Chatmon, 184, Oakland, 3.

FRESNO, Calif.—Glen Flanagan, 143¾, St. Paul, and Javellana Kid, 144, Manila, drew, 10.

Vault Mark May Not Be Accepted

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — J. D. Martin of Oklahoma pole vaulted 15 feet, 9¾ inches yesterday—the highest in history. But it probably will not be accepted as a world record because the crossbar was set behind one upright and in front of the other.

If Giants Can Play Like Rigney Can Talk, They've Got It Made

HANLEY

SAN FRANCISCO—If the Giants play baseball this season as snappy and smart as their manager Bill Rigney delivered a pungent and brisk speech the other night, they must win the National League pennant.

Rigney was the next to last speaker in an eight-man talking lineup and he wowed the audience. Maybe he sounded exceptionally good because the seven who preceded him, including the toastmaster, did not hit any oratorical homers.

There were several singles, such as Horace Stoneham's agreement with a previous speaker's suggestion that it might not be a bad idea to put the umpires in the stands because the fans often feel they see the plays better than the umps.

Joe Cronin, the American League president, batted a nostalgic .400 as he clicked off the names of past baseball stars from the Bay Area but spun into a slump when he forgot to include Lefty O'Doul who was among those present at the Candlestick Park dedication dinner.

Governor Pat Brown hit a foul liner that was turned into a triple play by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and National League president Warren Giles. Brown predicted a 1960 World Series between "the Dodgers and Giants." Frick, in his turn at bat, replied: "I hope I'm there to see it." Giles, in effect, said: "Me, too."

Mayor George Christopher was the leadoff man and, like Cronin, was batting .400 until he began apologizing in advance for Candlestick's traffic problem and unfinished minor items in the new park which he promised would be set right "in another 30 days."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon was the No. 1 guest and as such rated the clean-up position. In speaking lineups that is last, not fourth. He spoke after Rigney whose homer was tough to follow. He stroked a smooth triple with a sharp analysis of the Giants' chances, pointing out several analytical "ifs."

SOME DEMOCRATS, keenly tuned to Nixon's remarks, thought the Republican presidential candidate made an error when he alluded to the "World Series next October and early November" but the "early November" reference was to politics, not baseball.

In his best presentation of the evening, toastmaster Jeff Chandler introduced Rigney by recalling how Rigney in 1951 reacted to Bobby Thomson's pennant winner homer.

"IT'S ALL OURS, it's all ours, it's all ours," Chandler quoted Rigney as shouting. "And come early next October I want to hear him shout again 'It's all ours, it's all ours'."

With that, the Giant skipper stepped quickly to the rostrum and captured the audience when he got right to the heart of the problem at hand.

"WE'RE READY," he said with conviction. "We're tired of knocking on the door. See you at Candlestick."

It seemed like the pennant was won. But maybe it was only because Rigney's opposition at the dedication dinner was not as tough as those Los Angeles Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves will be for the Giants.

AS ONE OF the $10 per plate guests observed:

"Has everyone suddenly forgotten that the Braves and Dodgers are still in the league?"

Fish-Game Commissioner Urges 1-Deer, Either Sex, Hunt Season

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—California's 400,000 or so deer hunters likely will have two seasons this year—coastal from mid-August to late September, and inland-Sierra from late September to the end of October—with bucks only. This may be the last year for such seasons.

Thomas Richards, Jr., fish and game commissioner from Sacramento and president of the commission last year, has proposed the commission consider a single season, with a one-deer, either-sex limit, throughout the state.

Richards admits the idea is not original with him, nor especially new at all. Another member of the commission, Henry Clineschmidt of Redding, made a similar proposal during a 1959 meeting.

But Richards' espousal of the proposal is an indication the change in hunting habits may be in the offing.

At present, the limit in most of the coastal season area is two bucks. The generosity of this limit has been dictated somewhat by the fact that much of the hunting grounds in the area are closed. Under the two-buck limit, about 20,000 deer are taken a year in the coastal areas—not considered excessive—and it is feared if the limit were held to one buck, the deer would become overpopulated.

Most the inland-Sierra season, with the exception of part of Tehama, Shasta and Siskiyou counties, has a one-buck limit. No one is quite sure why two bucks are allowed in some portions, except that it's been done for a number of years.

The proposal for one season, one deer (either-sex) is a two-pronged approach to solving some of California's deer hunting problems. The problems now are too many hunters and too little kill.

One by one, the "remote" hunting areas have been invaded by the jeep caravans. The easily accessible hunting grounds become villages of house trailers, pickups and camps and risks of catching a stray, or intentional, 30.06 slug, are growing by the year.

Even in good years, such as 1959, hunters take about 75,000 deer. Hunter-wise, this means about one buck for each five or six hunters (on some years it's about one in eight). If the statistics of the Department of Fish and Game can be believed, there are one million to 1.2 million deer in the state and the kill during the best years amounts to only about 6 or 7 per cent.

Game management experts believe 20 to 30 per cent of the total herd can be killed each year without harmful effects.

The one season, one deer plan would space out the hunters as those hunting in the coastal season, if successful, would not be back for another try during the late season. This often is the case nowadays.

Many hunters also would take a doe early in the season, thus putting themselves out of contention for the rest of the year. These factors would tend to prevent any huge bunch-up such as took place in the 1956 either-sex hunt or which takes place in some areas during the regular buck-only seasons.

Richards is most anxious to learn what the sportsmen think about the proposal and would appreciate hearing from interested hunters. It's a chance for the unorganized hunter (and that amounts to about 95 per cent of them) to have his voice heard.

Richards would like to have answers to these three questions:

1. Do you favor a single season, including the present coastal and Sierra seasons?

2. Do you favor a limit of one deer, either-sex (except there would be a prohibition against shooting spotted fawns)?

3. Do you prefer retaining the present buck-only deer hunting rules?

Interested hunters should reply to Richards, or other members of the commission. The address is California Fish and Game Commission, 722 Capitol avenue, Sacramento.

If they'd prefer they can drop their answers and any other comments to this column, Fish 'N Gamer, Room 216, State Capitol, Sacramento.

College Board To Eye English Course Changes

A recommendation to drop three English courses at the College of Marin and substitute a new "English B" course will be considered by the Marin Junior College District board at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The recommendation, made by the English department and scholarship committee, calls for dropping "introductory communication," "Communication: Composition and Literature," and "Reading in the Humanities."

"Subject A," the remedial course deficient in English, also will probably be one injected into the discussion.

Students who fail to make satisfactory scores on the Subject A examination are required to take one or more remedial courses in communication before they may elect any course in English carrying university transfer credit.

The board also will consider a recommendation for establishment of a vocational nursing program at the college for a class of 16 students, beginning with the fall semester.

A report will be made on student government recommendations to solve "the cafeteria problem." The problem reportedly has included dirt on the floors and trays and cups left on the tables, unnecessary loud noises at noon hour, some profanity and instances of gambling.

Also on the agenda are a progress report on repairs to the bridge at College Park, proposal for a change in the counseling organization for next fall and an executive session to consider employment of staff for the school year 1960-61.

Scouts Tell Plans For Camp, Flight

Marin Scouting leaders today announced a number of events for coming weeks.

The Miwok District Survival Camporee will be held April 22 through 24 at Potrero Camp on Mt. Tamalpais. The camp will stress learning skills needed to survive in the wilderness — how to trap and snare animals and find edible plants. The event will include a campfire night and church services.

Explorer posts and ships announced these plans: bivouac at the Presidio, San Francisco, May 27 through 29; survival training encampment at Stead Air Force Base, Nev., June 26 to July 2; water skiing at an unanounced date in July; explorer orientation flights from Hamilton Air Force Base on an unannounced date.

San Rafael Post Office Receipts Total Given

The San Rafael Post Office was one of 165 in California, Nevada, Hawaii and Guam that had postal receipts in excess of $200,000 during 1959, the regional operations office of the Post Office Department announced today.

San Rafael Building Permits Hit Peak

San Rafael building permits for March reached the highest total for any month in the city's history, according to a tabulation today by the Marin Industrial Development Foundation.

The county seat city issued permits totaling $2,147,213 during the month. Biggest contribution to the whopping total was a block of 61 single family dwelling unit permits, totaling $1,220,000, issued to Eichler homes for development in the newly annexed area bordering Terra Linda.

All told, San Rafael issued permits for 75 residences during the month, plus one $50,000 permit for a commercial building and 49 miscellaneous permits totaling $295,089.

March was a banner building month countywide, the foundation reported. For the first time since last September, building permits for the county as a whole exceeded the total for the corresponding month a year earlier.

Building inspectors in the county and its 10 cities reported a total of $5,478,827 in new construction authorization for the month, which was 27.2 per cent above that for March, 1959, and 134.3 per cent above the February total.

Two sizable commercial permits were issued in the unincorporated territory: A bowling alley at Ignacio at $350,000 and United Markets' warehouse in the unincorporated portion of San Rafael at $159,000.

Permits in the unincorporated areas totaled $1,420,835, with the greatest activity in the unincorporated portion of Novato, where the Ignacio bowling alley helped swell the total to $364,600.

The cities, besides San Rafael, reported the following totals:

Novato, $745,503; Mill Valley, $255,606; Sausalito, $194,400; Larkspur, $190,275; Corte Madera, $137,264; Belvedere, $110,051; Fairfax, $109,980; San Anselmo, $107,570; Ross, $60,130.

Information Bureaus To Explain Reappraisals

County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel today announced completion of reappraisal of real property in Reed Union, Mill Valley and Larkspur School Districts.

To answer questions about the reappraisals, the assessor announced, a series of local information bureaus will be set up in the areas.

Broemmel pointed out that the reappraisal program is a continuing operation, with some areas of the county reappraised each year. Property owners are being notified by letter of the undated appraised and assessed values of their properties, he said.

To answer questions arising, the information bureaus will be set up as follows:

Tiburon Peninsula — Southern Marin Recreation Center, April 18, 19 and 20, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Homestead-Tamalpais Valley —American Legion Hall, 467 Miller avenue, Mill Valley, May 3, 4 and 5, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Mill Valley — American Legion Hall, May 10, 11 and 12, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Larkspur - Corte Madera — Corte Madera Town Hall, May 18, 19 and 20, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Staff appraisers, equipped with appraisal records, will be on hand, he said, and an assessment roll will be available for inspection at each of the bureaus.

Anyone who is unable to attend the information bureau in his area and desires to discuss his assessment is invited to call at the assessor's office, said Broemmel. He should do so before June 10 if possible, the assessor added.

After the first Monday in July, the assessor is precluded by law from making any changes in the roll.

LDS Church To Organize New Stake

A new stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, embracing Marin and Sonoma Counties, will be created Sunday.

The three Marin wards of the church—San Rafael, Greenbrae and Novato—will be separated from the San Francisco stake and join with the Petaluma, Santa Rosa and Sebastopol wards.

The new stake will be created in sessions at the Santa Rosa Veterans Hall, under direction of Spencer W. Kimball and George Q. Morris, members of the Council of 12 Apostles, from Salt Lake City.

Because of the special organizational meeting, there will be only one service Sunday for members of the Marin wards. It will be a joint Easter service at 8:30 a. m. in the Greenbrae Ward chapel.

Winners Listed In Bridge Tourney Held In San Rafael

Donald Oakie of San Jose, one of the top bridge players in the nation, paired with Mrs. George Carson of San Francisco to cop the coveted Barton trophy in the masters pairs championship held at Bermuda Palms in San Rafael over the weekend.

Hazel Strittmatter and Ludovica Bigelow of Belvedere placed eighth in a field of 78 couples. Total attendance was the second highest in the history of the annual Marin County sectionals. Some contestants came from as far away as Hawaii.

Other Marin winners were:

In the Greenbrae Pairs Saturday night, Julie Cahill and Bette Bell of Novato came in fourth in a field of 86 couples. This was won by Lorna Barber and Irene Hensley of Walnut Creek.

In the team-of-four match Sunday night, Jim Carbaugh of San Anselmo and his three colleagues came in fourth in a field of 27 teams. Top team was August Hunt and Paul Lynch of Oakland and Sid Lorvan, San Francisco, and John A. Lyon of San Mateo.

Friday afternoon in the women's pairs, Paula Semary of San Rafael and Vera Batug of Mill Valley came in fifth out of 52 couples. Winners were Mrs. Perry Rose of Santa Clara and Mrs. Ray Rhodes of Los Gatos.

In the Friday evening Marinwood Open Pairs, Pauline C. Angleman of Corte Madera teamed up with Marilla Jolly of Santa Rosa to place second among 64 couples. Vera Batug of Mill Valley and Hazel Strittmatter of Belvedere came in a close third. Winners were Mrs. Ron R. Smith and Audrey Donahue of Vallejo.

In the San Anselmo Pairs Saturday night, Lois and Ben Mathews of Mill Valley came in sixth among 108 couples. H. E. McMurtry of San Pablo and Al LeVegue of Berkeley won this event.

Among the junior players, Sue and Wat Takeshita of San Anselmo, Frank and Genevieve Fischer of San Anselmo, and Frank and Vera Batug of Mill Valley placed first, third and fifth, respectively.

Mill Valley Man Wins Fellowship

Richard H. Dillon of 3 Altamont avenue, Mill Valley, is the only Northern Californian and the only librarian among 18 recipients of fellowships or grants for research at the Henry E. Huntington Library in San Marino.

Dillon, head of the California State Library's San Francisco branch, received a similar grant from the library in 1955.

The new award was announced this week by the Huntington Library.

Rotary Club Talk

Edwin L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent of schools, will speak on school district organization in Marin County at the noon luncheon meeting tomorrow of the Sausalito Rotary Club at the Alta Mira Hotel.

20 YEARS IN ASSEMBLY

Preparation For Retirement Recalls Memories To Solon

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — In a third floor office of the new annex to the State Capitol, 20 years of memories are being sorted, classified and permanently filed away.

Some of these memories are in tangible form — files of legislation introduced, letters from constituents, reports, investigations, and reference materials, drawer upon drawer, folder upon folder, indexed for immediate reference.

Others exist inside the man who is voluntarily ending his legislative career, Richard H. McCollister, representative of Marin and Sonoma Counties in the State Assembly for the past 20 years.

RICHARD McCOLLISTER
Leaving Legislature

Things were not the same in Sacramento when he first was sworn in in 1941. The Capitol Annex, which houses his comfortable offices today, was not even in existence. Instead assemblymen were "stacked" four and five deep in tiny, airless rooms in the old portion of the Capitol. There were 52 different Assembly committees and only four committee rooms.

There were only 13 secretaries to serve all 80 assemblymen. Today each assemblyman has his own secretary, each committee has one too, and in addition there is a secretarial pool for extra work, making about 150 secretaries available.

"Of course we didn't have the work to do then," McCollister recalls. "There were days when we didn't even get one letter which required our attention. Today sometimes the mail is brought into an individual assemblyman in a mail sack."

There were other differences too. That first year, the legislature passed a budget for state operations during the two fiscal years 1941-42 and 1942-43 which totaled $272,660,222.

The just completed session approved a budget for just one year, fiscal 1960-61, of $2,481,101,813. That's two billion 200 million dollars more in one year than state government cost us in two years 20 years ago, nearly 20 times as much.

But some things are much the same. When McCollister was sworn in there was a Democratic governor, Gov. Culbert L. Olson, midway through his first term; the Assembly was strongly Democratic.

Today Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown is midway through his first term and the Democrats hold both houses of the legislature.

"Olson's people used to take our daily file and actually type out instructions to the Democratic assemblymen on how they were supposed to vote on the various bills before us," McCollister recalls. "In addition, Olson had a direct line telephone from his office to the speaker's podium for last minute instructions."

"Almost the same thing is going on today," he went on, "except they don't type it out for them, they just send somebody around to see them."

There has been a major change in lobbying in 20 years.

"I'm not ashamed to say that I knew Artie Samish," McCollister declared, "you had to know him, he was such a character around here."

Lobbyists were allowed to be present in the rear of the Assembly chambers in those days and sometimes even went onto the floor to speak to a legislator.

"Our rest room was also at the back of the chambers and you had to go through the lobbyists to get there. Sometimes you just wouldn't go until after a key vote was taken."

Later the lobbyists were barred entirely from the floor and allowed only in the balcony. As on reporter put it, "The people were saved by 20 feet," the vertical distance from the floor to the gallery.

But Samish was not among these lobbyists. He never set foot in the Capitol. He never appeared before committees. Instead he operated from a hotel room, to which flowed a flood of information about who was doing what, and from which flowed instructions and largess.

"You never knew who was in his employ, or just who he represented. Sometimes we thought even some of the newspapermen must be getting a check from him because he knew what everyone said or did on the floor or in committee."

Samish was successful because of his wide interests and because "at that time the legislature was pitifully underpaid and so he was able to exert great influence," recalled McCollister.

All this has changed, he continued. "Things are as different as black and white. Nowadays lobbyists are known as 'legislative advocates.' All of them are high calibre men, either lawyers retained to represent a client or laymen who have grown up in the industry which they represent. All of them are much in evidence around the Capitol and all of them practice before the committees as experts in their fields."

There were colorful men and unusual happenings on the Assembly floor. Melvyn I. Cronin, now superior court judge in San Francisco, got in a fist fight with Assemblyman Jack Welch during one heated debate. "I forget what about now," McCollister remembers. Then there was colorful Albert Decker, "a Grade B movie actor who soon discovered he was in the wrong place," and only served one term.

Norris Poulson, now mayor of Los Angeles, was one of the neatest dressers ever to appear on the Assembly floor. One day, bored by the debate, he dozed in his chair. He leaned back too far and the chair slid out from under him. His head hit a spitoon, standard equipment at that time, and old cigar butts and spitoon liquid spilled all over his spotless attire.

Only two assemblymen have now been in the Assembly longer than McCollister, and two others were sworn in at the same time. McCollister became closely acquainted with Augustus F. Hawkins, senior Assemblyman, in his first year.

"Governor Olson was running the state like a little New Deal," McCollister declared. "The state was more than 80 million dollars in the red and we were paying our bills and our employees by registered warrants, script, instead of money.

"There were 17 Republicans, including me, and 10 Democrats, including Hawkins, who banded together into an economy bloc. Every one of us was needed. Olson had to have two thirds vote to pass his spending bills, like the 30 million dollar state emergency relief administration. Twenty seven votes were enough to block his plans; 26 wouldn't have been."

There's an old saying that "they tried to steal the Capitol Dome." Under Olson, "the Democrats got the screws loose at one time but couldn't quite figure how to lift it off," says the retiring assemblyman. "In fact we in the economy bloc went so far as to remove the gold leaf from the dome to save the expense of its upkeep, and that's why the dome looks so dirty now."

There have been women members of the assembly in every session McCollister has served; at one time there were four of them.

"I believe in women's suffrage," he says, "but being a legislator is a tough job for a lady; she has to work both by the Book of Etiquette and the rules of the Assembly. Their presence makes it tougher on the men, too, because they don't know quite how to handle them."

In his last session were two women, one of whom, Dorothy M. Donohoe of Bakersfield, died just before the session adjourned.

Hardly a session has gone by without one of the legislators dying, McCollister noted. "Most of the deaths have been from heart attack, mute evidence of the work load now put upon the legislators."

One year five members died. McCollister recalls one who died on the floor of the Assembly, "his head hitting the floor with a thud like a dropped melon."

These unhappy recollections are perhaps one of the reasons he is retiring. Another was a change in the law several years ago which permits a legislator with 20 years experience to retire on three quarters pay even though he is not yet 65. McCollister is 52. He is the first legislator to take advantage of the new law.

His retirement pay will be $375 per month, if legislators' salaries remain at $500 per month. However, if the voters approve a salary raise to $750 next November, McCollister's will go up to $562.50, more than he is making now.

There's no accurate count easily available, but McCollister's name appears as the author of hundreds of laws now on the books of the state.

He introduced perhaps 500 measures of which he was principal author and more than that number on which his name appears as co-author. In the 1957 regular session, for example, he was either author or co-author of 178 bills and 38 other measures.

Yet in some sessions like the budget and special sessions just completed, he did not author a single bill himself and his name appears as co-author on only three bills and eight resolutions.

He had varying luck with his measures. One session, he recalls, every bill which he authored was passed. On the other hand, another session he introduced more than a hundred bills and had only 10 signed into law.

"I was a sucker in some ways," he declares. "I was willing to introduce almost any bill a constituent requested. Sometimes I didn't like the bill myself, but I put it in so that it would get a democratic hearing."

McCollister looked upon himself, however, as being particularly interested in three major fields — public recreation and conservation, veterans matters and dairying and agriculture.

"I think the very first bill I had signed into law was the one creating Samuel Taylor State Park in Marin," he declared. "We had a lot of trouble with that one because the county had to forgive 30 or 40 thousand dollars in back taxes in order for the state to get clear title; that was a lot of money in those days."

"For 10 years as chairman of the Veterans Committee, I had a lot to do with veterans matters," he continued. "That's not a hot subject right now, but during World War II and the Korean thing veterans matters were of prime importance. I'm proud of my record there."

Because Sonoma and North Marin are "almost wholly agricultural," McCollister was during every session a member of the livestock and dairy and the agricultural committees.

He had "a heavy hand" in the present law which fixes prices of milk to producers and to the public. "Milk is a basic food. Our idea was to keep it in adequate supply. If the state hadn't occupied the field, I believe the federal government would have come in. In New York state, milk is considered a public utility."

"We had a bill before us to prohibit secondary boycotts. Remember, this was during the war. When it came up for debate, the longshoremen took over the Capitol. They filled the lobbies and the hallways. The state police called in the sheriff and the Sacramento police to help keep order. If you'd walk down the Capitol hall, they'd yell at you, grab for you and try to tear your clothes. Finally each legislator was given his own police bodyguard.

"We needed 54 votes to pass the bill. We had 52. Two members were out of town. We held the Assembly in session until 3 a.m. until they were able to fly to Sacramento and vote in favor of the bill."

McCollister started his public service career on the Mill Valley Board of Freeholders, which proposed that city's present form of government. Then Hubert Scudder retired from the Assembly and McCollister decided to run.

He beat a Santa Rosa attorney on both the Republican and the Democratic tickets that first year. Until 1950, managed to win in the primaries every time.

But in 1950 Mrs. Vera Schultz of Mill Valley, now the supervisor from that district, gave him his worst battle. She took the Democratic nomination. He managed to win out in the general election by only 9,000 votes.

From then until last year he never won both nominations, but always won handily in the finals. Last year the Democrats, sensing he was going to retire, didn't waste any manpower in trying to beat him; they didn't even put a man in for a token fight.

His career has also affected his personal life. He both lost and won a wife in Sacramento.

His first wife, whom he married while still in college, came to Sacramento with him for just one month during his first term. "She didn't like it at all and turned around and went right back to Marin," he declared. "She never came back."

McCollister, then foot-loose and fancy free, gained himself quite a reputation as a playboy. "You have to work hard, so you have to play hard," he explained. Eventually, he and his wife were divorced.

Then one day a red-haired secretary from the secretarial pool walked into his office "and it was all over," McCollister and Iris Richins of Sacramento were married, but she kept on working as his secretary.

"I don't recall whether she stopped working when our daughter, Colleen, (now 6½) was born, or whether it was when they were turning the heat on nepotism around here, but it was about the same time anyway," he said.

One day at their home in Mill Valley, McCollister was trimming some wall boards with an electric saw. He was standing on a do-it-yourself scaffold of a board spanning a box and a chair. The whole thing tipped over.

The saw was in his left hand and he put his right hand out to thrust the saw away from his head as he fell. The whirling blade severed all four fingers on his right hand just below the knuckles.

He passed out. When he woke up, he was in the maternity ward of San Rafael General Hospital, his handshaking hand forever fingerless. This bothered him at first, but today he shoves it out for a shake without a second thought.

McCollister looks back on 20 years which changed from script financing under Olson to a 500 million dollar surplus under Earl Warren, "the greatest executive, there isn't any doubt about that," back to an unbalanced budget under Goodwin Knight and to higher taxes under Governor Brown.

He recalls when, with no microphones in the Assembly, the district with the loudest-voiced assemblyman got the best paved roads, and now when California has the best highway system in the nation, and without toll roads.

He's had four years as floor leader of the Republican majority in the Assembly and the chairmanship of half a dozen committees.

Looking ahead, he's not afraid that his seat "will be taken by a boob." He's "very happy with the calibre of persons seeking my seat. The district will be well served no matter which one of the five candidates wins."

And he wants to pass on two rules to whoever does succeed him. The first, given to him by his predecessor, Hubert Scudder, is: Don't ever take the Assembly floor unless you have something to say. That way when you do speak, they will listen.

Fairchild Set To Start Construction

Construction of the Fairchild Semiconductor Corp. plant in San Rafael is expected to begin late this month.

The plant will be located on a 10-acre site east of Highway 101, just north of the Terra Linda turnoff. It will manufacture diodes, a type of transistor.

Bids on electrical, mechanical and plumbing work, from a selected list of bidders, will be opened Tuesday. Bids on all other subcontracts will be opened the following day.

The plant, to have 60,000 square feet of space, is scheduled to be completed some time in October, an official of Associated Construction and Engineering Co., San Francisco, reported. Associated and Barrett Construction, San Francisco, are the builders.

Fairchild has been producing silicon diodes since the first of the year in temporary leased quarters at Jordan street, San Rafael.

When the new building is completed, it will be the county's largest light industrial plant and eventually employ 1,000 persons.

Senator To Speak On Radio Program

State Sen. John F. McCarthy will report on the special session of the California Legislature as guest of Kitty Oppenheimer on the "Marin Sounding Board" program of radio station KTIM from 9 at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Questions by listeners will be directed to the Marin senator during the broadcast. The program will be repeated from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Applicants Sought For State Office Position

The state Department of Employment office in San Rafael is seeking applications for work in the office at 1840 Fourth street as employment and claims assistant.

Edwin W. Ayer, office manager, said persons will be selected after an examination is given May 7, and will be called to work only as needed. He said the employment will be seasonal. Persons wishing to apply may call at the office by April 27.

ence Lea, long-time congressman from this district: Always answer every piece of mail; not only answer it, but answer it thoughtfully and with answers to all questions asked, even though it takes you a week to find the answers.

In general, however, the main job facing the legislature of California is preserving a favorable business climate for California, McCollister told the Assembly, after they had honored him with a retirement ressolution as the session ending, that they must be careful. "If our state gets too liberal, too welfare minded, too many government regulations and too many taxes, it will discourage business generally. Some of this is on the horizon now.

"People are coming here at a tremendous rate and we'll have to provide them with jobs. You can't do it by bolstering the labor unions. You have to make it a good climate for the employers before there'll be jobs for employees," explained McCollister.

The assemblyman hopes to stay around Sacramento, to which he moved permanently two years ago, and become a lobbyist in that general field.

He says he is retiring, "but use that word carefully. I'm not a wealthy man. The chief reward you get from legislative service is friendship, certainly not money, and the feeling that you have done some good."

And wife, Iris, has her own explanation for his retirement. "An assemblyman has to work hard and play hard. Dick is getting too old to play hard."

James McGowan, Eileen J. Sloan Exchange Vows In Mill Valley

A spring wedding of much interest in Mill Valley was that of Eileen Jane Sloan and James McGowan, which took place Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in the Church of Our Saviour.

White flowers decorated the altar as the young couple exchanged vows in a single ring ceremony performed by the Rev. D. Murray Hammond in the presence of 125 guests.

When the bride walked down the aisle on the arm of her father, Richard V. Sloan of Mill Valley, she was wearing a floor length gown of white silk brocade designed on princess lines with short sleeves, Sabrina neckline with deep V in back, and flared skirt.

Matron of honor for her cousin was Mrs. James Rees of Fresno, and she and the bridesmaid, Mrs. Frederick W. Kett of Mill Valley, were identically gowned in dresses of yellow nylon organza fashioned with scoop neckline, short sleeves and full gathered skirt and cummerbund. On their hair they wore matching bandeaux with face veils and they carried old fashioned bouquets of yellow roses and forget-me-nots.

Best man for the bridegroom who is the son of Mill Valley Police Chief James McGowan and Mrs. McGowan, was James Sylvia of San Rafael; escorting guests to their seats were Frederick W. Kett of Mill Valley, Joseph Joyce of San Francisco, and James Glessner of Pinole, Calif.

Mrs. Sloan, who is well known as a member of the Mill Valley public library staff, attended her daughter's wedding in a green and beige floral patterned silk dress. It was made with V neckline, three-quarter sleeves and full skirt. She completed her costume with a beige flowered hat.

Arrangements of white tulips, lilacs and iris were used to decorate the Outdoor Art Clubhouse for the reception which followed the ceremony.

The three-tiered cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and encircled at the base with gardenias stood on the bride's table, which was adorned with lilies of the valley. In charge of the guest book was Mrs. James Sylvia of San Rafael.

On their return they will live at 305 Miller avenue, Mill Valley.

The new Mrs. McGowan attended Tamalpais High School and was graduated from the University of California, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. She plans to continue teaching first grade in the Bel Aire School.

James was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin and is majoring in physical education at San Francisco State College.

His sister is Mrs. Louis Banks of San Carlos, and his brother is Wilbur J. McGowan, who is better known as "Mickey," especially in connection with his leadership in folk dance groups.

Annual guest day for the members of Chapter NE, P.E.O. was a delightful experience when luncheon was served at the Kent Woodlands restaurant. During the afternoon the attendants learned many new trends of interior decorating.

Speaker was Don Richmond, one of the decorators, at the Dorothy Kell Furniture and Interiors.

Registered in the NE Guest Book were Betty Miller, CU, Whittier, now a resident of 502 N. Greenleaf avenue; Mrs. Phillip A. (Jean B.) Kennedy, 2 West Seaview, San Rafael; Mrs. G. W. (Jean) Kahler Jr., 491 Moline, Mill Valley; Kay Dolter, 4 Tamalpais, Belvedere; and Polly Oberholtzer, at home from an Oregon university. (Polly is the daughter of Mrs. W. D. Oberholtzer of Fair Hills, San Rafael, new president of Chapter NE.)

Another guest was Hilah McPherson, a past president of Chapter CQ, Nehigh, Nevada, with her daughter-in-law, Ruth McPherson (Mrs. Daniel G.) 602 Vendola drive, San Rafael.

Mrs. Thelma Lee White, who recently moved to Corte Madera from San Francisco where she is a member of Chapter EM, was greeted by old friends.

Gertrude E. McVickar (Mrs. M. H., of 1360 Butterfield road, San Anselmo) represented PY.

Mary E. Yonan of EN, San Francisco Marybeth J. (Mrs. D. L.) Franzi, 602 Tamalpais avenue, Corte Madera; Gladys Mary Young (Mrs. Selden R.) of Inverness, with Patricia T. Scheyer, 2130 Elderberry lane, and Mildred Jewell, 809 Elderberry, both of Terra Linda, completed the guest list.

RECTOR'S WIFE

Welcomed as a guest was Mrs. John D. Riley, wife of the new rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Mrs. Riley became a P.E.O. in Payette, Idaho, and with her husband has resided in Boise, Idaho, and Paso Robles, Calif., before coming to Marin County. The Rileys are the parents of young twin daughters and are living in the new St. Paul's rectory at 508 Balboa avenue.

Another guest was Mrs. Allen Olinger of San Francisco, who helped organize NE just 10 years ago.

A letter was read from Mrs. Philip (Tempe) Manners, telling of the transfer of Dr. Manners from Limestone, Maine, to the Warren Air Force Base near Cheyenne, Wyoming.

STATE CONVENTION

Mrs. Oberholtzer named her appointive officers and committees for the coming year. She is now making plans to attend the state P.E.O. convention in Pasadena early in May when state president, Hazel R. Bullock of Redondo Beach, will preside.

Mrs. Kate Salmon Jones, who served NE as president for two years, is now proudly wearing a past-president's pin, and with her husband, Dr. Ilion Jones, is looking forward to Dr. Jones' retirement from the Seminary, and their imminent residence in Novato where they will be neighbors of Dr. and Mrs. John Jefferson Canoles.

TRAVEL NOTES

A letter from Mrs. Samuel D. Archibald, who with her husband, is on a world tour, told of her chance meeting with a P.E.O. sister.

Mrs. Roy A. Brown, just home from travels, had unexpected happiness in a reunion with a P.E.O. sister from Nebraska at chance meetings in New Orleans and again in Mexico City. Mrs Brown, with her husband, had been on a business trip which took them to New Orleans, Miami, Montega Beach, Jamaica, B.W.I., and on to Mexico City with a stopover in Havana, Cuba. All traveling was hastened by the airways.

Mrs. Joseph Joseph, another member of NE, is making plans to return to Europe and looking forward to an early departure. Mrs. Joseph has been with a friend at 1870 Jackson for many months.

Karen Frerichs Bride Of Walter Elkington

White tulips and tangerine carnations decorated the Mill Valley Community Church Saturday afternoon when Karen Frerichs became the bride of Walter Elkington.

When the bride was given in marriage by her father, Herman Frerichs of Mill Valley, she was wearing a waltz length gown of white slipper satin. The fitted bodice had a round neckline with lace and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists, and the skirt was very full.

Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap of white silk organza trimmed with organdy flowers and seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of white tulips.

Karen's maid of honor was her sister Kristin, a senior at Tamalpais High School, and bridesmaid was Mary Lou Dominchelli. They were dressed alike in azure blue slipper satin gowns fashioned on lines similar to those of the bride's dress, and their headdresses were matching flat bows. Their flowers were ballerina bouquets of tangerine carnations.

Jarrett Johnson of Oakley, Calif. and a Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity brother, was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Elkington of Long Beach, Calif. Another fraternity brother, Howard Borelin of San Marino, Calif., showed guests to their seats.

Mrs. Frerichs attended her daughter's wedding in a champagne lace jacket dress and small hat of brown veiling trimmed with a beige rose, and her accessories were beige. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a beige dress and jacket lined with green and brown floral patterned silk, and wore a hat in the same shade of green. Each had a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Among out of town guests in addition to the bridegroom's parents were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Homer Scott of Sheridan, Wyo.; Miss Alma Frerichs of Grants Pass, Ore.; and Miss Jerrol Sandall of San Francisco.

The new Mrs. Elkington was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the University of California and is now teaching fifth grade in Hayward, Calif.

Her husband is also a graduate of the University of California and is now employed as a metallurgical engineer in Oakland. He has one sister, Mrs. Robert Lee of Long Beach.

The young couple will live in Oakland on their return from a honeymoon in Carmel.

Lunch Celebrates Success Of Drive On Pt. Reyes Project

A luncheon and swimming party celebrating the conclusion of a successful three weeks information campaign and the collection of 3,700 signatures on petitions favoring the proposed Pt. Reyes National Seashore Area was held recently at the home of Mrs. Russell Merret of Kent Woodlands.

A skit of the presentation of the petitions to the Marin Board of Supervisors on Tuesday was enacted for the 25 guests, all members of the Pt. Reyes Foundation, a citizens group supporting the national park. They also viewed maps and discussed the details of the National Park Service's development plan for the 53,000-acre Pt. Reyes area.

During the drive, Mrs. Merret and her committee held 11 morning and evening meetings to inform people of the significance of the proposed park for Marin, and operated information booths at Kent Woodlands and Novato, passing out literature and answering questions. They plan to attend the U.S. Senate Interior committee hearing at Olney Hall, College of Marin tomorrow.

Attending Mrs. Merret's party were: Mesdames T. C. Wellman, Bernard Stone, Samuel Hanzel, Connie Bricca, Martin Griffith, Edward Lederman, Frederic Coolidge, Paul Wilson, Hugh Downey, and Maurice Solomon of Kentfield; Mrs. Wayne Tharpe and Mrs. Robin Cannon of Novato; Miss Anne Ellinwood, Mrs. William Newman, Mrs. Stanley Dick, of Tiburon; Mrs. Gordon Phillips of Marinwood; Mrs. L. J. Ross Valley Council Elects New Officers

A welcoming message was brought by the Rev. Jerald Traeger to the Ross Valley Council of Parents and Teachers meeting recently in the First Baptist Church of San Anselmo.

The inspirational reading was given by Mrs. Robin Galloway, first vice president of 14th District, CCPT. The Ross Valley Mothersingers, under the direction of Mrs. Dale Danley, sang three numbers. They will also participate with many of the other Mothersinger groups in California at the State Convention in San Francisco, May 5.

Installation was conducted by Mrs. Malcolm Finley of San Rafael, president of 14th District, CCPT. Those serving for the second term are: Mesdames, Sam Goldbaum, president; H. B. Hennessy, vice president; Kenneth Dunn; parliamentarian. Being installed for the first time in their respective offices were: Mesdames Harold Sharrow, secretary; S. E. DeMasi, treasurer; E. A. Cambouris, financial secretary and Carl Nilson, auditor.

After discussion, a motion was passed to support the Point Reyes National Seashore Area. Mrs. Robin Galloway was instructed to represent the group at the Congressional Hearing at the College of Marin.

A gift of $125 was voted to the Marin County P-TA Scholarship Committee to help them give as many scholarships as possible to worthy high school students.

Reports of the year's work were given by the following chairmen: Mrs. Harold Sharrow, historian; Mrs. Albert Hahn, dental health; Mrs. Melvin Dorinson, health; Mrs. Wesley Honeyman, hospitality; Mrs. Charles Hudson, magazines; Mrs. John Rechtfertig, membership; Mrs. Robin Galloway, publicity; and Mrs. Kenneth Dunn, parliamentarian, Honorary Life Membership and scholarship.

Mrs. Malcolm Finley gave a short report on Legislation and just returned from the White House Youth Conference, Dr. Vaughn Seidel shared some of his experiences and impressions with the group.

Guests who were introduced included Dr. Virgil Hollis, Marin County Superintendent of Schools; Chester Carlisle, Superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District; Dr. Vaughn Seidel, Superintendent of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Schools; and Harold DePue, Superintendent of the Confederated District.

Hospital Service, Fashions Form Girl Scout Activities

Child care, hospital service and fashions have been uppermost in the minds of many Girl Scouts during the past few weeks.

Two Fairfax Intermediate Scout troops have completed an interesting child care course sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Marin County Medical Society. The new GEMS (Good Emergency Mother Substitutes) are the eighth grade members of Central School's Troop 145 and seventh grade Troop 192 from Deer Park School where the course was given. Conducted by Mrs. A. J. Brinkerhoff, the course included a discussion on "The Care and Feeding of Infants" by Mrs. W. O. Hall, "Artificial Respiration" by Dr. Marjorie E. Belknapp, "Entertaining the Pre-school Child" by Mrs. Arthur Ablin, and a film showing the new method of mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration, shown by Mr. W. R. Cortelyou of the Fairfax Fire Department. During the five meetings, the girls were also able to complete the requirements of the Child Care Badge. Their leaders are Mesdames Robert Stout, Herman Schepplemann, James Tovatt and Martin Siem.

Easter bunnies holding a flower "planted" in an egg shell will find their way to the patients' tray on Easter Sunday at Ross General Hospital. Made by the second, third, and fourth grade Brownie Scouts of Corte Madera's Troop 5, the favors are part of a service project undertaken three years ago by the Corte Madera-Larkspur Neighborhood, with a different troop making favors for the hospital each month during the year.

Entitled "Fashions for Fifth Graders," a fashion show was presented recently in the Parish Hall of St. John's Church, Ross, by the fifth grade members of Intermediate Scout Troop 121.

Mrs. C. O. Amonette Jr., who was in charge of the fashion show, instructed the girls in good posture, how to walk more gracefully and how to be a good model. The show opened with six girls showing what NOT to do in a fashion show, followed by a a "real" show modeled by the rest of the fifth graders. The show's commentators were Ravelle Prola and Judy Hooper.

SHRINE CLUB HAS BRUNCH STYLE SHOW

The Marin County Shrine Club under the direction of its president, Roy D. Bailey staged its annual brunch and fashion show recently at Rickey's Rancho Rafael. For years this has been a spectacular and fashionable event in Marin County. This year it proved itself again.

The theme was Hawaiian to salute Islam's illustrious potentate, Harold W. Stelling and Mrs. Stelling, along with the Potentate's Divan officers and their ladies, who will leave soon to attend the Western Shrine Conference in Hawaii. In order to accommodate the tremendous demand for reservations to this event, which were over 500, the entire show was staged in the garden at Rickey's. Newspaper columnist Paul Speegle introduced the models.

'Salute To Music' To Be Theme Of Symphony Ball

"Rondo Con Spirito," the fourth and final movement of San Francisco's gayest party, the Fifth Annual Black and White Symphony Ball, has inspired the decor theme, "A Salute to Music," to be featured at the Mark Hopkins' Peacock Court on Friday, April 22, from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The dynamic spirit of Beethoven, Chopin and other world-famed composers will be made manifest to party-goers in the form of four foot busts of simulated marble atop pedestals eight feet high.

Encircling the ballroom will be three dimensional, styized trophy panels, in sharp green and gold, displaying musical instruments from the days of antiquity—such as the lyre—to those commonly played by musicians of today.

The sponsors' tables will be adorned with cloths of emerald green and centered by magnificently jeweled metronomes set with diamonds and emeralds, based on crystal balls.

Enticing guests into the adjoining Rooms of the Dons, will be two sculptured figures, fourteen feet tall, performing the minuet in appropriately designed costumes of the Middle French period.

The ball is presented annually in Four Movements at San Francisco's four leading hotels by the San Francisco Symphony Association as a fund-raising gala. All proceeds will benefit the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's current operating expenses.

Novato High Students Give Club Program

"Do's and Don'ts of a Business Office" were demonstrated in an original skit by the business department under the direction of faculty head Mrs. Lawrence Binggeli.

Playing the role of first an untrained secretary, then the trained secretary in the unusual production was Jody Keeshan as Miss Stevens. Sany Lanthier in the role of the "boss" was first the rough, tough executive, then the kindly, appreciative business head. Others in the cast were Chris Ellis as the customer; Pam Miller, girl on the phone; Carol Means, fashion designer, and Jacqui Carpenter, narrator.

Mrs. Joyce Palmer's geometry students represented the math department in their presentations of pracical applications of geometry, comparison of old and new methods of solving geometrical problems, and showing of an angle trisector built by Allen Schafer and its use demonstrated. Through the use of blackboard graphs and a peg board for coordinate geometry, illustrated talks were given by Steve Bruff, Jackie Eccles, Susie Obee and Sharyn Betts.

Representing the science department headed by William Washburn, Marvin Heskett presented a demonstration on the magnetic field and electricity. Dannelle Smith with the help of Washburn performed chemistry experiments designed to show the relative acidity of well known preparations such as aspirin, alka seltzer, bufferin, etc.

Always Test It

Teen-Agers Touchy Problem When Going Through Rebellious Stage

"Our daughter says she hates us," a father writes, "although we've tried to be good to her.

"She is 15 and used to be sweet and obedient. Now she is a rebel. She started smoking the day we told her not to. We feel we're failures as parents. What mistakes have we made?"

All parents have trouble with their teen-agers. The 14th and 15th years are usually the worst.

You may have made no mistakes. However, you may have decided too many things for her. Possibly you've done too much for her, and kept her a child too long. Such things intensify the rebellion of teen-agers. They come in homes where parents try too hard to protect their offspring.

The safe rule with youngsters of any age is to give them as much freedom as they can handle. As soon as they're able to go to the store alone safely, we should let them. When they can go to parties without us, we should let them. When they can behave themselves on dates with responsible youngsters, we should let them start dating. If we are more strict than other parents in the neighborhood they really rebel.

Your girl's reaction to being told not to smoke is typical. It was a challenge to her. She accepted it.

Is there a counselor at school you could talk to who knows your daughter? Find out how much freedom the other girls of her age have. Get his opinion about your daughter's capacity for independence. If he suggests it, try to relax your rules a bit. Try giving her as much freedom as she can handle safely.

It won't be easy. But the alternative may be disaster.

If she can be responsible for her own conduct, she might grow up quickly.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "I'm a boy of 19. Do you think it is immoral for me to smoke?"

Mumps, Measles Waning Slightly In Marin County

Incidence of mumps and measles slackened off slightly in Marin County last week—but only slightly, according to the weekly report of Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

For some years, the two common childhood diseases have not been subject to quarantine.

Fifty-eight cases of mumps were reported to the county health department during the week, Dr. Albrecht said. West Marin had the greatest number—17 in Olema, Inverness Park and Pt. Reyes. There were 13 new cases in San Rafael, 11 in Mill Valley, six in Larkspur, five in Novato, three each in San Anselmo and Fairfax.

New measles cases reported during the week totaled 45. Of these, Novato had the greatest number—13. There were nine in San Rafael, seven in Corte Madera, five each in Larkspur and San Anselmo, three in Mill Valley, two in Fairfax, and one in West Marin.

Six cases of streptococcic infection were reported, four cases of syphilis, three cases of gonorrhea and one case of salmonella.

Hub Man To Be In Song Competition

Arthur Muskovitz of San Anselmo will be heard over radio station KCBS between 3 and 5 p.m. tomorrow as San Francisco City College's entrant in the McElhatton Songtest.

Muskovitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Muskovitz of 64 Forest avenue, San Anselmo, is one of two dozen vocalists representing Bay Area colleges in the contest, the winner of which will receive a portable stereophonic phonograph. Winners will be selected on the basis of listeners' votes.

Young Muskovitz will be heard from a tape recording of his voice made last week. His song is "Fools Rush In."

Raymond J. Andrade, Navy engineman second class, son of Mrs. Rugh Andrade of 15 Maridosa road, San Rafael, took part in a huge amphibious landing exercise, recently on Formosa's southern coast, while serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Tulare.

Charity Gift Offer Gets Big Response

San Rafael residents are not the "selfish monsters" Americans are supposed to be according to some foreign propaganda, and a tuna company has "proof positive" of their generosity.

A San Diego tuna company recently offered a plan whereby its customers, instead of sending in for free premiums, could fill out $1 checks payable to their favorite religious or charitable organization. "Cost" of the check was six labels from tins of tuna.

With $1,250,000 worth of checks distributed around the country, the company expected that it would take all of March and April for people to take advantage of the chance to contribute to their pet charities or to church or synagogue funds. After all, they reasoned, a gift to a worthy cause is not in the same category as, say, a salt and pepper shaker for one's own home.

But according to George Dew, president of Breast O'-Chicken Tuna, "San Rafael set some sort of national record for its response to this opportunity. If we had offered a premium for the housewife's own home, we would have had coupons left over after two months. As it is, all our 'Charity Checks' were gobbled up in two weeks."

Dew said this experience not only proves that the average person in San Rafael is more interested in helping worthy organizations than in gadgets for himself; it also shows a great need for more ways to encourage grass roots giving in a "painless" way.

Recipients of checks included such organizations as the New March of Dimes, American Red Cross and Damon Runyon Cancer Fund as well as Catholic, Protestant and Jewish groups.

Lectures On Legal Procedures Slated

The first of a series of four weekly lectures on trial procedure in civil cases will be held tomorrow through the facilities of the University of California Extension in cooperation with the Marin County Bar Assn.

Meetings will be held Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in Department 3, Superior Court, at the county courthouse. Lectures will cover the problems of selecting and convincing a jury, motions during trial, motions after jury verdict and trial without jury.

Public Defender Peter Allen Smith is chairman of the bar group's department of continuing education, and is in charge of local arrangements.

Discussion Slated On Air Pollution

The effects of air pollution on the respiratory system will be discussed April 21 at a meeting of the Marin County Tuberculosis Assn.

Speaker at the meeting will be Dr. John R. Goldsmith, Berkeley, in charge of studies of health effects of air pollution for the state Department of Public Health.

New officers and directors of the association will be installed at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito.

The ABC net paid circulation figure for the I-J includes only paid-for, wanted circulation . . . newspapers delivered daily on the doorsteps of 5 out of 7 Marin homes. No throwaways. No free copies. No unasked-for deliveries to postoffice box holders (50% go immediately in the wastebaskets, postmasters say). No wasted circulation of any kind.

Whether you run a 3-line want ad or a full page in color, the I-J is your best advertising buy.

TV Programs By Marinites Win Awards

Programs devised by three Marin County residents have won for television station KPIX in San Francisco the 1959 Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. Lamp of Knowledge award for outstanding achievement in public service and educational programing.

As part of the award Hubbard and his wife will be given a trip to Europe. Special gifts go to Novak, Olsen and two other members of the station staff.

The award was established in 1956 to encourage WBC stations to make public service and educational shows as exciting as the commercial variety.

MAKE YOUR Easter dinner as delicious and attractive as you can with these colorful Peach Baskets and the Fruit Cocktail Cheese Cake. The fruit garnishes are easy to fix and bring a festive note to the Easter ham dinner.

Peach Baskets And Cheese Cake Will Highlight Easter Dinner

Highlight your baked ham with "Peach Baskets"—canned clings zipped up with a dash of vinegar and filled with creamy pastel candy "eggs." Cream cheese seasoned with horseradish fashions the candy eggs, and how good they are, both with peaches and ham! The fruit garnish makes the rich ham taste twice as good.

The peaches are easy to fix—unbelieveably so! You just open a can of cling peach halves and add a couple of tablespoons of vinegar, and let the fruit chill in its tart syrup until serving time. For the eggs, add prepared horse-radish to taste, divide the mixture and tint delicately with food coloring. Chill the cheese and roll into balls, then elongate the balls, and you have your colored candy eggs!

For dessert, prepare a "Fruit Cocktail Cheese Cake." It's pretty as a Sunday bonnet, with the five colorful fruits of canned fruit cocktail scattered through the creamy cheese cake. Save out a half cup of the fruit to bedeck the top.

FRUIT COCKTAIL CHEESE CAKE

- 1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
- ⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 (No. 2½) can fruit cocktail
- 2 envelopes plain gelatin
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 pint cottage cheese
- 1 cup whipping cream

Set aside two tablespoons graham cracker crumbs for top. Combine remaining crumbs with butter, mixing well. Press firmly in bottom and sides of 8-inch spring form. Chill. Drain fruit cocktail, reserving syrup. Soften gelatin in ½ cup of the syrup. Combine ¼ cup of the sugar with orange juice concentrate, salt and egg yolks, and beat until well blended. Cook over very low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Stir in softened gelatin and heat, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Meanwhile, force cottage cheese through a sieve. When gelatin is cooled to room temperature, beat egg whites to fine foam stage, and gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. With same beater, whip cream stiff. Stir cottage cheese into cooled gelatin mixture, then fold in egg whites and cream. Set aside ½ cup fruit cocktail for garnish, and fold remainder into cheese mixture. Turn into crumblined pan and chill until firm. Makes about 9 servings.

PEACH BASKETS

- 1 (No. 2½) can cling peach halves
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 2 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
- 1 to 2 tablespoons prepared horse-radish
- Food coloring

Combine peaches with wine vinegar and chill for at least 4 hours before serving. Soften cream cheese and blend in horse-radish to taste. Divide into three portions and tint pink, light green and yellow. Shape into small balls, then roll between the palms to elongate into egg shape. Drain peaches thoroughly, and place three eggs in each. Arrange around baked ham. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Now Is Good Time For This Rhubarb Spring Pie

You don't have to wait for Rhubarb Pie to be appropriate. Any time is a good time to serve this traditional spring favorite. Rhubarb prepared as sauce, as cobbler, as shortcake, pie or sherbet, captures attention. When it's cobbler, shortcake, or pie, lard is the shortening to use for the tender flaky pastry or biscuits baked to serve under or over the rhubarb. The pastry topping for this pie is cut into 6 equal triangular-shaped pieces and placed on the filling just before baking thus dividing the pie before it's baked!

RHUBARB PIE

Pastry:

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ⅔ cup lard
- 4 to 6 tablespoons water

Rhubarb Filling:

- 1 pound rhubarb, cut in ½-inch pieces (3 cups)
- 1½ cups sugar
- ¼ cup flour
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in lard until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Divide pastry in half. Roll ½ the dough to about ⅛ inch thickness and line a 9-inch pie pan allowing ½ inch crust to extend over edge. Mix together sugar, flour and salt. Combine rhubarb with one-half the sugar-flour mixture. Pour filling in unbaked pie shell. Sprinkle remaining sugar-flour mixture over filling. Dot with butter or margarine. Roll out remaining pastry and cut into 6 equal triangular shaped pieces. Place over filling with points toward center. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 40 to 50 minutes.

This Dessert Is A Winner This Spring

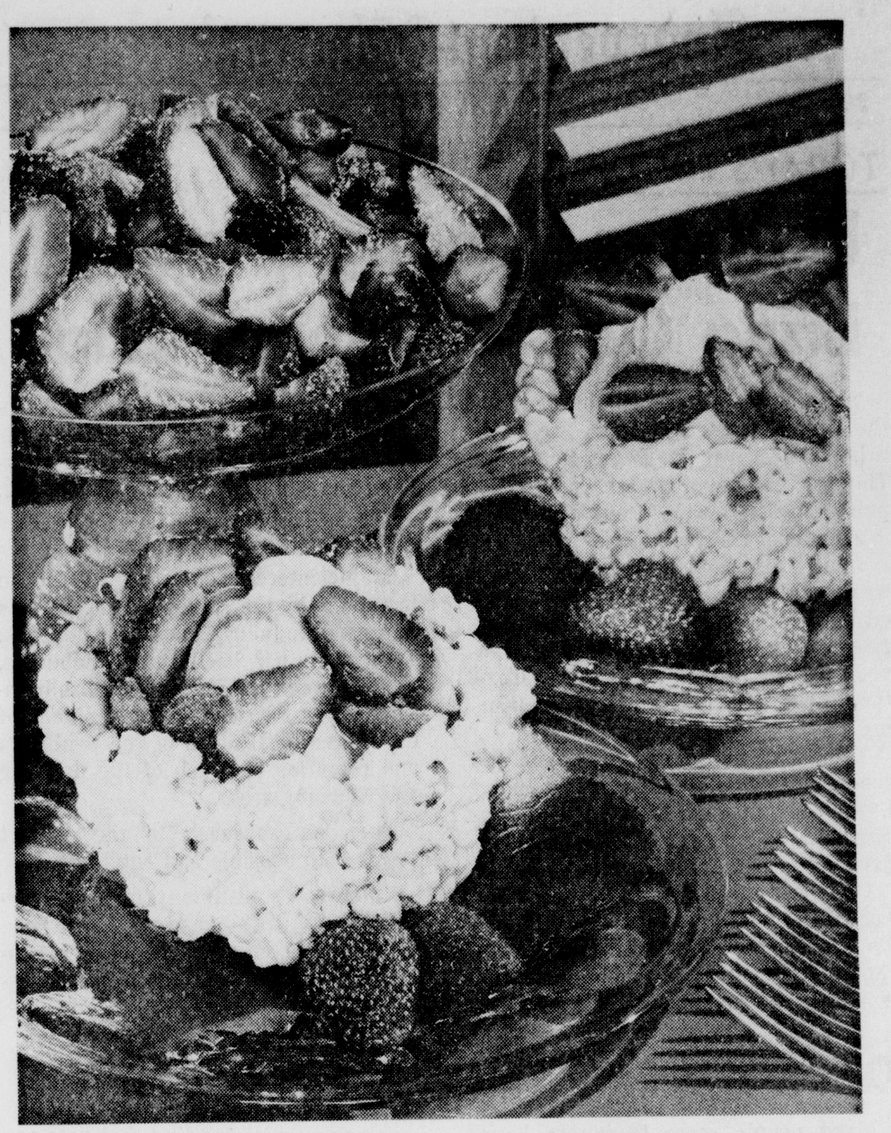
The unusual combination of ice cream and strawberries in a snowy-white popcorn dessert shell is sure to amaze and delight guests at spring luncheons and showers. And if you serve it to your family—stand back or you'll be trampled in the rush!

The crisp, sugar-coated popcorn makes a perfect shell for ice cream sundaes of all sorts and enhances any flavor of ice cream or topping. Best of all, this easy-to-make popcorn shell can be made days ahead, wrapped in saran or foil and popped on a plate, still fresh and crisp on the big day.

STRAWBERRY POPCORN DESSERTS

- 2 quarts unsalted popped popcorn
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup light corn syrup
- ⅓ cup water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- 2 cups sliced strawberries or 1 1-pound package frozen strawberries

Place popcorn in buttered bowl. Combine sugar, corn syrup, water, salt, cream of tartar and butter or margarine in heavy saucepan. Cook to hard crack stage (290°F.) stirring frequently. Pour syrup in a fine stream over popcorn and stir carefully until syrup evenly coats popcorn. Shape into shells using 8 large (9½ ounce) glass apple dumpling dishes or cereal bowls. Cool thoroughly. Just before serving scoop ice cream into shells; top with strawberries. Yield: 8 servings.



WHETHER IT'S a formal dinner or a plain family supper, this popcorn shell with ice cream and your favorite topping will be the star of the show. Snowy-white and crisp, sugar-coated popcorn makes a sundae a special taste treat.

Ham-Cheese Sandwich

There are never enough sandwich ideas for the mother of teen-agers, but this combination will win acclaim in the home where it's served. The sandwich could be described as a close relative to French toast. Canned or leftover cooked ham or canned luncheon meat makes an equally good filling.

BAKED HAM-CHEESE-TOMATO SANDWICH

- 12 slices white bread
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 6 slices (1 ounce each) cheddar cheese
- 6 slices (2 ounces each) cooked ham
- 18 tomato slices, cut ¼ inch thick

Toast 6 slices of bread on one side only. Combine egg, salt, milk and Worcestershire sauce. Dip the untoasted side of bread in egg mixture and place untoasted side down on a heavily greased cooky sheet. Place a slice of cheese, then a slice of ham and 3 slices of tomato on each toasted bread slice. Top each with a piece of bread that has been dipped in the egg mixture, placing dipped side up. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) for 20 to 25 minutes or until lightly browned on the top. 6 sandwiches.

Coloring eggs at Easter is family fun. Children love it, particularly adding fancy or funny designs, and they should be a part of the activity. Doing Easter Eggs together makes for a fine family tradition to carry on over the years.

All packaged egg dyes on the market are made according to the U. S. Food and Drug Administration's standards. The dyes are certified to be pure and are safe and harmless to use on eggs or in food. Neither will the dyes stain washable surfaces or fabrics, so Mother need have no fear if some are spilled.

Just a few hints for getting best results:

Always use fresh, white eggs. Eggs that have been in storage or chemically treated to preserve them will not dye well.

The eggs should be hard-boiled, of course, and the colors will be brighter if they are dyed while hot.

To prevent the shell from cracking in the water, pierce the rounded bottom end (not the pointed end) with a needle or pin. This releases pressure from a small air pocket located at the bottom of the eggs which otherwise would crack the shell.

Do not let the eggs be unrefrigerated for too long a time, especially if they are to be used in sandwiches, salads or other dishes after the holiday.

For an attractive Easter centerpiece, arrange the colored eggs in a low bowl or basket. Encircle these with cute animal figures made of colored hard-boiled eggs as the bodies and cut-out pieces for the heads and stands. Or these can be used as place favors with names written across the eggs.

Antique Cupboard To Have Authentic Southern Recipes

Authentic old recipes were tried recently at the home of Mrs. William Newman of Tiburon Blvd. who has an old wood stove in her kitchen. Members of the Rector's Guild of The Church of Our Saviour of Mill Valley gathered together to start preparing goodies for a new "Grandmother's Cupboard," which will be a feature of the Eighth Annual Antiques Show and Sale to be held in Sausalito April 21 through 24. Two interesting old recipes are directly from the South. The "Plantation Sally Lunn" featured below is taken from a cookbook belonging to Mrs. Dashwood Darling's great, great grandmother.

PLANTATION SALLY LUNN

- ½ cake compressed yeast
- ¼ cup "new milk" scalded and cooled to lukewarm
- 2 eggs
- 1¾ cup "new" milk
- 4 cups bread flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 tbsp. butter softened, not too hot

Soften yeast in lukewarm milk. Beat eggs. Add sugar, milk and yeast mixture. Sift in flour and salt and beat until perfectly smooth. Add butter and beat again. Let rise until almost double in bulk. Beat down with a spoon and this time pour into a well-buttered pan (one with a center funnel is prettiest). Let rise until almost double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven for one hour, covering after the first half hour. Turn from pan and serve hot. Entire process takes four hours. Serves 8 to 10.

The second recipe, "Hush Puppies," dates back to the Civil War days. The name originated around the camp fire when the cakes were tossed to the hounds to keep them quiet. This also is a Southern recipe of Mrs. Dashwood Darling's.

HUSH PUPPIES

- 2 cups corn meal
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1 tsp. salt
- 6 tbsp. chopped onion
- 2 tbsp. flour
- 1 tbsp. baking powder
- 1 egg
- 2 cups buttermilk

Mix dry ingredients. Add onion; then milk and egg beaten together. Drop by small spoonfuls into boiling deep fat. They will float when done. Drain on brown paper.

Another recipe taken from the Blue Ridge Mountains is a grit bread. It is a tasty mouthful and a real backwoods delicacy traceable to the early Pilgrims who learned the recipe from the Indians. This is how it is made.

GRIT BREAD

Select 6 ears of corn just beyond the "milk stage." Grit through a "gritter" to yield 2½ cups of scraped corn kernels.

To the kernels add the following:

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 1¼ tsp. salt
- 2½ tsp. baking powder
- 1 whole fresh egg, well beaten
- ¼ cup melted shortening

To the flour add sugar, salt and baking powder and sift together over the "gritted" corn, mixing thoroughly. Stir in egg alternately with melted shortening—no liquid is necessary as moisture is given by the "gritted" corn. Turn into a greased shallow pan and bake at 425° for 30-35 minutes. Serve hot with generous slabs of country butter (serves six).

Pt. Reyes Hearing Should Bring Out Vital Information

This afternoon a subcommittee from the United States Senate was flying in a helicopter over Pt. Reyes Peninsula. They were preparing for tomorrow's public hearing on the proposal to make it a national seashore park.

As was proposed in this space several weeks ago, the Senate committee, headed by Sen. Frank E. Moss of Utah, arrived a day earlier than originally planned in order to take a personal look at the proposed park area before the hearing.

Tomorrow in College of Marin, the subcommittee, of which Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia and Clair Engle of California are other members, will hold a day-long hearing on the project.

California's second senator, Thomas Kuchel, was not able to leave Washington, but sent a statement urging preservation of the point "as a new type of national recreational and historic area."

Marin's other representative in Washington, Rep. Clement W. Miller, was also aboard the helicopter this afternoon and will be at tomorrow's hearing. Miller and Engle each introduced bills in Congress to establish the park.

Major interest tomorrow will be on testimony by the National Park Service in regards to their proposal for the park. Their plan has been rather nebulous, but last week they released a preliminary proposal based on development of the recreational areas of the peninsula and retention of much of the dairying and ranching areas.

Such an approach to the project seems both sensible and equitable.

Tomorrow's testimony may well develop many of the answers which have been lacking in order to make a considered decision as to the park's advisability.

Don't Give Pets Unless . . .

Many people seem to ignore basic humane considerations in the giving of pets for Easter gifts.

Certainly there is something symbolic about giving a living gift on this particular holiday. But this is no excuse for giving a puppy or a kitten to a child whose parents do not want it and do not know how to care for it.

It is also a cruelty to give a child a pet before the child is old enough to have some understanding that pets are fragile and cannot be dropped, sat upon or picked up by their tails.

Chicks, ducklings and young rabbits are favorite gifts of the foolish. Nobody will deny they are charming, but few people are equipped to care for them. Not many survive handling and exposure.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

LITTLE SLIP MAKES BIG DIFFERENCE

A 9-year-old boy was plucked from the icy waters of Lake Erie last February after an unexpected two and a half mile watery ride through a large drainage pipe that emptied into the lake.

It all started when the youngster fell into a creek, while playing near his home. Before he could get out he was washed into the underground tube, and swept rapidly towards the lake.

A half hour later he was spotted clinging to a branch near the shore. A bystander saw him lose his grip and dove into the ice cold lake, recuing him in the nick of time.

Coast Guard officers were surprised that the youth had survived the ordeal. They said that a half hour in the 34-degree water of the lake normally proves fatal.

A slight mistake in these fast-moving times can cause serious harm in many ways for young and old alike. Avoid needless risks by rooting yourself in sound doctrine and morals. You will be blessed by God and will better serve your neighbor if you do.

"In all thy ways think on Him, and He will direct thy steps." (Proverbs 3:6)

Harvest Season Draws Near For Greatest Crop—College Graduates

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)— It's about harvest time in the meadows of learning.

America's greatest spring crop—its college graduating classes—is matured and ready to seek its own place in the golden granary of time. The 1960 crop looks like a record one in terms of both quantity and quality.

Critics of our younger generation might feel better about our nation's future if they would take the trouble right now to go and see how these "hopes of tomorrow" really measure up.

I did just that the other day during a visit here to the University of North Carolina, which has won over the years an enlarging recognition as one of the great pastures of the mind and spirit.

Chapel Hill has always had a tradition of relaxed freedom and wide culture, and the late Thomas Wolfe was only one of many creative minds that have found inspiration here.

For any middle-aged man his return to a college campus is always a kind of journey into Australia. But it can teach him a few things, too.

The campus at Chapel Hill is beautiful. The walks are shaded by trees so old they are like shrines in leaf. The buildings, a mixture of many architectures, blend in a friendly weathered warmth.

But on this walk upon this day it was the students, not the mellow atmosphere of the campus, that kindled in me a reverie of comparison.

One does not like to be unfair to his own youth, but on the other hand it is not wise ever to get the idea that all that was best in the world died with it.

Looking around at the students I passed, pausing now and then to listen to them, I had the feeling they were superior to the college students of my own generation.

In my depression-haunted generation the fear of being unable to find a job after graduation often made the last two years in college miserable. We hated to leave alma mater because we feared the world had no place for us.

Returning from my stroll I had no desire to relive my own college days. One time of youth is enough for one life.

I FELT NO TINGE of envy for these young men and women. But I did feel that the world they so soon will set forth to better will fare no worse at their hands than it has at ours.

What Happens To Camp David After Ike

By MERRIMAN SMITH

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — A group of fellows were sitting around up at Camp David one afternoon last week, killing time while President Eisenhower played host to the President of Colombia in Aspen Cottage.

A bull session developed in Hickory Cottage, the big recreation hall not far from the President's lodge, and the conversation turned to the future of the White House retreat in the Catoctin mountains of Maryland.

The camp was founded by the late President Roosevelt and was known originally as Shangri-La. The same name continued in use during the Truman administration, but when Eisenhower came in office, he changed the name to Camp David in honor of his grandson. Thus, it is logical to assume that the new President next year will select a new name for the camp.

IT IS NOT LIKELY that a new President will get rid of the place. The Navy has quite an investment in the camp. Just a new name and possibly some redecoration of the main lodge to suit the taste of 1961's first lady.

Naturally the talk at Camp David last week turned to possible new names and changes in the 134-acre camp. Here is the result of the speculation, based on what the leading candidates might do about the camp:

NIXON — Probably change the name to Camp Julie in honor of his younger daughter or Camp Pat for his wife. Install large kennel for pet dogs.

KENNEDY — New name, Camp Dad or Camp Joe; both same idea. Abolish present tiny golf course, change it to a ski run. Build world's largest playpen for all the smaller children in the family.

HUMPHREY — Camp Hubert? Change golf course (probably world's only layout with one hole and three tees) to meadowy amphitheater where he could invite friends to listen to speeches. Vast new loudspeaker system. Camp open to the public on Sundays. Lunch on the grounds.

JOHNSON — Camp Ladybird, of course, with a giant, golden L.B.J. hung at the front gate. Golf course would be changed into world's largest barbecue pit and 10,000 acres added to camp property to graze steers and make Lyndon feel at home. All Marines stationed there would have to come from Texas.

SYMINGTON — Camp Eve, for his wife. Or Camp Harry, depending on how former President Truman handles things at the Democratic convention. Cottages, now named for trees, would be named for towns in Missiouri. Aspen would become St. Louis, natch. Big Hunting Creek would become Little Missouri.

STEVENSON — Known simply as "the camp." Golf layout bulldozered absolutely flat for eight tennis courts, four lawn and four clay. Marines out of uniform into chino shorts, button-down collars.

Nelson Rockefeller, of course, could upset all of this speculation if he decides to get serious again about the GOP Presidential nomination. The Rockefeller family has quite a record for establishing big parks and conceivably, they might buy the State of Maryland if Nelson made the White House and turn it into the only American resort offering mountain trout fishing, as well as ocean bathing. And Chesapeake Bay could become Lake Rock.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

No Real Argument Against Pt. Reyes

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

O.K., now we have the plan for the proposed Pt. Reyes Park.

Except for a few individuals whose property and rights most certainly must be considered, the park proposal is an enlightened and fortunate thing. Our future generations will benefit from this immeasurably.

It is a marvel that Central Park in New York ever existed; the same for Golden Gate Park, Yosemite, Yellowstone, and all of the others. There is nothing but gain for humanity in the existence of these parks.

The present property owners in the proposed park area must be compensated, but in the public interest, to the public as a whole, the park proposal is a blessing. We are lucky that an area such as this exists in a day when our scenic areas near metropolitan centers are being taken over by the Doelger's and drive-in restaurants and ugly commercial developments.

There are a lot of us sitting back here waiting to try to do something to help this park idea along. I have not yet read or heard a single civilized argument against the establishment of this park. It is the old story of the few protecting their own interests against the public welfare.

It would seem that with intelligent handling of all aspects of this project, a just consideration of the rights of individuals involved, the park can be established.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A disturbed citizen in San Diego, notes Neil Morgan, called up the police to report the greatest traffic jam in the city's history. "Cars are jammed up for blocks in every direction," he concluded. "Have you any idea what's causing the trouble?," asked a police inspector. "Yes," said the citizen, "automobiles."

All of which brings to mind a reporter's statement on auto traffic: "I have seen the future, and it doesn't work."

A gentleman boarded one of those new coast-to-coast jet planes in New York the other day and settled down to his newspaper. A stewardess interrupted him to ask, "Would you like to take off that heavy raincoat?"

"Thank you, no," replied the man. "I'm not going all the way to Los Angeles, you see. I'm getting off at Denver."

This is how they do things in the exclusive residential section of La Jolla, Calif. On Easter morning, one indulgent father threw a couple of dozen decorated eggs in to his swimming pool. His three kids then donned diving masks and dove into the pool to find them.

And when another junior La Jollian lost a toy airplane he had been guiding by remote control, his father chartered a real plane, made a search of the surrounding hills, and retrieved the toy!

Wonderful Outlook On Exercise: Avoid It Whenever Possible

I am surrounded by health fiends.

At every turn I am offered long hikes, yami yogurt, all-vegetable diets, non-alcoholic drinks, books on how to stop smoking and garlic sandwiches. All in the name of robust vigor and longevity.

I appreciate my friends' concern, but their efforts are wasted. It is too late.

Forty-four years ago I began to deteriorate and am definitely over the hill.

DURING MY EARLY formative years, when the experts say a child should be plied with orange juice, vitamins and bone marrow, I was fed a diet of turnip greens cooked to a soggy pulp, fat pork and corn bread sopped in blackstrap molasses.

Only the other day a friend of mine, a devotee of the Garlic for Gallop school of thought, proposed I try an almost steady diet of the bulbous herb. A daily garlic sandwich has worked wonders for her seven-year-old, she said, keeping him free of colds, aches, pains and unhappiness.

It has also kept him home from school, she admitted. The principal, teachers and pupils took a vote and sent the kid home for fumigation.

I always assumed those who walk across the Golden Gate Bridge only do so because their cars ran out of gas and all the cab drivers were looking the other way.

As for those stalwart souls who, with glassy looks in their eyes and large knapsacks strapped to their backs, trudge through the hills of Marin County — I was always under the impression they were on their way to huge, hidden uranium claims, the profits from which would make the supreme sacrafice worth while.

I was amazed to find they walk up and down mountains lush with poison oak for the sheer joy of walking.

"EVEN THE Air Force has gone hog-wild on the health kick.

I learn from my spies at Hamilton Field that a program of harrassment known as "physical fitness" is under way. It requires grown men to perform 29 set-ups, 7 pull-ups and sprint 300 yards in 54 seconds.

This, mind you, for men in their 34-year-old dotage. For the younger ones, the ordeal is even tougher.

I am convinced it is all part of a clever, subversive plot to drive men out of our armed forces and leave us unprepared in our hour of need.

When I was 15 years old I held down my first job as general roustabout on a Tennessee road gang. In the grand tradition of the South, the hours were from dawn to dark at a wage scale, as I recall, of 20 cents an hour.

IN MY SPARE moments, when the water barrels were full, I was given a brush hook and an axe and told to clear the right-of-way of saplings, stumps and copperheads.

Money-wise, I didn't get rich. But the job gave me a wonderful outlook on exercise I learned to avoid it whenever possible.

As I one told a high school journalism class to whom I was lecturing: The life of a newspaperman is one of long hours, low pay and little recognition.

But it beats working for a living.

Readers Sent In 1,537 Letters With Suggestions For World Peace

WASHINGTON — This is a report to readers on the remarkable response which came from the recent invitation in this column to offer ideas of new steps the United States could take to advance the cause of peace.

You can dismiss the belief that either apathy or hopelessness grips the American public on the great issues of war and peace.

There is the liveliest and most widespread public desire to participate in discussing and in doing something to obtain peace.

The political candidates will do well to bear this in mind in the coming campaign.

Here is what happened:

IN RESPONSE to a single column, without any additional appeals or follow-up, without any incentive of a prize to win or money to earn — the only incentive being a sense of direct personal participation in helping the cause of a better peace — I received in the ensuing four weeks:

1,537 letters containing varied and wide-ranging peace suggestions.

They came from every one of the 50 states plus Puerto Rico, Mexico, the Philippines, and Western Europe.

They dealt with just about everything from what governments could do collectively to what people could do individually.

THE PURPOSE behind the invitation was to help create a pool of fresh and constructive ideas for U. S. action. The initiative to tap non-government thinking came in the first place from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace which requested 400 experts to propose measures by which the United States "could make progress toward a world peace, founded on freedom and justice." Later, when I suggested that readers be invited to join the experts in this enterprise, Joseph E. Johnson, president, said that the Foundation would like to examine every contribution.

To this end every reader contribution has been carefully studied, a brief summary of each prepared by a qualified research worker, and all letters forwarded to the Carnegie Foundation.

From the range of ideas which were advanced, these points will, I think, be of interest:

Several teachers had their whole classes in public affairs submit papers.

Many wished to strengthen the United Nations by taking away the veto and giving the U. N. the power to enforce the peace. Larger national groupings such as the Western European Federation were approved, and many hoped the NATO countries would develop some degree of common government. There was support for varying degrees of world federation and a world police force.

CONTRIBUTIONS favored increasing economic aid to underdeveloped countries, wider cultural exchanges between all nations, and the development of international universities which the best students of many countries could attend.

There was quite a bit of support for fuller contact with Communist China.

Many of the concrete suggestions were arresting.

THAT WEST BERLIN be made the capital of the United Nations and its freedom as an international city absolutely guaranteed.

That hostile government propaganda be banned by treaty.

That a world youth newspaper be established.

That there be a "World Cultural Olympics."

And, finally, that the Carnegie Foundation "peace proposal" project be undertaken on a worldwide basis.

From my experience, I am sure there would be a stupendous response.

New Radar Tower Rising On Mt. Tam

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Seven stories are being added to Mt. Tamalpais.

High above Mill Valley, a bright orange, steel-girdered tower is being built by the Army Corps of Engineers to house a new radar installation for the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron.

Designed to give greater vigilance in intercepting enemy objects approaching the Bay Area region, it is to have the latest in electronics equipment and, with the antenna and inflated Balloon-type dome yet to be added, will be about seven stories high.

The installation, expected to be completed by November, is being built on the same location as the previous one which was dismantled last September, and was 25 feet shorter, according to Capt. Richard K. Hurliman, information services officer at the squadron.

Since the old white-domed radar was taken down, there have been three radars in use, which are to remain. Two of these are "rocking chair" types which rock back and forth slowly and measure the height of aircraft. The third is a surveillance radar and revolves slowly, continuously, to measure distance from the base to the object.

The present radars operate night and day as part of the network covering approaches to the North American continent. The information gained by radar consists of all airborne objects penetrating toward the land area.

Should the objects be determined to be enemy, a flight of jets is immediately alerted at Hamilton Air Force Base. Correlation and identification of the traffic is manually at present, Hurliman said. With the new installation, the new radar as well as the old radars will be operated automatically.

The chief advantage of the new installation, Hurliman added, is speed. Electronics equipment for the new radar will be housed in the top two floors of the steel structure. The radar will have "considerably greater range and reliability," Lt. R. E. Douglass, squadron radar maintenance officer, said.

Engineers from Burroughs Corp. are installing in a separate building near the tower a huge data processing computer —something of a brain since it is all automatically operated.

The computor will process all information picked up by the grup of radars. Its tabulations will be transmitted electronically to Beale Air Force Base at Marysville, which is the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) center for the San Francisco sector.

Out of this information, Hurliman said, the SAGE director will determine the identification of the objects. If the objects are determined to be unfriendly, jet squadrons are to be notified within the sector and sent out to meet the approaching objects.

The new radar will be covered with a plastic bubble dome and look — as did the other, something like a baby Mt. Palomar.

Life at the radar "town" on the rocky and brushy west peak of Mt. Tamalpais is somewhat like life in any other tiny Marin community. Yet, it is like a never-never land, sometimes in the clouds, sometimes in 100-knot storms, sometimes in the sun, and only reachable by driving upwards around dozens of curves.

The population of about 250 has its own theater, library, dining facilities, heated swimming pool and children's playground. Housing for the men is in barracks, but each man has his own room. The majority of married men live in Mill Valley and the surrounding areas, with some living as far away as Novato. There are separate houses for nine families on the base.

School children go down the mountain to Mill Valley to classes. It takes 25 minutes to go down by car and, with the numerous curves, the average life of a tire is 8,000 miles.

The altitude is around 2,600 feet. When it is clear, "the view is out of this world," according to Capt. L. A. Jacobsen. Jacobsen, a gardening type, said the altitude is fine for strawberries, which he grows, but it is tough on lawns.

"Some nights," he said, "I wake up and find 25 to 30 deer on the lawn. They ruin a lawn." Deer are worst in June and July, he said, because things dry up down below and the deer come up high for the greener grass.

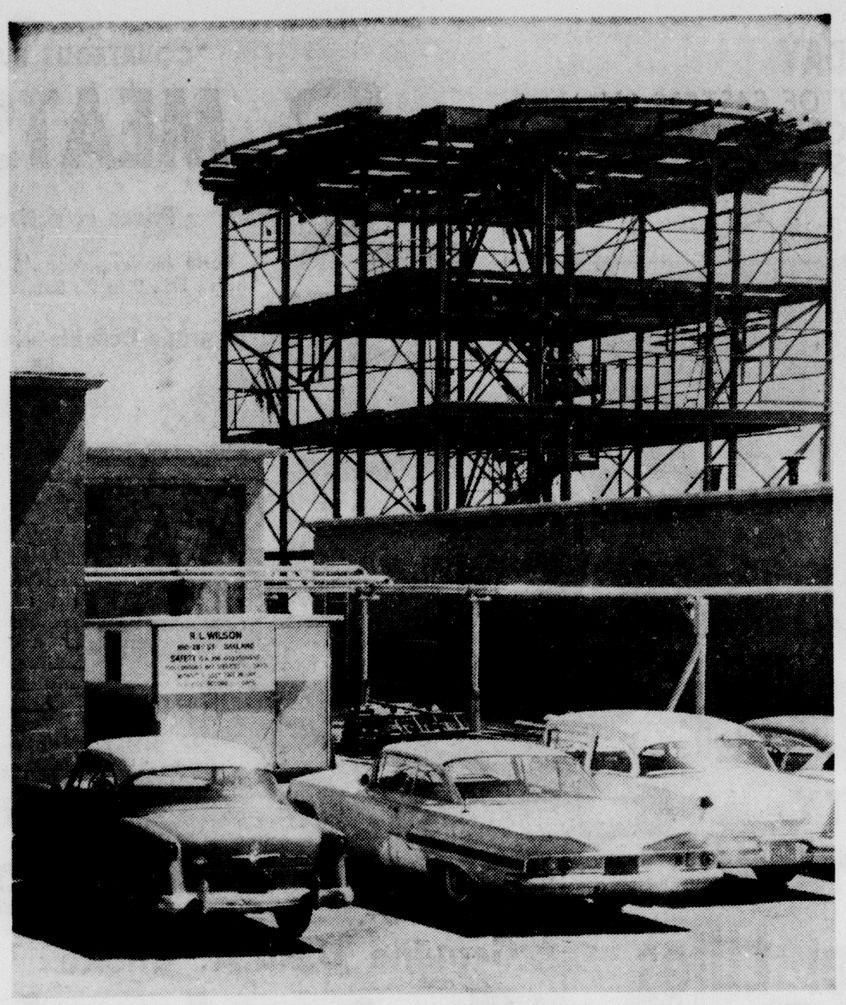
The weather, Jacobsen added, is probably a little bit more dramatic than "down below." For example, "in a storm" he said, "wind can go up to 100 knots per hour. It is erratic in cloud turbulence and like being in an airplane."

The "town" is not growing as other Marin communities but dwindling. With the emphasis on defense spending and realignment of defense, Hurliman said, there are approximately 100 fewer persons at the base than one year ago. "When the transition phase is completed," he said, "and the base is completely on the SAGE program, fewer personnel will be required."

Lt. Col. Gus Weiser is commander of the 666th, or Triple Six as it is called.

By day and night the rocking chair radars rock; the surveillance radar revolves slowly, almost eerily in its slow, quiet watch. The orange-red tower, built to take the wind load and an earthquake shock, stands by, looking startlingly bright against its green backdrop.

Toward the end of the year the new radar installation will be completed — a new guard housed in seven stories on the mountain.



NEW SENTINEL—This frame, painted bright orange, is the beginning of what will be a new radar "eye" atop Mt. Tamalpais. At the same time, new electronic equipment is being installed for the 666th Aircraft Warning and Control Squadron, atop the mountain, to increase the efficiency of radar guard of Marin's shores. Ike Can't Attend Marin Golf Meet

The Paris Summit Conference will keep President Dwight D. Eisenhower from attending the golf tournament sponsored by the American Field Service for the foreign exchange program May 15 at Marin Golf and Country Club, Mrs. J. W. Zimmerman learned from the White House this week.

Television stars Robert Sterling, one of the ghosts in the defunct "Topper" series, and James Garner, star of "Maverick," will face San Francisco amateur golfers Harvey Ward and Bob Silvestri on the Marin County green at 1:30 p.m.

Family Service Agency Elects New Officers

Mrs. J. V. Hawley of Mill Valley is new president of the Family Service Agency of Marin County.

The group brings family counseling to all Marin residents who wish it, regardless of ability to pay.

Other officers elected at a Sunday annual meeting at Forest Farm Camp in Forest Knolls included Lee Q. Charette of Mill Valley, vice president; Jel Y. Nemschoff of Kentfield, treasurer, and Mrs. John H. Manwaring of Ross, secretary.

Elected to three-year terms on the board were Mrs. Roger Barbey of Larkspur, Dr. E. Muriel Bennett of Kentfield, Dr. Victor Kagan of San Rafael, Mrs. Robert Matson of Mill Valley and Mrs. Josephine F. Pervere of Kentfield.

Mrs. David Williamson, Junior League representative from Kentfield, was elected to a one-year term.

Announcement was made that the United Bay Area Crusade has granted $27,550 for this fiscal year, an increase of $2,550 but still regarded as insufficient to meet the agency's budget requirements.

The board voted commendation of the Family Service League for its first year of operation. This is a group formed last spring by the trustees to provide additional community support for the agency.

Nicholas M. Suntzeff, executive director of the agency, said 697 received family counseling help last year and that an average of 45 new cases are taken on each month. He said two additional family counselors are needed for the staff now comprising three case-workers, a secretary-bookkeeper and a psychiatric consultant.

Some Answers To Questions On Polio Shots

Noting that April marks the start of the season when polio is usually on the increase, Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, Marin county health officer, contributes the following answers to some questions frequently asked:

1. Should all adults get polio shots?

Answer: Yes, particularly parents of young children. While only 3 per cent of all paralytic cases occur in persons 40 and over, these cases are usually the most severe. All adults should be vaccinated.

2. Then why was the vaccine limited at first to persons under 40 years?

Answer: When the vaccine was scarce, first priority was given to the younger age groups because more cases occur there. But with the present plentiful supply the protection of the vaccine is available and needed for all ages.

3. How effective is the Salk vaccine?

Answer: When three properly spaced injections are given, it is at least 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio.

4. How should the shots be spaced?

Answer: For all except young infants the full immunizing series consists of three shots given as follows: A first injection, a second injection four to six weeks later; a third injection seven to 12 months after the second.

5. What is the schedule for infants?

Answer: The basic schedule recommended for infants consists of four injections, beginning from two to six months of age. The first three shots are given one month apart, with the fourth injection seven to 12 months after the third.

6. Is the vaccine safe?

Answer: Yes. Since May, 19

Answer: Yes. Since May, 1955, when safety testing was perfected, it has been given to more than 80 million persons with a perfect safety record.

7. Where can the Salk vaccinations be obtained?

Answer: Your family physician can give them. Polio shots are also available from the county health department, without charge. The shots are given daily from 1 to 4 p.m. at the San Rafael office, 920 Grand avenue, and on Monday afternoons from 1 to 4 at the Marin City Health Center.

"The peak season for polio is the summer and early fall," warns Dr. Albrecht. "Be sure you don't wait until too late."

Buggy Maker Believes Horse Is Here To Stay

You know, those things that used to go behind horses. And still do, more than you might think.

The business got its start in Fresno in 1937. Formaneck had a show horse but no show buggy. It would cost $700 to buy one. So he borrowed a buggy, took it apart as a model, and built his own.

A Los Angeles reinsman saw the buggy and asked to buy one. Then came a request from a Fresno horse owner, followed by inquiries from other parts of the state.

With World War II he moved to Long Beach to work at the Douglas aircraft plant. He like the city, decided to stay and in 1945 opened his factory in a 20 by 20-foot section of the building.

Now the Wilform Buggy Works—"Wilform" is a combination of his first and last names, William Formaneck explains, because "nobody ever remembers 'Formaneck'"—is one of the nation's largest manufacturers of sulkies and horse-show vehicles.

Surveys show that 9 of every 10 show-horse and racing rigs in California are made by Wilform. Ninety per cent of the plant's output goes outside of California, mostly to the East and Midwest with a few vehicles to Hawaii.

Wilform racing sulkies and training carts come in many models, some weighing as little as 29 pounds. The plant combines tubular steel and wood in sulkies to increase safety and reduce weight.

Henry Ford's father was a Michigan farmer.

INCOME TAX FACTS

If You Haven't Filed Return, Do It NOW

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

We hope you have already filed your 1959 federal income tax return.

If not, then you should put this paper down and get that return in the mail right now.

Peter J. Wikel

If you find for some reason beyond your control it is impossible for you to complete your federal income tax return for filing by midnight Friday, April 15, 1960, then you should request an extension of time in which to file your return. Extensions are usually granted, for good reason, for a 90 day period, although the director may grant an extension for as long as six months if the circumstances warrant.

Requests for extensions of time are filed in triplicate on forms furnished by the treasury and the request must be signed by you or your duly authorized agent.

Th forms are available at your local office of the Internal Revenue Service. All requests for extensions should be on these forms and three copies are necessary. However, if you are unable to secure the forms, a letter will do.

Your application should clearly set forth the full cause of the delay and the probable time that you will be able to complete your return.

It should give your full name and address as it will appear on your tax return when you do file.

If, by reason of illness, absence or other good reason, you are unable to sign this request, then any person in close business or personal relationship with you may do so, provided the reason and relationship are clearly stated in the request. In such case, the signer of the request will be considered your duly authorized agent for this purpose.

Extensions are usually granted for a good reason, such as illness, accidents, inability to secure all the facts necessary to complete your return, etc. Extensions are never granted because you are unable to pay the tax. If you cannot pay the tax due, file your return anyway. Uncle Sam will send you a bill and you will have to pay it sooner or later. He will charge you 6 per cent interest, but there will be no penalty.

If you do not file your return on time, Uncle Sam will charge you 5 per cent for each month that your return is late, up to a maximum of 25 per cent. So, you see, it is a lot better to file the return even if you can't pay the tax.

We hope these articles have helped you with your federal income taxes in some way. It has been a pleasure for us to write them and have you read them.

Expert Sees Good Business But No Boom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Business will continue good through 1960, but the predicted boom will not come this year, Nathaniel Rogg, chief economist for the National Assn. of Home Builders, said today.

Rogg told the convention of the Western Forest Industries Assn. that home building, a bellwether in business, would be down from 1959, due principally to high interest rates.

He predicted a market for 16 million we dwelling units, at a cost of 230 billion dollars over the next 10 years. He said this is an absolute minimum to meet requirements of population growth and replacement of inadequate houses.

Dear Public:

Section 651 of the Business and Professional Code forbids us from comparing our prices with our competitors.

We can, however, tell you our prices as long as they are regular established prices and not short time specials or discounts. OUR PRICES ARE REGULAR PRICES. These prices have been charged in the past and barring unforseen price increases from the drug manufacturer—will be charged indefinitely.

Most of the prescription drugs that form a background for this letter have been advertised by us for the past six months.

On the other hand, should the cost of drugs from the manufacturer to us, be lowered, we will adjust our prices accordingly. We are making a profit on each and every prescription drug price listed. We feel it is a fair profit. It is our opinion that THIS IS THE ETHICAL WAY TO CONDUCT A BUSINESS.

There has been some publicity concerning our pioneering effort. We didn't ask for this publicity. However, it may be best that certain differences of opinion have been laid open to the public. For as in any other controversy—you—the public will make your own comparisons and the final decision.

Today is Wednesday, April 13, the 104th day of the year, with 262 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1742, Thomas Jefferson, third President of the United States, was born in Albermarle County, Va.

In 1846, the Pennsylvania Railroad was chartered.
